Girls' Baseball Teams Forms At Ambrose School; 'It's Good'

Julianne Sullivan, a fourth grader at Ambrose School, wrote a letter to The Star last February asking that a girls baseball team be started.

On Monday of this week Julianne got her wish. Twenty-nine Ambrose girls turned out for practice at the field adjoining the school.

Pretty blonde Sheryl expressed the thoughts of many: "It's not fair for the boys to play and not the girls. They always say the boys play better than the girls. But how do they know unless they give us a chance?"

Ann Pichini went out to practice with the other girls Monday because she "just wanted something to do." She said: "Baseball is so fun. You get to do lots of things. You get to catch and do lots of things and have a baseball hat." Ann said she had never played on a baseball team before, "only fooled around." She thinks playing on a team will be lots of fun.

Theresa went out for the team because she just likes baseball. "I'm a shortstop," she says. But she'll play center field if she can't make short stop. She has never played on an official team before, only with her brothers.

Another Ambrose girl put it this way: "I like the sport. It's fun. A lot of people are doing it. It's not fair for the boys to do everything. They boys have a soccer team, boys hockey, boys baseball." That was Mara speaking.

Andren also likes the sport and would like to play against the boys. "I want to see how good I am against the boys. I want to see how I improve. I haven't played on a team before."

The more recent impetus for a girls' baseball team came up at a meeting of the Ambrose parents' board meeting. James Aylward of Oxford street volunteered to coach and he was on the field Monday instructing the girls as they practiced throwing, catching and batting.

And what does Julianne think about all this? "It's good," she says, adding that she's happy a league has finally formed.

Theresa, meanwhile, is going to have some competition for shortstop. Julianne says she is going to try out for that position. And the way things have been going, Theresa had better watch out. Julianne is batting 1,000.

Builder To Ask For Town Houses

A Lexington developer will shortly propose to build 96 town house condominiums on West Side Hill behind Vinson-Owen School.

Developer Robert L. Johnson, builder of Amberwood Estates, told The Star Tuesday he hopes to construct attached town house units on 25.8 acres of land.

"Well over half of that could be left in its natural state," he said.

There would be 12 buildings, two stories in height, in the complex which would have a community center, swimming pool and tennis courts.

A two-thirds vote of town meeting would be required in this "planned residential development" property. He expects the units would cost in the mid 40s to the mid 50s.

Because of uncertainty over current building costs, Johnson said he was unable to give an estimate of construction costs. He pointed out, however, that there would be little cost to the town in services since the "village" would provide most of its own services.

No plans have yet been submitted to any town board. Johnson expects to do that before the Planning Board at the conclusion of town meeting, expected in a week or so.

"We have a very attractive concept here which will greatly resemble an old New England farm house," Johnson said he has shown the plans to residents of the area and they "have been very favorably impressed."

Johnson said he prefers town house development over single family house development because some of the lots are awkwardly located. An attached cluster development would allow him to preserve the natural topography of the site, he said.

He contemplates 3.75 units an acre. Present zoning would allow him to build two single family homes an acre, he said, emphasizing that his plan has "not much higher density than single family houses" but provides for a better use of the land since almost 60 percent of the 25 acres would be left green.

"There would be no continuation of Hawthorne road, which would have to be extended a half mile if single family homes were built," he said.

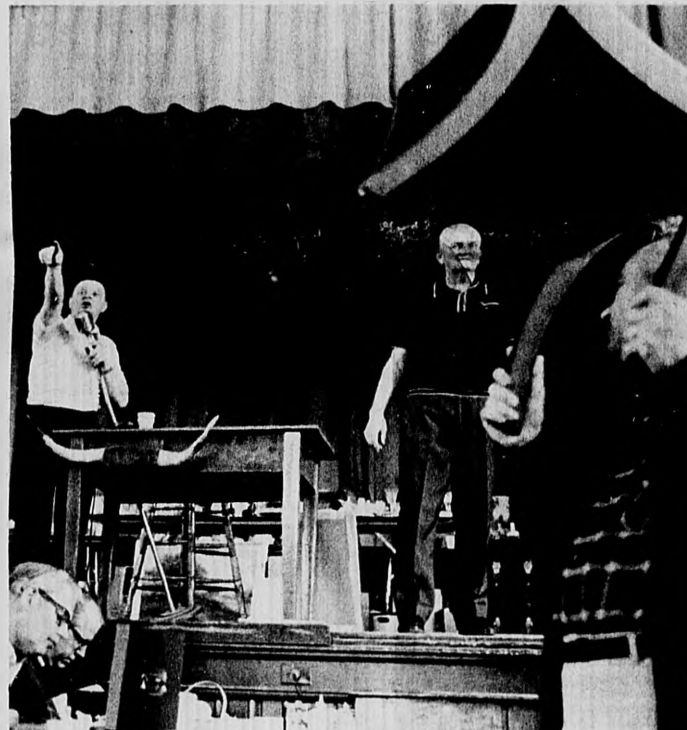

Town houses, according to Johnson, attract fewer children than single family houses, resulting in less cost to the town. He cited Amberwood Estates as an example. The average family size in that development is 4 1/2 persons, he said.

Young couples without children and older persons who can no longer afford large homes or who do not care to bother with upkeep are attracted to such developments, Johnson said.

Claude Michael, Inc., of Melrose, is the architect. The firm has designed colonial style developments in Stoughton, Concord and Martha's Vineyard, according to Johnson.

A homeowners' association would provide such services as plowing and landscaping. The design as presently laid out shows the dozen town house buildings grouped along a circular drive bordered by trees.

Johnson said he would sign a covenant with the town to insure that exactly what he proposes to build would be built and there would be "no expansion or further access roads." Some of the units would contain two bedrooms, a den and a fireplace, he said. Others would have only the two bedrooms (without den), on either one or two floors.

Town Meeting Rescinds Half Of School $$ Cut

Town meeting reconsidered the school budget Monday night, agreeing to restore half of the $200,000 cut two weeks ago.

The meeting refused to reconsider the school athletic budget, voting 94 yes to 51 no. Since a two-thirds affirmative vote is required for reconsideration, the move failed by two votes.

The meeting also refused to again take up action on school secretaries' salaries. The vote was 114 yes to 131 no, far short of the necessary two-thirds vote for reconsideration.

The meeting approved $40,000 for an improved street lighting program on Main street from Swanton street to the Woburn line. It also approved two articles inserted by the Conservation Commission.

These articles permit the commission to acquire two parcels of land on the West Side for conservation purposes.

RECONSIDERATION
Town meeting member (TMM) John A. Twomey said he thought the meeting had accomplished its purpose in voting to cut the school budget by $200,000. A lot of people, he said, just wanted to ask: "What's in this budget? A lot of questions have been answered."

On a motion of Chairman Harriet Dieterich, the meeting voted to restore $88,000 to the school account devoted to salaries and about $11,000 for expenses.

Dieterich explained that much of this year's school budget increases were due to fixed costs such as contract salary increases. She said the committee has actually cut the dimensions of "personal services" (salaries) but because of step increases in contracts the figure has gone up this year.

School Supt. William C. MacDonald promised the meeting an earlier budget next year. He said 450 high school students this year have elected one more course than is required. "I think this is good," he said, noting that 188 additional classes covered by the high school staff are required. More paraprofessionals and teacher aides have been hired.

The motion to amend by restoring $100,000 was a voice vote.

Town meeting refused to reconsider the athletic budget which it had cut by $40,000. Committeeman Richard Pharo said the budget is up only $1,000 over last year and a new state law mandates equal sports opportunities for girls.

In addition there is a need for funding soccer and swimming programs, he said. "The School Committee feels interscholastic sports are important," Pharo said, noting that these sports give many students who do not succeed academically a chance to express themselves "in a non academic way."

He said $124,000 is needed to run just the existing programs in 1974 and failure to restore the $40,000 will mean "restructuring of the athletic program will be necessary."

A petition containing the names of 1,100 residents protesting the athletic cut was presented to the moderator by high school swim coach Vincent Palumbo.

Town meeting voters last Thursday approved Articles 9, 10 and 11 of the annual town meeting warrant and restoring garden apartment provisions to the town's new zoning by-law.

In so doing, the annual town meeting voters changed a conservancy — institutional district to a multiple family residential district.

This action which took place at the 13th session of annual town meeting legalizes the Winchester Housing Authority's 52 elderly housing units on Palmer street and paves the way for future elderly housing on the site of the former Lincoln School.

The garden apartment proviso allows developers to present proposals for low rise "groups of apartment houses of various types arranged on large lots to provide developments compatible with adjacent residential neighborhoods."

Amendment
Articles 9, 10 and 11 were sponsored by the Winchester Housing Authority. Their passage by town meeting came after more than two hours of discussion on the articles themselves and on an amendment co-sponsored by J. Alden Cheever and Robert Ericson, town meeting members from Prec. 4.

The Cheever-Ericson amendment, which the men said represented a position adopted by a caucus of citizens concerned with the impact of Article 9, would have included a section under the conservancy — institutional districts labeled "housing for the elderly districts."

Their amendment called for changing the by-law to read that districts for elderly housing would be "constructed on sites of 1,000 square feet or more, with design criteria regulated and controlled" by special permit provisions already in the law.

Their amendment would have restricted regulations of use. In the dimensional requirements section of the amendment, Cheever and Ericson favored housing for the elderly Districts with 2,500 sq. ft. of lot area per dwelling unit containing one room used for sleeping; 3,000 sq. ft. of lot area per unit with two such rooms.

The WHA sponsored and approved article calls the district a multiple family residential district providing 3,000 sq. ft. for one room used for sleeping; 3,500 sq. ft. with two such rooms; and 4,000 sq. ft. of lot for three or more rooms. Apartment houses in this district to serve elderly citizens may reduce the requirements to 2,500 sq. ft. per dwelling unit with one room for sleeping or 3,000 sq. ft. for two sleeping rooms.

Supporting Ericson and Cheever were TMM Jessie Salter of Prec. 2 and TMM Sarah R. Cincotta of Prec. 4. Mrs. Cincotta read a letter from absent precinct TMM Alice K. Mirak, who also opposed Article 9. The Board of Selectmen was 3-2 in favor of the amendment.

Mary Murphy, chairwoman of the Winchester Housing Authority, said the State Department of Community Affairs has approved the Lincoln School site and "providing the town meeting approves" the articles, "funds will come."

Though the by-law rezones the site for garden apartments, Mrs. Murphy assured the voters the housing "will be exclusive and will not affect any other parcel of land in the town without town meeting approval."

Mrs. Murphy noted, "This program does not affect Winchester's tax rate." She added that if town meeting did not approve the article WHA could lose their state funding.

Atty. John S. Abern, speaking for WHA, said the Palmer street elderly housing contains four units for paraplegics in accordance with the law.

TMM G. William Carter of Prec. 2 took issue. With all the talk of elderly housing in the past "we've never heard anything about paraplegic units," he said.

Michael Boodakian, Planning Board chairman, who spoke in favor of WHA and against the amendment, rebuffed critics who have accused the Planning Board of "ramming (the provisions of the Article 9) down the throats of town meeting through the Winchester Housing Authority."

He said when a group of citizens asks through petition it is the responsibility of the Planning Board to assist.

If the Planning Board received a petition of citizens "for a brothel," Boodakian said, "We would still have to assist them." Then it is town meeting that approves or not, he noted.

James B. Lane, Finance Committee chairman, said his committee feels the zoning by-law "is good and to be comprehensive needs an apartment zone."

Lane said, "We heartily support housing for the elderly," adding, "Elderly who don't qualify" for specific elderly housing units also "need a place to stay." Lane recommended unfavorable action on the amendment.

Giving a minority report from the Planning Board, Joseph Geary said he believed the article "should wait two years" since it is basically the same as rejected by town meeting last fall. He noted, "I'm for elderly housing as long as it doesn't hurt others."

Selectman John Sullivan said a "vote for the amendment is not a vote against WHA." Suggesting voters support the amendment, Sullivan said, "Don't make the job any easier for future developers."

Otto Schaefer of the Planning Board said he felt references to "high density" appeals to emotions and scares people.

Finally William Kyerson made a motion to cut off debate. On a standing vote, the town meeting favored voting on the question without delay, 127-35.

The voters rejected the amendment 99-88.

"The real test is before us now," said Harrison Chadwick, state representative. He said, "A garden type zone is broader in latitude" and he hoped that "Article 9 would carry."

Chadwick said, "What is good for Winchester should come first." The need for housing for the elderly "is very apparent," he said, adding Winchester needs 1,100 units. "We are behind schedule in doing the things we need to do. It is obvious we need to move ahead."

Chadwick told the assembly that if they did not approve Article 9 they would be indulging "in a form of selfishness." To vote favorably for Article 9 would be to respond to "civic responsibility."

Others speaking in favor of Article 9 were Clara Hewis, director of the Housing Authority; Richard Norberg, chairman of the Winchester Council of Aging; and TMM Patricia Wells of Prec. 3 who reminded the assembly that Raymond Kenney, moderator, was in possession of petitions showing that 825 citizens are in favor of Article 9.

Article 9 passed 118-52, a mere four votes over the required two-thirds.

Article 10, to place the former Lincoln School site into a garden apartment zone, thus clearing the way for WHA to construct another elderly housing project, was passed by town meeting, 148 in favor, 2 opposed. Selectman John Sullivan was one of the two who opposed.

Walks Turn Students On

By Patty Annino

"Voles (field-mice) are quite voracious animals; they must consume their own weight in food each day in order to survive."

This was a segment of an explanation of meadow life given by Mrs. Wharburton Ver Plank, founder of the Winchester Trails, as she showed volunteers areas to find animal life at the meadow station of the Long Pond Trail.

The Winchester Trails is an organization designed to take children on nature walks guided by trained volunteers. Presently the organization numbers about 50.

The trails used by the organization are at Smith Pond, near Vinson-Owen School, and at Long Pond, in the Fells Reservation.

On the trails, volunteers emphasize the innate curiosity of children, urging them to seek out nature through their senses. According to Mrs. Ver Plank, the children delight in such natural wonders as vole holes, bluebirds, goldenrod, British soldiers, earthworms and butterflies.

Armed with magnifying glasses, the volunteers attempt to widen the world of even the most common dandelion to new perspectives under the children's eager eyes.

They help children to discover the obvious yet overlooked details in surrounding life such as differentiating between the bases of sedge and grass or overturning a fallen tree or rotten log to examine bug, insect or worm life.

Volunteers not only show children natural wonders such as the slickenside's formation by having the children press their hands together as tightly as they can and, keeping the pressure on, slide one hand down over the other.

Volunteers, at points such as the pine forest, probe into the children's reasoning ability by asking how they can tell that these pines were planted instead of occurring naturally. Throughout the walk the leaders provide educational information, such as the difference between meadows, fields and pine forests.

The vivaciousness and knowledge of the volunteers, as seen by The Star on a nature walk last week, coupled with the inquisitive curiosity of the children, make the nature walks an unforgettable experience for both.

She leaves a nephew, Franklin T. Kurt of Brooksville, Me.

Grandmother, 92, Finds Grandsons

Mrs. Nora E. Patterson of Chula Vista, Calif., a 92-year-old grandmother who has been searching for relatives from whom she was separated years ago, has been successful in obtaining addresses of her grandsons.

Last week's Star carried a story telling about Mrs. Patterson's plea to Winchester Police Chief Edward F. Bowler to help her find her grandsons, sons of Chester Day who had worked for the Browning Laboratories in Winchester.

Mrs. Patterson wanted to find her grandsons so that she could leave them her savings. Their mother, Emily, according to Mrs. Patterson, was married a second time to a Mr. Walker.

Mrs. Emily Walker, now of Somerville, read the story in The Star, contacted the police chief, gave him the addresses of her sons, and indicated she would get in touch with Mrs. Patterson herself.

The grandsons, Robert, Kenneth and Richard Day, live in Atlanta, Ga., Sudbury, Mass., and Rapid City, S. D., respectively.

According to Bowler, Mrs. Walker appeared to be "very happy to be able to communicate" with Mrs. Patterson for the first time since 1962.

Wedge Cleanup Nets Six Truck Loads

Team effort made the Wedge Pond Cleanup a success Saturday for the second year in a row.

Six tightly packed truck loads of debris including shopping carts, oil cans, bottles, cans and paper were hauled to the dump by the Highway Department.

Younger volunteers under the direction of Karen Sullivan Wharton and her sisters cleaned candy wrappers, bottles and other litter from behind the Wedge Pond Beach house and bank of the housing for the elderly.

The rest of the crew worked the shoreline. There was a constant shuttle of boats from spots along the shoreline carrying debris to the dump truck stationed at the edge of Palmer Beach.

Boats were provided by the Water & Sewer Department and others.

Susan Guild reports enthusiasm among the children, many from nearby neighborhoods. "I would like to encourage more of this among those using Palmer Beach and Elliott Park," she said.

"Only three families, the Bob Dewalds, the Douglas Flockhearts and the Sam Husseys, volunteered their help as a family after reading last week's front page Star article. They are to be congratulated on taking pride in their town."

Richard Cooper reports that team captains Dr. Alex Leaf, Henry Curtis, William Burrow, Ken Trevett, Vernon Amos, Ted Lesperance, the Sullivan girls, Bob Dewald, Douglas Flockhard and Sam Hussey "did an excellent job in manning the shoreline."

Others seen in the hard working crew, according to Cooper, were Diana and Mark Wilson, Peter Frazier, David and Michael Scanlon, Pete and Patty Zudeck, David and Becky, Becky Benedict, Valerie McCord, Laura and Linda Guild, Martha Kenton, Bob Carroll, Leonard Darwin, and other Forum members. David Cargill, Mark Bishop and others.

"The kids report that the pond is in better shape rubbish wise than last year and they hope it will be kept this way," Cooper said.

The group's festive picnic was at 3:30 at the American Legion yard, the highest site on the pond. Drawings were held among children who worked for several prizes.

David Benedict and Patty Zudeck won fishing rods donated by the Winchester Sports shop. Denise Dewald and Cara Cassina won tennis rackets donated by A. Ruggles shop also.

"The response of those unable to volunteer was tremendous," reports Susan Guild. "The great majority of contributors are property owners on the pond."

Mrs. Leonard Meade, who has two tame Canadian geese at the shoreline of the Wedge town house apartments, gathered small donations from those apartment dwellers interested.

All these contributions paid for the continuous refreshments and the entire picnic last Saturday.

Richard Cooper with his guitar and Dean Benedict lead the growls in chorus in H. Fitts' song, "Please Don't Filthify."

Writers Correct Wrong Impression

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

There was an article in The Star last week about Dr. Hanauer and the work of Search which inadvertently left an erroneous impression which I would like to correct.

The article stated that Dr. Hanauer and the Winchester Committee For Peace and Justice support the petitioning of Congress to become more involved in action that will lead to the rights of emigration for Soviet Jews.

While both Dr. Hanauer and the committee are concerned for the rights of all political prisoners, the special interest of Search and of Dr. Hanauer, and the view which the committee supports is one which recognizes the rights of the Palestinian refugees to return to their homes in Israel and the occupied territories. And to be granted first-class citizenship in Israel.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The statement "What about the screwballs on the Board of Selectmen?" attributed to me in last week's Star article on the Charter Commission meeting was inaccurate reporting. I did not make that statement in that manner.

I feel an obligation to set the record straight as such a statement adversely reflects on the important work being done by the Charter Commission.

The commission was discussing whether the term of office for the town moderator should be one year or three years. It is presently a one year term.

Mr. Saraco said that a one-year term would protect the public from being stuck "with a screwball."

To counter that argument, I attempted to draw an analogy and mentioned the Board of Selectmen as an example. The thrust of my statement was that if a "screwball" were elected to the Board of Selectmen we would be stuck with him because at present the Selectmen's term of office is three years.

The point I was making was that presently most other town officers are elected for three years which has not been detrimental and that the town moderator should not be an exception.

In no way inferred, as your reporting did, that we presently have "screwballs" on the Board of Selectmen. In fact, I have great admiration and respect for each member of the Board.

Jason W. Dade
Charter Commission Member

Traffic Lights—Vote Appreciated

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The residents of the Park avenue, Washington street and Hancock street area would like thank the town meeting members for their concerned vote in approving pedestrian lights at the intersection of Park, Washington, and Swanton streets.

We would also like to thank the selectmen and especially Officer McKinley for his effort and concern in this matter.

We feel that this action will eliminate the hazardous situation for both children and adults who cross at this intersection.

Money Raised From Festival

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On behalf of the members of the Winchester Smith College Club I wish to thank all those who so generously supported our recent film festival. The money raised will be sent to the college scholarship fund.

In these times of ever-increasing college expenses, scholarship aid is most urgently needed by more and more students. In the past, the money realized from these movies has been awarded to a girl from this area. Thank you again.

Sincerely,

Drought In USA Possible; Join May 1 Fast

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

A letter in The Star of April 18 described a fund raising fast on May 1 to benefit the victims of the famine in the Sahel region of Africa. The April National Geographic has an article about that area.

The starvation of hundreds of thousands of people in that area is one of an increasing number of ecological disasters of increasing severity occurring around the world. The article in The Sunday Globe of April 21 is also recommended reading.

The farmers in the Sahel have practiced slash and burn agriculture for decades where jungle is cleared, the land cultivated for a few years, and then abandoned. The southern edge of the Sahara Desert is marching southward at the rate of 30 miles a year. The mistreatment of the land and the exploding population set up the conditions for disaster with an extended drought.

Those of us interested in the environment have been quite aware of the situation in the Sahel. It was described in Allen Morgan's keynote address at the conference on the End of the Earth six years ago.

Morgan, who is executive director of Massachusetts Audubon Society, lamented that the vast majority of people would not believe the seriousness of the ecological and population problems until one or more really major disasters occur.

He also said that man is ruining land about four times faster than he is reclaiming it.

The United States has always had food production capacity greater than needed for its own people. Ten years ago we had a year's supply of food grains in storage and gave away large quantities to other countries, while limiting our own production. Today we have only a few months supply on hand, and we are selling large quantities to other nations, and production will be at full capacity in 1974 for the first time ever. A drought in the USA would affect hundreds of millions of people in addition to our own. We had a severe drought in the plains in the mid-1930's and another drought is really overdue.

The real problem is the population explosion, of course, as emphasized by 1974 being designated World Population Year by the United Nations. The magnitude of the problem and the efforts being made by many countries is not well publicized in this country. There is reason for cautious optimism here. If the current birth rate holds constant, the population of the USA will stabilize at about 300 million (about 220 million today) in year 2050. The population of some underdeveloped nations has been doubling every 25 years.

I urge support of the May 1 fast for the famine victims of the Sahel. I also urge that we use this opportunity to broaden our understanding of the problem around the world, and to take action whenever possible.

Tempers Running Short

Time is taking its toll on tempers of town meeting members. For the first time within memory boos and "Sssssss" have punctuated the normally placid atmosphere at town meeting.

Monday night, the 14th session of this year's annual town meeting, was hot. The discussion was tedious — reconsideration of school budgets, a subject that has been covered, and recovered, and re-recovered this year.

Understandably the members were fed up. The "ssss" came when Finance Chairman James B. Lane stood up to speak on the proposed amendment to add $21,000 to the budget for school secretaries' salaries. He said the committee has tried "to give the School Department what it needs to run the schools." That was enough to upset the equilibrium of some members and they audibly showed it.

Ironically, Lane then went on to say that in the midst of a town meeting "is not the right time" to make such a request, thus placating the members.

The boos came when town meeting member Jeremiah McCarron at 10:45 p.m. moved to adjourn the meeting. McCarron is the person who traditionally moves adjournment. But he usually does it closer to 11 p.m. A move to adjourn takes precedence over all other business.

Moderator Raymond J. Kenney Jr. was visibly perturbed that McCarron was moving earlier than usual and asked McCarron to wait. McCarron would not. "I recognize Mr. Moore," Kenney said of Stephen A. Moore, Conservation Commission member who was waiting to make the presentation on the next article. "Booooo!" the meeting responded to Kenney's lapse in parliamentary procedure.

A few minutes earlier School Committeeman Stephen Parkhurst had risen on a "point of personal privilege," another preferential motion. "Oh brother, here we go," intoned one town meeting member loud enough for many to hear. "Regardless of what you think of the schools, Parkhurst was saying, "these two gracious ladies have done a great job of representing you and representing Winchester."

He was talking about retiring School Committee members Mary Mears and Harriet Dieterich, each completing their sixth year on the committee. The meeting obviously agreed with Parkhurst. They gave Dieterich and Mears a standing ovation.

Moderator Kenney commented: "You didn't get your money, ladies, but we love you anyway." Both women were unsuccessful in convincing town meeting to restore money it cut in school budgets.

His voice might have shook, and he might have slammered and pronounced some words oddly. But high school swim coach Vin Palumbo more than anyone was most responsible for almost turning the meeting around to restore $41,000 it had cut from the athletic budget. Two more votes would have done it.

"I'll make my thoughts brief and to the point," the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports has continually emphasized through press releases and television spots that athletics are the main ingredients in its fight against drug abuse. It instills in the youth of today the moral qualities that are so vital in the fight against juvenile delinquency.

"Good sportsmanship, the lifelong friendships made through athletics, the compatibility of athletic programs remain in the hearts and minds of the students long after they graduate. Winchester has a long history of vandalism, drug abuse and delinquencies by teenagers. The only way the parents, the voters, the town meeting members, town officials can partially combat these problems is to implement sound athletic programs at the junior high school and high school levels.

"Yet some of these town officials have seen fit to reduce the athletic budget by $40,000.... If we do not restore these monies to the athletic budget I can assure you that the $40,000 will be spent in the near future erecting new bridges downtown to accommodate these young people," Palumbo said about the customary hangout places for young people.

The swim coach gathered 1,100 signatures on Saturday and Sunday to protest the budget cut. At 10 signatures an hour (total time: 30 hours), Palumbo noted: "It was tough work." Luckily he had some help.

Moderator Kenney has been admonishing town meeting members lately about starting late and taking long recesses (in addition to not letting them finish early Monday). In uncharacteristic pique, he gavelled for order several times during Monday's session as groups of members struggled in from their intermission coffee and cookies.

Later he apologized. "I didn't mean to embarrass anyone," he said. "Mr. Moderator," said TMM McCarron, "I think you should embarrass some people more." "If it comes to that, that's what I've been elected for," commented Kenney. If only McCarron had known that a little later on he would be the one Kenney would embarrass by refusing to recognize his motion to adjourn.

Monday's session had begun on an unusual note by TMM Mary Brink, who gave the invocation, filling in for Rev. George Easton of First Congregational Church. "God, we ask you to be present with us as we begin another session of our annual town meeting," she began.

"This town meeting has been long, meetings sometimes have been tedious, sometimes exasperating, sometimes frustrating. Many of us wonder if it's really worth our time to come night after night, and we wonder if anyone really cares that we are here, doing the town's business.

"Help us to overcome our discouragement and to realize that all of us can serve Three through our lives and that what we do here is important. We arrive here tonight with worries, concerns and problems not associated with the business we must consider at this meeting. Help us to put those things out of our minds for the moment so that we may give our fullest attention and concentration to our deliberations this evening...."

SHORT TAKES

TMM Clarence Borggaard of Prec. 3 recently noted that he tore his coat on a broken seat arm in the McCall Junior High School, the scene of two recent town meetings. He suggested that the School Committee might use some of its maintenance money to repair the chairs in the auditorium.

TMM Arthur Hewis of Prec. 1 tried to get town meeting to hold all of its sessions at McCall claiming the auditorium has "better acoustics" than the high school.

Stephen Parkhurst, School Committee member who has been acting as spokesman for the school budget, in response to a comment that school vandalism "is rampant" called this term "strong." Vandalism unfortunately is an existing situation, he said, noting it costs about $5,000 or $1 per student per year.

Park Commissioner William Ryerson asked if this figure was "per school." No, said Parkhurst, who said the $1 per student was an annual figure. (A year ago The Star interviewed William Clark, former assistant superintendent of Winchester schools, and was told that replacement of broken windows alone for the previous year was $8,298.)

Marjorie Moore of Prec. 3 has been about the only town meeting member recently to rise and praise the school department. "I am shocked that so little is said in favor" of them, said Mrs. Moore who advised the assembly that Winchester's educational opportunities entered into her decision to move here. "The School Committee can't help it if prices go up," she said.

A town meeting member asked Committeeman Parkhurst Monday why the hockey players can't provide their own shirts, as music students provide their own instruments. They do, replied Parkhurst. "They also provide their own sticks."

Only A Stepping Stone?

'Something Basically Wrong' -- WHS Editor

The following article appears in the current issue of The Red and Black, Winchester High School's student newspaper, under the headline "From The Editor."

It is not sufficient to say only that student apathy is a problem in this school. This is only dealing with the situation on the surface. If we are to make any progress towards solving our school's problems, we must be prepared to ask ourselves, "Why is there student apathy, and where is it coming from?" The answer to this question lies deep within the foundations of our education.

As young children about to embark on a career of education through the public school system, we were all subjected to a mass infusion of ideals and goals directed at us by our parents and other members of the older generation.

We learned then, and we are constantly reminded now, that the best way to become a successful and useful person-in-effect, to be somebody-was to go to college. With college as our ultimate goal, we set out upon our journey, intent on using the first 12 years of our education only as a springboard for entrance into college, the ultimate educational experience.

I'm sure that all students, especially juniors in high school, are feeling that now more than ever their performance in school will decide their future. All our efforts must be directed towards getting accepted into a good college.

Confronted with a barrage of college boards and SAT's and continually filled with anxiety at the mention of those magic words, "college transcript," the high school student is forced into turning his attention towards entrance into a higher level of education.

There is something basically wrong here. While getting into college may be all well and good, we are placing too much emphasis on the college experience and forgetting completely about the high school experience.

'Oz' Performance

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Anyone attending this past weekend's performances of "The Wizard of Oz" by the Winchester Community Theatre Inc., Children's Theatre surely noticed the enthusiasm of the children, both those performing and those in the audience.

The cast exhibited a feeling of self-confidence and spontaneity that one could only witness with delight. Their merriment was contagious.

Working with and benefiting from the talents of Ronald Marcy, Mrs. John Mills and Mrs. Carlene Samoloff, who gave so unselfishly of themselves, was an especially enriching experience for all 35 children. Trent and Melodie Arberberg contributed greatly with their unique skills in pantomime, particularly body movement.

One wonders how long it will be before some cast members will play leading roles in junior high and high school productions what with their natural ability and valuable experience. Space prohibits mention of all the fine character performances.

However, we must make note of Linda Barbuto's outstanding success as the wicked witch. Elizabeth Bracken exhibited considerable stage presence as Dorothy with Kelly Shea, as Toto the dog barking at her heels. The combination of John Baker's talents, make-up and costume was effective in his portrayal of the wizard.

Additional local talent was also put to good use in other areas. Marcy designed the scenery using many of the ideas in the children's sketches. Some cast members assisted in the actual painting of the scenery.

Let's Keep Up Diamonds Also

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I am just one of the many baseball players that feel the condition and well-keep of Manchester field is being neglected. To play on such a field can actually be a hazard because of the broken glass, rocks and numerous moggles with which the field is composed of.

I think the quality of baseball in Winchester is excellent and its future promising, but to play on such a field is a disgrace to the Middlesex League and does not show a true test of either team.

As I look around Winchester I see places as Palmer Courts which gets 24-hour service and certain soccer fields which remain well kept even in the off-season.

Then I look around for a major league diamond and I come up with three dust bowls such as Manchester Field, Lynch and Macdonald fields.

I still think baseball is the national pastime and I fear unless these fields are kept up to compare with other ones such as Stoneham and Wakefield that the sport will decline drastically in Winchester.

As the emphasis on athletics continues to increase, facilities for such should also increase. But to neglect the baseball diamonds, to sterilize Palmer Courts each morning is something I can't see.

Fill Empty Seats Or Get Empty Pockets

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As an elected body it is very evident that the voter has made some fine and well chosen, hard working representatives. However in other cases this does not hold true.

You as a voter will never know this if you do not attend some of your town meetings occasionally and observe your selections in action; reading Playbox or newspaper, knitting or darning, or otherwise spending your money wastefully.

I have been most perturbed at the apathy of the resident who pays the taxes that carry the cost of the town. Many a night, conscientious TMMs trudge out of the hall in disgust muttering to themselves about some foolish and costly article that has been passed over their vehement protests.

These conscientious representatives would have felt much better had they known those empty seats up back had been filled with observing taxpayers residents who could not help but note those lax dodos holding down space and voting as though the taxpayers' fountain of gold shall never run dry. You had better fill those empty seats before your pockets are emptied.

Also, you have elected a Charter Commission and a good one. They need your support badly. Did you ever think what could happen if the Charter Commission was a bad one? It is going to select the form of government you may have to live with in the future. They can give you a charter as poor as your apathy permits or as good as your interests indicates. This is from a person who voted against the Charter Commission.

Athletic Budget Cut Ires Readers

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The action of the town meeting Monday night which turned down reconsideration of the athletic budget seems incredible to me.

For years families have moved to Winchester from other communities for one primary reason: The outstanding reputation of our educational system. This system has always consisted of outstanding programs in academics and in interscholastic athletics; one complements the other and until this point we have never considered abandoning this balanced duality in our schools.

With this cut in the proposed budget in a year when we have to expand our athletic program to include more activities for girls there can be but one result: a drastic cutback in existing programs.

The popular target, of course, will be hockey, which involves about 90 boys in junior high and high school, because of the cost of ice rentals. We provide facilities for all sports but hockey and swimming, having turned down facilities for these activities at prior town meetings.

When the town rejected the idea of owning its own skating rink and swimming pool, private enterprise built a skating facility on Conant road. This facility, built because of a demonstrated community need, receives a yearly real estate tax bill from our town for over $32,000!

Many young people from our town have gone on to college and further achievements in athletics because of their exposure to the excellence of our system.

A 1973 graduate, Lisa Johns, is on the varsity tennis team at University of Maryland.

Three 1972 graduates—Mark Stevenson at Norwich, Jack Brennan at Dartmouth and Rick Murphy at University of Pennsylvania—played varsity hockey this year.

Mark Siegfried of this year's team just received a scholarship to Ithaca College for next year, joining Joe Carupo (hockey) and Bill Logan (soccer and lacrosse).

Believe me, none of these youngsters are at schools such as these solely for intellectual achievement, although all were good students. If we want well-rounded young adults, we must continue with a well-rounded, balanced educational system.

I can't conceive of Winchester continuing to compare itself to Wellesley, Weston, Needham and Lexington when in reality we are being outdone by our immediate neighbors, Woburn and Stoneham, in providing facilities and programs for our youth.

I hope we never return to the concept of Winchester as an old town full of old houses divided by the railroad track. I hope we're too sensible for that.

Let's start showing some mature common sense and find a way to fund these programs for our town's young adults.

10 Dartmouth St.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As a new town meeting member this year I was absolutely appalled at the action of town meeting Monday, April 29, when in a 94 yes to 51 no vote they took it upon themselves not to even discuss reconsideration of the school athletic budget.

A reconsideration of any article on the warrant requires a two-thirds vote. The vote fell short by two votes.

It was pointed out in Dr. Pharo's presentation that more monies are needed this year as a result of a new law from the State House which states school athletic departments must have equal opportunity for both the boys and girls.

It was also pointed out, by Mr. Palumbo, that in an extensive campaign conducted by himself some 1,200 voters' signatures were acquired on petitions in a span of two days to restore the necessary funds.

At this time the School Committee, as a result of this new 622 law, will have to cut some of the existing sports, mainly those costing the most monies in an effort to comply with the new law. This is something I think the residents of Winchester would not like to see happen.

Therefore in conclusion I am going to author a new article for our next special town meeting seeking to restore funds somehow so our existing sports will not be jeopardized and our girls of Winchester will finally have the equal sports programs they deserve.

Alan M. Nowland
Town Meeting Member Prec. 2
27 Winthrop St.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On April 29 this past Monday night the town meeting voted not to reconsider the $40,000 athletic budget (cut). By this decision they have directly hurt every child growing up in this town because now the School Committee must make drastic cuts in our athletic programs.

Another reason I write this letter is that the School Committee must by state law initiate new programs for girls. I ask you: Where is this money coming from?

I must ask town meeting: Did you by this decision do an injustice to our children? The answer is yes. I believe you did. I'm also sure that when the School Committee makes their athletic cuts due to lack of funds, that's when a lot of townspeople will get involved. One of the programs that their son or daughter may enjoy or be directly involved in may be cut and they then will ask why.

I think it's a disgrace that a beautiful and highly respected town like ours can't approve $40,000 for athletics for our children to enjoy

Education Costs Up Due To Inflation, Says MacDonald

About 100 town meeting members and other interested citizens met in the Lincoln School auditorium last Wednesday night to discuss school budget.

Harriet Dieterich, chairman of the School Committee, began by saying the committee hoped to settle the $116,000 difference between the figure appropriated by town meeting and that required to run the Winchester schools.

She noted the expense of educating children is the responsibility of the School Committee and one which the town has supported in the past. She introduced Supt. of Schools William MacDonald who made his first.

Supt. of Schools William C. MacDonald referred to the inflationary economy the country is experiencing and noted "Town meeting does not lend itself for the logical forum for discussion." He said School Committees do give careful, minute attention to details of the budget. He mentioned that School Committee members receive daily calls on improvements and added services which people want.

MacDonald said the present school budget contains no new programs except for Italian I, as a mandated follow-up to an Italian I course introduced at citizen request last year; and a modest appropriation for Chapter or participate in. I urge my fellow townspeople to contact their town meeting members whom you voted into office to find out their thinking on this matter. Let's not stand pat or it will be too late.

About Letters...

The Winchester Star welcomes letters to the editor. They should be limited to 250 words and submitted by 5 p.m. Monday for publication that week.

Letters must be signed and include the writer's address for verification. Letters need not be typed but should be legibly written.

766, providing education for children with special needs.

Six of the 7 million dollar budget is in the area of personal services, MacDonald pointed out. The other expenses budget includes such necessities as heat, light and transportation. "Too often," he said, "the area that is cut is the maintenance which is deferred in moves of false economy."

MacDonald told the audience. "We have heard the voice of town meeting and know the mandate of economy."

MacDonald said the key is to begin budget preparation earlier — hopefully to be completed before December for the 75-76 year. Citizen involvement will be sought and welcomed during the months the budget is being prepared, he said, noting there will be a thorough study of secretaries and economies.

Economies have been brought into effect where possible, MacDonald stated, citing consolidation of two positions and the policy of having split grades in elementary schools and dropping eight teachers in two years.

He made an emotional statement of support for "dedicated secretaries in the system," whose negotiated contract settlement failed to be appropriated at a recent town meeting session.

Pointing out that today's education is considerably different from that which most adults received, where all students took the same major subjects, he said that today five subjects are required and 500 students at the high school are taking a sixth. If you compute an average 25 pupils per class, 19 more classes are being taught to those students taking the extra course, requiring a little better than three teachers.

Negotiations impede the options of the School Committee to act, MacDonald said.

"We have a legal and moral responsibility to introduce girls sports, the swim team and soccer support," he said. "Yet we cannot add soccer and fund girls sports and the swim team within the $110,000 appropriated by town meeting." Even to maintain the present program, without any additions, the School Committee requires an additional 24,000, he said.

MacDonald said that every program offered by the School Department is servicing some portion of the town's youngsters. He noted his reluctance to choose which programs must go because of budgetary stringencies.

Using visual aids, Mrs. Dieterich attempted to explain the budget. School Committee member Richard Pharo noted the present budget format "is incomprehensible" but its present form is required by town and state. "It's a handicap the town operates under," he said.

Town meeting member Phyllis Williams stated that some $6000 cut from the budget in the form of extracurricular stipends are counterproductive to kids.

Stephen Parkhurst, committee member, said that the Massachusetts Association of School Committees must deal with problems of collective bargaining or tenure and press the legislature to put towns on an equal bargaining basis.

TMM William Carter who proposed an amendment to cut $200,000 from the school budget appeared to have changed his position with the words: "The $200,000 reduction will hurt programs."

Frances Haley, president, Lynch Junior High Parents' Association, spoke of 11 years of volunteer help to local schools. She pointed to $5,000 raised over two years at Lynch to benefit students. She urged support of the school budget by town meeting.

TMM Eva Arnold noted that while "taxpayers don't want to pay more, parents are willing to pay much more for services to children."

TMM Alden Cheever said that about one-third of the School Department employees are "nonproductive workers such as secretaries and custodians." He questioned whether sufficient attention is given to residents who are applicants for teacher positions and also the necessity for so many administrators.

Supt. MacDonald said that all Winchester applicants are interviewed, but only if they are the best candidates for a given position are they hired.

TMM Carter requested a compromise. He suggested the town accept the reduction figure of $83,000 and attempt to restore the $116,000. In addition, he noted, $21,500 should be restored to Article 5 to accommodate the school secretaries contract. Carter moved reconsideration of this portion of article 5 at a recent town meeting.

Vincent Palumbo, volunteer coach of the Winchester swim team, said, "Any dollars cut from the school budget will affect students. Town meeting members are doing an injustice to the School Committee by cutting this budget," he said.

Palumbo said Winchester's athletic budget is the lowest by $25,000 of any town in Middlesex County.

Mrs. Dieterich explained the athletic budget consists of interscholastic sports and is considered in a different budget than the school budget which includes only physical education and intramurals as part of the curriculum. She said $14,000 of the athletic budget must be dropped from present offerings unless the athletic budget is reconsidered. Reconsideration always requires a two-thirds vote.

TMM William Zettler questioned how do we fight teachers' union wages? With 3000 applicants for teaching jobs each year, we ought to be able to hire non-union teachers, he said.

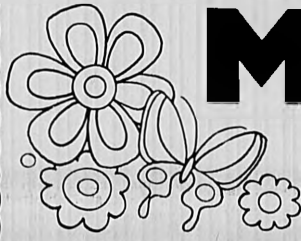

Parkhurst said "a strike is a possibility. You can't replace everybody. It's not legally possible." Parkhurst said the way to go is a citizens' groundswell on Beacon Hill.

Sherman Saltmarsh wondered if the School Department can run with 10 percent instead of 33 percent non-productive workers. Could they be phased down to an ideal level?

Parkhurst defended the use of persons he called "support people" rather than non-productive workers because of Winchester's philosophy of individualized instruction. These persons provide staff assistance that makes individualized programs possible, he said.

Floral Memories And Fragrant Patches

By PK
Star Correspondent

Plant for fragrance this spring! Think about it for a moment.

How many memories are evoked by the scent of certain flowers—remember the lilacs in grandmother's garden, and walking to school past lilacs-of-the-valley tucked beneath the neighbor's shrubbery? Let's create fragrant patches for our own delight, and that of a passing child.

Shrubs come first to mind. Those lilacs, of course. But do you have a mock-orange? True orange blossoms are not much nicer. Beautiful and rock-hardy, mock-orange blossoms are a joy to cut and to bury the face in.

Fruit tree blossoms are delicately scented and gloriously beautiful. Is there anything lovelier than a pear tree in blossom, particularly toward twilight when the pure white blossoms stand out against the dark, shining foliage? Well, maybe an apple tree, all pink.

Caci Birth

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Caci (Judith Shea) of 47 Samoset rd. are parents of their third child, second daughter, Meredith Andrea, born April 22 at Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John R. Shea of Manchester, N.H., and Mrs. Frank Caci of Arlington st. and the late Mr. Caci.

and white, but then again— Dwarf trees are now available. The nurserymen can help us choose.

The kitchen doorway is ideal for an herb garden. On warm summer days the scents of rosemary, thyme, sweet marjoram and basil waft through the open door.

Gourmet touches or not, they are nice just to have around. Don't forget the spearmint for those tall, cold drinks, and the lavender for your closets.

But, unless you have no cat, forget Nepeta Mussini (catnip to you), or you'll have a messy flower bed, complete with slap-happy, intoxicated cats.

Children (and grown-ups) love petunias and four-o'clocks, both lovely near the garden chairs. The red petunias attract hummingbirds. Pinks and phlox are fragrant, too—great cutting standbys.

And the last shall be first—roses. By the way, we are interested in herbs proven hardest in this immediate area. Write us about those in your garden (we are compiling a list); we will publish the most interesting letters with your name.

At Mall

Girl Scout Expo At Mall Includes Winchester Girls

Five hundred Winchester Girl Scouts representing 27 troops will participate in the Mistick Side Girl Scout Council's Expo '74 at the Burlington Mall this week, May 2-5. From left, members of troop 512 painting a mural are Carolyn Mandeville, Susan Kerrigan, Alison Shirley, Marcia Hudson, Pamela Russell and Mary Jane Queen.

Winchester Girl Scouts' primary exhibit will be a country store where they will exhibit arts and crafts and demonstrate skills.

Twenty-six troops have spent months preparing the store and its contents, which will be located opposite R.H. Stearns. Junior troop 492, under leaders Jonna Sullivan and Mary Baruffaldi, designed and made the store itself.

A life-size mural showing old-fashioned shoppers was designed and made by Junior troop 512, under leader Ann Russell. Cadette troop 510 made publicity posters. Their leaders are Mary Jane Grasty and Lillian Adamian.

The country store will be decorated with sample articles the girls in troops 397, 426, 490, 496, 544, 548 and 746 have made. At various times during the four-day program, different troops are scheduled to demonstrate the making of these articles, which include candles, toys, quilts, needlework, braided rugs and kites, as well as corn husk, spool and yard dolls.

Ice cream, baked beans, churned butter, home-made bread, cookies, candy, lollipops, candied apples and popcorn are among the edibles to be prepared and sold at the store by troops 492, 499, 496, 510, 516, 523 and 742. The sale will benefit the scout campership fund.

As their contribution to "The Greening of the Mall," troops 468, 484, 492 and 544 will present performances ranging from a camping skit to minstrel singing and dancing. Brownie troop 488 will conduct an investiture ceremony.

Junior troop 493, under the leadership of Pam Center, has prepared an exhibit of gravestone rubbings and will also represent Winchester in Saturday's skill-o-rama.

Scottish Actress Directs English Mystery

By Bill Fallon

"Three blind mice, Three blind mice, See how they run." Renowned British mystery writer Agatha Christie has turned the classic nursery rhyme into theme music for suspense.

The simple lilting notes open her famous play, the murder mystery titled "The Mousetrap," a cracking good mystery in the civilized British tradition.

A local version of the longest running production of any kind in the history of British theatre will be presented four nights at Metcalf Hall, Winchester Unitarian Church, Main street.

The dates: Saturday, Sunday, May 10 and May 11.

Since the day "The Mousetrap" opened in 1952 in London, over three million people have poured into a theatre in London to see more than 8,900 performances.

Miss Christie, a most-widely read British author, wrote the play at the request of the late Queen Mary to celebrate the ruler's 80th birthday.

The Queen was offered a special BBC production of her choice. Instead of Shakespeare or an opera, she chose "an Agatha Christie play." The radio play of "The Three Blind Mice" eventually became "The Mousetrap." The play has been performed in 41 different countries including some behind the iron curtain.

The British Touch

Those "three blind mice" notes are haunting director Betty Finnigan who is responsible for presenting a suspenseful production that builds to a tense climax of "Who did it?" The murderer in the play leaves the nursery rhyme clues.

During a break in a long dress rehearsal this week, the cast and crew were presented with a cake, devil's food, naturally, elaborately frosted with a musical bar including those three opening notes in decorator's icing. Who did it? No one's saying.

Although she has never directed a mystery before, Scottish-born Finnigan brings a special expertise in outstanding interpretations of British roles in local community theatre.

SCOTTISH actress Betty Finnigan is director of the Unitarian Players' production of Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap," opening Saturday at the Unitarian Church.

Betty starred as a Scottish teacher in "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie" and as an English governess in "The Chalk Garden" in recent productions of Arlington Friends of the Drama.

She also played the classic role of Liza Doolittle in "My Fair Lady" and the famous Anna in "The King and I" for the Concord Players.

She claims to find working with a mystery exciting for actors, audience and director. The mystery of the play is heightened by the characters' reactions," she said. "I try to keep the responses fresh. It is a challenge to work with actors to produce a continuing character."

Betty is concerned with actors' movements, but not with forced or fake British accents. She has one authentic British accent in the cast in the person of English-born Winchesterite Pamela Meserve who plays the newlywed mistress of Monkswell Manor.

Englishman Roger Foskett is producing the play in addition to designing the English manor setting. Jo Hill is stage manager. Connie Dingwell is handling props. Another English-born Winchesterite, Ken Astill, is working on sound to produce those suspenseful musical notes in appropriate places in the play.

Others in the cast include: Ernie Stevens, Jim Lynch, Bette Vallee, Don Hutcheson, Hugh Fraser, Allan Eyden, Sally Kindeberger.

Retired Surgeon Turns Knife To Woodcarving

Dr. Aitken at work in his studio

By Esther Seferian

Though a day early, Dr. Alexander Aitken of 26 Myopia rd. led off Winchester's observance of May as Massachusetts Senior Citizens Month with an exhibit and talk about his woodcarving to the Winchester Seniors Association on April 30 at the new Lincoln Mall.

Wall sconces, mirrors, bellows and even eagles were among the samples of his work which the retired Winchester orthopedic surgeon displayed in another of the monthly series featuring talks by retired townspeople for elder citizens.

Aitken who graduated from Tufts Medical School in 1928, was an orthopedic surgeon in Boston for 32 years, and in Winchester for 34 years until his retirement in 1967.

In addition to being surgeon-in-chief at Boston City Hospital from 1935 to 1966, Dr. Aitken was professor of orthopedic surgery at Tufts and chief of orthopedic surgery at Winchester Hospital.

Aitken had little time to pursue his hobby during his practicing years, but did some carving without instruction during that time.

In 1962 he began lessons with a professional carver, and has been doing this ever since. He can be found at home every Wednesday with a group of Winchester physician colleagues who spend the day carving under the guidance of a professional teacher.

In addition, Dr. Aitken instructs a class of his own in carving from 6 to 9 every Tuesday evening.

He says doctors make very good carvers, especially surgeons, but he is looking forward to developing the talents of 26 children from the Parkhurst school who will soon come to him one day a week for six weeks for carving instruction.

Aitken's retirement doesn't sound very retiring, especially when he adds that he and Mrs. Aitken travel a good deal.

Five Residents Involved In Show House

Decorators' show house 1974 is sponsored by the Junior League of Boston. The 41-room mansion located at 828 Washington st., Wellesley, will be open to the public the three weeks of April 28 through May 19. The house may be viewed Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. - 4 p.m., Sunday, 1 p.m. - 5 p.m. and Wednesday and Thursday evenings, 7 p.m. - 9:30 p.m.

Winchester residents involved in the project, which raises money for community projects, are: Mrs. David Holt, Mrs. Ain Laata, Mrs. James Parkhill, Mrs. Charles Porter and Mrs. Arthur Waltman.

Tickets are available at reduced rates at Junior League headquarters, 117 Newbury st., Boston. Tickets will be sold at the door. Children under eight will not be admitted.

All items in the house will be for sale. There is a boutique and coffee shop.

YWCA Holds Yard Sale

The Burlington area YWCA is holding a yard sale May 11 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

They request old books, knick-knacks, toys, records, clothing, household articles, furniture or dishes that are in useable condition.

For more information or to arrange pick-up of large items for the yard sale, call the YWCA, 6 Spruce Hill rd.

Parents Without Partners

A new chapter of Parents Without Partners which provides informal get-togethers, children's activities and social events, is forming in north suburban Boston. It will include Winchester, Lexington, Billerica, Lincoln, Bedford and Concord.

The first meeting will be on May 7 at 8 p.m. at the home of Nancy Strader, 35 Myrtle ter.

To be eligible for membership, adults must be single with at least one unmarried child under 21 years of age.

For more information contact Nancy Strader.

K EXPERT ADVICE

For close to 40 years, Koko Boodakian & Sons, Inc., have been involved in the rug industry, first in cleaning and repairing and then sales.

Oriental rugs were our first love and even though our showroom contains hundreds of samples of broadlooms the Boodakian firm is more widely known for its expertise in Oriental Rugs.

It takes an expert to distinguish one Oriental rug from another, to know what kind of wool is used, the weave, the dyes and the workmanship, all of which have a determining factor in deciding why one rug is better than another. Experience is often said to be the best teacher. Since 1938 hand made rugs from Iran, India, Afghanistan, Pakistan and China have passed through our hands into the hands of customers who have appreciated not only the quality of their purchase, but the expert advice they received when doing business with a specialist whose knowledge goes further than the name on the tag of each rug.

Our slogan "OUR REPUTATION IS YOUR GUARANTEE" goes further than words. When purchasing an item of such importance as an Oriental Rug, one has to rely on the reputation of the dealer.

Oliver Is Sold Out This Weekend

All tickets for all performances of "Oliver" at Lynch Junior High School have been sold. There will be no tickets available for sale at the door.

"Fantastic, beyond all expectation" and is the term used by Gene Prior, publicity chairman, to describe the advance sale of tickets for the production of Oliver which will be presented at Lynch Junior High School at 8 p.m. tonight, Friday and Saturday.

There is a slight chance that a few tickets will be available for tonight's performance. However, it would be advisable to check beforehand with business manager Paul Forgetta at the school.

Tickets for Friday and Saturday have been sold out since Tuesday of this week.

In anticipation of the capacity audiences for the three nights, the show's director, Walton C. Gager, extended an invitation to the Wednesday night full-dress performance to Winchester's senior citizens, residents of the Woburn rehabilitation center, and the Somerville home for the aged to witness the show as guests of the school.

Town Meeting

Town meeting is held Monday and Thursday evenings at 7:45 at the new high school auditorium. Public is invited.

LWV Delegates Go To Convention

The League of Women Voters of the United States will hold its national convention May 6-10 in San Francisco. Delegates from Winchester will be Mrs. Richard Thuma and Mrs. Raymond Simpson.

During the league's 31st convention, 1400 delegates from all over the country will select new national officers and determine national issues on which the 155,000 member organization will concentrate in the next two years.

"In addition to the program debate and other convention business, there will be a number of special events," said Mrs. Thuma, president of the Winchester league.

"One of the most exciting will be the announcement of the results of a national petition drive to gather more than one and a half million signatures of citizens who favor a comprehensive law on campaign finances," Mrs. Thuma said.

There will also be a rally in behalf of the equal rights amendment and a discussion and vote on league by-laws to determine whether men will be admitted as full voting members.

Another highlight will be a discussion of women in politics by a panel of women active in government, including Mary Newman, Massachusetts state secretary for manpower affairs.

Next Tuesday the Winchester Business Association will hold its regular meeting upstairs in the Winchester National Bank building for all members and directors.

Election of officers and directors will be the major agenda item. All paid-up members are asked by current president Nancy Dressler to attend and vote.

The nominating committee will present the following proposed slate and will also welcome nominations from the floor, says Ms. Dressler.

Executive committee: President, Henry Quill; executive vice-president, Ken Henderson; secretary, Ed Goodwin; and treasurer, William Sullivan.

Directors (second year of 2-year terms) - Jason Dade, James Olivier, Jack Chitel, James Dwinell, Belle Donald.

Directors (two-year term) Nancy Dressler, Ed Burns, Charles Fiske, Bob Grote and Len Davis.

Seeing Red Over The Cherry Sheet

Winchester's Cherry Sheet figures are in for 1974. They indicate the town will receive $1.8 million, up $290,000 from last year.

The Cherry Sheet (so named for their color) is the state's statement of how much it will "give" the town. "Founded in another era and long past sensible prime," The Reading Chronicle told its readers recently the statements give each Massachusetts community "the tedious schedule of reimbursements and disbursements, assets and liabilities with which the 1971-75 property tax rate can be calculated."

The Chronicle editorial on this "non-system," based on material supplied by the Massachusetts Taxpayers Foundation, follows:

Reflecting its piecemeal origins, this "system" stands as a monument to past political struggles and to out-dated ideas, some of them with supporting bureaucracies. It lacks consistently applied principles. It contains many built-in contradictions. No clear goals are evident.

Among the broader faults of the system are these:

School aid is greatly overemphasized while the non-school needs of municipal governments are neglected. School measures account for some four-fifths of all state aid. Plainly this overemphasis has hurt many of the most needy local school systems because it has made less money available to them than would a like amount of state money apportioned in relation to non-school municipal needs.

Total state aid (in combination with state assumption of specific local government programs or expenses) continues to be insufficient to bring property taxes down to tolerable levels.

The system continues to reflect an historical bias in favor of rural towns where on the average property taxes are more tolerable.

The system is cluttered with incentive programs designed to encourage local spending for specific programs which at some time were thought to be socially or politically desirable.

Many of them have outlasted their usefulness and survive out of sheer inertia or as quaint reminders of the past.

The system should be more predictable. Depending as much of it does on annual appropriations, it remains subject to legislative or gubernatorial whims for budget balancing or political purposes.

The system overemphasizes reimbursement-type programs, practically guaranteeing no progress in relieving the property tax.

The system has failed to close or even to narrow significantly the gap between affluent and poor communities in terms of their fiscal capacity to support public services.

Many of the specific programs in the system are equally unacceptable. By any reasonable standard of equity, no less than a third of the local aid or assessment programs are so clearly unjust that they should either be abolished or radically changed.

For example: County taxes continue to be based on 1961 and 1945 valuations and quite possibly are unconstitutional as they seem to violate the constitutional 10-year revaluation mandate (and penalize towns with 100 percent valuation).

The "machinery tax distribution" is member towns in regional school districts no matter how few of their children attend the regional school.

Under this preposterous system it is possible for the state to spend more for the operation of a regional vocational school than it costs to operate it.

The real tragedy of the Massachusetts system has been the state's seeming inability to scrap it and start afresh, or indeed even to scrap or correct its weakest parts.

The MTF's appraisal is realistic, and prime evidence of the state's inability to cope with governing intelligently.

We must continue to press the governor and the legislature to reshape this antiquated system of taxing us, drawing our money to Beacon Hill, filtering it through a monstrous bureaucracy and then doing it back to us in insulting lumps.

Sachem Nine League Tops

By John F. Parre

The first two weeks of the Middlesex League baseball season have been played and Coach Bill Colella's Winchester High School nine is moving along nicely in first place. Although complete reports of all games played have not been available, it appears the closest opposition is the Stoneham Spartans. The latter dropped a heart breaker to the Woburn Tanners by 1-0. But that was the only game they have lost.

So unless some other upsets have occurred it looks as though the battle for first place will depend on the outcome of yesterday's game at Stoneham.

The Sachems opened by losing to Watertown, 12-10. It was a typical early season game, with Winchester showing in front at the end of three frames by 8-7. But five Sachem errors coupled with 11 bases on balls kept Rudy Fiore and his successor Elliott Miller in constant hot water.

Watertown banged out 10 hits to seven for Winchester, but made only a single error. This took much of the pressure off the pitcher who sailed along comfortably from the fourth inning on - after a three run fourth inning put the Raiders in front by 10-8. Each team made two runs in the seventh inning for a final count of 12-10.

Albie Cordice hit a grand slam home run for the Sachems in the second inning and almost duplicated the feat in the third. He was thrown out at the plate, but drove in seven big runs.

Had he been able to get home safely he would probably have had a world's record, for grand slam home runs are rare enough, much less ones coming in consecutive innings. Mike Heffernan aided the cause with a triple. Rudy Fiore banged out two singles.

The line score:
WATERTOWN 3 0 4 3 0 0 2 12 10 1
WINCHESTER 0 4 4 0 0 0 2 10 7 5

The Sachems hung up their first victory of the campaign when they met the Marauders at Belmont. However, they were bedeviled by errors and it took five extra innings to post the victory which should have come in the regulation seven frames. No less than six miscues coupled with 13 bases on balls kept the home team in the ball game even though Winchester out hit them by 9 to 7.

The Marauders had 20 men left on base for an average of nearly two per inning. Fiore and Miller combined for 15 strike outs to snuff out many threatening rallies.

Sullivan Bruno and Boundy each had two singles for Belmont while Tom Brennan had three in four time at bat and Rudy Fiore once again chipped in with a pair of singles.

The line score:
BELMONT 1 0 1 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 4 7 0

Burlington came to Manchester Field and the Sachems posted victory No. 2 with Rudy Fiore pitching the entire game. He set down 11 of the visitors on strikes but four bases on balls and four more Winchester errors kept Burlington a constant threat right up to the final out.

The Sachems started fast and put three runs across the plate in the first inning. Albie Cordice walked, Wayne Dennis reached on an infield error, Mike Heffernan sacrificed and Tom Brennan came through with a single.

The visitors tied the game with three in the sixth, but the Sachems rebounded with a like count in their half. Burlington kept on pecking away in the seventh and last inning to register two runs, just one short of the final Sachem total.

The line score:
WINCHESTER 3 0 0 0 0 3 X 6 4 4
BURLINGTON 0 0 0 0 0 3 2 5 3 4

The first week ended with Winchester's record 2-1, which was quite good considering that they had only 20 hits and made 15 errors while the combined opposition had been issued 28 bases on balls.

Of course schoolboy baseball is more uncertain than anything except New England weather. But with six starters back from last year's state tournament team one would hope for more solid performances. However, the cold raw days and the poor practice facilities did little to help the players to get into shape.

The second week found the Colella men playing much better ball and with more solid batting and steadier fielding they went through games with Reading, Wakefield and Lexington without a loss to move to the top with a 5-1 slate.

Reading came here on Monday. The Rockets had been having good success both in the league and in outside games. The game was only minutes old when Winchester piled up seven runs in the second inning.

These came on a combination of five hits and two bases on balls, with the key hits being a double by Rudy Fiore and a triple by Albie Cordice. Elliott Miller was the starter fanning five Rocket batters. However, his control was off and nine bases on balls led to his leaving the mound in the late stages with Jon Lindberg finishing the game. Reading had nine base runners left on base.

The line score:
WINCHESTER 0 7 0 0 0 2 X 9 9 2
READING 0 0 0 2 3 0 5 6 1

Rainy weather forced postponement of the game scheduled for Wednesday at Wakefield. It was played the next day and was another triumph for Winchester, this time by 7-3.

For the first time this year the team played errorless baseball, enabling Rudy Fiore to go all the way to post the victory. However, it started out to be a bad afternoon for the Sachems.

A base on balls with a single, double and triple combined to give the home team three runs at the start. Fiore shut the door and twirled shutout ball the rest of the way.

The Sachems put on a batting barrage themselves in the second inning when three singles and a double coupled with a Wakefield error and a base on balls caused five runs to cross the plate. They added two insurance runs in the fifth inning to run the score to 7-3.

Mike Heffernan with two singles and a double and Al Cordice with a double and triple led the Sachem attack. Rudy Fiore aided his own cause with a pair of singles.

Vs. Minutemen

The Lexington Minutemen came here last Friday and they too are in the thick of the battle for first place. It was nip and tuck all the way with the Sachems edging out the visitors by 3-2.

Mike Heffernan was out of action due to a bout with the flu. Tony Saracco donned the "tools of ignorance" and did a bang up job behind the plate.

Elliott Miller went all the way on the Winchester mound, limiting the visitors to four hits and setting five batters down on strikes. His control was good, and although his two walks set up the first Lexington run, he was in complete control throughout the rest of the game.

A double by Mike LaBombard followed the walks and sent the Minutemen off to a first inning lead of 1-0. The Sachems got this run back in the second on a walk to Tom Brennan followed by a single by Rudy Fiore. The latter stole second and on the throw enabled Brenna to scamper home with the equalizer.

Lexington tallied its second run in the fifth as Dan Fitzgerald singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by Meadows. Mike Cuzzore singled to short left center and the ball died on the slow surface.

Meadows raced around third and attempted to score. Gary Beard moved over from first, took Rudy Fiore's throw and then threw a perfect strike to Saracco to erase Fitzgerald at the plate. It was a perfect defensive play all the way with Fiore, Beard and Saracco each doing his job perfectly.

Saracco started the winning rally in the last half as he drew a walk. Well placed bunts by Albie Cordice and Wayne Dennis confused the inner defenses of the visitors. Everybody was safe. Saracco was thrown out as he attempted to score but the catcher threw to first enabling Cordice to race home with the equalizer. Rudy Fiore dropped down a perfect suicide squeeze and Wayne Dennis came home with the victory clinching run.

Snipe Results

Mark Lombardi, commodore of the Winchester Boat Club, welcomed snipe sailors

Saturday afternoon as they began their 1974 racing season. Winchester will host two large regattas this summer. On July 6 and 7 the Winchester invitational will be held. Last year over 40 boats participated. On July 13 and 14 the "districts" will be held. This race will have sailors participating from Maine to North Carolina. The winners this weekend were: Saturday: N. Towle, L. Law, P. Fopiano.

Bays League

Cougars Tie Wayland

The Winchester Cougars completed another two games of its 10-game schedule April 20 where they were host to the Wayland team.

In a match with an exciting start, which had the Cougars leading 1-0 on a goal by John Buckner, they saw their lead evaporate by two Wayland goals.

Willy Muggia out of a penalty kick tied the score. Wayland managed again to take the lead. The Cougars never gave up. A goal by John Buckner put the end score at 3-3.

On April 28 the team went to Weston and was beaten soundly. The Weston players put the game away in the first 15 minutes, outscoring the Cougars and in the process scoring four goals, notwithstanding courageous goalkeeping by Brad Shea. The second half was more even, but the Cougars lacked the punch to round their attacks out with a goal.

Weston scored one more time. End score was 5-0.

PINTOS LOSE 2 to 1

For the first half, the Winchester girls soccer team continued their domination of the Boston Area Youth Soccer League.

The Winchester girls, led by Kim Perenik, Ann Williamson, Kathleen Driscoll, Elizabeth Patrick, Caroline Ellis and Elizabeth Bishop, completely outplayed Wellesley.

Kristine Goodman scored early in the game.

The score at the end of the first half was Winchester 1, Wellesley 0. The Pinto's unscoring record looked safe.

But in the second half the large crowd of Winchester fans was silenced by Wellesley's awesome offensive pressure. Time after time

Winchester goalie Denise Driscoll turned back the Wellesley attack.

But at the final whistle the score read Wellesley 2, Winchester 1.

"We are very proud of our girls who gave all they had and showed outstanding sportsmanship in their first loss of the season to an excellent and strong Wellesley team," commented Coach John Driscoll.

This Saturday the girls will play an away game at Needham.

ASTROS UNDEFEATED

The Winchester "A" team came home from Newton with a 3-3 tie after leading 1 to 0 at the end of the first half in weekend action.

At the 14 minute mark a penalty kick was awarded to Winchester. Tom Deshler scored the goal. About this time a Newton player was ejected by the referee. The referee allowed a substitution, in violation of the laws of the game. The Bays League may rule for a rematch of that game.

In the first minute of the second half, co-captain Tom Waite scored from his left wing position. Ten minutes later Newton scored its first goal. Winchester continued to press an attack for a third goal, finally tallied by aggressive Tom Deshler.

Newton, trailing 3 to 1, made several counter attacks with breakaways netting them two more goals to earn a quick 3-3 tie before the final whistle.

Among the hard working forwards were Mark Nelson, Peter Mitchell and Norman Alpert. Assisting halfbacks Dennis Collins and Paul Austin were Jay James and Kurt Illinger. Strong at defensive play was Chris Morgan and Bill Schromm.

On Sunday Lexington will play the Winchester "A" team at 1:30 on MacDonald Field. In cooperation with little league, soccer teams have adjusted some of their schedules this weekend. The Cougar "C" team will play on Sunday at 12:30 before the "A" team.

Celtics Lose

The Winchester Celtics were unlucky last Saturday not to have beaten or tied longtime nemesis Wellesley in Youth Soccer play. After weathering a terrific first-half assault, which yielded a lone goal for Wellesley, the Celtics roared back in the

The Arlington Five has it for you - NOW!

THE N.O.W. ACCOUNT

With this Account, you don't have to come to the Bank to make a withdrawal -- to pay bills or do other things generally done with money-orders or checks. You simply write a draft (check) and it's done -- wherever you are; at home, in a store, or anywhere.

PLUS... your money earns 5 percent a year interest for you in this Account -- and we add this interest to your Account monthly.

We've wanted to have the great convenience of this service for the people of our communities for a long, long time -- and NOW you can have it! The things you've likely been accustomed to doing with some type of bill -- paying account, you can now do with this Arlington Five N.O.W. account. Each draft (check) you write is 15¢, but not until you write it. There is no monthly service charge. On the contrary, we pay you 5 percent a year interest, compounded monthly, but with the added convenience of being able to write what we call drafts (like checks or money-orders whenever you want.)

To complete this convenience, we mail you every month a simple Statement showing all your deposits to this Account; all the interest they've earned for you; a listing of your paid drafts (checks); and return the paid drafts for your personal records.

As always, you continue to use your Regular Savings Account and any other Accounts you have, building them up as fast as you wish with deposits and our monthly compounding of interest. Any and all such Accounts are entirely separate from our handy N.O.W. Account.

Call 643-0011 or come in and talk with Mr. Liacopoulos or Mr. Tarca, or any Branch Manager. They know just what to do.

Students Plant Pussywillow, Spruce Trees

The George Washington School has completed a week of activities in commemoration of Arbor Day week sponsored by the Winchester Environmental Protection Association.

Each class conducted studies coordinated by Mrs. Lee Weller aided by teachers.

Many new trees and shrubs were added to the school grounds as third grades planted a Norwegian spruce tree donated by the Weller family and the fourth grades planted a pussywillow tree donated by Mrs. Salerno, the school's clerk. The custodians transplanted some evergreen shrubs.

Several parents volunteered time for discussion with students. Mr. Weller talked about wetlands and Mr. Fabuss talked to sixth grades about recycling. Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Stuart helped the fifth grades with recycling posters and displays.

The third grades were taught to make recycled paper by Miss Huse and student teacher, Miss Babik. The primary unit grew plants and kindergarten did related cartoons. One day was set aside as rock and paper clean-up day for the entire school. All printed materials were then compiled by Mrs. Weller to form a reference box, which will be added to yearly.

Resident's Play In World Premier At Brandeis Sunday

A world premier of a new play entitled "Statues" by Winchester resident, Janet L. Nepris, will be held Sunday at 8:30 p.m. at Brandeis University's Laurie Premier Theatre.

"Statues" will be directed by Sheldon R. Lubliner who has previously directed on Cape Cod and at the University of Colorado.

The play is about a sculptor and a school teacher and will run through Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Nepris has had a number of musicals produced in the Boston area. A graduate of Tufts University with a master of arts in English from Simmons, she has also studied with Elliot Norton.

Presently a playwright at Brandeis, she will be working there next year under a Sam S. Shubert Fellowship.

She is married to Dr. Marvin Nepris. They have three daughters, Cynthia, Carolyn and Ellen.

McCall Students In Rehearsals For New Drama

The third and final theatrical presentation, "Lights, Camera, Action," by the students of McCall Junior High School will be given on May 23, at 7:30 p.m. at the McCall Auditorium.

Students have been reading through plays, playlets, skits, dialogues, and monologues found in books from the McCall Junior High school library and also from the public library.

The first two productions by McCall students were an original musical and a vaudeville show. This final production is expected to provide dramatic entertainment.

Second Bicycle Rodeo Is Sunday

The second bicycle program for children in grades 1-6 will be held Sunday at 1 p.m. The first was held last Sunday.

This bicycle program, conducted by the Winchester Police Department, takes place behind the police station on Mount Vernon street.

Bicycle inspection and engraving and a test are featured. Prizes are awarded for the rodeo test.

Children who participate may obtain a score sheet and permission sheet distributed in the Winchester school system.

A child may be admitted when and if an adult friend or the safety officer, John McKinley, signs such a sheet.

Art Association Lends Pictures

The Winchester Art Association will hold its first picture lending party on May 5 from 4 to 6 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pelletier, 14 Wildwood St.

The picture lending program benefits the Elizabeth M. Lobinger art scholarship fund. The fund is administered by the Winchester scholarship foundation with a scholarship awarded each spring to a Winchester High School graduate.

Paintings are loaned by professional and local artists. This year the association has assembled a new collection of art featuring the works of 12 artists not previously represented. Members are reminded by the association to return the paintings now on loan to Mr. and Mrs. Pelletier on May 4 between 10 and 11 a.m.

second half, completely outplaying their opponent.

It was unfortunate that Winchester was not able to capitalize on any of their many opportunities, and get on the scoreboard.

The fine goaltending of John Brosnan, and the steady defensive play of center fullback Jim Kohr kept the aggressive Wellesley forwards at bay, allowing them only the one goal.

Left fullback Steve Kinney made a fine defensive play, clearing a shot on goal which was a pure winner.

The Celtic turnaround in the second half was led by center half Barry McQuillan, winger Rich Pantaleo and center forward Jim Oliver.

Fine play by Brian Posse, Stuart McCord and Benji Block added to the Winchester attack.

Despite this great effort, the desperately needed goal failed to materialize. The Celts will have to wait for the rematch with Wellesley later in the season.

The next game for Winchester will be against league-leading Needham on McDonald Field at 10 a.m., Saturday.

Doubles Tennis Begins May 25

The 44th annual spring doubles tournament sponsored by the Winchester Tennis Association for Winchester residents and town employees begins May 25 at 9 a.m. at the William Packer courts on Palmer street.

This year the committee has Don and Mary Allard as co-chairmen, assisted by Bob and Stella Gallant, Jim Stewart, Jack and Peg Wiseman, Frank and Pat Fuvey, Chuck and Jane Johnson, Maury and Pat McCarthy, Jack and Maureen Noble and Larry Smith.

All entries must be in the hands of the committee by May 23. Entry blanks may be obtained from Mrs. Grey at the courts or from

Mrs. Dolan, Colella Named; Hockey Coach Is Dropped

Mrs. Janice Dolan and William Colella were recently named to the two top athletic posts at Winchester High School.

Mrs. Dolan, formerly physical education instructor for girls' athletics, is now director of physical education and intramurals.

Colella, formerly assistant football coach and head baseball coach, is now director of athletics.

Girls Hockey Team Holds Tryouts

Winchester youth hockey officials have announced that they are expanding their hockey activities to accommodate Winchester girls ages 11 through 18.

The first tryout will be Sunday, at 8 a.m. at the USA Rink in Winchester.

Candidates may wear any skates available, but hockey skates would be preferable.

Girls are advised that they must have a hockey stick and that all other equipment or uniforms are optional depending on what they can beg or borrow from some friend or relative.

It is hoped that most candidates will furnish their own helmets. However, Winchester youth hockey will have a few helmets on hand that may be borrowed.

The first tryout will be to determine how much interest exists in hockey for girls and the future course of a hockey program for girls will be decided by the interest shown on Sunday. If the response is great, Winchester youth hockey will consider an intramural program with an all star traveling team similar to that participated in by nearly 400 boys of the town.

The new venture will be under the direction of John Falla of Winchester youth hockey and he hopes for an enthusiastic response to this effort to give the girls everything boys have been enjoying for years.

Candidates are requested to arrive at least 20 minutes early to allow time for registration. A nominal ice fee will be charge.

Tennis Lessons To Continue

Tennis lessons will continue at the YWCA in Burlington and are available in two week sessions. There will be two classes each week for a total of four classes each session.

In case of foul weather, the class will be made up. Barry Fell, who is a professional at the Longwood Country Club, will be instructor.

LeRoux Is Presented Award

Edward "Buddy" LeRoux, president of the New England Rehabilitation Center in Woburn and trainer of Boston Red Sox, has been awarded the Albert Gallatin Certificate of Merit for "outstanding business success and community achievement." Named after an American of Swiss origin, the Albert Gallatin Award is presented each year by the Zurich-American Insurance Companies to honor the nation's small business leaders.

Guarente Places In 100-Yard Dash

Tony Guarente, 44 Church Street, former Sachem goalie and trackster, now a freshman at Boston College, surprised friends by placing in the Greater Boston intercollegiate meet last weekend.

He finished in fifth place in the 100-yard dash in a blanket finish against the premier speedsters in this area. Although Tony holds the local school record in the 440-yard run, he has done very well in his collegiate performances at the shorter distance.

State Titlists

Relay Teams Take Two

By John F. Parrell

Winchester High School entered several teams in the state relay meet held last Saturday at Andover, returning with gold medals in two events and finishing third in another.

Competing against the best in Class B they won the 440 and 880 yard relay events while the pole vaulting trio ended up in third place. The two mile quartet won its heat by nearly 300 yards, but were not pushed and ended up outside the medal area.

Dana Cronan, Rick Mauger, Steve Meahl and John Friborg were the runners in both the 440 and 880 yard events. They carried a very creditable time of 44.9 in the shorter event, but reached their peak in the 800.

Reading's Rockets had previously won the seeded heat in something over 1:33, but the speedy Sachem quartet burned up the track to post a clocking of 1:31.7. This was the best time and erased the Winchester school mark of 1:33.1 set by last year's team.

The pole vault group was led by Blair Joyce, who cleared 11 feet, with Dan Ladd and Stu Chipman close on his heels at 10.6, for a total of 32 feet, which netted third place. Although the two mile group was disappointed at finishing without medals, even though they had won their heat, they were justly proud of their 8:28 clocking which they had made by setting their own pace, and without help from any threatening opposition.

Track Team Runs Strong

The Sachem track team of Winchester High School coached by Manny Marshall has done very well in spite of its 1-3 record in meets held to date. One of these was a one point setback at the hands of the Lexington Minutemen and another an 80-60 defeat at the hands of Wakefield's indoor titlists and state meet favorite.

In evaluating the performance of the tracksters it must be remembered that all meets have been away from home. The new track facilities at the playing fields are not yet ready for use in a meet.

There are all too few boys competing in track, with baseball and lacrosse taking a heavy toll. This leaves the coach faced with a problem of enough competitors to fill the events in the meets.

One more third place would have given a victory at Lexington, and if the experienced weight men who are playing lacrosse were available the Sachems might have stunned the schoolboy track world by upsetting Wakefield.

Stoneham won the opening meet by 86-54. Place winners for Winchester and their performances:

Golfers Drop Two Matches

The Winchester High School golf team opened its season last week, playing well despite two losses, both 6-3.

Facing teams that had already played several matches, Coach Joe Aversa's linksmen made matters close for their more experienced opponents. Watertown came here for a match this week and next Monday will play at Belmont.

If they continue to show the type of golf that they have played to date the team will surprise many future opponents.

★ Athletics

He said he spent 30 to 40 hours over the weekend gathering the signatures. He said the money represents 20 cents a thousand on the tax rate and failure to restore the $40,000 means 250 students will be eliminated from athletic programs.

Following the failure of town meeting to muster the necessary votes for reconsideration, Committeeman Pharo said: "The School Committee will take whatever action is necessary to comply with the town meeting. The School Committee has not voted to eliminate any athletic program. Rather, the town meeting has voted to eliminate athletic programs."

The school department offered an amendment to add $21,000 to the budget for school secretaries' salaries.

The additional money was intended to provide funds to comply with provisions of a contract just negotiated with the secretaries.

The Personnel, Selectmen and Finance boards all spoke against the additional funds. "It has been a long standing policy of the Personnel Board and town meeting that all agreements must be reached before town meeting begins," said Personnel Chairman Robert Starrett.

He said to break that tradition now would jeopardize negotiations next year.

The motion to reconsider failed by a large margin, 114 yes-131 no.

Committeeman Parkhurst had indicated that the committee will come back at a later special town meeting for the funds, saying this was the first time a town meeting had not gone along with a contract.

CONSERVATION

The meeting appropriated $11,000 to the Conservation Commission to acquire 5.8 acres of bog owned by Ruth Ericson between the Terzian land and Johnson road.

The meeting also went along with a Conservation request for acquiring 20,000 square feet of land adjacent to the other site for $4,000. Both sites are wetlands.

Fallon Has Lead In 'Hot Lovers'

Bill Fallon of 1 Chesterford terr. is playing the title role of Barney Cashman in the Vokes Players presentation of "The Last of the Red Hot Lovers."

The play, one of Neil Simon's comedies, will be presented at the Vokes Theatre on Route 20 (Boston Post Rd.), Wayland, on May 9, 10, and 11, 16, 17 and 18 at 8:30 p.m.

Fallon has been active in Winchester theatre groups for several seasons. His most recent comedy appearance was as Dr. Jack Kingsley in "The Impossible Years" for the Winchester Summer Community Theatre.

Tickets, which are said to be rarely available at the door, may be reserved in advance from Mrs. Arnold Bennett, 158 Boston Post rd., Wayland, 01778.

★ Elderly

Article 11, which would amend the new zoning by-law and place the elderly housing project on Palmer street into a garden apartment zone, was unanimously passed by town meeting, 147-0.

Article 12, presented by the Planning Board, was carried unanimously. This article rezones the former Medical Missionaries of Mary site from a conservancy - institutional to a residential district A.

Article 13 passed favorably on a voice vote, provides for proper visibility at intersections where hedges grow to heights obstructing the view of vehicular operators. This, too, was put in the warrant by the Planning Board.

Article 14, on the request of Selectman Arthur Dunbar, was indefinitely postponed. There is a question of whether or not state funding of $12,000 will be available for installation of traffic control devices including a pedestrian push-button flasher at the intersection of Wildwood street and Albamoni road.

Town meeting approved, 70-60, to spend $9,500 for traffic lights including a pedestrian push-button flasher at the intersection of Washington street and Swanton street under Article 15.

Thursday's voting was as follows:

Article 9:	Favor	Oppose
William Ryerson's motion to cease debate on Article 9	127	35
Cheever-Ericson amendment	88	99
WHA amendment	116	52
Article 10:	148	2
Article 11:	147	0
Article 12:	Unanimous	X
Article 13: (Voice vote)	X
Article 14:	Recommendation to indefinitely postpone by A. Dunbar	X
Article 15:	70	60

Note: The votes on the main amendment and the Ericson-Cheever amendment to Article 9, and Articles 10 and 11 all required a two-thirds majority vote for passage.

DO YOU REALLY OWN LAND?

Do you really own the land you live on? Yes, but not unconditionally. There's no question that you, your family, and heirs have strong historic rights to your own land. You can build on it, dig in it, keep others away from it, sell it, give it away, or borrow on it.

But your rights do not override certain public rights. A utility company may buy rights-of-way for power lines. The telephone company may have the right to a five-foot easement for poles along your backlot line. Similar easements are purchased or granted for local electric power lines, underground sewer piping, natural gas lines, and water supply piping.

You should know about all easements, rights and claims made on your land while you are living on it. This is the reason for a title search prior to purchase. When it's completed, you'll know if your title to the property is, or is not, free and clear of all "encumbrances" and, if not, what they are.

If you have any questions on this subject or on any other aspect of Real Estate, please feel free to call or drop in at JAMES T. TREFREY, INC., REALTORS, 27 Waterfield Road, Winchester - Tel. 729-6100.

SC Candidate Losers Will Be Considered Without Privileges

There are three vacancies for elected office in Winchester. Each has come up since the March election.

Last week Richard B. Lawrence resigned from the School Committee for reasons of health. Previous to that, there was a vacant seat on the Planning Board due to the death of William Holland and a seat on the Board of Assessors due to the resignation of Windsor Carpenter.

The Board of Assessors has interviewed six persons interested in filling the assessor's seat. The Planning Board has indicated there are three persons interested in the Planning Board seat. Each board plans to meet jointly with the Board of Selectmen at which time recommendations will be revealed and final approvals will be made.

The same procedure will be followed by the School Committee, according to Chairman Stephen Parkhurst, but "due to town meeting and school budgets" the committee has not had an opportunity to discuss the subject.

Parkhurst said the committee will consider all persons interested in filling the vacancy and would suggest they write to the committee.

Losers in the recent School Committee race will be considered "but not necessarily given preference," said Parkhurst.

The last time a vacancy existed on the School Committee was in April of 1969. At that time Barbara Walsh, chairman, resigned in protest over town meeting's referral of the School Department budget back to committee (lay on the table.)

Two persons have added their names to the list of candidates to fill the vacancy on the Planning Board, bringing the total to five.

They are James T. Hittman, a town meeting member, and Paul Colella, a Winchester attorney.

The Board of Selectmen and Planning Board have scheduled a joint meeting for Monday, May 13, 7:45 p.m. to fill this vacancy. Each selectman and Planning Board member has one vote in naming a successor to deceased Planning Board member William Holland.

CSA To Conduct Annual Members Meeting May 14

The Community School Association of Winchester will hold its annual membership meeting on May 14 at 9 a.m. in the auditorium of the Parkhurst School.

At this time the revised constitution and by-laws of the organization will be voted upon. John I. Rudolph, director of library services for the Winchester school system, will be the featured speaker.

The Community School Association is open to all parents and guardians of children attending the Winchester public schools as well as any teacher in the public schools or any interested citizen.

The objective of the organization is to build and maintain an active interest in the Winchester Schools and to act as a liaison between parents associations, the School Department, and the School Committee, as well as to bring parents associations of the various schools into communication with each other.

ANALYSIS Party Regulars Pick Delegates To 7th Caucus

If Winchester is any indication, the party regulars are regaining control of the Democratic Party following the disastrous 1972 Presidential

At an open meeting Saturday morning to which all Winchester Democrats had been invited, 10 persons who could be considered "organizational" Democrats in Winchester politics were chosen to represent the town at a June 1 caucus to elect delegates to a mid-term convention in Kansas City next fall.

Winchester was assigned 10 delegates to attend the seventh congressional district caucus June 1 in Medford, one of 12 such caucuses in Massachusetts to elect 12 delegates to the Kansas City convention.

Of the 10 Winchester appointees, eight are members of the Democratic Town Committee. The other two belong to the Young Democrats.

An attempt by non-organizational Winchester Democrats—those generally associated with the McGovern wing of the party—to elect delegates to the Medford caucus failed.

Their failure can probably be attributed to lack of organization, lack of work and a feeling that local level politics are unimportant. As one McGovern type put it:

"The liberal type Democrat doesn't realize that the local level is where the decisions are made. They knock themselves out in a Presidential campaign but didn't appreciate the importance of caucuses."

"Local level where decisions made. Liberals didn't appreciate caucus."

These liberal types conducted a townwide mailing and telephone campaign to get their people to Saturday's caucus. But in all, of the 4,300 registered Democrats in Winchester, fewer than 200 of them showed up at the VFW Hall between 10 a.m. and noon to cast a ballot.

Of the 190 persons who voted, a clear majority voted for the organizational Democrats in every instance. Those voting could select 10 persons from a field of 19 who placed their names in nomination. The figures are very obvious.

The 10 top vote getters had vote totals far ahead of the others. The 10 received total votes of between 148 and 114. The eleventh person received only 66 votes.

Saturday's caucus, as even the losing liberals freely admit, was very open and above board, conducted according to rules agreed to by both wings of the party. The affair was well advertised in the local paper, several weeks in advance of the caucus.

News reports indicate that Saturday's caucusing was an attempt by the party regulars to regain control of their party in time for the 1976 Presidential convention.

These same organizational Democrats feel they were disenfranchised by the delegate process for the last Presidential convention when delegates were pledged to candidates.

Since Sen. George McGovern defeated Sen. Edmund Muskie in the Massachusetts primary, the McGovern supporters went to the convention. McGovern went on to lose all 50 states but Massachusetts.

The Winchester party regulars contend they were not organized for Saturday's caucus. They only went into action when news of the liberals' campaigning reached them.

Saturday's turnout and results are a sign of the strength of the Democratic Town Committee in Winchester. In Winchester at least, the party regulars are determined to prevent a recurrence of 1972. Judged by their strength on Saturday, they are making a good beginning.

Fired Kelley Will Fight, Seeks Board Hearing

Winchester High School varsity hockey coach Ted Kelley, whose contract was not renewed for next year, will seek to prove he "is capable of being rehired."

In an interview with The Star this week, Kelley, nebulous in his remarks, said he was taking a "no comment" attitude on the advice of legal counsel.

After meeting recently with the Winchester School Committee, at which time Kelley was told he would not be reappointed, he visited the legal staff of the Massachusetts Teachers' Association. He has also been in contact with the local arm of that organization, the Winchester Education Association.

He said he will meet with the MTA attorney this week. Kelley said they will plan strategy in his attempt to be rehired. One aspect of this strategy is to obtain a hearing with the School Committee.

Kelley would not respond to comments by School Committee Chairman Stephen Parkhurst, who told The Star last week that Kelley was dropped because of his "performance" and he has not been "providing leadership to players."

Kelley noted he has much to say and will speak out "on the real issues" when the time is right. Meanwhile he will follow the advice of counsel.

Parkhurst told The Star that Kelley's lack of reappointment by the School Committee has nothing to do with a win-loss record nor that the hockey program may have to be cut due to budgetary decreases.

Kelley admitted the Winchester hockey team in recent years has "not been extraordinary" but they have "always been very competitive." He said "our best year was two years ago when we finished third."

Kelley said the Winchester High School hockey team is a member of the Middlesex League, which brings teams from 10 towns together for hockey competition.

If the Winchester hockey program is stopped, the town will lose its place in the league and will have difficulty getting back in. Chances are, he said, another town will join the league and Winchester will not be able to return.

Because of lack of money in the athletic budget up to now, Winchester has already lost its Friday ice time at the USA rink, Kelley said.

He said Winchester is not adequately preparing its youths for hockey by not providing more facilities and funding. While other towns are building municipal rinks, "Winchester decreases expenditures," he said.

The town needs a total program from kindergarten through grade 12, Kelley said.

He noted three instances where Winchester seniors enrolled in private schools with good hockey programs. While they transferred for academic reasons, hockey entered the decision picture, Kelley noted.

Go-Ahead Given Hospital On Multi-Million $ Plans

Town meeting almost completed its annual business Monday night by clearing the way for Winchester Hospital to construct a multi-million dollar addition.

There were seven different votes taken on various aspects of the hospital's expansion plan. All of them passed by more than the two-thirds majority required.

An eighth vote — to tear down a house for construction of a parking lot across from the hospital — was indefinitely postponed after environmentalists pleaded to leave the area as is.

On Monday the town meeting also indefinitely postponed an article to dissolve the Recreation Committee after the sponsor of the article suggested the Charter Commission put the matter under study.

Monday's session — the 16th of this year's annual meeting — was entirely taken up with the hospital articles and the brief discussion on the Recreation Committee article.

Last Thursday's town meeting session was also absorbed in hospital articles. The meeting voted 97-55 in favor of articles allowing the facility to expand.

Speers told The Star actual estimates of costs are impossible because bids haven't gone out. But he said the garage should cost approximately $1.5 million and the attached medical building "several million additional."

The medical building will be five stories high, two floors above the three-story garage. The garage will have its first floor below ground level except on the Maple road side.

The hospital is built on a hill.

But Monday, on the request of hospital Atty. William J. Speers, the meeting reconsidered its Thursday action. Speers asked for reconsideration because some persons felt a two-thirds vote was needed.

The meeting voted approval of articles accepting a plan for a new Maple road behind the hospital, accepting a plan for a new Valley road, discontinuing the present Maple and Valley roads and rezoning the new hospital property.

The new zoning — from residential to "institutional" — will permit the hospital to construct a multi-level garage on the site of the present Russell House, a nursing dormitory.

Four houses along Maple road will be demolished in order to relocate the road further westerly. Valley road, which runs between Highland ave. and Maple rd., will be extended to connect with the new Maple road.

Atty. Speers told town meeting that the new garage will provide 425 spaces in addition to 175 parking spaces now in use on the Fairmount st. and Highland ave. sides of the hospital.

Robert R. Cammon of 3 Orient st., next to the hospital, asked the town meeting members to delay action on the requests for a year, until the hospital has "solidified its plans."

He said first the institution began buying homes in one direction, "throwing a fine neighborhood into a panic," and then they headed in the other direction. "Let them think this through," he urged. "Is this what they want? Is this going to solve the problem?" Hospital director Harris S. Richardson was blunt. "Do we want a first class hospital or do we not? The answer is entirely up to you people." He challenged "some of the opponents of this who are so negative toward Winchester Hospital to explore the charges of the hospital relative to others in the Boston area." Winchester is one of the cheapest, he argued.

In conjunction with the hospital's parking proposal, a 35-bed addition will be built adjacent to the present hospital. The new building will contain outpatient and emergency facilities.

"The hospital definitely needs improved facilities," Atty. Speers argued, noting that the intensive care unit is old, X-ray equipment is in a corridor and the emergency and staff rooms are too small.

The vote to discontinue the present Valley road was 128-50. The other six votes taken on various other technical aspects of the plan varied between 127 to 129 in favor and 47 to 50 against.

Only 134 town meeting members, however, approved the new rezoning, 45 voted against, still more than the required two-thirds.

The Planning Board, Board of Selectmen and Finance Committee recommended favorable action on the rezoning.

An article to allow the Board of Selectmen to lease four acres at 22 Highland ave., tearing down a single family home in the process, was "indefinitely postponed" (in effect, defeated) after residents from the area and environmentalists argued that the property would be permanently damaged.

The plan was to lease the land to the hospital for five years. They would demolish the house there, grade and pave for 192 spaces for employee parking during construction of the new medical building and garage. Cost of the project was estimated at $100,000.

Neighbors argued that another temporary parking lot could be found during the construction of the new buildings and shuttle buses could be used to transfer employees.

Atty. Speers said 22 Highland ave. was not critical to the hospital's expansion plans. He added that if the meeting failed to pass 22 Highland ave. the hospital might use part of its newly acquired land from New Maple road for temporary parking. Board of Appeal approval would be required, Speers said.

Charter Commission

WEEKLY AGENDA
Tuesday, May 14

The Charter Commission next week will be discussing various possible administrative changes in Winchester's government as its study of the executive branch continues. Items on the agenda include: long or short ballot, initiative, referendum and recall procedures; budgeting and finance; administrative organization. The public may attend the commission's meetings, which are held every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Town Hall.

Town Meeting Lashed By Study Committee Chairman

"Town meeting members should be asked to vacate their seats if they are not willing to share their responsibility."

This suggestion was made by Robert Grenzeback, chairman of the dissolved town government study committee, as he gave some observations about town meeting after presenting a TGSC progress report.

Grenzeback said he is "disturbed at the deterioration of town meeting."

Town meeting should "take a good look at itself, at its own conscience," Grenzeback said.

"We hear repeated cries that you (town meeting members) are uninformed or inadequately informed," Grenzeback said, noting that sometimes this is true. But, he said, all meetings are public and everybody is invited.

During his 15 years of serving on town committees, Grenzeback said, only "three citizens have wandered in" to observe and become informed. Meetings are "not overwhelmed with people. Attendance is deplorable."

He said the town meeting floor is not the place to become informed. Town meeting members should expect to "debate on town meeting floor, not become educated."

Pointing to Lexington, he said Lexington has a town meeting association which holds sessions among themselves to get information. On town meeting floor they "try to expedite affairs."

Grenzeback pointed to absences of town meeting members during the past three years. He said 17 or 18 percent never appear at meetings; five percent always abstain during voting; and during the latter stages of town meeting sessions from seven to 14 percent check in and leave meetings before they are over.

Grenzeback said all of this "is understandable in human terms." He challenged town meeting members to "stick to it" or vacate their seats unless they are willing to accept their responsibilities.

The TGSC, having completed its work, was dissolved by the town meeting members. A voice vote came after Grenzeback's background report on TGSC, which he noted was initially approved in 1968 with the appropriation of $1,000.

In 1970 town meeting approved $10,000. In 1973 they approved another $1,000 to finance printing Charter Commission reports. The balance on the books, $429 will be returned to the general fund, Grenzeback said.

On the recommendation of TGSC a committee of public works was formed in 1969. In 1971 other TGSC recommendations for change were adopted, Grenzeback noted.

He said he felt the greatest service TGSC was involved in was its proposal for a Charter Commission. He emphasized the need for the town to view the Charter Commission "as a great opportunity, one which will not come easily again."

He urged, "We should all take advantage of it (Charter Commission) and lend our thought."

Grenzeback received applause from the audience twice; once when Clara Hewis, chairman of the Charter Commission, offered thanks to TGSC for help; and second, following his remarks on town meeting responsibility.

Winchester Democrats

Sullivan Tops Delegates

The Winchester Democratic caucus held on Saturday at the VFW hall elected 10 delegates to the congressional caucus which will convene in Medford on June 1.

Nineteen nominations were made and voted upon by the approximate 200 participants in the caucus convened by Mary V. Serika, chairman of the Winchester Democratic Town Committee.

Selectman John J. Sullivan, who presided over the meeting, and Mrs. Serika were top vote-getters, followed closely by Sarah A. Mullen of 846 Main st.

Selectman Sullivan in brief remarks praised the purpose of the gathering. "The purpose today is to open the door to all Democrats in Winchester to elect delegates to go to Medford," he said.

"Many I'm sure disagree with this kind of caucus and many agree. The purpose is to open the ranks of the Democratic Party," Sullivan said he agrees with the goal of these statewide caucuses and added: "The party has to have new members." He lauded those in attendance as "a tribute to your interest in party politics."

The caucus was open to all nominations, which were seconded from the floor. All Winchester registered Democrats were eligible to vote. The number of persons attending was larger than in surrounding towns of greater population.

The following are the names of the 19 nominees and the total of their votes. Only the top 10 are eligible to serve as delegates.

Town Committee

Republicans Hear Views

Republican Carroll Sheehan emphasized his dislike for the Sargent administration during a campaign speech in Winchester Tuesday night.

Sheehan was one of three speakers at the Republican Town Committee Meeting. He is Massachusetts Commissioner of Commerce and Development New England regional director of the US Department of Labor and member and chairman of Boston's planning board. He is running for governor.

William Cowin, Republican candidate for attorney general, is an attorney appointed as secretary of the executive office for administration and finance. He has 11 years' experience in government, three and a half of that in the attorney general's office.

Cowin was chairman of the Mass. Department of Public Utilities, legislative assistant to Sen. Edward W. Brook and chief of the administrative division of the department of the attorney general in the State House.

Third speaker was Erna Ballantine, Republican candidate for treasurer of Massachusetts. Ms. Ballantine vowed she would get the most publicity of anyone due to her having three strikes against her: a woman, a black and a Republican.

Ms. Ballantine was life insurance department head of the Boston Five Cents Savings Bank and Boston Chapter secretary-treasurer of the American Institute of Banking. She has held administrative or consulting positions with Harvard University's center for urban studies and the Massachusetts Department of Education and served in advisory capacities to the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Ms. Ballantine is unopposed in the Republican primary.

Bill Cowin made little mention of his opposition, Sheehan spent much of his time on the "ills" of the incumbent governor.

"He is not one of us. He represents a form of radicalism alien to all of us," he said. Sheehan mentioned several individuals of the Sargent Administration, remarking that they are leading in the direction "where we'll be irretrievably lost in debt. They are destroying the institution of state government."

Cowin and Sheehan stated their theories of government. Cowin said government is "a difficult business, a mirror of what life is like." He feels people should know the "complexities and hardships" of government.

Sheehan's type of government is "all about the mutual protection of citizens." He urged less government and more individual responsibility.

Sheehan advocates a review of the judicial system and the creation of new jobs with less emphasis on welfare. He is against compulsory busing and put racial balance in schools in the hands of voluntary programs, while Cowin appeared neutral on busing, saying only that it was "destructive" for children to see their parents breaking the law. He is against its repeal without a feasible replacement.

While Sheehan is "concerned about the growing power of the executive branch of the legislative" and advocates a three-year instead of a four-year term for governor "to bring the executive branch back into line with the other branches," Cowin urged a more "aggressive, courageous and ingenious" attorney general to "pick up the rest of the executive branch and stimulate it."

Cowin stressed courage in an attorney general. He said the press is "anxious to find politicians who have stubbed their toes" and an attorney general must be bold enough to follow through on accusations.

He said people who are afraid to offend will not serve anyone to special interest groups exerting pressure. An attorney general must "stand up."

"People are elected to lead not follow. We elect judges, not the capacity to count heads." Cowin places "a limited area of responsibility" in the hands of the government regarding civil liberty. Government officials have no right to "spend time and money" on interfering with what persons see or do. It should step in only when someone's rights are being infringed on, he said.

He feels the answer to the fuel adjustment clause and other utility problems do not lie with governmental takeover. He gave the railroads as an example of failure in this respect.

Cowin acknowledged his liberality on anticapital punishment. Sheehan doesn't want "dangerous convicts roaming the streets on furlough." Cowin felt it was basically sound.

"Don't throw out the concept because there are administrative difficulties," he advised. He also urged more education, police supervision and stringent sentencing to alleviate drug traffic.

State treasurer candidate Erna Ballantine noted the need for a treasurer with "expertise and professionalism." A treasurer should have fiscal accountability, she said, and cited last year's example when Massachusetts didn't earn as much interest on its investment and funds as it could have due to improperly saved investments.

Ms. Ballantine's principal campaign issues will be the return on investments, banks' charters and the lottery.

Letters To The Editor

SHOCKED! By Kelley Firing

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Many times at committee meetings in the community letters are sent to committees which are received, put on file and go unnoticed by the public.

Last week in The Star I read about the dismissal of the high school hockey coach, Ted Kelley. I was totally SHOCKED! Your reasons for his dismissal were also very surprising to me.

I was able to have a front row seat on the hockey team bench for the two years I was manager (1970-1972). I don't know how the School Committee sets its standards in performance. His performance was not very different from the many coaches I spectated while attending every high school game in two years.

It also seems quite odd that the coach cannot represent the Town of Winchester adequately when the School Committee in March gave him a leave of absence for two weeks to represent the Massachusetts Hockey Coaches Association in Europe.

Coach Kelley is president of this statewide association. He isn't capable enough to represent Winchester as a coach in a game but it is all right to send him to Europe? It appears as though we may be losing a very valuable member of our coaching staff if the School Committee does not reconsider its decision.

In conclusion, I hope that the School Committee will please reconsider its decision for the sake of the community, the high school and more especially the members of the hockey team, present and future.

The public would be most grateful to have the opportunity to present to the committee the other side of the coin.

Karen A. Wharton
Winchester High School Graduate, 1972

Open Hearing Demanded On Kelley Firing

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The following letter has been sent to Stephen Parkhurst, Chairman of the Winchester School Committee.

Dear Mr. Parkhurst:

The Town of Winchester through its School Committee has made unsubstantiated charges against Coach Kelley. The injustice of this action has been further magnified by the release of these destructive insinuations to the local paper. A man's reputation and career have been jeopardized.

The Winchester Star reported that the School Committee felt that Mr. Kelley "did not represent the town as well as it should have been represented."

Mr. Kelley, who is president of the Massachusetts Hockey Association, was invited recently by Milton Academy to join a sports group in a good-will European tour. The Winchester School Committee was evidently not worried about "representation" at that time since it voted a two weeks' absence with pay for Mr. Kelley.

It also appears that the School Committee is very willing to act on statements provided by Mr. Kelley's unnamed detractors, but refuses to honor the positive recommendations made by Mr. Larocco and Mr. Knowlton.

There is no way that the Town of Winchester can redeem its integrity other than by giving Mr. Kelley an opportunity to defend himself through an open hearing.

Please take whatever action is necessary to insure that an open hearing is provided.

Films On Sex Are More Suitable For Junior High School

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Asst. School Supt. Walter Gleason mentioned (Star, March 28) that the committee on human growth and development would like "feedback" concerning the films for the fifth and sixth grades. Therefore, I am writing to express a personal opinion.

My husband and I, both parents and teachers, were not favorably impressed with the films. We did not think that they were especially well-done. We feel that generally speaking the subjects mentioned would be of more concern to students of junior high age.

We feel, also that such topics mentioned in the program as masturbation, erection, menstruation and supplies, and nocturnal emissions are not suitable for mixed viewing, particularly at age 10 and 11.

We feel that a clinical, biological, impersonal approach is not the best introduction to human sexuality. Far better in our opinion is discussion in the home.

We are inclined to believe that the high incidence of VD and of unwanted pregnancies may be due, not to ignorance of sexual matters, but rather to a permissive society and a lack of individual responsibility and control.

In view of this, we declined permission for our fifth-grader to be part of the program.

Virginia Donahoe
34 Glen rd.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Since receipt of this letter the School Department has decided to show the films separately to boys and girls rather than mixed groups as originally planned.

What Are We Talking About?

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

A week ago Sunday, I attended a pro-life presentation with many distinguished speakers.

The forum was not only very educational, but a truly thought-provoking experience. Many people simply do not understand what they are saying when they state, "Abortion is not my concern," or "It's a woman's right." I sincerely hope you will ask yourself, "What are we really talking about?"

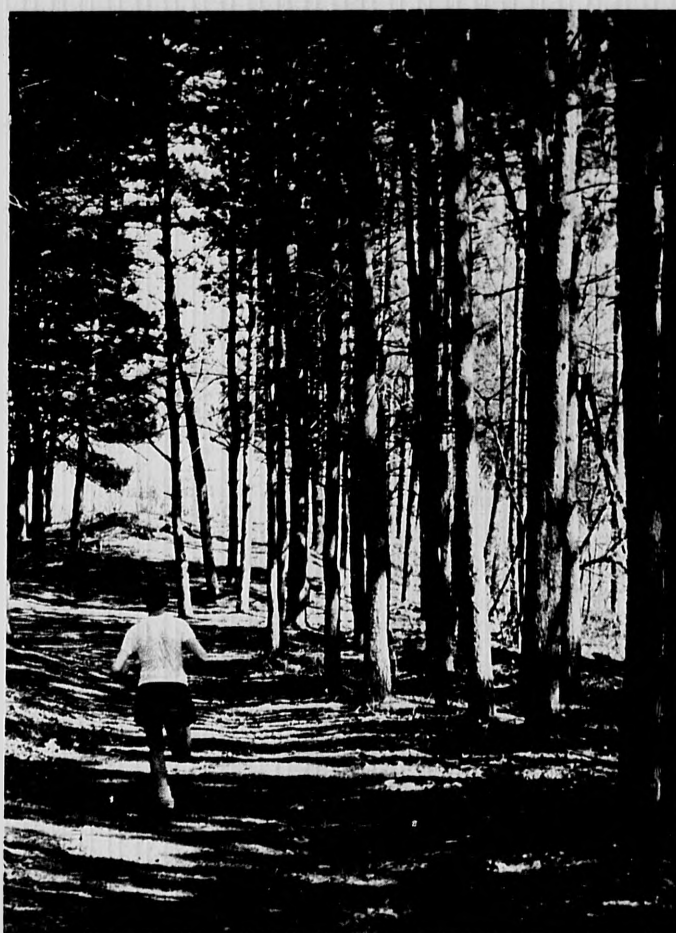

Dr. Joseph Stanton was one of the speakers at the presentation, and he has been invited to speak here on May 22 at the VFW Hall in Winchester. Regardless of your views, won't you plan to attend the meeting. I think you'll find it to be a most enlightening and well-spent evening.

Sports Cut May Mean Vandalism, Empty Classrooms

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I was extremely shocked that the town meeting members did not vote for reconsideration of the athletic budget. It was my understanding that the town meeting members were representatives of the people. How, then, in good conscience, after being presented a petition with 1,000 signatures (gathered in only two days) could town meeting members oppose reconsideration?

Obviously, I am in favor of restoring the $40,000 to the athletic budget. I do not wish to see any sports cut and do wish to allow equal opportunity for girls.

Athletics help prepare a child for life. It teaches them sportsmanship, discipline (which is greatly lacking in society today), team work, respect for themselves as well as others, the ability to lose as well as win and to have a healthy body as well as an educated mind. This in turn makes them a well-rounded individual.

If some sports are eliminated I can foresee some people leaving his town and moving to where their children can receive a total education. Those who can afford it will send their children to private school.

Others will not be inclined to move their families here without the benefit of a full athletic program. How will the town meeting members feel with an extremely expensive high school housing empty classrooms?

Sports help support this town. The hockey rink, the sport shop, the tennis center all bring in tax revenue.

Vandalism has increased rapidly in this town. One has only to read this paper to see that thousands and thousands of tax dollars are spent to repair broken windows, replace stolen AV equipment, fix broken fences, clean beer can littered parks and streets.

Without athletics to help keep our youth occupied, we can expect to have increased taxes to pay for increased vandalism. Wouldn't it be better to spend 20 cents per thousand on our assessment now for something constructive rather than money spent on destruction?

I urge the town meeting members to re-evaluate their position on the athletic budget and that all interested residents contact their town meeting members, attend the School Committee meeting and any special town meeting regarding this budget. Our children need your support.

Ann Bonner
27 Garfield ave.

Congratulations

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I wish to congratulate the cast of the Winchester Children's Theater recent production of "The Wizard of Oz" for two fine performances.

I also wish to thank everyone who attended the shows and hope that they continue to support the Children's Theater in the future. I would like to thank Mrs. Nancy Mills for her help in assisting me in directing the production and Mrs. Carlene Samoiloff for her cooperation and energy in supervising the whole operation.

Finally, I would like to express a special thanks to all the mothers of the cast who either attended the rehearsals or helped with the production behind the scenes. They know who they are and are much appreciated.

Ronald T. Marcy
Director "Wizard of Oz"

Taxation, No Representation

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The growing sentiment for a taxpayer's revolt against the concept of fiscal autonomy as practiced today by the various school committees in towns throughout the Commonwealth is by no means a sign of a new spirit here in Massachusetts.

Two hundred years ago the famous Boston Tea Party and the subsequent Revolution were both triggered by the same notion that is beginning to surface again today: namely, that in a free country the person who pays taxes should have some say as to how those taxes are to be spent.

The quarrel then was against "taxation without representation;" and that, basically, is what the quarrel today is all about.

In practice today the concept works out to the effect that no school committee, "good" or "bad", newly elected for the first time or re-elected from previous years, can do a single thing to stem or cut the constantly escalating cost to the taxpayer of all the various services and functions that each new school committee deems vital and necessary to the proper education of the children entrusted to its care.

The result is, as I have several times tried to point out to the town meeting, that the educational syndrome now manages to spend in one way or another over 65 cents of every dollar collected in taxes by such towns as Winchester.

The town itself is thus obliged to dun on the 35 cents remaining in the treasury. This little remainder is all that is left to run the police department, the fire department, the water department, the sewer department, the highway department, the cemetery department, the library to purchase books, to pay the librarians, to light, heat and keep in repair the Town Hall, the library building, to pay all the employees of the town other than those connected with school affairs, and so on, ad infinitum.

To plow snow, to sweep streets, to lay down sidewalks, to maintain the town parks there is no end to what this meager 35 cents must do after the school department has gobbled up the lions share of the money.

Worse still, there is as yet no end in sight. Even though the number of pupils decreases these days, year after year the school department costs keep escalating year after year. "The finance committee says, 'at the rate of half a million dollars every year.'" In other words, in five more years at this rate we will be paying two and a half million more than we are paying now. Where is the money going to come from?

It seems to me that we must now begin to lay plans to tame this monster that we have created before it runs amok entirely and literally drives us all out of house and home. Some way must be found, say by a two-thirds negative vote of the town meeting, to act as a curb to the ambitions and good intentions of our more ardent school committees.

Hell used to be paved with good intentions and I think the road to the poor house is paved with them today.

To conclude, let us now restore fiscal autonomy to those to whom it rightfully belongs namely, the citizen and taxpayer himself.

Clarence S. Borggaard
22 Franklin rd.

Riiiiiiiiip Went Tully's Speech

Recreation Committee member Peter Kennedy Tully has been studying assiduously lately for his final college examinations. In the middle of his cramming comes a town meeting session to take up dissolution of the Recreation Committee.

So Tully spent a good deal of time preparing a speech in defense of the committee and against the article to transfer Recreation's duties to the Park Commission.

To his great surprise (and annoyance?) the sponsor of the article, Robert P. Joyce, said he thought his proposal was premature in view of the sitting these days of a Winchester Charter Commission to consider such changes in government as transfer of duties.

So Joyce's article was never acted on. And there sat Kenny with his speech on his lap. I wasn't close enough to hear what he said as he took the papers in hand and ripped them up. But the expression on his face wasn't one of total pleasure.

I thought it might be interesting to print Kenny's intended speech in The Star this week, since he spent so much time on it and since it must have been interesting for him to spend so much time on. But nothing doing. Kenny explained the next day.

He didn't want to open a rift between the Park Commission and the Recreation Committee by having his arguments printed. So there must have been some strong words there.

But I'll bet Kenny will present his speech some time soon before the Charter Commission so the board doesn't take any action he considers radical. Since all the commission's records are public, The Star will get a copy.

The Charter Commission has failed to arouse any public interest in its dry and laborious deliberations these days. In my own opinion the commission will eventually recommend a form of government much as we have now.

They have already decided to keep town meeting but to "reduce" its size. The reduction, however, is so slight that it won't make the slightest bit of difference.

Most of the nine charter commissioners seem inclined to recommend to the voters that Winchester adopt a town manager form of government, which really means the same kind of government we have now except there is a full-time administrator responsible to the selectmen who wield some authority.

Some changes I think the commission should consider are town elections every other year rather than every year, having the town meeting elect its own moderator, recommending the town meeting adopt much stronger rules on use of the podium and a meaningful cut in the town meeting size, or elimination entirely of the town meeting and replacement with a council.

This year more than ever, it seems to me, the town meeting has been hoodwinked into voting articles that it knows nothing about. The meeting unfortunately is easily swayed by emotional arguments. A few members realize this and try desperately to convince the others but in the process they are branded cranks and obstructionists, which of course they are considering the tenor of the meet.

Hear Ye!

The following is a list of meetings of town boards and committees taken from the Town Hall bulletin board. All meetings are usually open to the public. Unless otherwise noted here, they take place at Town Hall, 71 Mount Vernon St.

Board of Appeals will not meet during May.

Thursday, May 9
Annual town meeting, Winchester High School auditorium, 7:45 p.m.

Friday, May 10
Recreation Committee, Park office, 5 p.m.

Monday, May 13
Board of Selectmen and Planning Board, selectmen's meeting room, 7:45 p.m. for purpose of filling vacancy on Planning Board. School Committee, Sanborn House, 7:30 p.m. (If the annual town meeting is still in progress this meeting will be postponed until May 14.)

Tuesday, May 14
Winchester Council on Aging, new Lincoln School, 1 p.m.
Charter Commission, Board of Health room, 7:30 p.m.

Monday, May 20
Board of Selectmen and Board of Assessors, selectmen's meeting room, 8 p.m. to fill vacancy on Board of Assessors.

Thursday, May 23
Public hearing by Planning Board, East Room, 8:15 p.m. to discuss zoning in area of Swanton and Washington streets; 8:30 p.m. Carriage Hill sub-division.

Tuesday, May 28
Winchester Council on Aging, new Lincoln School, 1 p.m.

Thursday, May 9
Annual town meeting, Winchester High School auditorium, 7:45 p.m.

Meetings posted after 8:30 a.m. Wednesday are not included.

Elsewhere in The Star this week there's information about the tot finder program being conducted by the Winchester firefighters.

The men of the Fire Department took money from their own pockets to purchase these decals. They are placed on the windows where children sleep. The illuminating decals aid firefighters in quickly locating children during a fire.

We urge everyone with children to pick up these decals — free of charge — at one of the two fire stations in Winchester. Just go into the station and ask for them.

HIT AND RUN

The Committee on Names has scheduled a public hearing (duly advertised) for Monday at 7 p.m. in the east room of Town Hall to consider naming the playing fields behind the new high school after athletic director Henry Knowlton.

I did a double take the other day coming down Main street. There in front of Boodakian Rugs near the Woburn line was a young man operating a power lawn mower over the artificial turf. I swung around and came back to ask what was going on.

The power mower, he explained, creates a vacuum which picks up the dirt from the turf and throws it to the side. The power mower is easier in cleaning the artificial turf than a vacuum cleaner or broom.

Don't you wish President Nixon had resigned a year ago when all this mess was just beginning to break? At least then he would have left office with a little dignity.

The Board of Selectmen Monday didn't begin their customary 7:30 p.m. meeting until 7:45 p.m. after I knocked loudly on the door and asked what gives.

No, they weren't meeting in executive session, Chairman Arthur E. Dunbar explained. They didn't know the door was locked.

Park Cmsr. William T. Ryerson has declined to accept appointment as a special police officer for Park Commission land. The appointment does not carry the power of arrest. In his letter to the selectmen, Ryerson said, "Since this appointment is so restrictive I believe it to be of no value to me. Therefore I decline said appointment."

In a letter to the selectmen, Winchester Savings Bank President James F. Dwinell Jr. said that the bank has become owner of the so-called Lantern Park area for foreclosure and since vandals have completely destroyed the gas lamps on Olde Village drive he would like the town to supply electrical lighting.

There were a couple of laughs the other night at town meeting. TMM Clarence Borggaard asked Winchester Hospital Atty. Bill Speers if there would be a fee charged for parking in the new garage. Speers said no. "It would be good to get something free in a hospital," quipped Borggaard.

Another town meeting member interrupted TMM Arthur Hewis's soliloquy to demand he substantiate his claim that Winchester Hospital "was adamant in trying to keep Lahey Clinic out" (of Burlington). Moderator Ray Kenney gavelled the interloper out of order. "Anyone who wants to interrupt can," rejoined Hewis.

"Anyone who wants to interrupt can't," Kenney shot back to the amusement of all.

A later speaker, TMM Eleanor C. Pingree of Prec. 1, said the state Department of Public Health has on file at its Boylston street office a telegram from six area hospital presidents objecting to a certificate of need being granted Lahey. One of the signers was the president of Winchester Hospital, she said.

I've had several complaints from mothers of sons who used to deliver the Sunday papers in Winchester. The mothers are angry because their sons have been replaced by the daily paper boys.

The reason, according to the Winchester News Co., is that the daily paper boys can collect for the Sunday papers along with collection for the daily papers on a day other than Sunday.

The Sunday paper boys collect as they go along, delaying delivery. They said that some customers weren't getting their papers until noon time.

Carmen Frongillo, son of Police Sgt. John J. Frongillo, telephoned his mother Saturday night via Mars satellite. The younger Frongillo is an E3 in the U.S. Army stationed in S. Korea and a radio man in the DMZ.

He called to tell his mother of his promotion to E3. He likes the country, he said. Carmen will return to the U.S. in January of next year. He has been there since January of this year.

Carmen entered the service with Craig West, also of Winchester. He and Craig went to Germany together and then overseas. Craig's older brother, Lance, and Carmen's older brother, John, entered the service together, as did Carmen and Craig.

John Frongillo and Lance West entered after their younger brothers. They are both serving in Texas.

Hewis Is Glad To Be Back

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I wish to thank the Winchester Police, Officers Pronski and O'Neill, for their speed and efficiency in my most recent emergency. It is service we have come to recognize and accept, a high standard deserving of our constant praise.

My personal thanks and appreciation to everyone for their kind thoughts and prayers. It's good to be back.

Arthur J. Hewis Jr.
91 Swanton st.

EDITOR'S NOTE: It's good to have you back, Arthur. (Mr. Hewis was hospitalized recently but returned to action this week.)

Only Three Barrels

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

A group of Wyman School students went to visit The Winchester Star on April 25. Since the week of the April 22 was "Earth Week" they stopped at the bicycle shop on Church street and got bags to pick up litter on the way.

They successfully cleaned up the streets from Wyman to The Winchester Star. We feel that the town needs more trash barrels and more people not littering.

The group, Amy Sample, Kate Kent, Nan Keller, Anne Donahue, Leslie Koplow, Edward Mills, Robin Hill and Sally Zarker and their teachers, Mrs. Mary Scharch and Mrs. Corinne Hill, only saw three trash barrels all the way. We hope that something will be done about it.

Please keep Winchester clean!

High School Site Was Wise Decision

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I read with considerable interest the letter by William F. Clark about how proud the town should be about the new high school building. I was also well involved with the project unofficially, and I continue to be accused for the location. All I did at town meeting, however, was to prove that Shore road was adequate and the citizens voted to have the new school on this site. I believe it was a wise decision.

The police would find it impossible to protect a $13,000,000 structure on Turkey Ridge, the cost of vandalism would be great and when the students have their fire pranks it is nice to have the fire department nearby. A school on Turkey Ridge would be too remote from the doctors, dentists, library, churches and the center of the town around which we evolve. In this period of energy crisis we may well be thankful we are not busying more than 70 percent of our students to Turkey Ridge. I know, too, that the merchants are pleased to have a few warm bodies in the stores and shops.

About the time Winchester was considering building the high school, the following were completing new secondary schools or were planning new structures: Brockton, Weymouth, Braintree, Franklin, Belmont, Medford and Newton. The first five were for academic programs similar to Winchester, while Medford and Newton had complete technical-vocational facilities attached.

None of the first five had over 135 sq. ft. per pupil and at a cost that did not exceed $5,000 per pupil. Medford and Newton had 151 and 152 sq. ft. per pupil. This was due to the fact that technical-vocational schools require about 200 sq. ft. per pupil. It is interesting to note that most of these schools were constructed with swimming pools.

Clark mentioned that one of his first assignments was to prepare a set of educational specifications for the new high school. Because of previous arguments and bitter debates as to space requirements, an issue that never should have been of prime concern to the building committee, a set of specifications were prepared to avoid further discussion on this issue and which at that time gave Winchester the largest secondary school in the commonwealth. Community colleges are planned and designed on a standard of 150 sq. ft. per pupil. No such criteria was ever established in the planning of the high school and so for a 1500 pupil school there are 185 sq. ft. per pupil at a cost of $7,500 per pupil.

When you consider that the building cost $38 per sq. ft., was designed for 1500 students and was overdesigned by at least 45 sq. ft. per pupil, you have an extra investment of about $2,500,000. The alternate bid for the swimming pool by the successful contractor was $660,000, and $600,000 by the only other bidder.

This tells the story why we do not have a swimming pool. A little simple math will show that the Town could have had the swimming pool and also a most adequate building of at least 165 sq. ft. per pupil.

Each person who reads this letter may draw his own conclusions.

The recommended site of Turkey Ridge had a topography where over 50 percent of the site had more than a 20 degree slope, and most of the site where the building and parking would be located was ledge. That part of the site where the playfields would be located was swamp and would have required the same treatment that the Shore road field had years ago. I had two experienced engineer-contractors inspect the Turkey Ridge site and their independent estimates for site work was over a $1,000,000. Blasting for a building site, trenching through ledge for utilities, leveling a ledge area for parking, constructing roads from both High street and Johnson road and the preparation and finishing of playfields would have been expensive. The professional consultant for the building committee had given the absurd estimate of $300,000.

It should also be noted here that 45 acres of land were to be purchased at Turkey Ridge at a cost that would have been more than $500,000.

When all the factors are considered: land cost, cost of construction, busin, protection, relationship to other facilities in the town and convenience of location for other uses by the town, I doubt that the town paid a premium for the Shore road location. As for the burying of the river and the preparation of the playfields, time has proven that some of the technical decisions were not very good and that some rejected free professional advice was probably more technically accurate.

I agree with Mr. Clark that the town has a fine facility. I still feel, however, that it is large enough for a four-year high school. Then McCall and Lynch could be used for a middle school (6-7-8), and the other schools would be kindergarten through grade five. This plan would make it possible to close at least two of the smaller elementary schools. The time has arrived, in fact has long gone by, when the town should recognize its errors and move ahead and build a swimming facility.

Invocation

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Several people have mentioned your comments about the invocation I gave at town meeting April 29. Some asked if George Easton or I wrote the invocation. In fairness to George, I must admit that the words were my own. Some were surprised that what appeared in The Star was not the total text.

I realize you did not print the entire invocation because of space limitations. However, I feel the end was important to the total meaning and request that you print it in its entirety with this letter.

Mary M. Brink
33 Samoset rd.

EDITOR'S NOTE: As requested: "God, we ask you to be present with us as we begin another session of our annual town meeting. This town meeting has been long; the meetings sometimes have been tedious, sometimes exasperating, sometimes frustrating. Many of us wonder if it's really worth our time to come night after night and we wonder if anyone really cares that we are here doing the town's business. Help us to overcome our discouragement and to realize that all of us can serve Thee through our lives and that what we do here is important.

"We arrive here tonight with worries, concerns and problems not associated with the business we must consider at this meeting. Help us to put those things out of our minds for the moment so that we may give our fullest attention and concentration to our deliberations this evening.

"God, we ask for wisdom to make sound judgments and for courage to vote in good conscience that which is just and will best serve the needs of our town. In all that we do here may we be ever aware of our responsibilities to the people of Winchester and to Thee."

A Really Great Urban-Suburban Six-Week Event

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

For the last five summers there has been a program for first through fifth grade youngsters that many Winchesterites may not be aware of.

I'm speaking of Six Weeks Adventure that is described in detail elsewhere in this issue of The Star. A committee is currently holding meetings to get the sixth summer under way. I wish to point out what a really great urban-suburban event this is. The Winchester children, teens and adults who wish to do so have the chance to learn and play with a few city kids and each group gets to know something of a different life-style.

All the parents get together for a gala pot luck supper during the six weeks and have the opportunity to exchange ideas.

Similar programs in other communities have been dropped after a few years because of lack of interest. I think Winchester is fortunate to have a continuing group of people who will lend time, ideas and money so that SWA becomes a little better each year.

New people with new talents and ideas are needed each year. If you feel you'd like to participate please get in touch with me.

Beverly M. Jones
22 Squire rd.

The Winchester Star has recently received a number of anonymous letters. They must be included in The Star, letters must be signed. They must include the writer's address for verification and should be typewritten or legibly written. Letters should be limited to 250 words.

20 Cents A Dollar--Athletic Budget Cut

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I have been attending town meeting anxiously awaiting the members to vote approval of the approximate $40,000 to establish new athletic programs at the junior high level under budget 6110.

This is because during the past six years I have worked with youngsters, both in the spring and fall in soccer programs, and I know how much athletic activity means to the youth, particularly the soccer, which has grown from 70 to 400 boys during that time.

At town meeting last week I heard Dr. Richard Pharo and Mr. Vincent Palumbo and others speak favorably on reconsideration of the budget. As I recall, only one voice opposed. It was a big man who said something small and sarcastic about starting a tiddy wink team.

Acceptance of the budget for junior high athletics would have meant 20 cents on the tax dollar.

The vote, which required a two thirds majority, was very close: 94 in favor, and 51 against. It was 2 votes short of giving youth a sports program at the junior high schools.

After that vote I left the meeting feeling terribly sad for the youngsters who had been cheated out of an athletic activity. And I felt distaste for the few TM members who deprived the boys and girls of an opportunity toward a greater choice of sports activity.

I was also mad at myself because I did not again stand up to speak for the youth. Maybe I could have encouraged the few votes necessary. But since I did speak at town meeting on April 4, I remained seated thinking there was enough support for the budget.

However, to the youth of this town, I apologize for not again standing up on your behalf.

To the TM members who extended their 10-minute break into a noisy 25 minutes, I'm sorry that so few of you were more interested in saving 20 cents on your tax dollar than supporting the boys and girls whom I'm sure you will criticize for not having enough, to occupy their excess time and energy.

I realize that the meetings are lengthy and boring. But you are elected to your position and if some of you hadn't left at intermission you might have done a service to youth by your affirmative vote.

If town meeting members can face up to a program such as soccer which they voted against I invite them to attend a soccer game on MacDonald Field. Observe these youngsters in their enthusiasm and eagerness for athletic contest.

Twenty cents on your tax dollar, I'll bet you'll squander it in some other way.

Gene L. English Of Woburn Is Senatorial Candidate

Gene L. English of Woburn recently announced his candidacy for the newly organized 4th district senatorial seat.

The Sept. 10 primary election will be punctuated with many vital issues across the five communities making up the new district. He is running in the Democratic primary.

"My voice will be loud and clear for the constituents of my district in the State House," said the former Woburn School Committee chairman.

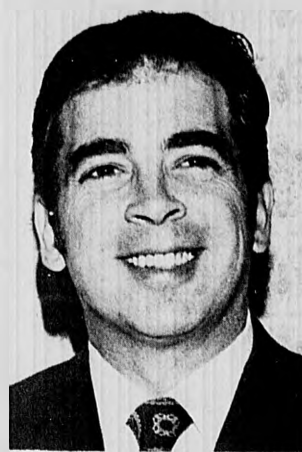

Presently serving a four year term after topping the ticket in his bid for re-election, English has become an advocate for career education programs of local schools an especially non-college bound students.

"I feel that the average middle income

"For too long the people of Massachusetts have needed levelheaded practical direction on many issues of government including education, construction, municipal issues among other vital aspects of the needs of the people."

"My campaign will be based on the current existing financial facts of life' that the middle income individual cannot be elected to public office without spending large sums of money.

"I am certainly in this same middle-income financial bracket and will relate my campaign on the promise that those who believe in my philosophy of campaign expenditures will support my candidacy as their citizen of all communities in the Commonwealth and, especially the new 4th senatorial district, needs a candidate not only to serve his or her constituent but also to present new and innovative ideas for the good of those in the new district and the Commonwealth," said English.

He stated, "A strong representation around issues in which I feel I have the qualifications and background will hopefully be a great asset to the entire district."

An instructor at Wentworth Institute, he commented, "each community, ward and precinct faces problems that we cannot turn away from in terms of commitment."

He added, "I hope that I will be the voice of the people in my district and certainly not shun my responsibility and duties to the people of these individual communities."

'Mousetrap' Is Suspenseful

By David Miller

Running successfully for over 20 years in a theatrically sophisticated city such as London certainly speaks well for a play. "The Mousetrap" by Agatha Christie is such a play.

The Winchester Unitarian Players deserve a vote of thanks for transplanting Mousetrap here. Frankly, I enjoyed it more than the London production for a number of reasons. The pace was brisker.

Betty Finnigan, as director, has obviously abided by the old dictum: never a dull moment. The action and suspense of this murder mystery never lets up. Yes, it's one of those delicious old-fashioned mysteries with a great surprise ending.

Picture, if you will, a guest house in the English countryside. A heavy snow has completely isolated the house from the outside world. Inside are eight people; one is a murderer.

Pamela Meserve plays the innkeeper's wife, Mollie, and gives the play a sense of continuity. She is on stage for practically the entire performance and artfully projects a wide emotional spectrum. Ernie Stevens does a fine job as the reassuring husband. Reassuring, at least until suspicion is focused upon him.

The guests, each a unique personality, elevate a clever detective story to a significant dramatic event. Betty Vallee convincingly plays a thoroughly obnoxious old battleax named Mrs. Boyle. Don Hutcherson does a wonderful job in raising one's suspicions as an effeminate and rather disturbed young architect. Sarah Kindelberger, as a masculine and equally disturbed young woman, adds a nice balance to Hutcherson's portrayal.

Jim Lynch definitely convinced me that he was a recently retired English army major. Sir! I smile when I think of Hugh Fraser's mischievous interpretation of Paravicini, the suave and manipulating continental. Finally, Allen Eyden does a fine rendition of the humorless, no nonsense detective.

Arthur Stratis and his crew have reproduced convincingly Monkswell Manor Great Hall, with all the appropriate entrances and exits that a super mystery must have. In summary, Mousetrap has a tail - worth seeing!

There are two more performances to be presented tomorrow and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in Metcalf Hall of the Winchester Unitarian Church.

Tickets are available at the door or from William Fallon, 1 Chesterford ter. Special prices may be obtained for senior citizens' and students' tickets.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Burt of 2 Hollywood rd. and Dr. and Mrs. E. Byron Master of Maplewood, N.J. Great-grandfather is Dr. Edward A. Master of Center Moriches, L. I.

Lombard Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua F. Lombard of 21 Pierrepont st. are parents of their second child, second son, Jason Anthony, born April 25 at Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George F. Lombard of Weston and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Musolino of Wincheter.

New Woman's Club Is Organized

A monthly meeting of the newly organized Junior Federated Woman's Club of Winchester was recently held.

Mrs. Daniel Wilder, assistant director of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs junior membership attended. She answered questions as to the works accomplished by junior clubs in Massachusetts and throughout the world.

Some of the areas junior work in are conservation, education, international affairs, the arts, legislation, public affairs and home life.

All clubs do at least one civic project for community improvement each year. There are a variety of projects to be undertaken on the national level as well.

The next meeting, open to all women in the area, will be held on June 4 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Richard Kadesch, 15 Mayflower rd.

Senior service line telephone hours are now Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. 729-2111.

Historical Society
To Hold Meeting

The Winchester Historical Society will hold its annual meeting on May 19 at 3 p.m. at the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church.

According to Mrs. Warburton Ver Planck, a selection of interesting items from the society's costume collection will be on display, including baby caps, homemade "stays", an 1895 wedding dress and a mourning ring from 1760.

Annual reports will be heard and there will be a discussion of plans for a Winchester archives center. New officers and directors of the society for the coming year will be announced.

An illustrated talk on "The Ipswich Lace Industry—Threads into History" will be given by Mrs. Theodore Wood Jr. Her hobby of collecting lace has led into curious sidelights on history, such as the origin of "Jack, be nimble, Jack, be quick," the Luddite rebellion in England and the significance to Ipswich of importing butter from Yorkshire.

This meeting is open to all. With the approach of the bicentennial, the Winchester Historical Society anticipates a busy year and welcomes new members.

Cheers! For Dandelions And Dandelion Wine

By PK
Star Correspondent

Dandelion Wine

The sunny yellow dandelion, delight of toddlers has become by all odds the most popular cut-flower in America. If you doubt this statement, you have only to walk into the kitchen of any child in the nation and the facts speak for themselves.

I have always been surprised at the tactics of the late Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois. In pushing his marigold campaign through the Congress to a successful conclusion, he completely ignored the young dandelion lobby. Well, children, that's politics for you.

To underline this oversight, I wish to point out one of the many delightful uses to which dandelions can be put — dandelion wine. (Have you ever heard of marigold wine?)

Before they are all gone, quick, gather up some blossom heads. Then observe the following:

Living In Quincy

Miss Gately Is Bride Of Stephen D. Marini

St. Mary's Church was the setting for the recent marriage of Kathleen Ann Gately and Stephen D. Marini. Rev. Bernard Hoy officiated at the double ring nuptial mass and bestowed a papal blessing on the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Gately of Winchester. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Peter Marini of Millersburg, Pa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza over taffeta. The modified empire bodice was accented with pearl-trimmed re-embroidered Alencon lace and fashioned with a high collar and long straight sleeves. The A-line skirt was applied with Alencon lace and a removable chapel train.

Her matching camelot hat was caught with long veiling extending over the train, and she carried a white missal belonging to her grandfather and covered with lace and two large white orchids and stephanotis.

Mrs. Alice Lombardo of Medford was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids included Bette Julian and Rose Girard, both of Medford, and Kathleen Morrison and Mrs. Susan Cummins both of Somerville.

Kenneth Marini of Abington was his brother's best man. Ushers included another brother, Garry of Millersburg, Pa., and Daniel Cantelli of Quincy and Theodore Ahorn of Weymouth.

A reception with 290 guests was held at the Hillview Country Club, North Reading. Donna Marie Julian and Debby Ann Julian, both of Washington, D. C., were guestbook attendants.

Bridesmaids' gowns were in rainbow colors — orchid, pink, green, blue and yellow. They wore large picture hats and carried lace parasols containing fresh flowers and giving an old-fashioned appearance.

The guestbook attendants wore dotted swiss pastel gowns.

After a wedding trip to Fort Lauderdale and Miami, Fla., the couple is living in Quincy.

The bride is a teller at the State Street Bank and Trust Company of Boston. The bridegroom, a graduate of Northeastern University is a certified public accountant for Gerald T. Reilly Co. of Braintree.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen D. Marini

Mrs. Michael Macdonald, chairman of volunteer services, presented service pins to Mrs. E. Ober Pride, Winchester, Mrs. Ernest Brown and Mrs. Raymond Kenney, both of Reading.

Hospital Friends Earn Pins

Three women are recipients of awards for serving as volunteers through the Friends of the Winchester Hospital.

Mrs. E. Ober Pride, a director of the Friends of Winchester Hospital, and Mrs. Ernest C. Brown earned 1000 hour pins. Mrs. Raymond Kennedy received a 150-hour pin.

Mrs. Pride serves in the coffee shop; and Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Kennedy, both from Reading, work with the messenger service in the hospital.

They received their awards at the home of Mrs. H. Rushton Harwood Jr. during the spring meeting of the Friends of Winchester Hospital. Mrs. Michael Macdonald, chairman of volunteer services at the hospital, presented the awards.

President of the Friends Mrs. Frank Gunby presented a check for $2,500 to Reese James, hospital administrator.

The money was raised through the Friends' annual ball which was held last fall at the Winchester Tennis Center. In accepting the check, James expressed thanks and said the gift would be used to help the hospital in its development of a new day-surgical unit.

Speaking to the volunteers, James talked about parking at Winchester Hospital giving proposed solutions and showing architectural plans for a new garage and outdoor eating facilities, relocation of a power plant and landscaping expected to soften lines of the garage and hospital.

MSPCA Relates Pets and Astrology

On Monday at 1:30 pm the Winchester Auxiliary of MSPCA is invited to the home of Mrs. Augustus Mantia, 109 Brimstone lane, Sudbury, for its annual meeting.

Brimstone lane is left off Rte. 20 shortly before the Wayside Inn. For transportation arrangements call Kay Cardin.

A program is planned, "How to relate to your animals through astrology." Louise Fimlaid assisted by Marion Zabierek will cover such topics as "How to astrologically chose your pet" and how farmers are able to accurately predict the birth of a heifer or a bull through their fertility cycle as related to the moon's feminine or masculine phase.

Fimlaid has studied astrology for many years with such astrologers as Frances Sakolan and Oscar Weber who writes for the Herald American. Fimlaid is the founder of the Astrological School of the Initiation in Framingham.

Members and friends are invited. Tea will be served.

Plans Underway For 6 Weeks Adventure

Plans are underway for the sixth Six Weeks Adventure Program.

Children in grades one through five may join this urban-suburban program of arts and crafts, swimming and sports and fun in the sun.

Six Weeks Adventure is held concurrently with the Winchester-Lesley summer school program and is presented by the Six Weeks Adventure Committee together with the guidance and endorsement of the Winchester Ecumenical Association.

With the help of the Winchester community, money is raised to provide scholarships for approximately 20 children from Roxbury and Dorchester who take part in the Winchester-Lesley summer school enrichment program each morning.

Following morning activities, children are joined by a like number of Winchester children for an afternoon program.

The afternoon program, again this year, has the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church as home base. The afternoon program will take place from 12:30 to 3 p.m. each afternoon, Monday through Friday.

Under the guidance of directors Constance Brown of Belmont and Paul Thompson of Medford, a staff of junior and adult volunteers work with children in the afternoon day camp.

Registrations may now be made for Six Weeks Adventure. The first period of three weeks is from July 1 through July 19. The second three-week period will be from July 22 through August 9. There is a fee.

A camper may sign up for one or both sessions. All families interested may contact Barbara Weckel of 142 Sylvester Ave. or Janet Boone of 10 Hangeley Ridge.

The program depends on the help of its volunteers. Persons interested in volunteering may contact Susan Jones of 22 Squire Rd.

The program's needs vary from helping with transportation from time to time, to sharing talents in woodworking, cookie-baking, sports or crafts with children.

The financial support for the program comes entirely from the Winchester community.

The Six Weeks Adventure planning committee is made up of Mrs. T. J. Anderson Jr., Mrs. John Arcari, Mrs. James Boone, Mrs. Edward Haddad, Mrs. Nolan Jones, Mrs. Joseph Kennedy, Mrs. F. W. Redding Jr. and Mrs. Leonard Weckel.

Representatives of the Ecumenical Association serving on the committee are Sister Patricia Kelleher of Immaculate Conception Church, Stephen Beirne of St. Eulalia's Church and the Rev. George Easton of the First Congregational Church.

Contributions are accepted. They may be sent to Mrs. Weckel of 142 Sylvester Ave.

Four Float Awards Will Be Given

This year's En Ka street fair, Daisy Days, will be May 17 from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. and May 18 from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on the town hall grounds.

Each organization En Ka helps is asked to participate. Four prizes will be awarded: two for the floats most in keeping with the fair theme and two for the floats most in keeping with the theme of their organization.

There will be midway rides, games including hockey, pony rides, balloons, grabs, pictures taken, a parade through downtown Winchester on Saturday morning and a trip to Bermuda.

A bargain box will offer rare books and handmade articles. Craftsmen will be demonstrating skills on Saturday afternoon.

Food will include candy, baked goods, a coffee bar, hot dogs and hamburgers, ice cream and cotton candy, tonic, a snack bar with fresh sandwiches and lobster rolls and a supper at the Baptist Church featuring homemade bread.

Chairmen are Mrs. Frank Gunby and Mrs. Winthrop Pearl, with Mrs. Thomas Callahan as co-chairman.

Students Visit Washington

A group of McCall Junior High School pupils and teachers visited Washington, D.C., recently during spring vacation.

According to Mrs. Jessie Favre, one of the teachers involved, students attended a briefing with Sen. Edward A. Brooke's staff in the Senate caucus room.

During the three day vacation, the students and educators visited Gettysburg, Pa., the White House, Washington Monument, Smithsonian Institute, a printing and engraving plant and Arlington Cemetery where they saw former President John F. Kennedy's gravesite and the eternal flame.

Students who participated include: Tommy Errico, Joseph Miara, Paul Romeo, Paul Ranzo, Jack Melaragni, Paul Hamilton, John Haggerty, David Callahan, Ralph Norton.

Cheryl Lizotte, Elizabeth Hoffman, Lisa Baron, Lidija Marinelo, Christine Oram, Janice Oehm, Phyllis Collela, Debbie Laing, Anita Tofuri, Sarah Parkhurst, Kathleen Williams, Nancy Legvold, Marla Pilato, Colleen Chandler, Cheryl Moran;

Parkhurst Offers Mini-Courses

Volunteers from Winchester and surrounding communities are conducting various mini-courses for Parkhurst third and fourth grade students.

The students meet in small designated groups at specified locations, either the school or volunteers' homes and studios, every Friday afternoon for six weeks to participate in the subject of their choice. The purpose is to give the students an opportunity to develop a new skill or interest outside of the school curriculum.

The volunteers have offered their time and expertise to instruct the students in courses. Far East fun is taught by Mrs. Masako Yatsukaski, featuring Japanese culture ranging from cooking sukiyaki to flower arranging.

Exploring outdoors encompasses a study of the woods behind the school, guided by Winchester Trails' volunteer.

Mrs. Angelo Bittarelli and Mrs. E. Gallagher are supervising students in preparing favorite dishes during the cooking course.

Dr. Alexander Aitken, a woodcarver is conducting a woodcarving course starting with a whale and advancing to more difficult subjects.

Music and staging entails a small production based on story book characters. The costumes and stage sets will be made by the students under the direction of Mrs. Clark Kendall of Belmont.

Delia Alonso is instructing the students in photography. Covering the history of photography, good picture subject and practicing the art of picture taking using the town of Winchester as their subject.

The bases and acids found on the kitchen shelf is the text of kitchen chemistry taught by Mrs. Roger Borghesani of Lexington. Students will be able to complete a print of their own design under the supervision of Mrs. Ralph Deluca during the wood block printing course.

Richard Murray and Thomas Merrow are teaching the fundamentals of chess through practice.

All the students will display their achievements to family and friends the evening of May 31.

Jaycee-ettes Give Baby Pamphlets

Mother's Day, May 10, marks the beginning of National Healthy Baby Week.

In cooperation with March of Dimes, Mrs. Ray Gilmartin, Mrs. John Looney and Mrs. Edward Maguire of the Winchester Jaycee-ettes, will distribute a pamphlet "Be Good to Your Baby Before It Is Born" to doctor's offices and the well-baby clinic.

In cooperation with Winchester Hospital, a case of formula will be donated by the Jaycee-ettes to the first Winchester baby born during healthy Baby Week.

'Oliver' Is Artful Play By Lynch Students, Staff

By Rande Martin

Winchester may consider itself fortunate to have the lively cast of "Oliver" from Lynch Junior High School.

On opening night last week in Lynch's auditorium, talented, enthusiastic students and faculty presented a polished performance which amazed a delighted audience.

The musical "Oliver," born in London in 1960, immigrating to New York and then Hollywood and established itself as a musical classic. It is a demanding show to singer, actor and orchestra.

With style, director, Walton Gage, patiently put together a well-paced show. He was ably supported by Mark Jacobs, music director, and Beverly Cronan and Barbara Zack, choreographers. The production staff from ushers to actors indicated they would do anything to present a successful show.

Charles Dickens, whose classic, "Oliver Twist," was the basis for the play, would give the students of Lynch an "A" for their ambitious presentation of England in the 1850's.

Eileen Manion's costumes and the versatile set and props of Don Latham artfully and with economy of space took their audience on a tour of London from the poor, pitiful workhouse for orphans, to the seamy slums of the thieves' kitchen, and finally to the wealthy established home of Mr. Brownlow.

The plot concerns a young boy, Oliver, whose life in the workhouse orphanage is a meager one. The solid production number, "Food Glorious Food," sung in the orphanage dining room, indicates the children's dreams and needs. When Oliver asks for more food, his impudence gets him sold to an undertaker by the cruel Mr. Bumble and Widow Corney of the workhouse.

Oliver fares no better as a junior mourner and runs away to the streets where he meets Artful Dodger, a precocious pickpocket, and finds himself with Fagin, a sly old thief whose training helps young boys survive through a life of theft. "Consider Yourself," one of many tuneful numbers of Laurel Hart's marvelous score indicates he's accepted in the group.

As a pickpocket, Oliver is inept. He is caught and adopted by wealthy Brownlow. His happiness at having a home at last is expressed by the haunting "Who Will Buy," one of the loveliest songs in the musical.

Nancy, one of Fagin's crew, steals him back for fear he'll talk, but has pity for Oliver. In her attempt to return the boy she is killed by her cruel boy friend, Bill Sykes, who is then killed by the police.

The play does end happily for Oliver. He learns Brownlow is his grandfather.

Hats off to Jimmy Lombardo (Artful Dodger) a showman in every way. Barry Randall, a small wail-like Oliver, had some difficulty singing, but his stage presence and manner were excellent. wlnow, and Eric Mielke was a vicious slightly wooden Bill Sykes.

The frustrated widow Corney, Connie Currier, gave a strong performance in the second act. Supporting roles were delivered with aplomb by Jim Gast, Lynne Mielke, Therese Fiorello, Skiffy Sizemore, Elaine Barger, Pauline Lewin and Janet Wightman.

Accolades to the Lynch faculty, in the act both on stage and behind the scenes. Don Latham literally "stole the show" as the miserly, conniving but endearing thief, Fagin. Gene Prior played the despicable Bumble with confidence in his acting if not in his voice. A principal who was not a principle character was Robert Fitzgerald. His cameo role as Dr. Grimwig caused quite a stir in the young audience.

Technical difficulties were handled efficiently by stage manager and math teacher, Richard Conway, and his stage crew. Having some troubles with sound and lighting, they mastered the problems as quickly and expertly as they made the scene changes.

The orchestra, under the baton of Mark Jacobs, did justice to Oliver's challenging score. The orchestra was excellent although at times too loud for the young voices. The poor acoustics of the auditorium were much to blame.

The chorus, skillfully choreographed by Mrs. Cronan and Mrs. Zack, were in good voice thanks to the direction of Nancy Peterson, assistant chorus director.

If you missed Oliver this year there is one hope. Gage stated in the show's professional program that if Oliver is a success, perhaps the school will consider having an annual musical event of this scope. The ovation at the close of the show certainly said, "Oliver," consider yourself a success."

School Committee Meeting Depends On Town Meeting

The School Committee will meet Monday if town meeting ends today or Tuesday if town meeting goes to another session on Monday.

The committee meeting will be held at Sanborn House, High street, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Topics for discussion include a recommendation on the elementary lunch program; discussion of a petition received by students which may be in executive session; bid awards, and possibly, elementary school banking.

Comments by committee members on the baseball field are expected.

'Being Earnest' Presented This Weekend At High School

Winchester High School students will present "The Importance of Being Earnest" this weekend at the high school auditorium. The play, presented by the Curran and Cue Drama Club, will be given today at 3:30 p.m. and tomorrow and Saturday at 8.

Written by Oscar Wilde, the comedy concerns Victorian standards of breeding. Clair Hurley is director. Jean Wells is assistant director. Debbi Ponti is production manager. Each has devoted many hours to rehearsals along with the actors and actresses: Richard Test, George Zettler, Kathy Dorsey, Ellen McCarthy, Eric Freeman, Nancy Lombardo, Kenneth Toomajian, Richard Tucker, Nancy Pease and Sue Reidy.

Behind the scenes are many students. Chairmen are Rebecca Downs, make-up and prompting: Marianne Matthews, ushers: Jay Enstead, props: Amy Hunter, publicity: Alice Schell, program: Amy Hilliard, refreshments:

Dianne Rogers, tickets: Donna Davis, costumes: George Kakatsakis and Kim Shawcross, stage managers: and Hugh Vartanian and Lenny Darwin, lighting.

Senior citizens are invited to attend today's performance at no charge.

Over 70 In Ride-A-Bike To Benefit State Retarded

Richard Elliott, chairman of the Winchester ride-a-bike for the retarded program, reported that over 70 cyclists participated in the recent bike ride for the benefit of the Massachusetts Association of Retarded Citizens. The total collected so far is $150.

Riders who have not turned in their money may bring it to McCall Junior High School office or mail it directly to Bike Ride, Massachusetts Association for Retarded Citizens, 381 Elliot St. Newton Upper Falls, Massachusetts 02464 as soon as possible.

In addition to the sponsoring organization, the Winchester Education Association, the following assisted in the ride: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dowd, Elizabeth Holmes, Susan Githner, Jessie Favre, Neil Gillis, James Perry, Ian Fenton, Pamela Elliott, and Patrick Sheehy.

The Education Association feels that the riders made a great effort to ride as many miles as they could. They ask sponsors who have not yet paid not to let their riders down.

Parkhurst School Plans Flower Sale

The public is invited to the annual Parkhurst flower sale tomorrow at Parkhurst School. The hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Large and small potted geraniums, petunias and marigolds are a few of the flowers available.

Hawley and Moore Are Inducted

Don Crocker Hawley and Charles L. Moore Jr., students at Trinity College, were inducted recently into Phi Gamma Mu, the national social sciences honor society.

Hawley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund B. Hawley of 25 Ledgewood rd. He was co-captain of the varsity soccer team. The senior is an economics major.

Moore, a junior, is the son of Mrs. Alice Moore of 24 Ledgewood rd. A political science major, he is a member of the dorm council.

Initiated Into Honor Society

Kristina A. Curtis, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Grant E. Curtis of 77 Lawson rd., was one of 49 students initiated into Rhode Island Alpha Phi Beta Kappa academic honor society at Brown University.

Ms. Curtis, a graduate of Winchester High School, is a senior majoring in American history. She has been involved in Brown Youth Guidance, a student volunteer organization, and won the Bicknell and DAR awards for American history.

Caseworkers To Lead Study About Marriage

The Family Service Association, 28 Concord st., Malden, which provides services to Winchester, will hold a course on marriage for three Monday evenings beginning May 20.

The sessions, to run from 7 to 8:30 p.m., are open for enrollment to married couples. Course leaders will be Ann Marie Sigdestad and Everett Lilly, Family Service caseworkers with experience in marriage counseling.

Discussion will center on key questions: What is marriage? What are some of the new stresses on marriage today? What is the "meaningful communication" everyone talks about? What makes a good husband-wife relationship?

There is a fee which may be adjusted. To register contact one of the course leaders at the Family Service of Malden.

Accidentally Overheard
by JIM CONNELLY

Did you ever hear of the Bogomils? They were a religious sect that arose in the ninth century. They believed that God's first-born son was Satan, who was good at first, then rebelled, and created a world of matter and human beings, in opposition to God's spiritual existence. The Bogomils were severely ascetic, hated images and sacrifices. Their ideals and morality were very high. In 1118 their leader was executed for heresy.

T M Refuses To Reconsider

Town meeting turned down a request to reconsider article 13 at its 15th session of the annual town meeting which began March 25.

Article 13, approved last week, calls for amending the general by-laws by adding a regulation concerning visibility at intersections of streets in residential areas.

Those who opposed the passage of the article said they were not against the "safety factor," but felt the language of the article was "not precise" enough.

TMM Paul Gangi, Precinct 6, was chief advocate for reconsideration. He said he would gain "no personal benefit" since he doesn't live in an area having high hedges at an intersection, but he talked with some police officers and heard them say "they had enough to do without measuring bushes."

Gangi said he is fearful that in the future there will be new officials in positions "and they could force it (the amendment) to its limits."

He said he "rose twice last week to speak on the article but was not recognized by the moderator."

Michael Boudakian, Planning Board chairman, said the selectmen and police were in "complete agreement" with the amendment to the general by-laws. He recommended against reconsideration.

Selectman Chairman Arthur Dunbar, also spoke against reconsideration. Passage of the article "is in the best interest of the town," Dunbar said, noting that selectmen had discussed this with the Planning Board before putting it before town meeting.

"If there are imperfections with the by-law, 'put them in the form of a motion,'" he said. The regulation "belongs in the by-law as opposed to the zoning law," Dunbar said.

On questions by town meeting members, Town Counsel Douglas Randall said that violation of the by-law, as all by-laws, would be a criminal offense or $5 fine.

Park Commissioner Albert MacDonald asked if police would need a warrant to enter private property.

Randall said that police "could observe from the street" in a situation where hedges were obstructing vehicular view at an intersection. He said he would expect a police officer could "politely ring the front doorbell" and ask a resident to cut his bushes in the interest of safety.

Sixty-six opposed reconsideration while 59 favored it. Not having the necessary two-thirds vote, the reconsideration failed.

Costly Gift

Town meeting approved acceptance of a gift of land located on Sunset road at the corner of Washington street, adjacent to North Washington Park. The land will be coming to the town from the "now defunct Millyan Construction Company," said Park Commissioner William C. Ryerson, who showed slides and explained that the town is owed $2,260 in back taxes on the land.

"To take the land for taxes would cost the town $600 in legal fees," Ryerson said, noting that the late Mr. Millyan died several years ago and "nothing has been done" about the property tax arrears for the past 20 years.

James H. L. Lane, Finance Committee chairman, recommended accepting the land as a gift inasmuch as it is not a gift.

Selectman Chairman Dunbar agreed saying "we don't like the idea of taking the land as a gift but this is the 'easiest way to handle the situation."

TMM Lenore Frazier, Precinct 5, said she considered the town "derelict to permit this kind of action after 20 years." She said this is the second back taxes question in this town meeting and posed the idea that other residents might consider giving land rather than paying taxes.

Arrest Made For Gaming

Winchester and state police raided an apartment at 200 Swanton st. Friday evening, seizing gaming equipment and arresting a 56-year-old resident on charges of setting up and promoting a gaming lottery.

Robert Humphrey of the same address was arraigned Saturday morning at Woburn District Court and pleaded innocent to the charges. He was released in his own custody for trial May 31.

Humphrey was arrested on similar charges April 11. He was living at 246 Washington st. at that time and is awaiting trial August 1.

Police seized gaming slips they said were related to sports games. There was no money taken. Lt. William T. Haggerty said.

Police said they were required to force a barricaded door to gain entry and found the suspect attempting to destroy gaming slips by burning them.

Shortly afterwards, according to the police, the telephone began ringing and one of the state police officers answered and registered bets for the callers.

Winchester police last week charged two Roxbury residents with larceny and other charges stemming from a break at the Parkview apartments a month ago. They were arrested by state police.

Gordon L. Robinson and Annette Rogers were charged with breaking and entering in the day, possession of burglary tools and possession of narcotics. The couple is being questioned in connection with breaks in surrounding towns and armed robberies.

Lt. Andrew Crawford said that the police department took a man to Winchester Hospital Friday at 10 p.m. after he stabbed himself on the train coming into Winchester Station.

Crawford said the man received a superficial wound in the accidental incident. Police arrested a Medford man on Main

Other Matters

Town meeting also approved appropriating a sum of money for planning, celebration and observance of the town's 125th birthday and the national bicentennial. Funds will be required in the future, said Selectmen Chairman Dunbar. He spoke of two bills now before the state legislature for funding town celebrations "in total or in part."

The town meeting voters also approved to vote a sum of money to establish an ambulance service for the town, to authorize training police or fire personnel or the employment of additional personnel for such purposes.

The voters also approved on a voice vote to hold public hearings on layouts of town ways presently known as Fox Hunt lane and Country lane.

street Sunday night for indecent exposure. He was released in his own custody for later trial.

A "zip call telephone" valued by the owner at $400 was reported stolen from a car at 31 Mayflower rd. Sunday. Bicycles were stolen from 24 Symmes rd., 15 Ginn rd. and 37 Sheriden cir.

On Friday two windows were reported broken at the Noonan School.

Thursday there was a report of a break at the Mobil gasoline station, 562 Washington st., a bicycle stolen from 7 Lakeview ter., a violin stolen from 25 Squire rd.

Monday

Charles Merenda of 2 Gardner pl. reported the theft of four hub caps, valued at $161.51, stolen from a 1970 automobile parked in his driveway.

A 10-speed bicycle was stolen from 32 Oliver st., a chest of drawers delivered to 9 Prospect st. by a Burlington Mail firm was not found by the new owner; and children's toys, including a plastic tricycle and a trike bike were stolen from 41 Thornberry rd. during the night.

Police responded to a garage fire at 44 Wedgemere ave., and Frank Olivadoti of the Water Department reported a break attempt at the south reservoir plant.

A Tot Finder Decal Could Save Your Child's Life

Bullock Bill --'Fights Oil Barons'--Cuts Electric Rates

State Sen. John W. Bullock (D-Arlington) recently succeeded in amending a bill on the Senate floor to reduce the electric bill of the average residential consumer by 20 per cent or more.

"My amendment shifts the burden from the little man to the large industrial users who up until now have been paying a lot less for the electric companies' oil than you and I," Senator Bullock said.

The senator called on all those concerned about the skyrocketing electric bills to get in touch with their state representatives immediately to urge them to make sure the amendment stays in the bill when it comes up in the House.

The large savings for residential consumers comes about by equalizing the charges the electric companies pass on to consumers for fuel they burn to generate electricity, Bullock said.

Part of that cost is apportioned on a sliding scale with the high kilowatt users — industrial and commercial operators — getting a break which the householder must pay for, he added.

"It's time we turned the situation around."

My bill gives the powerful industrial interests just as big a stake in keeping oil costs down as the little guy. With them on our side, we have a fighting chance to beat the international oil barons."

Castignetti Elected To Falcon Society

Ronald L. Castignetti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Castignetti, 20 High st. has been elected to the Falcon Society of Bentley College in Waltham.

The Falcon Society is the highest award Bentley College has to offer honors students who have demonstrated leadership and academic excellence and have greatly contributed to activities that bring prestige and honor to both the college and the society.

A senior majoring in accounting, he is a dean's list student and a brother of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Castignetti has been named to "Who's Who among Students in American Universities and Colleges" in recognition of outstanding merit and accomplishment as a student at Bentley College for 1973-1974.

Children account for over one-third of the nation's fire casualties.

In an effort to help avert these tragedies, the Tot Finder program was designed.

The Tot Finder plan features fire rescue decals highly visible, reflective red and silver stickers placed on windows where children are sleeping to show firefighters where to begin first rescues in cases of fire.

In Winchester Local 1564 of the firefighters union has launched an attack on the deaths of small children by attempting to distribute Tot Finder decals to Winchester families.

Union president Joseph Riga says firefighters lose valuable rescue time trying to locate children who become separated from their families in the confusion of a fire.

He says, "Many firefighters have had the heartbreaking experience of finding a small child dead in his room because the child didn't realize what fire does or how to get out of the house safely."

Primary locations for the weather-resistant decals are: windows of children's rooms facing outside or at the bottom of an interior door facing into a hallway.

Riga says the decals are on hand at the Central and West Side fire station for all residents who may obtain these to protect their children in the event of fire.

The decals, which are visible during the day and reflective from a light source at night, mark the location of a child's room. Should a fire strike, the decal can alert firefighters to check that room first for a possible trapped child.

The Winchester firefighters union is providing this program free to all residents by picking up the cost.

Riga explains that the Tot Finder program, though a valuable tool, does not take the place of a rehearsed escape plan. He says it is important that families know what to do in case of fire and that children are instructed about how to get out of the house safely.

Children should be told never to open a hall door without first feeling it to find out if the fire is in the hallway, and be taught how to crawl out of a smoke filled house.

Riga notes that Winchester has been fortunate up to now in having no children killed in fires.

He says "Firefighters want to keep it that way. They are willing to assist any family to work out an escape plan for their home."

When picking up Tot Finder decals, firefighters will be pleased to answer any questions families may have about where to place decals and or how to make homes fire safe.

Stickmen Now In 4 - 3 Record

The Sachem lacrosse team coached by Gene Bouley of Winchester High School got off to a flying start as they downed defending state champion Needham and posted consecutive triumphs over St. Mark's, Framingham South and Ipswich in recent play.

But the skein was snapped by Brookline and their last two outings have found them on the short end against Governor Dummer and Concord-Carlisle.

The first half against the Governors was a nightmare for the Sachemstick wielders as they fell behind by 5-0. The prep school attack group was very impressive as they outgudged and quick sticked the Winchesterites.

The Sachems came back strong in the second half to outscore the opposition by 6 goals to 3, but it was a case of getting under way too late. The lead built by the winners in the first half caused the Bouleymen to play an uphill game.

Three goals came in quick succession as the second half opened. But two costly penalties enabled the Governors to run their lead to 7-3. Another came only a minute later. Although the Sachems kept whittling away to cut the margin they fell two short of catching the winners.

Co-captain Vin Palumbo accounted for three goals. Pete Sandford tallied a pair and Peter Frongillo netted one goal and an assist.

Steve Murphy in the goal had a busy afternoon as the high powered attack of the Governors showed speed and finesse. Steve turned in 21 saves, many being spectacular.

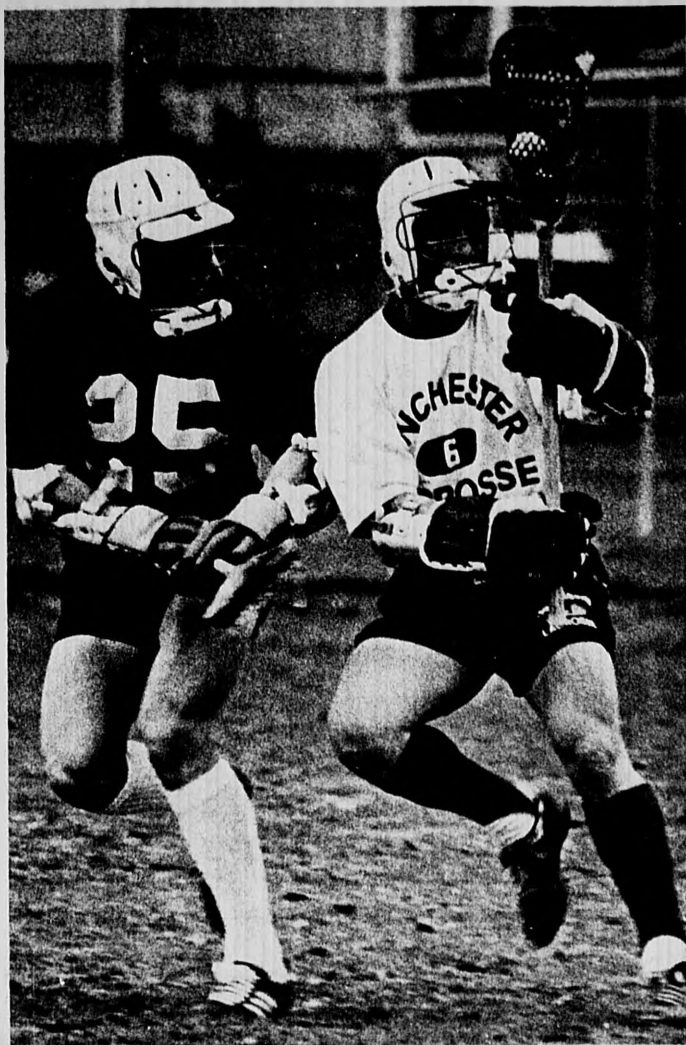

Concord-Carlisle came here Monday afternoon and planned the third straight loss on the Sachems. This time the score was 3-2. The result was in doubt until the last second of the game.

The visiting Patriots started like a house afire and popped in two goals in the opening minutes. They held this margin through the first half.

Winchester's attack group had trouble controlling the ball and keeping possession. After their early lapse the defense played top notch lacrosse and limited the opposition to just a single goal over the last three periods.

Concord maintained a constantly pressing attack, bombarding Steve Murphy in the Winchester goal. Although Chip Roche, Kevin Pierce and Bill Dexter broke up many threats, Steve was forced to make 27 saves.

The defense group cleared the ball to midfield to get it moving toward the Concord end. The midfielders and attackers just could not maintain their drives. Mike McLaughlin and Peter Frongillo were credited with the Sachem goals.

Court Sense Gives MacNeill Singles Crown

William MacNeill repeated as singles champion and young Ray Champoux teamed with Susan Whittaker of Arlington to win the mixed doubles event as Winchester players dominated in end-of-season tennis at the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center.

To add to the dominance of Winchester players, MacNeill had to oust runner-up Jimmy Wynn of Winchester in the finals of the men's singles event to earn his championship crown.

In his straight set triumph over Wynn, MacNeill demonstrated the steadiness and court sense that enabled him to win this event four times over the past six years.

He covered the court with well placed ground strokes and through deft anticipation had Wynn aiming for corners and lines with the resultant number of "out" balls and errors. When MacNeill came to the net he effected deep well-angled volleys resulting in outright winners.

In spite of his youth Jimmy Wynn displayed a veteran's poise while playing and his serve was especially effective as he moved the ball from center court to backhand corners with good success. Playing a lesser contender than MacNeill, Wynn probably would have prevailed as winner, stated many of the observers of the finals matches.

Ray Champoux served notice that he is a future player to be reckoned with as he volleyed and smashed his way to success in the mixed-doubles event. Ray's steady and aggressive net game provided the edge necessary to dispose of George Hillier and Janet Reardon of Arlington.

Astros Win Again, 2-1

The Winchester Astros, of the Bay Area Youth Soccer league beat Lexington 2 to 1 last Sunday for their fourth win.

A previous game, a 3-3 tie with Newton, will be replayed based on a decision of the Rays league that Newton had used an ineligible substitute.

In the Lexington game, Winchester controlled the play, particularly in the first half, as they have done in each game. Tom Waite scored from a rebound off the goal post.

The second goal came seven minutes later by Tom Deshler when he headed in a well placed kick by Peter Mitchell from right wing. Wayne McNeill made some fine saves during this half.

In the second half, action continued with both pressing until Lexington netted a goal at the 35-minute mark.

Forwards Tom Merrow and Marty Lusk worked hard trying to add additional goals for Winchester. Dennis Collins turned in another game as a hard-working center halfback.

At fullback, Frank Gerardi gave his best performance of the season. Brian Tarbox did well in net in the second half saving against some hard shots.

Next week's game, scheduled away at Belmont, is expected to be shifted to Winchester's MacDonald Field at 11:15 on Sunday. The early kickoff is because of baseball games.

COUGARS LOSE, 5-1

Due to a change of schedule, the Winchester Cougars played the Lexington team at MacDonald Field rather than in Lexington on Sunday May 5. The Cougars' field game is improving every week.

There are, however, still two key weaknesses to be overcome. The first, notwithstanding many tries, is that the team has not yet come up with an effective goalie.

The second problem is the front-line's inability to produce a consistent number of shots on goal of the opponent.

Those problems were evident in the game against Lexington. Although the Cougars dominated, they were unable to score.

Lexington forwards proved more effective, especially in the second half. They only made sporadic attacks on the Cougars' goal. End result was a score of 5-1 in favor of Lexington. The Cougar's lone goal was scored out of a penalty shot by Willy Muggia.

Community Use Of Schools 'Successful'

This year's community use of schools program, involving the opening of Winchester's high school gymnasium to the public, has been successful, according to director Francis Lane.

Close to 1,200 people, age 15 and over, have membership cards, and many children under age 15 used the gym with their parents. An estimated 2,000 people used the gym during the year, a turnout which exceeded expectations, according to Lane.

Because of the program's popularity it will be expanded next year. Beginning July 1 the gym, weight training room and locker room will be open to anyone 15 years of age and over on Monday and Thursday evenings from 6:30 to 10. It will continue for the entire summer if there is sufficient turnout.

Next year's September to June schedule will probably be similar to this year's, explained Lane. The gym will be open 25 to 30 hours per week during most weeks and every day during school vacations. Most sessions will include youth and adults.

To help defray part of the cost of running the program, a yearly membership fee will be charged starting Sept. 1. Based on this year's enrollment figures, this fee should help pay just over half the operating costs, said Lane.

Couples A Go-Go

Twenty-one persons showed up for Couples A Go-Go bowling last Saturday night when bowler of the evening was Walter Armstrong.

Movies were taken by Al Hart to be shown at the June awards dinner.

Results of the evening: men's high game: Tony Celli, 164. Women's high game, Terry Dokus, 156. High series, Stan Hart, 437.

Improvement in averages after 17 evenings of bowling: Walter Armstrong, 3 pins; Mary Celli, 2 pins; one pin each for Tony Celli, Tom Vangell, Ed Hurley, Jane Armstrong and Louise Hart.

Al and Lilly Badger were hosts after bowling.

LeRoux Earns Business Award

Edward "Buddy" LeRoux, president of the New England Rehabilitation Center in Woburn and trainer of the Boston Red Sox, was awarded the Albert Gallatin Certificate of Merit for "outstanding business success and community achievement."

Named after a distinguished American of Swiss origin, the Albert Gallatin award is presented each year by the Zurich American Insurance Companies to honor the nation's outstanding small business leaders.

A national search for candidates for the award is conducted by local agents for Zurich American who submit names and accomplishments of qualified candidates.

LeRoux's candidacy was sponsored by Edward Ball, president of the G.R. Ball Insurance Agency of Winchester.

Orioles Tops In Cap League

By James R. Stewart, Jr.

To the delight of good spectator crowds, the Winchester Cap League baseball season opened its 1974 season with vigor and crown division contests last weekend.

With 16 teams in contention, 12 teams play regular games each Saturday and Sunday afternoon at Ginn and West Side Fields. The other four teams play practice games at Manchester Field on the infield of the track. They are 8-10 year old boys.

The visitor division plays at West Side Field. After the first two days of play in a five weekend schedule, the Orioles are perched at the top with an undefeated record. Following an 8-7 squeaker over the Pirates on Saturday, they overwhelmed the previously unbeaten Cardinals on Sunday, 12-4.

In other games on Saturday, the Giants edged the Eagles by a 10-6 score. The Cardinals clobbered the Astros 19-9. On Sunday, the other winners were the Dodgers over the Eagles, 6-1 and, in a ding-dong affair, the Pirates outscored the Apollos 16-14.

At Ginn Field in the crown division, the Braves and Red Sox scored two victories each while the Bobcats and the Blue Jays notched wins.

The feature games were the tense pitchers' duel as the Braves defeated the Hornets 2-0 on Sunday, and the run parade saw battle as the Blue Jays out-gunned the Bobcats 11-10.

The other Sunday game saw the Red Sox beat the White Sox 8-3. On Saturday the Braves bombed the Rangers 11-4, the Red Sox trounced the Blue Jays 9-4 and the Bobcats ousted the Yankees 7-4.

Next week, same time, same places — 1 p.m. Saturday afternoon and 1 p.m. Sunday afternoon. West Side Field, Ginn Field and Manchester Field will offer entertainment for players and spectators.

Sachems Lose To Melrose

Coach Manny Marshall's Winchester High School track team came out on the short end of an 84-56 count in their recent meet with the Melrose Red Raiders.

Melrose just had too much depth for the undermanned Winchester forces, winning as expected.

Blair Joyce of the Sachems cleared 11 feet in the pole vault. Rick Mauger posted a 52.3 second mark in the 440. John Friberg whipped over the 120-yard low hurdles in 13.7 seconds. Joe Nash's 173 ft. 11 in. javelin throw was his best of the season.

Porter of Winchester was a double winner in the dash events. Tsoukalos whirled the 880 in 2:01.1.

Winchester point scorers and their performances:

Long jump: Friberg (2) 18 ft. 5 1/2 in.
Discus: Porter (2) 105 ft. 9 in.
Javelin: Nash (1) 173 ft. 11 in.
High jump: Samoiloff (2, tie) 5 ft. 7 in.

Shot put: Christensen (3) 37 ft. 7 in.
100-yard dash: Cronan (2) 10.8, Hamilton (3) 11 sec.
Low hurdles: Friberg (1) 13.7 sec.
220-yard dash: Cronan (2) 23.5 sec.
440-yard dash: Mauger (1) 52.3 sec., Meahl (3) 54.9 sec.
880 yard run: Lanigan (2) 2:04.1, Burns (3) 2:05.6
Mile run: Coakley (3) 5:01.5.
Pole vault: Joyce (1) 11 ft., Chipman (2) 10 ft. 9 in.
Triple jump: Samoiloff (2) 36 ft. 4 in.
Relay: Won by Winchester 1:34.6 (Hamilton, Mauger, Meahl, Goodman).

Town Day Caters To Artist In Everyone; Mural Going Up

The artist, the art appreciator, and even the graffiti specialist will find something of interest at the Winchester Town Day celebration on June 9. To date, at least four different art activities are planned.

Some 75 to 100 artists are expected to display their works at the Winchester Art Association's annual sidewalk show, being held this year in conjunction with Town Day.

Residents will be able to browse and buy at the exhibit located along Manchester Field fence on Mystic Valley Parkway.

Anyone wishing to display his art works may contact Ms. Joseph Pontone, 1 Lakeview rd. Rain date for the sidewalk show is June 15.

A student art exhibition is also anticipated at the Town Day celebration.

The third artistic aspect will be an arts, crafts and antiques fair with more than 25 exhibitors setting up booths in the town center. To participate in this event, contact Ron Hertel of 12 Manchester rd.

For "Kilroy was here" buffs, a large town mural will be erected. Brushes and paints will be provided and all citizens invited to show their creativity. Tentative plans call for the mural to be on display for a short time following Town Day.

WHS Deadlocked In Third Place

By John F. Parrell

The Winchester High School baseball nine had a very disappointing and discouraging week, losing three consecutive games to fall from a tie for first place into a deadlock for third spot with the Woburn Tanners.

Last Monday found them dropping a nip and tuck game to the Red Raiders of Melrose by 2-1. Then came what was billed as the battle for first place.

But the Spartans of Stoneham bombed the Colellemen, 14-2. Friday's game with the Woburn Tanners was played in a soaking rain with the Orange and Black winning convincingly by 7-1.

Faced with the necessity of an immediate need for a reversal of form the Sachems opened the second half this Monday by edging Watertown in a hard fought game by 3-2.

The victory moved their record to 6-4 and helped to keep alive their hopes of making the state tourney. Winchester tallied three times in the third inning and Watertown picked up single runs in the fourth and sixth frames.

A double by Mike Heffernan opened the attack. Rudy Fiore scored him with a single. Elliott Miller drew a walk and Wayne Dennis laid down a bunt single. Mark Cullen bunted and when the throw to first base went awry Fiore and Miller crossed the plate.

Watertown picked up a run in the sixth, but Rudy Fiore kept them at bay and went on to post the victory.

The score by innings:

	W	H	R	E
WINCHESTER	0	0	3	0
WATERTOWN	0	0	0	3

Melrose has been having a rather unsuccessful season but the Raiders settled down to play their best game against Winchester.

It was a pitchers' battle between Rudy Fiore and the Melrose pair of Barry Hughes and Pulsford. Both teams garnered only five hits but a throwing error enabled the El Ponders to score the winning run.

The game was a scoreless deadlock over the first four innings with Melrose coming up with a run in the fourth. A double by Baler followed by an O'Hara single netted the first run.

More trouble loomed as D. Hughes came through with a single. Fiore settled down to retire the next two batters on strikes.

The other run came on a triple by Jeff Buckley and an infield tap thrown poorly to first enabling the run to score.

The Sachems were far from through, coming back with a run of their own in the sixth as Wayne Dennis tripled and scored on a long fly by Mike Heffernan.

They staged a late uprising in the seventh and final inning which died suddenly with two men aboard as a bunt was popped up and turned into a game ending double play.

The line score:

WINCHESTER	0	0	0	1

The confrontation with Stoneham was over early. Stoneham picked up two runs in the first inning, followed with another in the second, and picked up another pair in the third for a 5-0 lead.

They really broke loose in the fifth as seven big runs clattered over the plate for a 12-0 lead.

The Sachems finally picked up two earned runs in the sixth on a weird combination of a walk, a single by Tom Brennan and a costly Spartan error which allowed the runs to score.

Stoneham pounded out four singles in the first inning for their two-run lead. Then Tom Hunt drove a long high ball with the wind and the ball sailed nearly to the goal posts on the football field for a long home run. The third inning runs came on two singles, a walk and two doubles.

The lid really blew off in the fifth as Stoneham put together four singles, three bases on balls and a Winchester error to move into their 12-0 lead.

It just wasn't the Sachems' day. They gleamed only five hits to 13 for Stoneham and seven walks plus two errors went finis to their chance of victory.

The line score:

	W	H	R	E
STONEHAM	2	1	2	0
WINCHESTER	0	0	0	2

When the Tanners arrived here for the Friday game the weather was much better suited to water polo than to baseball. The visitors proved to be superior mudders and went on to an easy 7-1 win behind the two hit pitching of Brian Melanson.

The Sachems did not manage to score until the sixth and last inning when a single by Albie Cordice followed by two fielder's choices and a wild pitch enabled them to ruin Melanson's shutout.

The senior southpaw for the Woburnites had good control, walking only two while fanning five. Rudy Fiore had the Tanners swinging at his slants as he set 11 batters down on strikes. He gave up 11 hits which proved more than enough to clinch the game for the visitors.

Woburn put three runs on the board in the second inning. A key Sachem error helped their cause. Jim Phelan singled and Kevin MacDonald bunted. On the bunt an erratic throw allowed him to get safely to first.

Bob Connolly drove a base hit to left, scoring the two runners, and Melanson chipped in with a hit sending home the third run.

The four runs tallied by the Tanners in the fifth came as a result of safe hits by Co-capt. Mike Ivester, Bob Regan and Co-capt. Phil McCarthy plus a walk and a wild pitch.

Winchester's only other threat came as Mike Heffernan opened the second inning with a long triple. The next three batters went down in order. Melanson did not give up another hit until Cordice singled in the rain and gloom of the sixth inning, after which the game was called.

The score by innings:

NET RESULTS: A SMALL TENNIS SCHOOL

NET RESULTS is a new tennis school offering a comprehensive program of coordinated courses. We have designed courses to meet many tennis needs, from courses for the beginner who has never held a racket to clinics specializing in preparing tournament players for competitive tennis. We know from experience that the best way to learn tennis is through instruction, practice, and observation. Courses meet weekly for 1 1/2 hours, and are designed for 4 to 12 students. We have found these size classes best because students learn through group interaction as well as from the instructor. Classes begin with an instruction period, then on court practice and observation-discussion, utilizing modern teaching methods—complete videotape facilities, ball machines, tennis films, and other teaching aids to bring you the best teaching program available.

NET RESULTS is located at Tennis 128, Burlington, on indoor courts with plexicushion surface, indirect lighting, and temperature control.

NET RESULTS is a tennis academy where your personal needs will determine whether you take individual tutorial lessons, classes, or practice with ball machines. Whether you are dreaming of being a tennis player, or dreaming of being a better tennis player, we have all you need to make those dreams reality.

Blakes, Former Residents, Still Active In Acting

Marion and Bob Blake, formerly of Grove and Jefferson streets, are still actively involved in theatre where they now live in Boulder, Colo.

They are appearing in Boulder's Nomad Players' production of "The Crucible." Although this role marks Blake's debut on the Nomad stage, he has played in community theatres for a number of years. He has been a member of the board of directors and treasurer of the Nomads.

When the Blakes arrived in Boulder seven years ago, Mrs. Blake auditioned for, and won, the role of the leading lady in "Long Day's Journey Into Night." Since then she has appeared in a number of plays including "Butterflies Are Free."

She began her professional career as a singer in New York. She met Blake when she was a settlement worker in Boston and he, a Harvard graduate, was doing research on processing for Polaroid Corp.

After their marriage in 1940 the Blakes became involved with Parish Players. Through this group they met Harlan Grant of Winchester who was directing community theatre to supplement his teaching at the Boston Conservatory of Music. He cast them in a number of Parish Players shows and later urged them to try summer stock at The Weston Playhouse, Weston, Vt.

At Weston Marion Blake averaged three and four shows a summer. During off-seasons she performed with Parish Players, at Tufts, at MIT and in Winchester's annual musicals.

The Blakes moved to Boulder after Blake spent five months traveling, meeting people and looking into employment possibilities.

In Boulder, with their children and grandchildren, they participate in bowling as well as theatre-oriented jobs.

Benefit Focuses On Attic Treasures

The Winchester Auxiliary of the Massachusetts Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, (MSPCA), recently sponsored a "tea and sympathy" benefit for animal welfare.

The theme was nostalgia, with Mrs. William Davis of Cardinal street lecturing on attic treasures. Among the items displayed were a rusty baking powder tin, a black lace shawl and half a union suit.

Mrs. Davis said old, unidentified photographs of an ancestor may be worth money because there are people eager to buy prestigious-looking ancestors.

After the lecture, high tea was served with Mrs. Harold Meyer, Mrs. Keith Syda, Mrs. Clifford Gillett and Dorothy Hall pouring.

Mrs. Anthony Alba and Mrs. William Davis were co-chairmen.

Three Seek School Committee Seat

So far three persons have submitted their names for consideration for appointment to the vacant seat on the School Committee.

Each present member of the Board of Selectmen and School Committee has one vote in naming a successor to resigned committeeman Richard B. Lawrence.

★ Hospital

TMM James Falzano, who lives across from the hospital, said he was willing to live with the parking problems "for whatever period it takes them to put up the garage in back." He argued against acquisition from safety and conservation points of view.

Winchester Trails president Carla Lele said, "The balance of nature will be irrevocably disturbed."

Selectman John J. Sullivan presented his board's arguments in favoring the parking lot as "a short term solution to a traffic hazard."

Selectman Vito A. Giarrizzo presented his own arguments against. "To put in an asphalt jungle without a certificate of need is a gross injustice to the town."

RECREATION COMMITTEE
TMM Robert P. Joyce left it up to town meeting what they wanted to do with his article to abolish the Recreation Committee and transfer its responsibilities to the Park Commission, of which he is a member.

Joyce said that both the Park Commission and the Recreation Committee are "doing some functions of the other." He added that recreation functions should come under an elected body. Recreation Committee members are appointed by the selectmen. Park commissioners are elected.

After consultation with members of various town boards, Joyce said, and a "no action" vote from the Park Commission on the proposal, he decided the proper course was to have the Charter Commission study it.

But, he added, the subject is important and the Recreation Committee's problems are important so town meeting should make the decision what to do.

Without a single word of further debate, the town meeting "indefinitely postponed" action at the suggestion of TMM James T. Hurlman.

The town meeting meets Thursday at 7:45 p.m. to take up action on various budgets that had been postponed. It is expected today's session will be the last of the annual meeting.

Alteens

Alteens, a group for teenagers who are children of alcoholics or who have other family members or friends with a drinking problem, meet Monday nights at 7:30 in the Forum Room of the First Congregational Church.

No date has been set for an expected joint meeting between the two boards to fill the seat. Lawrence resigned April 24.

If within 30 days of that date the Board of Selectmen has not received written notice from the School Committee that the vacancy should be filled, the selectmen can go ahead and appoint a successor themselves following seven days notice.

The three who have notified the selectmen or School Committee of their desire to serve on the committee are Recreation Committee member John W. Noble of 32 Woodside rd., Charles Joseph Glassbrenner of 41 Englewood rd. and Town Meeting Member John A. Twomey of 10 Prospect st.

Noble and Glassbrenner were candidates for School Committee in the March election which saw Catherine Fallon and Mary Pronski win the two vacant seats. Lawrence was not a candidate in that election. His term would have expired in 1975.

The person appointed to fill Lawrence's vacancy will serve until 1975.

In the March election Noble placed third, less than 100 votes behind Pronski. Glassbrenner came in fifth in that eight-person race.

There are two other seats to be filled on elected boards. The selectmen and Planning Board have scheduled a joint meeting for Monday at 7:45 p.m. to name a person to succeed Planning Board Member William Holland, who died.

Candidates are Frank Holland, John Ryan, William S. Cummings, James T. Hurlman and Paul Colella.

The third vacancy is on the Board of Assessors, to replace resigned chairman Windsor S. Carpenter. There are six candidates for that seat: Werner A. Carlson, Howard E. Chase Jr., Kenneth F. Darcy, Charles S. Margosian, Ralph U. Powers and John R. Wiseman Jr.

The selectmen will interview the six on Monday and meet with the remaining two members of the Board of Assessors a week later, May 20, to fill that vacancy.

Potter To Exhibit At Schwamb Mill

A spring collection of new planters and pots will be shown by Cora Pucci, resident potter at the Old Schwamb Mill, 17 Mill Lane off Lowell Street, Arlington, on May 11 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Miss Pucci, a graduate of Simmons College and the Boston Museum School, opened her first pottery studio in Kendall Sq., Cambridge, in 1967. Since then she has worked in several studios in Cambridge.

In 1970 Miss Pucci came to the Old Schwamb Mill to participate in its program of adaptive use in historic industrial preservation.

Wellesley Dean Will Speak At College Club

Guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Winchester College Club next Thursday is Alice Stone Ilichman, dean of Wellesley College. Mrs. Ilichman will speak on women and work in the Peoples Republic of China.

Mrs. Ilichman is a social scientist who specializes in community development and planning, particularly in South Asia. She is a member of the national screening committee for Fulbright-Hays awards for South Asia and a member of the committee on the status of women of the Association of Asian Studies.

She was a member of the faculty at the school of education at University of California at Berkeley before becoming dean of Wellesley College in July, 1973.

At Berkeley, Mrs. Ilichman was lecturer in the division of policy planning and administration at the school of education, and director of the Berkeley-Pakistan education planning program, a Ford Foundation project to train officials in the Pakistan government in techniques of educational planning. The meeting is at 12:30 with a luncheon in the Symmes Room of the Unitarian Church. Guests are welcome. For reservations contact Margie Lamar of 16 Dartmouth st. or Alice McCarter of 231 Mt. Pleasant st.

Release Time Evaluation Asked For By SC Members

Release time days and how they are utilized was a topic of discussion by Supt. of Schools William C. MacDonald, the School Committee and other educators recently at a School Committee meeting.

According to MacDonald, the 33 release time days allowed are used as follows: 10 days are for contract negotiations; four are for the opening and closing of school; one is for administration the Wednesday before Thanksgiving; six are for report card conferences with parents; and 12 are for matters pertaining to curriculum.

MacDonald gave the School Committee members a list of 28 release time activities which fit into the overall categories mentioned.

Some of these include pre-kindergarten screening, students returning for special help or direction, times for groups of students to participate in enrichment activities, student teacher training periods, previewing films, team conferences and or planning, report card preparation, planning group field trips with parents, and recording and evaluating test results.

Also among the items on the lists are: creating new material, developing kit and tape programs for small group instruction, grade and review papers, setting up educational fairs, and developing continuity between levels.

Committeeman Richard Pharo questioned some of the release day activities feeling that time is allowed for many of these items during the summer school. Pharo and committeeman Stephen Parkhurst both said they would like to see a complete evaluation of teacher time during the release days rather than a list.

Parkhurst emphasized that there is a need for "sufficient planning for classroom activities" and for "assistance to students who have remedial needs." Agreeing with Pharo, Parkhurst said that some release time activities could be accomplished at other times.

Calendar
The School Committee approved a 1974-75 school calendar proposed by Supt. MacDonald as follows:

Winchester schools will open Sept. 4 and close June 19, 1975.
Holidays and vacations will be: Columbus Day, Oct. 14; Veterans' Day, Oct. 28; Thanksgiving recess, Nov. 27-29; Christmas vacation, Dec. 23-Jan. 1.

Also, winter vacation will be held Feb. 17-21; Good Friday will be March 28; spring vacation will be April 14-18; and Memorial Day will be May 26.

For a total of 183 days in sessions, register periods will be as follows: Sept. 27, 18 days; Oct. 25, 19 days; Nov. 22, 19 days; Dec. 20, 18 days; Jan. 24, 17 days; Feb. 28, 20 days; Mar. 27, 19 days; May 2, 20 days; May 30, 19 days; and June 19, 14 days.

Quarters will end on Nov. 8, Jan. 24, April 4, and June 19.

Human Life
Members of the Winchester Interfaith Education Committee appeared before the School Committee to briefly outline a new program proposed for adult education during the upcoming fall and winter.

Called "The Quality of Human Life," the program will be divided into three phases. The first series, "Religion in the Arts," according to spokesman Steve Beirne, will include a six weeks course with participants discovering ways that art inspires life quality and what makes an audience respond to art, dance, theatre and lectures.

The second segment will consist of five lectures on the "ethereal dimensions on the quality of life" to be presented primarily by theologians of all faiths.

The final phase of the study will put participants "through exercises to get to the quality of life," according to Rev. George Easton of the First Congregational Church. This last series will last 20 hours with programs "outside of Winchester."

School Committee members indicated enthusiasm for the proposal and approved its inclusion in the fall and winter adult education program.

Committeeman Pharo said he hoped the interfaith committee would address itself to bringing about an "esprit of community," which would focus on "vandalism" and developing responsibility "for the physical plant of the community."

Eastham said the interfaith group was hopeful that their program and the upcoming Town Day would assist those of "diverse backgrounds work together at the community level."

Rev. Joseph Lyons of St. Eulalia's Church praised the School Department for its "immediate response to the needs" of the interfaith group as it sponsored its courses last fall and winter. At that time 250 participated.

"We could use your support at town meeting," said committeewoman Mary Mears.

Lyons responded: You write the speech. I'll give it. Laughter followed.

High School principal Vincent Larocco told the School Committee that "class rank" has been eliminated in reports to colleges and universities of students attending Winchester High School because "class rank does not have the significance it used to have." Instead, he said, grade point average will be sent to colleges because this provides a more accurate picture of a student's performance and potential.

Noting changes which are taking place in recent years, Larocco said colleges look to the final goals of students as they make selections. For instance, if a student's future lies in art or music, "history may not be so significant."

Unitarian Men Host Students Of ABC House

Several men from the Winchester Unitarian-Universalist Church prepared and served a brunch for students of the ABC House Sunday noon.

Organized by church member Roger Sudbury, the first annual May brunch was planned as a means of fostering close relations between the community and the ABC students.

Five parishioners helped Sudbury prepare the food: Richard Sorenson manned the grill, Ronald Hirschfeld handled pancake orders, Kenneth Trevett kept the juice flowing and pots and pans clean, and Wayne Davis took charge of clean-up.

Minister Emeritus Robert Storer joined the students and house parents Duane and Debby Jackson and their son, Dana.

Rev. Jack Zuerheide shared bowls of strawberries after leading a morning service in Grafton.

Methodist Women Plan General Meeting today

The United Methodist Women will hold a general meeting today at 7:30 p.m. in Gifford Hall. Mrs. Myrtle Strong Allen will be guest speaker. Her topic will be "A Good Book Is A Vacation." All women are invited.

On Sunday, Mother's Day, the morning worship will be held at 11 a.m. The pastor will be preaching on the topic "How Great She Was."

The junior high church school and fellowship and the senior high fellowship will meet at 5 p.m.

The continuing growth work area will meet May 16 at the home of Barbara Polleys at 7:30 p.m.

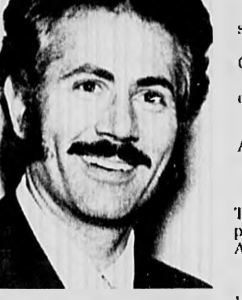

The Pairs and Spares Night at the Pops will be held May 24. Tickets must be reserved.

Baptist Men Serve Mothers, Daughters Meal

The Women's Fellowship of the First Baptist Church held a mother-daughter banquet recently. The meal was prepared by members of the Burnham-Crosby Circle and others.

Innie Noel, Don Matthews, Ralph Swanson, and Ray Gosselin served and cleaned giving the mothers and daughters an opportunity to enjoy their meals.

During the brief business meeting the new budget was presented for approval.

New officers were elected for the coming year as follows:

Mrs. Innocent R. Noel, chairman; Mrs. J. Irving Rawding, assistant chairman; Mrs. Joseph Cioni, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Richard Sheppard, afternoon circle leader; Mrs. Gary Doughty, evening circle leader; Mrs. Arthur Floyd, non-circle leader; Mrs. Vincent Eric, director of Christian service; Mrs. Herbert Lamson, director of spiritual life; Mrs. Ralph Swanson, chairman of house.

Rev. Howard Kreuger held a service of installation for the new officers. Entertainment of the evening was a glass blowing demonstration by Leigh Howell of Newton.

136 Receive First Communion

St. Mary's church was the scene of the second annual communion jubilee mass. One hundred thirty-six first communions of the parish were formally welcomed into St. Mary's community by the clergy and the congregation.

During the 9 a.m. mass, which was celebrated by Fr. James Garrity, parents, who had personally prepared their children for First Communion, accompanied their sons and daughters to the altar where together the families received the Sacrament.

Music for the occasion was provided by Martha Daschback and her student choir. The ceremony concluded with the individual welcoming of each communicant by the pastor who greeted each child with a handclasp.

Immediately following the ceremony, children were led in procession to St. Mary's parish hall where refreshments were available for new communicants and their families.

Stop Smoking Clinic May 19

The average smoker today smokes one and one half packs of cigarettes a day and disposes of 10,000 cigarette butts a year, according to Walter E. Kloss, director of the five-day plan to stop smoking at the New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham.

The New England Memorial Hospital is offering this stop-smoking clinic from May 19-23 at 7:30 p.m., in the hospital auditorium.

Each evening facts about smoking, the effects of tobacco on the body, and tips to help one cope with the physical and psychological needs which may arise during the withdrawal period are discussed by Kloss and a NEMH physician.

A brief documentary film dealing with various facets of smoking is shown at each session.

There is a small registration fee. For more information call the hospital.

Youth Fellowship To Give Service

The youth fellowship of the Second Congregational Church will present a service of the open church on Sunday in the regular worship service at 11 a.m. The program has been structured by the young persons.

A night at the Pops has been planned by the Wednesday Nighters for May 15. Participants will leave the church at 7 p.m. For more information contact Mrs. Martha Bund.

Woburn Church Plans Auction

The United Methodist Church of Woburn will have its annual church auction on May 11 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the church on 523 Main st., (rt. 38) Woburn.

Auctioneer will be Milton Pollack.

Items will include antiques, furniture, a snack bar, a home-cooked goods table and a special auction item, a 1969 Volkswagen which has been completely reconditioned.

Articles of all kinds are needed. Those who wish to donate items may contact John P. Roberts Jr., 10 Crawford dr., the church office or the parsonage. Pick up will be arranged.

BBP Concert

The BBP, a chamber ensemble of 20 musicians from the Boston area, will present a concert on Sunday at 3 p.m. in Huddle Hall, Parish of the Epiphany.

Musical director of the group is Kenneth Seitz, Winchester resident and graduate of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, Oberlin, Ohio.

The Mother's Day concert will include "Brandenburg Concerto No. 1" by J.S. Bach. The public is invited.

Temples Plan 'Magic To Do'

Rehearsals are underway for the production "Magic To Do," co-sponsored by Temple Isaiah Sisterhood and Temple Emunah of Lexington. Because of the scope of the production, there are 115 temple, sisterhood, brotherhood and youth group members involved in the cast and production crew. Surrounding towns, including Winchester, are represented.

The theme is taken from the Broadway musical show "Pippin."

Performances are scheduled for Saturday at 8:30 and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at Temple Emunah, 9 Piper rd.

The Sunday performance is scheduled earlier for the convenience of parents who wish to bring younger children. Children 12 and under will be offered a reduced admission on Sunday.

IC Parish Activities

A group of confirmation youths at the Immaculate Conception Parish, with the help of parish men, will hold a car wash on May 18. Donations will go toward famine relief in middle Africa.

The first Immaculate Conception youth bowling league banquet will take place tomorrow night in the school hall at 6:30 p.m. Prizes will be awarded after dinner. There will be dancing to records with a light repast at 10 p.m. Closing time is 11 p.m. Guests and friends of the bowlers are invited to attend. Mrs. Mildred Paoletti is coordinating reservations.

Two Residents Are In Program

In anticipation of the bicentennial celebration, the Chorus Pro Musica, directed by Alfred Nash Patterson, will present a program of American music May 19 at 8:30 p.m. in Sanders Theatre, Cambridge.

Winchester residents performing in the program are Mrs. Waimu Chan of 95 Pond st. and Christopher King of 92 Hillcrest pkwy.

Patterson has selected music which spans a 200-year period. Tickets are available at the Harvard Coop, Sanders theatre, 7 p.m. the evening of the concert, and by phone or mail from the Chorus Pro Musica, 645 Boylston st., Boston.

Julie Quinn Named Head

Julie Quinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Quinn of 9 Buckman dr., has been elected head of the social cultural commission of the Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart.

Although she will assume her duties immediately, formal installation will not be held until September.

Real Estate Today

By Realtor A.R. DeVellis

APPRAISAL METHODS

Comedian Buddy Hackett put it nicely: "If everybody had the same opinion, every man would want to marry his wife." So goes the art of appraising the value of property. In the final analysis, every piece of property is different. Basically, there are three methods of arriving at a value estimate.

1. Comparison. A comparison is made as to price, value, and location in relation to other properties in the same neighborhood.
2. Reproduction Cost. How much would it cost to reproduce the structure? Add to this the value of the land and deduct for depreciation.
3. Capitalization. This is used for income property. The value is established by consideration of the present and future income value of the property.

Frequently, the appraiser will use all three methods. No single method can always be depended upon to produce reliable estimates by itself.

If you have any questions on this subject or on any other aspect of Real Estate, please feel free to call or drop in at JAMES T. TREFREY, INC., REALTORS, 27 Waterfield Road, Winchester - Tel. 729-6100.

Some Land Developers Look To 'Green' Rather Than 'Blue'

By Carol Mahoney

Not all land developers are the stereotypes of public media portrayal as unimaginative landscape levelers who consider neither human nor land concerns.

Instead of studying more blue prints for the much maligned but standard grid system of back to back housing, some developers are studying "green prints" of the environmental concerns of their land.

In order to learn more about large-scale land development, the League of Women Voters land use study committee invited a professional planning consultant to an open meeting held recently in Winchester Library.

During the month of April, the League is focusing their unit study on land use decision making on local, regional and state levels.

George Matarazzo, president of the Hanslin Planning Associates, based in Manchester, New Hampshire, spoke to the group. Informally, he mixed humor and fact with a slide presentation to illustrate how a multi-professional consulting group works.

The firm, which is part of the larger Emil Hanslin group, has received national recognition for the planning of New Seabury, Mass., and Eastman, an environmentally designed recreation community in New Hampshire. They specialize in open space planning for communities in New England and the East.

Noting Winchester Center's problems, the audience was interested in Matarazzo's brief description of a small design project for Milford, New Hamp.

The firm took 50 "before" photo enlargements of the streets, parks, byways and business center and created "after" photos in color with a paint brush. Citizens were enthusiastic at the graphic portrayal of the town's potential. Now backers are seeking local funding.

Ideas and Action

"To start some action in a community, the visual image is often stronger than pages of consultants' studies," Matarazzo said. "In fact, one main street improvement idea was taken from a 1963 planning study we found in the Milford library. Only no one ever read it and visualized it," he said.

Whether working on five acres or 5000 for municipal or neighborhood planning, Matarazzo and his associates use a "critical path" whole systems approach as a guideline from inception to idea implementation. The computer is also an ally in the planning process, he said, but even so a "gut feeling" for the value of a piece of land potential is also part of the input. "We get out and walk the land constantly," he said.

According to the speaker, the planners collect data, inventory the consumer and the market, study the natural resources inventory, and evaluate the community impact. An analysis of the data leads to a final plan.

"We do our homework," he said, "simplifying his charts. All that is needed to get a viable land development plan ready for a planning board or backer may take six months to a year.

Prefer Suburban

Details from specific market studies intrigued the audience. One survey of employees living in several states for a large national firm planning a major company move turned up some interesting data.

An overwhelming 65 percent preferred to live in a suburban area, 23 percent in a rural area and 12 percent in an urban city.

In the same group, 62 percent wanted a new home. Less than 7 percent wanted an old home. The same survey also showed that 89 percent wanted adjacent open space (meaning yards) while 11 percent preferred the newer centralized open space.

Matarazzo said that 90 percent of new home starts are in the condominium or attached single family residence in the U.S.

Recreational Market

What do people want these days in new home and recreational developments?

"We find that former concerns with kitchen cabinets and windows has been replaced with an interest in cultural, sports and recreational amenities," he said. This also includes a repeated preference for a convenient but good quality restaurant.

He noted tennis is rapidly gaining in national popularity catching up to swimming and golf which hold down the one-two spots in recreational preferences.

The ubiquitous "R-V" or recreational vehicle market has had a major impact on recreationally oriented land use projects.

Calling them "gadgets," Matarazzo said industry has been turning out snowmobiles, campers, boats, trailers and van conversions in enormous numbers. Now land developers are not only creating places to park them but creating whole communities to enable the aficionado to enjoy his pleasure vehicle.

In his remarks the former landscape architect touched upon the extensive environmental studies undertaken by professional land planners.

Views and Climate

The expected studies of water, soils, vegetation and topography are made. Unexpected studies include things like maps of "View sheds." These maps of various scenic vistas enable the site planner to locate dwellings.

Another is a study of the "micro-climate." Matarazzo defined it more simply as "winter winds and summer breezes. Weather conditions may vary in different areas on the same land such as cool and warm slopes."

When asked how necessary such detailed studies are when "everybody knows the weather," Matarazzo explained that a planner must present many points of view.

"The farmer who owned the site knew where to angle the barn and plant his fields, but we need more than that to tell the Planning Board. We change the ecological potential of the land when we set foot on it. We want to protect those qualities." One way of doing this is through clustering or planned unit development to maximize the open space.

Trails Holds Nature Walks

Winchester Trails will sponsor a natural history walk through the Horn Pond area on Saturday at 9:30 a.m. The general public is invited and will meet at the beach parking lot at the Horn Pond parkway.

Horn Pond is a place to study geology, plants, waterfowl and their habitats. The public will have a choice of a Horn Pond Mountain summit walk or a pond shore bird habitat walk.

Fran VerPlanck will lead the mountain summit group from the Horn Pond Parkway up the south side of Horn Pond mountain to the so-called Indian Bowl, a stream pothole, where some historians theorize Massachusetts Indians ground corn.

Natural plant succession and plant identification will be discussed. Evidence of ancient glacial rivers which deposited stratified layers of gravel, visible in the recent gravel cuts.

The Pond Shore group will be guided by George Gove. Horn Pond, which serves as a holding pond for the city of Woburn water supply, still holds onto its ancient role as a refuge for migrating waterfowl. Woodcock, coots, sandpipers, great blue herons, Canada geese, ospreys, falcons and many song birds are there at their appointed schedule according to their own biological time clock.

On Tuesday morning, Mrs. Thornton Stearns will lead interested townspeople on a walk through the grounds of Mount Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge, a spot for bird-watchers each spring. The cemetery is beautiful in May with many exotic flowering trees and shrubs, all labelled for identification.

The group will meet at the Town Hall parking lot at 9 a.m. and return at noon. Binoculars will be helpful for viewing the birds.

In case of persistent rain, walks will be cancelled.

MV Atoms To Meet Tonight

The Mystic Valley Atoms (Association to overcome multiple sclerosis) will meet tonight at 8 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Lexington.

There will be two guest speakers: Peggy Noback, patient service coordinator of the Massachusetts Chapter of Multiple Sclerosis and a Lowell physician. The latter's topic will be the changing drug scene, refreshments will be served.

For more information contact Mrs. Maureen Winn, 10 West Chardon rd.

Psychologist Will Speak

The Winchester Chapter for Children with Learning Disabilities will hear Dr. Rebecca Merchant, psychologist, on Monday at 9:15 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Courtney A. Crandall, 16 Stratford rd.

Dr. Merchant's theme is self-esteem and social adjustment for children and teenagers with learning disabilities. She will deal with helping children live with their problems, helping with their adjustment and building their self-esteem.

The meeting is open to the public.

Candidates' Night Is Planned By Young Democrats

The Winchester Young Democrats elected Town Meeting Member Karen A. Wharton chairperson at a recent meeting. Others elected include Robert P. Joyce, vice-chairperson; Norman Dutoette, Jr., treasurer; and Diana Waszak, secretary.

The group has begun plans for a candidates' night in late June. They plan to invite all statewide candidates.

"Because the Secretary of State's office does not have files kept on people who take out papers the Young Democrats ask any candidate that they have not contacted to please contact them," Ms. Wharton said.

A year ago the group cited their goals, one of which was providing candidates forums for discussion on stands & issues.

Chairperson Wharton commented "People of Winchester here is your opportunity to see the faces of the candidates, here the issues talked about and see the goals of this group of young people materialize."

Named To Project

Marc Des Meules, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Des Meules of 378 Main st., a student at Marlboro College, will be one of three participants in a project of research funded for the college by the National Science Foundation.

The grant will enable Des Meules to work in bio-chemical research for the summer and also support that research during the coming academic year.

The specific research to be done will be in the molecular structure of plastics as an attempt to discover an enzyme that will biodegrade the plastic that litters our landscape and resists the natural forces of decay.

A Month Of Events (Parades, Races And More) Planned

Town Day First Ever

The Jaycee-ettes will sponsor two parades for children on Main street in Winchester Center on Sunday, June 9, as part of Winchester Town Day festivities.

All children three to 10 years of age will be encouraged to participate.

The first contest, which will be decorated three-and-four-wheel vehicles (tricycles, wagons, doll carriages, "big wheels" and bicycles with training wheels) will be at 1 p.m.

The second contest will be costumes and decorated hats at 1:30 p.m. Prizes will be given for the most creative and unusual entries in each category.

In addition, each child will receive a prize for entering. Prizes are being donated by Topsy Turvy, the Winchester Sport Shop, Brigham's and Cradock Apothecary.

Further information from Mrs. Kent Telford of 32 Myrtle ter.

In conjunction with the Town Day festivities, Winchester's history will be highlighted in a 32-page pictorial brochure designed by Edward T. Rodriguez of 16 Sargent rd.

The brochure, which will be distributed during the June 9 day-long celebration, is called "Recollections," intending to capture the Winchester of long ago.

Rodriguez chose 90 photographs and sketches depicting the human interest side of Winchester's history, using files of the Historical Society, Winchester Star and the public library, as well as information from Chapman's "History of Winchester."

Valuable information was received from residents of the town, Rodriguez said.

"For every story told there lies beneath it five more. I've barely scratched the surface. It's only the beginning of discovering the true story of Winchester."

Booths will be set up on Town Day for distribution of the brochure.

Marathon May 25th

About 25 persons participated in Saturday's marathon clinic at Manchester Field, the first of two such clinics prior to the annual town marathon, Saturday, May 25.

Winchester Marathoners Edward F. O'Connell of 5 Oneida rd. and Mrs. Walter (Kitty) Davis of 154 Highland ave. were on hand to lend encouragement and give advice on running. The second clinic is this coming Saturday, 10 a.m., also at Manchester Field. Dr. Rudolph Oehm, who treats athletes, will be at the field.

Recreation Director Donald L. Spinney reports that many persons have picked up application blanks to participate in this second annual Winchester "mini-marathon."

Blanks are available at the office of The Winchester Star, 5 Church st., and in the office of the Recreation Department at Town Hall.

The applications should be returned to the Recreation Office or one of the Winchester Business Association stores participating in the event.

There are three categories for participants in the marathon:

18 years of age and older — seven-mile course.

13 to 17 years of age — five-mile course.

9 to 12 years of age — two-mile course.

Entry deadline is May 23.

The marathon begins at 11 a.m. on the 25th. All joggers and runners may participate.

EnKa This Weekend

The En Ka Fair will open Friday at 6 p.m. at the town hall parking lot.

Called Daisy Days, the fair will feature a parade on Saturday following flag raising rites. On Saturday the fair will run from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Other features will include games, amusement rides, opportunities to win prizes, a baked bean supper and art exhibits.

Not only will artisans show their work they will demonstrate their crafts. Among them will be painting, sculpture, pottery, porcelain, flowers, wood carving, weaving, spinning, silversmith and pewter, macrame, needlepoint and rock painting.

All events are expected to appeal to all ages.

Each organization En Ka helps is asked to participate. Four prizes will be awarded: two for the floats most in keeping with the fair theme and two for the floats most in keeping with the theme of their organization.

Among the many events planned during the EnKa weekend will be an arts and crafts exhibit at Town Hall. Coordinated by Dorothy Monson of 15 Perkins rd., the exhibit will feature displays of woodcarving, drawings, batiks, needlepoint, woodcuts, rock paintings and raised plastic bowls.

Also planned are spinning, weaving, macrame, porcelain flowers and other displays.

Memorial Day Parade May 27

Winchester's Memorial Day Sunday service will be May 26 at 10 a.m. at St. Eulalia's Church, 50 Ridge st.

All veterans, according to John T. Horn, chairman of the Memorial Day Committee, will meet in the parking lot at 9:45 a.m. and march into the church at 10.

Memorial Day activities will be observed on Monday, May 27.

Horn says there will be a parade featuring the Winchester High School and elementary school bands, the Saugus DAV Band, the Boston Firemen's Band and St. Patrick's Drill Team of Stoneham. Eastern Massachusetts champions.

Also in the parade will be members of the Winchester Police and Fire Departments, veterans from the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion, boy scouts and cub scouts from the Winchester Minute Man Council Boy Scouts of America, and military marching units from Woburn, Boston and Lowell.

On May 27 a prayer and meditation will be delivered by Rev. Bernard M. Hoy of St. Mary's Church at Calvary Cemetery at about 9:15 a.m. A prayer and meditation will also be delivered at Wildwood Cemetery by Rev. Sherrill Munn of the Second Congregational Church.

The Board of Selectmen is expected to review the parade when returning from Wildwood Cemetery at Winchester Common by the First Congregational Church crosswalk.

All veterans' graves will be decorated with American flags for Memorial Day, says Horn.

School Committee Agrees To Request Town Meeting

School Committee members agreed Monday to seek a special town meeting as soon as possible in an effort to restore $40,000 from the department's athletic budget.

That action came at the weekly meeting which also saw the committee:

—Vote to cut three clerk aides and a paraprofessional from the high school staff.

—Hear criticism from the high school principal that non-athletic activities are being cut more than athletic.

—Discuss what if anything can be done with the new high school's playing field, sinking into the abandoned river bed it's built on.

School Supt. William C. MacDonald told the committee his current budget will not allow the department to begin state-mandated sports programs for girls and funding of the swim team in September.

MacDonald said the town meeting's athletic budget cut of $40,000 might mean loss of ice time at the rink.

"I'm going to have to have some direction," he told the committee. "It's getting critical."

Chairman Stephen Parkhurst suggested transferring salaries of athletic coaches from the athletic budget to the regular school budget could help because salaries then would come under the autonomy law.

Parkhurst asked for a vote to request the Board of Selectmen include the athletic budget committee's article at the next special town meeting, expected sometime this summer.

Committeeman Richard Pharo disagreed, pointing out that town meeting has twice voted against the additional $40,000 and therefore the proper procedure would be citizen petition.

High school swim coach Vincent Palumbo, in the audience, agreed to gather the necessary signature for a special town meeting.

Committeeperson Mary Pronski said she didn't feel the town meeting athletic cut was representative of the town.

Committeeperson Catherine Fallon moved that if the special petition fails, then the committee sponsor an article calling for a special meeting.

Supt. MacDonald, meanwhile, is delaying programming of school sports for the fall. Also held up are reappointment of all athletic coaches.

SCHOOL SECRETARIES

The town meeting refusal to approve an additionally requested $21,000 to fund increases in school secretaries salaries as the result of negotiation resulted in the committee Monday trimming that part of the budget by eliminating three clerk aides and a paraprofessional at the high school.

Principal Vincent Larocco, in the audience, said the loss of the people filling these positions "will hurt the programs at the high school."

Parkhurst: "We've got to make it abundantly clear to the community that this is the type of cut we're going to have to make. We have no other choice."

Principal Larocco then commented on recent cuts in academic programs, saying "there is something basically that bothers him" about it.

He said he found the committee eager to support the athletic program but asked about cuts that affect the math club, school newspaper and other non-sports activities.

PLAYING FIELD

At the suggestion of Supt. MacDonald, the committee agreed to delay moving the backstop at the new high school playing field until a final decision is made about the field.

Kelley Hearing Set For Monday

The School Committee will hold hearings next Monday at 7:30 to discuss earlier decisions not to rehire Edward (Ted) Kelley. Winchester High School ice hockey coach, and Franz W. Meyer, German language teacher.

According to a joint report from the Winchester Education Association and the School Committee, Kelley will have an opportunity to protest his firing and present his side of the issue.

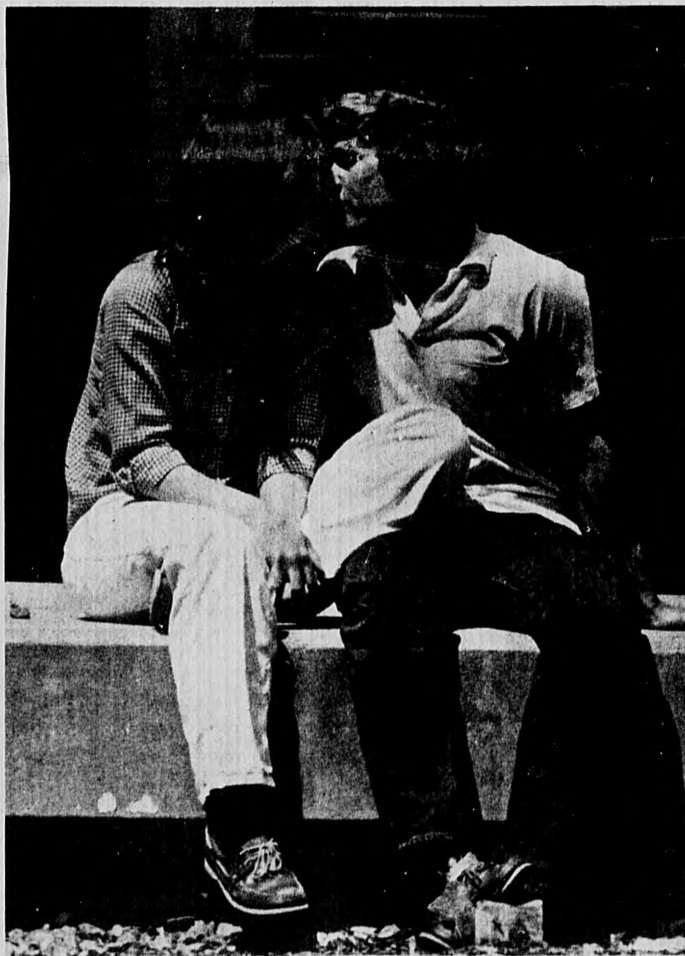

The meeting is to be held in executive session at Kelley's request, the report said. It noted that Kelley will be able to present witnesses on his behalf. After the hearing the committee will reconsider its former decision.

The Star was unable to reach Kelley for comment. Last week in an interview Kelley said he would request an open hearing with the committee.

The hearing on behalf of Meyer came as a result of a petition containing about 70 names received by the School Committee. The petition objected to Meyer not being rehired.

At Monday's open session of the School Committee, Mrs. Bess Themo of 15 Manumet rd. expressed displeasure at the committee's action toward Meyer.

Mrs. Themo described Meyer as "an excellent teacher" who has "good rapport with children who like him." Mrs. Themo said, "I don't know what's going on but I don't like it."

It's spring, and Winchester High School students have things on their minds other than books. Scene is outside high school Tuesday at noon.

Girls Little League Forms

Little League, move over. The girls want their share of the baseball action.

Judging by the turnout at a meeting of girls interested in playing baseball, they are going to get plenty of the action.

It began when Mrs. Patricia Sizemore's daughter, Cyndie, 7, was denied a berth on the Cap League because she is a girl.

Mrs. Sizemore felt sorry for her daughter and thought if she formed a girls' baseball team it would help. She had an announcement read in the schools Monday, thinking about 14 girls would show up.

At the organizational meeting Monday night there were 21 girls. Mrs. Sizemore will now be working with 14 teams instead of 14 girls.

"You can't leave them hanging," is her explanation for forming the league.

Mrs. Sizemore is doing this all on her own. In no way is her incipient organization in any way connected with Little League, Inc., of Winchester.

Mrs. Sizemore is not going to push for any affiliation with Little League, Inc., either, though she feels some kind of connection will come in time.

The national organization of little leagues, as well as its Winchester chapter, excludes girls from membership. The Winchester leadership maintains it is only following the policy of the national organization in denying berths to girls and its charter would be revoked if it did not.

President Frank Langone said Tuesday that to his knowledge only one Winchester girl applied for a spot on a Little League team this year. "And she never showed up for practice."

Mrs. Sizemore wants her league's teams to play during the week on school fields. Little League is unable to use school fields, she said. She has also asked that her teams be able to use West Side Field and Ginn Field on weekend mornings.

Tax Rate Of $66 Decided By TM

Winchester's final estimated tax rate is $66.05, an increase of $4.05 over last year and 72 cents more than originally estimated by the Finance Committee.

The tax rate was determined at the final (17th) session of the Winchester annual town meeting last Thursday following discussion of the general surplus revenue account, also known as the excess and deficiency (E&D) account, which, according to Finance Committee chairman James B. L. Lane, is made up of late tax collections and unexpended budgets.

This year's tax rate is up nearly $4 over last year's $62; the rate in 1973 was $71 and in 1972, $61.30.

Town comptroller James Costello reported there is $738,000 available in the general surplus revenue account.

Lane recommended that $310,000 be set aside for special business to come up before July 1 for new teacher contracts, for a waste disposal contract and for wage increases for library employees to meet minimum wage schedules.

He also recommended that $200,000 be transferred from general surplus revenue to apply toward budgets and lower the tax rate.

Arthur Hewis, Prec. 6, Town Meeting Member (TMM) put forth an amendment to up this amount by $50,000. TMM Michael Saraco, Prec. 6, agreed the amount should be higher than $200,000. "In previous years we always put $500,000 into E&D," said Saraco, who recommended town meeting members go with the Hewis amendment.

Costello gave a brief resume of cherry sheet analysis, outlining an increase to Winchester of $100,000 from the state or a tax rate decrease of 50 cents.

Recreation

Town meeting members approved a recreation budget of $79,897, which includes $1,600 in addition to that originally proposed by Recreation Committee member Peter K. Tully to pay for a daytime supervisor at the Palmer street tennis courts. After a voice vote on the amendment to add the $1,600 was challenged, a standing vote showed 75 in favor and 48 in opposition to the amendment.

Before the main motion was brought up for action, Park Commissioner Robert P. Joyce attempted to propose an amendment to delete $2,100 from the recreation budget. This amount, which Joyce said would pay for two bathroom attendants, he felt should come under the Park Department.

Moderator Raymond J. Kenney Jr., however would not allow Joyce to speak on the amendment saying the amount is "too close to the $1,600" just added to the budget to pay for the Palmer street supervisor.

Kenney said the only way Joyce could provide discussion was to ask for reconsideration of the amendment, which he did. It was turned down on a voice vote: 23 in favor, 104 against.

When the main motion was brought to vote, Joyce moved to have the total recreation budget tabled. He said, "I feel any amendment is in order and would like to check with the attorney general's office on this."

Hewis, who backed Joyce on his table motion and said "we're just asking for a square deal," also noted "there are enough lawyers in the auditorium" to challenge the moderator's decision.

The voice vote denied laying the motion on the table. The budget was approved at $79,877.

Other Matters

Town meeting members overturned a recommendation by the Finance Committee to cut $410 from a $9,894 budget for the Council on Aging. TMM Clarence Borggaard of Prec. 3 said, "We've just spent nine million for the kids. Why not nine thousand for us old fellows."

(Town Meeting - Page 20)

This is how long town meeting was. TMM Priscilla G. Woods of Prec. 4 began knitting this afghan when town meeting began and knitted only during sessions. She ran out of material before town meeting ran out — one hour before close of last Thursday's final session.

Negotiations Hit Impasse

Stephen R. Parkhurst, chairman of the School Committee, and Frances A. Gershwin, president of the Winchester Education Association, report that on May 8 an impasse was declared in negotiations between the Winchester Education Association and the School Committee.

Since November the association and School Committee have been negotiating on matters concerning hours, wages and conditions of employment. The parties have agreed to attempt to find a mediator to help them resolve the issues, according to Parkhurst.

WEA represents 200 of Winchester's 300 teachers.

Former Resident

Joseph Duncan MacDonald, 62, of Revere, formerly of Winchester, died unexpectedly at his home on May 7.

He was an accountant with Northeast Airlines until his retirement in 1972.

Mr. MacDonald was born in Woburn on Dec. 8, 1911. He was the son of Roderick and Christine (Beaton) MacDonald.

He was educated in the Winchester school system.

During World War II he was with the U. S. Army in the South Pacific. He rose to the rank of technical sergeant 4.

Widower of the late Katherine Hislop, he leaves a brother, Roderick MacDonald of Burlington, and a cousin, Isabel MacDonald, of Winchester; also several nieces and nephews.

Funeral mass was celebrated Friday at St. Mary's Church. Rev. Mark Sheehan officiated. Burial was in Gethsemane Cemetery, West Roxbury. Robert J. Costello Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Ruth S. Nelson

Ruth S. Nelson of 20 Sheridan cir. died Thursday after a brief illness.

Born 71 years ago in Winchester, she was the daughter of John and Emily (Peterson) Nelson.

She attended Winchester High School, graduating in 1920, and in 1922 she was graduated from Bryant & Stratton School.

For more than 50 years she was secretary to the advertising manager of National Casket Co.

She was a member of the Business and Professional Guild of the First Congregational Church and the Rebecca group.

She leaves a sister, Edith T. Grimes of Winchester.

Funeral service was held Monday in the Ripley Chapel of the First Congregational Church, where she was a member. Rev. Walter B. Davis officiated. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery. Norris Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Funeral For Mrs. Sylvester Tomorrow At 10

A concelebrated funeral mass will be held at St. Mary's Church tomorrow at 10 a.m. for Mrs. Ray Sylvester, formerly Claire Carroll, 125 Cambridge st., who died early Tuesday in her home after a lengthy illness. She was 52.

Mrs. Sylvester was the sister of Msgr. John P. Carroll, pastor of St. John's Evangelist Church, Swampscott, and director of the Catholic Youth Organization of the Archdiocese, 1950-68.

Msgr. Carroll will officiate at his sister's funeral. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery, Woburn. Lane Funeral Home is handling arrangements.

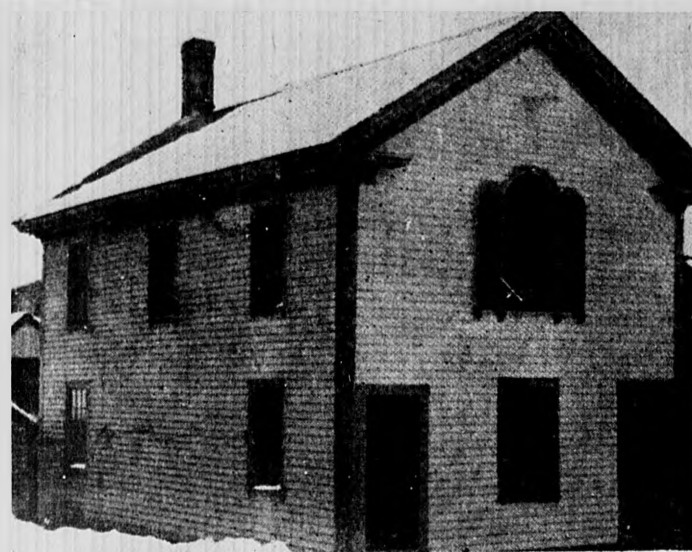

Besides her husband, Ray Sylvester, and brother, Mrs. Sylvester leaves five sons and two daughters: Ray Jr., Terrence Michael, Paul Francis, and Patricia, all of Winchester; and Robert of Plainfield; John of Melrose; and Mrs. Anthony (Carol) Albani of West Medford.

She also leaves three grandchildren and a sister, A. Pauline Carroll of Winchester.

Mrs. Sylvester was born in Everett on July 22, 1921. She was the daughter of John P. and Anna E. (Creeden) Carroll. She was a 1940 graduate of Girls' Catholic High School of the Immaculate Conception Church in Everett.

A former Everett and Medford resident, she lived in Winchester for 17 years.

She was a member of St. Mary's Church, and a member of the Mr. and Mrs. Club of St. Mary's and the St. Mary's Mothers' Club.

The Grass Hopper, above, Winchester's first firefighting apparatus, was stationed at Symmes Corner in 1835. Capable of sending water no more than 50 feet, it had limited success. Left: Original building at 7 Vine st. housing the police and fire departments in the mid-1800s.

Duplicate Bridge

By Bridgette

The first day of May saw St. Eulalia's recreation hall divided in order to accommodate the mens' and womens' pairs championships.

On the women's side of the hall, the challenge bowl, donated by Andrews Jewelers, was won by Ann Oppenheimer and Grete Enge, a half-point ahead of Lee Salani and Gay Schreiber. Above average pairs were:

Ann Oppenheimer and Grete Enge, 104½

Lee Salani and Gay Schreiber, 104

Barbara Shea and Lillian Sheridan, 98

Rose Hickey and Lillian Sheridan, 94½

Ida Finlay and Ellen Schofield, 93½

Nancy Atkinson and Pat Wassmuth, 93

Donna Redpath and Miggs Root, 89

Catherine Havan and Marcy Lynch, 84

On the mens' side, Chitel's challenge bowl was captured by Leo and Frank Gonsalves, highest-scoring club members. Winning more American contract bridge league points were Steve Linehan and Jimmy Lee with a huge game, and Max Goodman and Ed Beckman in the second spot.

Stephen Linehan and James Lee, 129½

Max Goodman and Edwin Beckman, 117

Leo and Frank Gonsalves, 111½

James Denton and Stephen Hasseltine, 108

William Duryea and Clarence Woodward, 106

Everett Knox and Robert Blackler, 105½

Robert Wassmuth and Walter Juda, 105½

Anthony Ferdinand and Charles Dyjak, 102½

Board 3 from the womens' championship poses some difficult decisions.

Put yourself in the North-South shoes and decide what your final contract would be. South would normally open 1H so North is probably the one to choose the spot after checking for Aces. It's a beautiful heart fit, but with South playing the hand, a club lead from West may be fatal. Besides GNT counts ten points more than 6H. How did the eight North-Souths playing the hand decide? Four chose slam in hearts and three in no trump, the eight bidding 4H, making six.

Now please check the East-West hands for the choice of opening lead.

At 6H by South, the Jack of clubs from West gives East-West two tricks. (And at one table, after North's bid of 4NT asking for Aces, East bid 5C, calling for a club lead.)

At 6NT by North, it's tempting to lead the Ace of clubs, but the only time 6NT was set, the safe lead of a heart did it, making North do all the work in developing his tricks and eventually losing the Ace and Queen of clubs.

In actual play, four North-Souths made six, and four were set, making five.

Mauger Honored

Margaret V. Mauger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Mauger of Warren street has been named secretary of the student government, a member of the Blue and White Guides and president of Phi Theta Kappa.

A child study major, she was honored at a recent convocation at Vermont College.

Volunteer Day May 23

Four thousand statewide volunteer agencies are taking part in a one day volunteer job fair, to be held at Hynes Civic Auditorium, 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., May 23.

For the first time in Massachusetts, guidelines are being initiated for a central office of volunteerism. The office will be designed to consolidate activities and to provide a strong identity to volunteerism and citizen participation.

Volunteer Day introduces the public to the opportunities available to volunteers. Seventy-five booths of various displays represent the wide range of areas covered.

Mrs. Francis W. Sargent, chairperson and Isabel G. Besecker, director of school volunteers for Boston, vice chairperson, are working on panel discussions and workshops to be included on that day.

Commenting on plans Mrs. Sargent said, "There is an enormous amount of work being done by an army of Massachusetts people who believe in citizen participation."

"Whether they call themselves volunteers or advocates for change, these people are working in schools, hospitals, prisons and government. They give their time freely in order to supplement staff, provide services or initiate change."

She added, "During the May 23rd program, we hope to stimulate the general public to the new roles that volunteers are playing and to encourage an even greater interest in the challenges and rewards of citizen participation."

Curtis Promoted To Colonel

Lt. Col. Lewis G. Curtis, formerly of 158 Highland ave., was advanced to the rank of full colonel in the United States Air Force recently. The pinning ceremony took place in the office of the deputy commandant of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Fort McNair, Washington, D.C.

Col. Curtis is a student at the Industrial College where selected senior military officers from all of the U.S. Armed Forces engage in a year's study on the national security aspects of the industrial resources of the nation.

One hundred fifty military officers and selected civilian representatives are chosen for attendance each year.

In another ceremony just before Christmas at the Pentagon, Curtis was awarded the first oak leaf cluster to the meritorious service medal by Maj. Gen. P. R. DeLonga, director of maintenance, engineering, and supply for the Air Force.

The medal was awarded for Curtis' outstanding performance while serving on the air staff in the Pentagon, first as avionics staff officer for C-5A aircraft, then as project officer for reconnaissance and electronic warfare systems, and finally as executive officer for DeLonga.

Prior to his tour at the Pentagon, Curtis was in Southeast Asia in 1969-70 assigned to the 388 Tactical Fighter Wing where he was avionics maintenance squadron commander. Though involved in combat operations, his squadron won the Pacific air forces outstanding maintenance trophy for 1970 and Curtis was awarded the bronze star.

Curtis, who graduated from Winchester High School in 1951 and Boston University in 1955, where he was commissioned in the Air Force, resides in Fairfax, Va., with his wife, Wendy (Wood) formerly of Herrick st., and their two daughters. Their son, Greg, is a freshman at Norwich University in Vt.

This summer Curtis and his family will be moving to Germany where he has been assigned to the headquarters staff of United States Air Forces, Europe.

Penta Graduates

Maria Penta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Penta of 22 Laurel Hill la., was graduated from Chandler School of Bosont recently.

Mrs. Penta completed the medical secretarial specialization program.

Library Has Constant Change

By Winchester
Public Library Staff

Constant change is becoming one of the key notes of the lobby at the Winchester Public Library.

From day to day, or at least week to week, one hardly knows what to expect. Very evident of late has been the exhibit of artwork made from scrap materials which represents the talents of students on all levels from the public schools in Winchester.

Mostly three dimensional, these bright and lively creations are scattered throughout the lobby and adjacent areas of the library. Imagination and quality execution are their outstanding characteristics.

Items to look for especially are the Sneaker Face, The Saloon, and the ecology mobile. Artists of all ages may find inspiration in the variety and techniques illustrated in this exciting exhibit which will be on display until the 16th of May.

A display of artwork produced at Winchester High School will be available for viewing by residents beginning June 4 and continuing for two weeks.

Another project contributing to the ever-changing scene in the main lobby of the library is the addition of a special shelf of books selected by Winchester Trails.

The books, processed by the public library, are specifically chosen for the Winchester Trails guides who work closely with school personnel in developing nature trails and areas for use with students of all ages.

Shelved separately under the Winchester Trails sign between the lobby and the Smith Room, the books may be borrowed by any card holder. They circulate in the normal manner.

The glass case in the library's main lobby has often been the scene of interesting exhibits. For the first half of this month a collection of lace will be on display. Produced primarily in Ipswich, these fine examples of needlework will be discussed by Mrs. Theodore Wood at the upcoming meeting of the Winchester Historical Society. Following this exhibit, the glass case will feature a collection of highway memorabilia (road maps) from the collection of Eric Rudd.

New Books At The Library

FICTION

Asher Barash — Pictures

From a Brewery: This translated novel introduces American readers to the work of a major writer in the Hebrew language.

John Boyd, pseud. — The Doomeday Gene: A science fiction solution to the population problem.

James Leasor — Mandarin Gold: A hard hitting novel of the China trade in the 1830's.

John Dann MacDonald — The Turquoise Lament: Is Pidge Brindle's husband trying to kill her or is she losing her mind?

Michael Wolfe — Man On A String: This is an exciting adventure-suspense novel and a knowledgeable picture of Vietnam.

NON-FICTION

Jules Archer — Mexico and the United States: An engrossing history of the conflicts, compromises and cooperation between these two nations.

Brian M. Barbour, comp. — American Transcendentalism: An anthology of criticism. This collection of critical essays views transcendentalism from many different perspectives.

Doris: The story of a disfigured deaf child.

Jacques Cousteau — Quest For Food: Includes numerous amazing deep sea photographs in brilliant colors.

John S. D. Eisenhower — Strictly Personal: Some highlights from the life of the son of a famous father.

Vivki Gerber — Find It, Sew It, Wear It! Many designs for unique and easy-to-sew clothes.

Michael Harrison — Clarence: Was He Jack The Ripper? Was His Royal Highness, the Duke of Clarence, really Jack the Ripper?

Heinrich Heine — Heinrich Heine: Selected works. An outstanding new translation of the major prose writing of this well-known lyric poet.

Joseph Jobe — Great Tapestries: The web of history from the 12th to the 20th century. Illustrated in magnificent detail.

Ann Matheson — Princess Anne: A royal girl of our time; an account of a life of a modern royal princess with many photographs.

Southern Cat, Northern Hospitality

By Pauline Dishmon

"A white fluffy male cat named Tom Cat who moved to Winchester just a week ago is missing. He is completely white, weighs 10 pounds, has one yellow eye and one blue eye, and is wearing a flea collar. He also has a bobbed tail which is four inches long."

This was the opening paragraph of a news story which appeared in The Star last Nov. 1. This week The Star received word that Tom Cat is found and well and is living in Arlington.

Word came from Mrs. Richard Hillger of 15 Calumet rd., daughter of the cat's owner, Mrs. Dorothy Kaulbach.

Since Tom's departure from the Calumet road home in late October, shortly after his arrival in Winchester from North Carolina. With Mrs. J. Kaulbach the Hillgers, friends of their children, neighbors and townwide residents, including members of the police and highway departments have been on the watch for the cat.

In addition to the news story in The Star there were advertisements in area papers including The Arlington Advocate.

Recently another ad appeared in the papers reporting a cat of Tom Cat's description was found by an Arlington couple.

Another Arlington resident Mrs. Marcia Perry saw the later ad and recalled the earlier ad. She went to the Arlington public library to go over old newspapers and found Mrs. Hillger's phone number. She called Mrs. Hillger who went to 14 Oak Hill rd., Arlington, where she found Tom, a bit thinner but still wearing his old flea collar.

Mrs. Hillger said that since Tom Cat's departure she has followed up many leads from interested persons. Each time she had doubts which proved to be right, but this time something told her she would find Tom Cat. She was right.

Happy in his new home with Mr. and Mrs. James Brown, Tom appeared to be a contented animal.

Brown, a teacher, and his wife, Phyllis, a pediatric social worker at Symmes Hospital, told Mrs. Hillger they noticed the cat sitting out under bushes in front of their new home for three days. They assumed he belonged in the neighborhood and paid him little attention. But later they noticed he seemed to be using a vacant building nearby and they began to care for him.

Mrs. Kaulbach, the cat's mistress who had been extremely upset over the loss of Tom, was happy to hear that he was still alive. Now living in Magnolia she recently celebrated her 83rd birthday the day before she visited Tom.

Seeing his contentment and noting the Brown's concern for Tom, Mrs. Kaulbach and her daughter agreed the cat should remain in his new home.

The Browns invited Mrs. Kaulbach to return to visit Tom at any time.

Where was Tom during those intervening months?

He could have journeyed back to North Carolina and then returned to Massachusetts.

He could have visited many homes before finding the Browns.

Or he could have been surviving from day to day, handout to handout and managing to keep warm only because of our mild winter, said Mrs. Hillger.

All the supposition in the world will not reveal Tom's experience.

Only Tom Cat knows what he's been through, how tough or easy it has been.

Saraco Lauded For Dedication

Board of Health Director Michael D. Saraco was honored last week for his contribution to public health in Massachusetts.

He was presented the Massachusetts Public Health Association's 1974 Paul Revere Award. Dr. Benjamin Sachs, director of community operations for the Massachusetts Department of Public Health, made the presentation at an association meeting.

The following is Dr. Sach's presentation: The Massachusetts Public Health Association is honored to present to you, Michael Saraco, the 1974 Paul Revere award. This award was created to recognize meritorious service in public health at the local level. You are the fifteenth recipient of the Paul Revere award.

You served with distinction in World War II. In China, Burma and India you fought along with Merrill's Marauder. Called back into service during the Korean War, you were later discharged with the rank of lieutenant.

Michael Saraco, not only have you been a leader in public health in your home town of Winchester, but you have also had an impact upon community health affairs across the state.

Working with your fellow health officers, in whom you have given sound leadership and guidance, you have successfully bridged the gap between local health boards and the state health department.

Your effectiveness as a member of the liaison committee of the Massachusetts Health Officers' Association and the Massachusetts Department of Public Health was enhanced by the faith and confidence in your abilities shown by both the state and your fellow health officers.

The state was aware of your special qualities and competency when it appointed you chairman of its public health task force on environmental health during the years 1970 through 1972.

Your career in public health administration developed from your interest in business and municipal fiscal affairs. While you were managing your own successful salvage business, you served on Winchester's Town Finance Committee.

As a member of this committee, you were called upon to revise a budget of the Winchester Health Department. The speedy acceptance of this budget was the catalyst that stimulated your interest in public health administration.

From your appointment as part-time health officer for the Winchester Board of Health, you developed an awareness of the broad scope of public health. Its many aspects you soon learned, which required considerable knowledge in many fields.

You responded to the challenge by working days and taking many evening courses in environmental health, public health law and administration at the University of Massachusetts and at Northeastern University.

Wherever and whenever courses or seminars in health were given, day-time or night, you were there absorbing information and new ideas. Your experience in the field and your classroom knowledge combined to make you a valuable member of the state advisory committee to the Massachusetts community colleges on public-environmental health technology.

This in turn led to your efforts on behalf of your fellow health officers to help them upgrade their knowledge and competency and to gain public recognition of their value to the community.

To this end you labored diligently for the passage of legislation to create a board of registration for certified health officers.

While serving as vice-president of the Massachusetts Health Officers Association, you were able to proudly announce its successful enactment into law. You have been a member of this board of certification for the past four years. The health officers recognized your efforts and elected you to be their president.

Statesmanship and political astuteness are but two of the traits that explain your success as a public official. You present your ideas in a forceful fashion, yet you have a sensitivity that enables you to understand the needs of others and to negotiate with them.

Recognizing that public health is in a period of transition and that there is need for specialized and highly trained staff, you are now urging the sharing of the skilled manpower among two or more communities.

Michael Saraco, you have a record of dedicated service to the health of the citizens not only of Winchester, but of the state of Massachusetts. It is a privilege to have the opportunity to present to you this token of our esteem and recognition.

McCall Students Rehearse Daily, Perform May 23

McCall Junior High School students are rehearsing daily after school for their final production, "Lights, Camera, Action," to be presented on May 23 in the McCall auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

The seventh graders have chosen a mystery-comedy, "Treasure at Bentley Inn," featuring Kurt Phinney on the piano playing the background music to "The Sting."

The eighth grade play, "The Strange Man Who Wasn't There," is a fiction comedy with sound effects from the electronic music synthesizer.

Ninth graders are preparing a skit to be performed between the two plays.

Both plays were written by Earl J. Dias, drama and music critic for the "New Bedford Standard Times" and chairman of the department of English at Southeastern University, North Dartmouth.

THE RIGHT TO CHOOSE

The whole point of competition in the American system is the right to shop around, to make a choice . . . and to switch if he wants to. That "right of choice" applies to choosing a bank as well as choosing a product . . . or choosing an elected official.

In Russia, there is one bank. No shopping around for a better interest rate, or a better loan deal . . . or a more friendly, concerned banker.

In Canada, there are 15 banks. They have 6,500 branches, but there are really only 15 choices.

In the United States, on the other hand, there are about 14,000 banks, most of them locally owned and operated independent community banks. They give you a wide choice, a chance to shop around.

We're part of a system which gives you a choice, which brings you the personal dimension in banking. And we're proud of it. Come on in and see why.

ARE YOU BEING OVERWHELMED?

Edward J. Duffy Jr.
Chairman of the Board
Suburban National Bank

In school we learn to look at ideas and information with a critical eye rather than to accept things blindly. I hope that you will put this test to what I am about to say, and to the other columns in this series. As human beings, we all need to have our statements tested and questioned.

While you are doing this I would like you to think for a moment about the way in which you form your opinions about products and services.

Perhaps you get most of your information from this newspaper, or from television, or from the radio. If you stop to think about it, the vast majority of advertisements and commercials are placed by big companies, or big stores, or big financial institutions. The reasons are obvious — only very large corporations can afford the high costs of advertising frequently on big city television or radio stations or in metropolitan newspapers.

Listen carefully to one of these commercials and then ask yourself this question: Is the advertiser really telling me something meaningful about his product or is he trying to get my attention?

For example, you and I know that the four big auto companies produce cars that are of approximately equal quality for approximately the same price. We may have our favorite model, but the fact remains that when we shop for a car we will probably do about as well with one company as with another. The big difference between the four American auto manufacturers is the way they advertise in the national media.

Fifty years ago, automobile makers were truly competitive. There were some 150 companies making cars at that time. Through the years the number dwindled to four as the other companies merged or went out of business.

It would be helpful to consider these facts about the auto industry the next time you see a commercial sponsored by one of the large banking systems in our state on a metropolitan television station. Really listen to what the commercial is saying and then remember this:

There are nearly 14,000 commercial banks in this country. Only a fraction have the resources to conduct a large scale media campaign.

The big banks like the big auto companies, are spending their advertising money for a reason. They know that the more they get their name before the public the more likely the public is to have positive feelings about them. This really has nothing to do with the bank's ability to give personal service or a good deal on loans and deposits.

You owe it to yourself when you hear these commercials to maintain a healthy skepticism. Just because a large bank or a big auto company says it is the best doesn't make it so. Yet many people are misled by advertising because they blindly accept the message or are awed by corporate bigness.

There are many excellent smaller banks in your trade area that do not advertise regularly on metropolitan television. These banks are able to offer the personal service which the big banking systems cannot, and at competitive rates. These banks are a part of the community, with their success dependent upon your success and the success of every person living in this area.

For your own sake, I invite you to look behind the glitter of expensive advertising messages and awesome size and evaluate these large banks on the basis of values that are really important to you. Make the same realistic appraisal of the community banks in your area. Then make your choice.

This is all we independent, community bankers ask — the opportunity to serve you, and to have you judge us on our merits. As firm believers in a competitive economic system, we will welcome your criticism and respect your decision.

Name Field After Marine Who Died In Vietnam War

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I understand that the town is getting ready to name the new high school field. I feel that the field should be named "Richard Bond Field." He was a Marine who died in the Vietnam War in 1966. He was a Winchester resident all his life and has just seemed to be forgotten. Let all his family and friends know that he hasn't.

Railroad Station Housing Urged

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The town meeting's recent approval in amending the zoning ordinance and paving the way for additional elderly housing on Westley street has not started to solve the maintenance-free housing shortage plaguing Winchester's lifelong resident homeowners.

I am not opposing this type of housing, but wondering when the town is going to address itself to the acute housing shortage facing its lifelong resident homeowners. There isn't a homeowner in Winchester who could sell his property and qualify under the strict entrance requirements for this type of housing.

In the past, over the objection of some of the residents in my neighborhood, I have favored the building of a limited number of condominium units in the area adjacent to the railroad station.

The most recent proposal for this area, which I felt had many built-in safeguards to protect the adjacent residential homes, was prevented from being presented to the town meeting by meaningless amendments to the zoning ordinance.

If that proposal had been allowed to be built it would have acted as a catalyst in rejuvenating the center area and be a start in fulfilling the housing needs of the lifelong citizens who are homeowners.

The proximity of this area to the center and transportation is ideal for this type of proposal and would not require the destruction of any building nor the relocation of any residents.

I strongly urge my fellow lifelong residents who want to remain residents of Winchester to support a proposal for housing in the railroad station area.

Applause Lauded To 'Earnest' Cast

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

"The Importance of Being Earnest" was a success. The high school students deserve a big hand for their hard work on the spring play.

The audience, though sparse, was extremely receptive. Nancy Lombardo added suspense by catching a falling light tree and the actors made an amazing recovery, reflecting their excellent acting abilities.

Of course the scenery added an immense boost to the play by being not only accurate, but beautiful.

Those of you who missed this hilarious play really missed an outstanding performance which will be remembered as one of the best high school plays.

Thanks For Care

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

May I take this opportunity to extend my thanks to the doctors, nurses and personnel and all others who in any way made my stay at the Winchester Hospital a pleasant one.

To the First Congregational Church of Winchester and its members, the Women's Association, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Jones and all who sent get-well wishes, I am deeply grateful.

Consider The Trees

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As I sit here writing in my Parkview apartment I look out on a dogwood tree in full bloom, a magnificent sight and quickly it comes to my mind the wellknown poem by Alfred Joyce Kilmer "Only God Can Make A Tree."

Dogwoods grow more profusely in the southern states. I traveled that country for some time. After seeing them in all their beauty it seemed a pity that many were cut down and made into shingles for the textile trade, the same as they did with apple wood and persimmon. That was done away with when plastics came on the market.

One of the finest pictures of the dogwoods in full color was made by our fellow townsman, Arthur Griffin. This was at Greenfield Hill in Connecticut and is in his latest album.

The late Dr. Daniel C. Dennett whose lovely estate was at the corner of Mt. Pleasant st. and Main street had a magnificent collection of all kinds of flowering shrubs and trees. When his flowering crab came into full bloom, he had a sign made for all that passed by to see and it read: "Only God Can Make A Tree." He was a physician whose practice extended for more than 40 years.

Alfred Joyce Kilmer was an editor. He was born in 1894 and died in 1918 on the battlefields of the first World War. His "Tree" poem made him widely known.

I came to Winchester in 1914 and for years in town meeting if there was a plan to cut down some of the big elms that were here when the first settlers came, I voted it down.

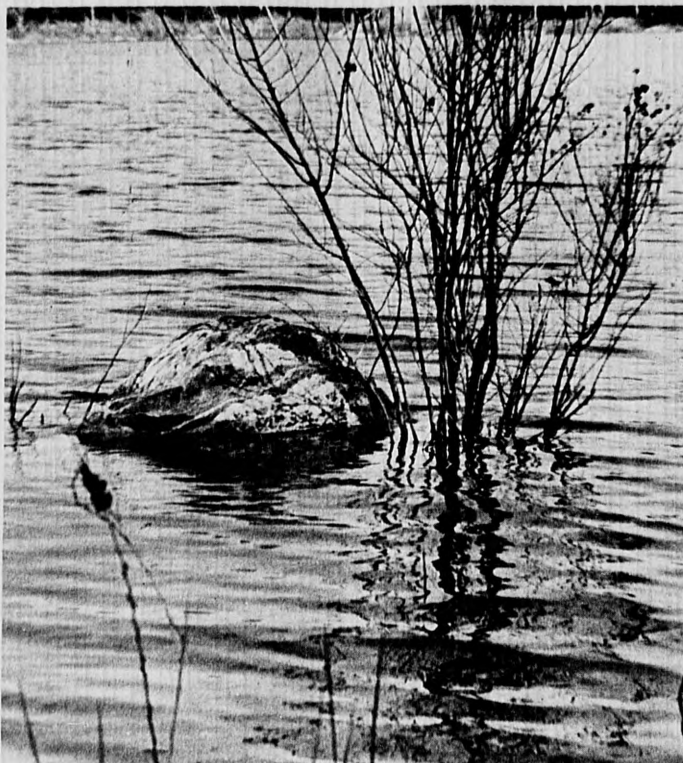

Those of us of the senior age should remember the huge elm right in the middle of Church street opposite the main office of the Winchester Trust Co. It caused many accidents and tie-ups. It was some time before the town fathers could do something about it. Not until 1928 was the axe put to it.

Letters To The Editor Kelley Firing Touches Off Protest

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We the undersigned members of the 1973-74 WHS varsity hockey team would like to make it publicly known that we support the reappointment of Mr. Kelley as hockey coach.

We as players have been involved with Mrs. Kelley for several years and feel that his qualifications far surpass those required for the post. We hope that the School Committee will take note of our support for Mr. Kelley.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

This letter is written in vigorous protest to the Winchester School Committee's decision not to rehire hockey coach Ted Kelley for "lack of performance" and for "lack of leadership."

First and foremost I find it necessary to analyze these terms "performance" and "leadership." Are these terms meant to imply that we measure coaches by their won or lost record?

If that is the case, then every school system in the Commonwealth would be hiring and firing coaches yearly. Thank goodness other communities recognize the importance of showing loyalty to their coaches even though they might lose more games than they win.

If the Winchester School Committee's decision not to rehire Ted was not based on the won and loss theory, then I personally find this decision ambiguous, deceitful and without cause. It's ambiguous because it does not clearly state why Ted was not rehired.

It was deceitful because Ted was not advised that he was attending his own dismissal meeting but was led to believe that this meeting was on budgetary items. Even criminals have the right to counsel, a defense, and a fair hearing.

It is without cause because, not only is it my opinion, but the judgment of many of Ted's coaching colleagues throughout the state that he possesses the qualities of a keen hockey mind, sound judgment and a genuine interest in this great game of hockey.

Ted was one of the founders of the Mass. State Hockey Coaches Association in 1968, along with Forbes Keith, former coach at Lexington High School, Bob Roland, Marblehead High School, George Kinnaly, formerly of Beverly High School and present coach of Peabody High School and myself. Ted has for the past six years been an active officer and is presently president. Largely through his efforts and input into our organization we now are recognized by headmasters and are widely respected by the Secondary School Principals Association. This is what I call performance.

I find this decision not to rehire Ted Kelley as hockey coach most irresponsible and hope that the Winchester School Committee will afford Ted the opportunity of an open hearing, at which time I will be pleased to attend and voice my objection to the dismissal of a very fine coach and person.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I have sent the following letter to Stephen Parkhurst, chairman, Winchester School Committee.

Dear School Committee members:

Because I know and deeply respect Mr. Kelley, I was very disappointed when I heard that the School Committee had refused to rehire him as varsity hockey coach, and I was appalled when I learned how the School Committee chose to deal with this issue before making their decision.

Before they began discussing the pros and cons of Mr. Kelley's coaching record, the School Committee should have had the integrity to notify Mr. Kelley when this session would take place, enabling him to defend himself against charges and present his side of the issues.

This would have made for an equitable presentation of the facts, and a fair decision could have been reached. As it stands now, Mr. Kelley has been dismissed unjustly.

Let me further point out that those who have been closest to Mr. Kelley during his coaching have all endorsed him as a qualified coach and a dedicated person.

Specifically, I am referring to his election by his peers as president of the Massachusetts Hockey Coaches Association, statements of support that have come from Mr. Larocco and Mr. Knowlton, and most importantly from the players themselves who have spoken out at the hockey banquets the past two years in order to express their gratitude to Mr. Kelley and also to chastise those frustrated parents whose vocal antics during the games served to embarrass the team and deteriorate morale.

In light of these facts, I feel the School Committee is obligated to grant Mr. Kelley an open hearing at its earliest convenience.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

An open letter to the School Committee and the town.

Dear Mr. Parkhurst:

As former members of Winchester High School hockey teams coached by Ted Kelley we felt it was time to speak out against the recent action of the School Committee. All of us were very upset to learn that Mr. Kelley had not been reappointed as varsity hockey coach at Winchester High.

Hockey is a popular sport today and being a coach of hockey is not an easy job. All of the people are not going to agree with the coach all of the time.

As former players we feel that we have extra insight into the job Mr. Kelley has done over the past several years. He has always worked hard to produce a team that the players, the school and the town could be proud of.

Not only has he worked hard for the team as a whole but he has poured tremendous amounts of energy into working with the team members as individuals. Several of us would not be in the jobs or colleges we are in today if it had not been for Mr. Kelley's efforts on our behalf.

We consider Ted Kelley a fine leader, a true representative of the town and most importantly a fine man. We hope the School Committee will reconsider its recent decision and reappoint Ted Kelley as varsity hockey coach at Winchester High School.

Two Buttons: 98 Cents

Talk about inflation! A girl I know was in town the other day and bought two buttons at a department store. She only needed one but she figured she would get two since they are "cheap."

Total cost: 98 cents. For two buttons! I asked her if they were silver plated. No, she said, just regular buttons. They weren't even glass. They were plastic.

Highway Supt. Robert O'Brien says the reason the new equipment authorized by town meeting last year hasn't arrived is because the manufacturer, International Harvester, has a backlog of orders. Involved are two dump trucks.

Presumably, he indicated, the town will have to wait as long for the equipment authorized by this year's town meeting. O'Brien thinks one of the trucks authorized last year will soon be here.

I had a "tour" of one of Highway's trucks last week. It's a truck used to carry workmen and equipment around to jobs such as painting lines on streets.

That truck, not scheduled for replacement until next year, is literally being held together with wire. The body has rotted so much that the men have it encased in wire to keep it from falling apart. The doors have rotted so much that they won't close properly and the driver has to go slowly around corners so the men won't fall out.

They have fallen out a couple of times, I was told. The clutch on this machine broke recently and the men had to weld it together. There's so little left to the clutch that the peddle flops almost to the floor.

And the floor! Well, it's not really a floor since there is no floor. What it is are No Parking signs planked down so the men don't fall through to the street. Keep that machine together, men. It's got to last another year.

Last week I told how angry some mothers are that their sons have been fired as delivery boys for the Sunday papers. This week I heard from a mother of one of the boys who has taken over the routes.

She is the mother of a boy who delivers the daily newspapers. The News Co. figured it would be easier all around if one boy were responsible for one route. But this mother is unhappy as well.

She says that her boy should get one morning off a week. "We would enjoy taking off on a Saturday and driving up the coast of Maine and staying overnight in a motel. The children would consider it a big treat."

"But not anymore as the boys now have a seven-day job delivering the papers... The worst part of all is that the boys are making less money now and working harder. What would be considered as part of a tip now goes toward paying for the Sunday paper that the regular daily customer receives."

The Board of Selectmen thought The Star might want to print the following letter addressed to them: "My wife and I drove through your city for the first time on Sunday, May 5."

"We believe that Winchester is one of the cleanest and most beautiful towns in America. It is the cleanest and most beautiful town we have ever seen!"

"We salute you and all the citizens of Winchester!" It was signed Harry and Doris Dee of Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Hear Ye!

The following is a list of meetings of town boards and committees taken from the Town Hall bulletin board. All meetings are usually open to the public. Unless otherwise noted here, they take place at Town Hall, 71 Mount Vernon st.

Board of Appeals is not meeting in May.

Monday, May 20
Board of Selectmen and Board of Assessors, Selectmen's meeting room, 8 p.m. for purpose of filling vacancy on Board of Assessors.

School Committee executive session, 7:30 p.m. Hearings for rehiring of ice hockey coach Ted Kelley and teacher of German F. W. Myers.

Tuesday, May 21
Charter Commission, first floor conference room, 7:30 p.m.

Thursday, May 23
Planning Board Public Hearing, 8:15 p.m. for zoning at Swanton & Washington streets; 8:30 p.m. on Carriage Hill sub-division.

Meetings posted after 8:30 a.m. Wednesday are not included.

I saw those two productions on sexual development the School Department is showing to fifth and sixth graders. I have to agree with the letter writer in last week's Star that some of the material, particularly in the sixth grade presentation, is much too mature for their understanding.

The School Department's attitude is that if material on sex and growth is over the child's head it doesn't do him any harm. But I wonder about that. Doesn't it push him to find out about these things?

Some of the material in the sixth grade presentation made me blush. I just couldn't believe this was material for elementary grade kids. Most of it would be more suitable for junior or senior high school students. It's great that the School Department wants to help children understand about their own physical growth. It's a subject I feel belongs in the schools.

But the material has to be geared to the child's maturity to deal with it, understandably an area difficult, perhaps impossible, to measure.

There were quite a few things I learned from the movies, as I'm sure most adults would.

The School Department had intended to show the films to mixed groups of boys and girls so each sex would have an understanding of the other's problems. That plan was stopped when parents objected. Viewing the films is done only with parental permission.

If you think you've seen some familiar faces back in town, you're right. The Police Department recently put back into uniform five officers who had to be let go earlier this year because of fouled up civil service lists.

I didn't have to see the face of one of the officers to know he was back. I just looked at the policeman's name on my parking ticket.

"We would have ended up in a fist fight!" is how soccer coach Arpy Von Lazar explained his reason for pulling his boys out of a game against Wellesley last weekend.

"Poor sportsmanship!" is how one parent explained Arpy's actions. "I'd like the people to know that the rest of the people involved (in youth soccer) are not the same."

What precipitated Arpy's blowup was a ruling from the referee that player Patrick Fortan had purposely fouled the Wellesley goalie.

The Winchester team, the Beacons, are younger and smaller, Arpy said, and had been abused by Wellesley throughout.

Someone else tells us Fortan had earlier committed the same foul against the goalie and had been warned. This parent wisely commented that youth sports aren't meant to be taken so seriously. When they are, whether by the participants or by their older coaches, something should be changed. You don't build character by walking off a field when you don't like something.

Von Lazar, a teacher at Tufts, was scheduled to appear on the Today show this morning from 7 - 7:30, analyzing recent events in Portugal.

He was scheduled to be interviewed by Edwin Newman on what options are available to the Portuguese, the white settlers who live in Portugal's colonies and the liberationists who live in Angola.

The town marathon a week from Saturday, May 25th, has been praised by veteran Winchester marathoner Edward O'Connell. "It's a healthy thing," Ed says.

This coming Saturday will be the second of the two clinics held prior to the marathon. Dr. Rudy Oehm will be on hand to give tips to prospective runners. "He knows what aches and pains are all about," Ed commented, adding that he knows them too. "The hard way." But so does Dr. Oehm, who returned this week from Plattsburg, N.Y., where he ran in a marathon there.

The clinic is at Manchester Field at 10 a.m. Applications for the actual marathon may be picked up at the Recreation Department office in Town Hall or at The Winchester Star, 5 Church st.

Lexington developer Robert Johnson is apparently moving ahead with his plans for 96 condominiums behind the Vinson-Owen School. He recently presented his plans to the Planning Board "informally." A formal presentation is expected shortly.

Johnson is waiting to see when the next special town meeting is scheduled. Others have been waiting to see what date Johnson asks for a special meeting so they can present articles. The circle goes round. Looks like someone better make a move.

Commission Considers Reducing TM Size

Reducing the size of town meeting, consolidating certain departments, and appointments versus elected positions were three major topics of discussion at the regular weekly meeting of the Charter Commission Tuesday night.

Town Meeting
Reducing the size of town meeting for efficiency of operation can be done by increasing the number of precincts and lowering the number of representatives within each precinct.

This idea appeared to be the unanimous opinion of commission members and several members in the audience as discussion centered on ways to make town meeting more effective in view of town meeting member absences increasing in recent years.

Commission member Vincent Carroll compared present town meetings to those of 1928.

"Today we practically have to get on our knees to get town meeting members," Carroll said, noting that in 1928 "there was competition. It used to be an honor to be a member. Today honor no longer exists. It's immaterial to some whether they attend meetings. Some attend a particular meeting only for a particular issue."

Carroll brought up another bone of contention about town meeting: the time given to speakers.

"Sometimes extension of time is based on personality," he said. "Some point of order is abused," he said, adding that "sometimes a speaker can completely lose his train of thought." Carroll said he would like to see "some change as respect to speakers' time."

Charter Commission chairman Clara Hewis said the time of a speaker is not a subject for the commission. This would be covered under the rules of order being used by town meeting, she said, pointing out that this could be put under notes for suggestion for change in by-law.

TMM Jessie R. Salter of precinct 2, during the period before intermission when those from the audience under a new rule will have an opportunity to raise questions and offer opinions at Charter Commission meetings, said she was in agreement that town meeting "is too large." It is "foolish to keep on deadwood," she said referring to those who are continually absent.

Speaking as a citizen from the audience, Finance Committee member Sally Kincaid, suggested increasing the number of signatures required by a person running for town meeting member as a possible way of keeping those who are not serious from running.

Commission members turned down this idea feeling it is hard enough to get people to run without "putting up barriers." Another means of reducing town meeting, said Mrs. Kincaid, would be to allow one vote per board, referring to ex-officio members. Commission members agreed saying that eliminating votes of ex-officio persons altogether will also be considered.

Consolidation
A second major topic of discussion was consolidating some town departments that are naturally compatible in an effort to create more efficient town government.

Some of the combinations considered were grouping the Park, Water & Sewer, Cemetery and Highway Departments; Park, Recreation and Public Buildings; creating a Building and Maintenance Department; or a Department of Public Works.

Combining Cemetery with other departments such as Public Works upset commission member Michael Saraco who indicated quality care in the cemetery may be reduced. He explained that cemetery employees would continually be pulled away from the cemetery to take care of work in other departments which may appear to be more pressing.

He said, "people get emotional when it comes to their loved ones" and the Cemetery Department should not be a part of public works. Adamant on his stand, Saraco said "I can save you all a lot of time. I won't change my mind on that."

Saraco did agree with others on the commission that public works should not be under the Board of Selectmen. The commission members appeared to be unanimous that there is a need for a Department of Public Works.

Mrs. Kincaid said she felt the Finance Committee would look kindly to consolidation not only from a manpower point of view but also budgeting.

Mrs. Kincaid reminded the commission members that town meeting voted down a Department of Public Works a few years ago, but she said she felt the mood for it was different now, particularly due to problems and responsibility of equipment maintenance.

She suggested the Charter Commission members look into the reasons why it was turned down before. Was it fear of change? Fear of losing jobs?

She pointed to Winchester as "deeply rooted in a system of patronage. It is a tradition and openly accepted by the community," she said, adding that patronage is "almost an automatic procedure in town."

Appointments-Elections

A third primary topic of discussion was certain town government positions which Hewis described as "functionary and should be appointed." Among those mentioned for appointment would be town treasurer, town clerk and assessors. These are jobs which follow procedure dictated by state law, said Hewis.

It was noted that cutting down elected positions would naturally "shorten the ballot" and also provide more qualified employees.

Saraco said he favored appointments because this "creates job pride in the office." It gives a person in the office a feeling that he can move up because his qualifications not because he is important in the "Sons of Italy, the bridge club or the Fire Auxiliary."

This led to discussion of who would have authority to make the appointments. This could be the top administrator alone, the top administrator with the approval of the selectmen, selectmen alone, or any single person or plural combination.

Commission member Robert Ericson cut off the discussion when he said, "Appointment is the way but let's reserve the who of it until we're farther along."

At one point in the discussion Carroll said he was hearing talk that the Charter Commission is "dragging" its feet. "We should accelerate," he said.

Hewis said she felt they were moving slowly too. She said, "I have in my mind a picture of what the charter should be, yet I realize what I see will not be the charter."

On this subject, Mrs. Salter said she found the meeting "active and stimulating" and felt if others in the town attended they would not feel the commission was dragging its feet.

The next Charter Commission meeting will be held May 21 in the first floor conference room of the town hall at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open to the public.

Carolyn Bailey Is Bride Of Francis R. Sylvester

The Congregational Church of Exeter, N.H., was the setting for the May 11 wedding of Carolyn Putnam Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Bailey of Hanover, N.H., to Francis R. Sylvester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Sylvester of Winchester. The Reverend Charles P. Calcagni officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a princess-style gown which she made herself of white symphony satin with a lace inset, trimmed with old-fashioned crocheted lace. Her veil, which she designed, was also trimmed with old-fashioned lace. She carried a crescent bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and yellow roses.

The matron of honor, Melissa Young, wore a yellow princess-style gown trimmed with lace. Bridesmaids, Karen and Lisa Sylvester, sisters of the bridegroom, were similarly attired in pale blue. All attendants carried bouquets of blue carnations and yellow daisies.

Ralph Sylvester, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were David Bailey, brother of the bride, and William Downes.

The reception was held at the Exeter Inn, Exeter, N.H., immediately following the ceremony. The guest book was attended by Andrea and Christina Ladany. Paul Young, husband of the matron of honor, was photographer.

The bride attended Hanover High School. She was graduated from the University of New Hampshire where she was a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Mr. Sylvester attended Austin Preparatory School in Reading. He also was graduated from the University of New Hampshire.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester took a trip to Cape Cod for their honeymoon.

Mrs. Francis R. Sylvester

Susan Swap Will Focus On Child Learning Problems

Susan Swap of Winchester will speak to the Winchester branch of the Massachusetts Association for Children with Learning Disabilities on next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Magoun Room of the Medford Public Library, 111 High Street.

The topic of the discussion will be: "Why do children with similar learning problems have such different school careers?"

Mrs. Swap will focus on temperamental differences in children and variations in parental and teacher expectations for the children's performance in school. The group will have the opportunity to explore resources and materials available at the library for Middlesex County children with learning disabilities.

She is an assistant professor at the child study department at Tufts University where she teaches courses in learning disabilities, emotional problems in young children, and consultation methods in educational settings.

She is a consultant to the Medford Public School System under the auspices of the Language Education Acceleration Program (Operation LEAP), where she helps to plan educational programs for children with learning or behavior problems.

A graduate of Radcliffe College and the University of Michigan, where she received her Ph.D. in Psychology and Education in 1971, she is particularly interested in understanding how different environments affect children with special needs.

Pfannkuchen Delicious To Master

By PK

Star Correspondent

Pfannkuchen, German version of the French Crepe, is a versatile, delicious dish to master. It takes only a little practice to gauge the right temperature in the pan and the thinness of the final product.

Crepes can be served at breakfast with butter, maple syrup or jelly. (I like them with butter and currant or grape jelly.) They can be filled with creamed chicken, ham or turkey with a dollop of sour cream for luncheons or sophisticated little dinners.

Crepes suzette, made with liquors in a buttery sauce and flamed, uses these thin pancakes. Apfelpfannkuchen, an apple-filled pancake, uses this recipe as a base also.

Ominously complex as the above sounds, the recipe is quite simple and has few ingredients. It is easy to remember, and I hope you will use and enjoy it as much as we do:

PFANNKUCHEN (CREPES)

1 cup flour

1 teaspoon salt

Water to make thin, smooth paste. (A slotted spoon is good for this)

Add 3 eggs and mix well.

(The batter should be smooth and thinner than regular pancake batter, about the consistency of heavy cream. Add water, if needed, to thin.)

Heat pan over medium high heat, adding oil, vegetable shortening, or butter generously so they won't stick. Pour in about 1/4 cup batter.

Turn pan so batter spreads out thinly in a circle. When tiny bubbles form around edges and start to turn golden brown, flip cake over and cook other side. Remove to plate.

Continue making more cakes, adding shortening when necessary. They can be stacked and kept warm in the oven until ready to serve. If used for lunch or dinner, filled with creamed mixture, heat after filling about 5 or 10 minutes in 350 F. oven.

This particular recipe has been in use for several generations at our house—handed down from a German grandmother. Most cookbooks have many variations on French crepes, some with almost no flour, most with milk.

However, after trying several, we always return to this recipe. It has withstood the test of time.

Mt. Holyoke Club Alumnae Honor 50-Year Members

The Winchester Mount Holyoke Club held its spring meeting and luncheon at the home of Mrs. Walther Weylman recently.

Mrs. Robert Oppenheimer, president, introduced representatives from other clubs in the metropolitan area who were invited guests: Mrs. David Chase, Wellesley; Mrs. Blair Perry, Lexington; Mrs. N. C. Reynolds, Andover and Mrs. Marvin Stick, Needham.

Ideas about the role of the alumnae club were shared with particular emphasis on fund raising and aid to prospective students.

Highlight of the meeting was the unanimous vote to send a gift of $1,000 to the Mount Holyoke College scholarship fund in honor of 10 members of the Winchester Club who have celebrated their golden reunion and served the college for more than 50 years.

The members are Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. Frederick Calhoun, Mrs. Charles Greene, Mrs. William Kugler, Dorothy Larned, Mrs. Howard Morrison, Ellen Riggs, Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. Martin Swanson and Mrs. Frederic Withington.

The annual picnic and white elephant auction is scheduled for June 5 at the home of Mrs. Martin Swanson.

Brine Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Brine (Diane A. Evergates) of 11 Cardinal st. are parents of their first child, a daughter, Thalia, born April 24 at the Boston Hospital for Women. Grandparents are Mrs. Theodore J. Evergates of Danielson, Conn., and the late Mr. Evergates, and Mrs. G. Stewart Brine of Winchester and the late Mr. Brine.

29th Annual Drive

Scholarship Foundation Receiving Gifts For Aid

Mrs. Roberta Levinson of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation reports several generous gifts to the foundation during the organizations recent 29th annual fund drive to secure financial assistance for Winchester students desiring to further their educations.

At the annual meeting of the Parent Faculty Association of Winchester High School, C. D. Wark Jr., outgoing PFA president, presented a check from that group to John Sexton, vice-chairman of the Scholarship Foundation. In accepting the check, Sexton said: "In the 28 years we have been in operation we have given over $300,000 to 788 people and this will help."

The Winchester Federated Women's Club, The Fortnightly, has presented its annual gift to the foundation. This organization, with less than 100 members, has supported the work of the foundation over many years.

Winchester Teachers Association president Walter Lewis presented that group's check to Mrs. Robert Ingraham, chairman of the foundation.

New this year is a gift from the Raymond J. Dickman Scholarship. This award was begun in 1973 as a tribute to the retired principal of Mystic School. Dickman was an administrator in the Winchester school system for 44 years. He served for three years at the Wadleigh Junior High, 28 years at McCall Junior High and 13 years at the Mystic School.

Mrs. Austin Broadhurst, chairman of the Scholarship Committee of the Foundation, reports a marked increase in requests for scholarship aid this year.

She suggests to residents who want to help to send their tax-deductible checks to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation in care of the Winchester Trust Company.

The second annual Winchester marathon is May 25. Applications may be picked up at the Winchester Sport Shop or The Winchester Star. All joggers and runners may participate.

Spring Music Festival At High School Sunday

A selected group of elementary students will be one of the featured vocal groups at the Winchester spring music festival to be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Winchester High School.

Proceeds from the concert will benefit the Winchester Scholarship Foundation. Tickets may be obtained by calling Mrs. Pauline Bacon, 7 Dennett rd., or Mrs. Maryanne Fairbanks, 9 Seneca rd. tickets will also be sold at the door just prior to the concert.

Madrigal Singers Present Concert

The Madrigal singers, a student-directed high school group, will present a selection of songs at the Winchester spring music festival on May 19 at the Winchester High School.

Madrigals are songs of love, nature or springtime, written for several separate voices without accompaniment. Madrigal singing was very popular in the 16 and 17 centuries, but have enjoyed a recent revival. Jeanne Wells and Tom Moore were the prime movers for formation of the group.

Burton Cogwell, of the Winchester high school music department, is advisor to the group. The Madrigal Singers have performed at several local schools and have also performed for civic and community organizations.

Current members of the group are: Karen Culver, Rebecca Downs, Valerie Hobbs, Cindy Jones, Sue Jones, Nancy Lombardo, Martha Moore, Jeanne Wells, Jeff Hobbs, John Holland, Jay Enstadi, Michael Cammarata, Tom Jones, Tom Moore, with Sarah Milburn on the recorder.

The Winchester spring music festival is sponsored by the Community School Association, with proceeds to go to the Winchester scholarship foundation.

'Sun-Where' On The Road

On Sunday at 3:30 p.m. the Winchester Drama Workshop will perform "Sun-Where '74," its original theater piece on energy in front of Agassiz House in the Radcliffe Yard (or inside the gym in case of rain.)

Demonstrating the Harvard Square Arts Festival theme of "Art in Process" the OM Theater Workshop Boston will first conduct improvisations with children from the audience; then the Winchester group will present its improvised piece; and finally adult actors will present their original children's play now running in Boston.

Next week, on May 22, the troupe goes to Parkhurst School with Mrs. Allan Rogers and Mrs. Lewis Thompson of the enrichment committee. On May 24 they will appear at Noonan School with Mrs. Edward Haddad. After performing they will lead groups of students and teachers in improvisation on the theme of energy.

Ranging from the third through the eighth grades, the cast includes John Rae, Paul Ricciardelli, Lynel Tully, Sandra Farrar, David O'Brien, Ken Herrin, Renee Vroman, Kathy Annino, David Russell, Ronald Schettino, Maria Fitzgerald, Carrie Hosmer, Brad Hobbs, and Dick Gardner. Music and sound effects are provided by David Gardner, Leah Russell and Ellen Stoddard.

The workshop is directed by Paulett Taggart of 17 Ridgefield rd.

Brad Hobbs plays an old man feeling helpless in a power shortage. He is a member of the Winchester Drama Workshop group performing in "Sun-Where '74."

Physician Will Talk On Abortion

Dr. Joseph Stanton will present a lecture and slide demonstration on the humanity of the unborn.

The talk will be held May 22 at the VFW Hall, 30 River st., at 8 p.m. The meeting is open to the public. Refreshments will be served.

During his demonstration, Stanton will show what abortions are and explain what they mean to society, to mothers and to all concerned.

He will give listeners an opportunity to ask questions and make remarks. All opinions will be welcome.

Following the demonstration and discussions, those who desire will have an opportunity to sign their names to a "calling tree" concerning pending abortion legislation.

For more information contact Mrs. Arthur Miller, 7 Verplaat ave.

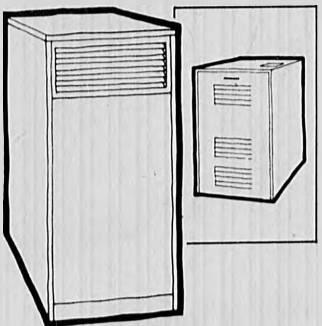

Sponsoring the evening is the Mass. Citizens for Life. Those who attend will have an opportunity to join this organization.

Winchester Hospital Blood Bank Gets Reaccreditation

The reaccreditation of the Winchester hospital blood bank by the American Association of Blood Banks for another two-year period was announced recently by the association and the blood bank's medical director.

"Through inspection and evaluation it has been determined that the level of technical and administrative performance within your blood bank meets or exceeds the standards established by this Association," stated Dr. Klaus Mayer, president of the blood banks association, in making the presentation.

Congratulating the hospital's governing board and staff, Dr. Mayer pointed out that "this recognition by the American Association of Blood Banks is assurance of your continued interest in establishing the highest quality medical care to the patients you serve."

Reaccreditation was preceded by a comprehensive questionnaire and physical inspection of the blood bank by one of the association's volunteer specialists.

The purpose of the voluntary inspection and accreditation program, sponsored by the American Association of Blood Banks, is to elevate the standards of practice within the transfusion service; to assist the blood bank director in determining whether the procedures being employed in his institution meet the established standards; and to provide consultation service, thus assuring patients of increased safety of human blood transfusion. Continuing voluntary participation in the program is outstanding evidence of the blood bank's effort to provide a superlative service to the community.

Winchester Hospital Blood Bank is one of the more than 1,500 blood banks which have been certified through this program. Mayer emphasized that "the patient who receives a transfusion of blood provided by a blood bank accredited by the American Association of Blood Banks can have full confidence that the bank has voluntarily met high standards of procedures and is continually striving to offer the best service possible."

Summer School Begins July 1

The Winchester School department announced today that the 1974 summer school programs will commence July 1 and continue for 6 weeks through August 9.

Classes this summer will be held at the Muraco and Parkhurst schools, giving students a location in both sides of town.

Winchester elementary students will have the opportunity to participate in the Winchester-Lesley college enrichment program which was inaugurated here in 1969.

This program, staffed by Winchester teachers and members of the faculty and graduate interns of Lesley college will run for full mornings during the 6 week period. It provides students with individual activities to supplement regular school work.

Other Winchester-Lesley sponsored programs include the pre-kindergarten readiness program for children who will begin kindergarten in September and an individualized remedial reading program starting for the first time this summer.

In addition to the Winchester-Lesley of ferings, the school department will provide several programs for students needing help in certain areas.

Included in this category are courses in remedial reading, developmental reading, basic primary studies, basic intermediate studies and learning disabilities.

On the secondary level, junior high students will have a chance to sign up for a general junior high studies program which will provide a review of or supplement to the regular work at this level.

High school courses will include algebra 1B, algebra 2, plane geometry and trigonometry, English 1,2,3,4, covering the four years of English required to graduate, driver training and personal typing.

Brochures describing each course are being prepared and will be distributed to all students within the next few days.

Parents interested in any of the summer school offerings can consult these brochures which also will contain registration information.

GM Gives Show At High School

General Motors presented a national assembly program, "Previews of Progress," at Winchester High School recently.

GM lecturers conducted a non-commercial show. They sought to encourage more student interest in science, engineering and related vocational careers.

They explained how sun energy can be converted into electricity. They illustrated development toward alleviating water and air pollution. They demonstrated how to move heavy loads with little effort by an "air bearing" platform.

They also conducted experiments showing modern chemistry's contribution to progress and dramatized the importance of seat belts.

Hospital CCU Residents Are Fashion Show Models

"There's a certain beauty that comes with age," according to Kathy Kelley, recreational therapist at Winchester Hospital's Continuing Care Unit.

"It's beauty that is greatly enhanced by a woman keeping herself well-groomed and attractively dressed. This does wonders for her morale and her self-respect," she continued.

Kelley organized a spring fashion show for residents of the continuing care unit using residents as models recently.

"If you're a woman and you're 65 or older and a resident of a nursing home, the latest spring fashions you see on television or in newspapers aren't apt to inspire your natural woman's instinct to dress up -- for one simple reason -- it's not easy or convenient to go out shopping," Kelly said.

She decided the solution to this problem was to bring the store to the residents rather than the residents to the store. The fashion coordinator at Sears in the Burlington Mall let Kelley choose anything she needed for the event.

This meant finding out the women's size, color and style preference. She felt fashions would also have to appeal to other members of the audience.

Anna Sanker, a former buyer for Conrad-Chandler, and a resident at the unit, is experienced in arranging fashion shows and helped Kelley coordinate the event.

A standing-room only audience watched 15 ladies model what women will be wearing this spring. Among the styles were pant suits, casual evening wear, long skirts and tops.

Fashion commentator was Mrs. Marti Hovey, a unit clerk at the hospital, whose mother was also one of the models. Music was provided by Olivia Asfour, an evening volunteer at the unit.

Escorts for the models were William DiZio, a nurse's aid at the hospital and Richard Scott, of the hospital's housekeeping staff.

Tot Finder decals may be picked up at the central or west side fire stations by Winchester residents. A decal could save a Winchester child's life.

PFA Donates To Foundation

A $250 check was recently presented to the scholarship foundation by the Winchester High school parent-faculty association at its annual meeting last week. John F. Sexton, scholarship foundation representative, received the check from Clifton E. Wheeler, PFA treasurer. Sexton expressed thanks to the group for this year's contribution and for its continued support of the scholarship foundation. Proceeds from the ski film and parent association dues made the gift possible.

D. Craig Wark, president, reported briefly on the group's activities this year which included the open house, monthly faculty teas, building tours, informal evening coffees with principal Vincent E. Larocco in parents' homes and the funds to provide paint and materials for students' art work for display in the high school building.

The slate of officers for the parent-faculty association for the year 1974-75 was presented. President, Mrs. Kilmer S. McCully; vice-president, Mrs. Paul Fitzgerald; recording secretary, Mrs. Lane McGovern; corresponding secretary, Mrs. William Kennedy; Treasurer, Clifton E. Wheeler.

Committee chairmen include ways and means, Mr. & Mrs. John J. Williams, program, Mr. & Mrs. Robert P. Bigelow; social, Mr. & Mrs. Robert L. Hamilton; publicity, Roberta F. Levinson; Nominating, Mr. & Mrs. Ernest E. Siegfried; room parents, Mr. & Mrs. Alfred L. Landry; membership, Mr. & Mrs. James A. Phillips, Jr.; enrichment, Dr. & Mrs. Max L. Goodman; telephone, Mr. & Mrs. William H. Wells; foreign student exchange, Constance Trickett; member-at-large, Dr. Kilmer S. McCully and ex-officio, Vincent E. Larocco.

Residents Appear In 'Little Prince'

Nancy von Lazar of 91 Church st. and Pauline Govoni of 16 Myopia rd. will participate in a performance of "The Little Prince" on Sunday at 3 p.m. at Medford City Hall (rear ramp entrance).

"The Little Prince" is a story written by Antoine de Saint-Exupery, French explorer and aviator who disappeared at the end of World War II. He served with the French Air Force.

The presentation on Sunday is an adaptation by Mrs. Maia Henderson of Medford in shadow play form. Using color slides, Mrs. Henderson, with the assistance of Mesdames von Lazar and Govoni and other area residents, has characters in the story in puppet form moving about as actors. Mrs. von Lazar will be the voice of the little prince and Mrs. Govoni will be a puppeteer.

Tickets may be obtained at the door.

Pursued By Sexy Sister-In-Law

DEAR DENTON: What would you recommend that I do with a sexy sister-in-law who wants me? Her sister is my wife and this creates all kinds of problems. I'm afraid she has begun to notice what is going on. Don't tell me to tell her to get lost. It won't work. I've tried that and she comes back for more.

BROTHER-IN-LAW

DEAR BROTHER-IN-LAW: I read between the lines this is an affair already under way. Right? So what do you do? If she wants to break up your marriage, she may not stop until the ultimate shelling down. But give it a try by telling her you both have an obligation to her sister and your wife. Tell her it's been fun and you want her friendship but you also want your wife. Then say: "Come on, Sis, let's cool it, please." I expect she will. If not, ask your wife for help BEFORE she gets the facts herself.

DEAR DENTON: I'm a traveling salesman selling women's apparel to leading retail outlets. I'm married (happily) with two children and no real desire to play. Often on the road I take women buyers out for a drink, lunch or sometimes to dinner. Now and then one lets me know she'd also like to stay over until breakfast. What should I do? I'm afraid if I don't occasionally show interest they might drop my lines.

SALESMAN: If you've been around the circuit long, you know that many women buyers enjoy attention without going all the way. Those who do go the limit soon get a bad name. Shower all of them with attention. Make them feel attractive and desirable, even the ugly ones. But also talk about your wife and kids. Show pictures, tell human interest stories about them. She'll get the drift. You'll be safe and I bet you won't lose any orders.

Voter Information

Jury Selection, Vote Pairing

A concerned citizen called the League of Women Voters' voter information phone to say that her congressman was out of town the day an important vote was taken but that he told her his voice was heard, nevertheless, by pairing his vote. "What did he mean by pairing?" asked the caller.

When a legislator wants to vote on a bill but cannot be present, he will sometimes call a colleague taking an opposite position and ask him to refrain from voting. Thus they form a "pair" with each on record but with zero net result in the vote. The pairs are recorded in the roll call but only to specify which way each man stood on the issue.

Rawding Is Elected President

James Irving Rawding of Hutchinson road, Winchester, has been elected president of the Baptist Homes of Massachusetts, at the 83rd annual dinner event held in the Temple Baptist Church building of Boston.

Rawding, a Baptist lay leader, will head the 83 year old Home on Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill, and the new residence & retirement center on Lake street, Kingston. Rawding is a member and past chairman of the Finance committee of the First Baptist Church, where he has been a member 17 years. He is a past director, vice president and president of the Boston Baptist Social Union and currently serving as trustee. He is also a corporation member of the New England Baptist Hospital.

At the Baptist Home, he has served as a trustee, chairman of the development committee which managed the building of the new facility at Kingston, and a member of the personnel committee.

He is president and treasurer of the Watson mailing service of Everett, a post he took over in 1967. Earlier, he was an executive and director of the Gray Line Sightseeing Companies International with headquarters in Boston.

Mr. Rawding is president of the Mail Advertising Society of America and a member of its board of directors, president-treasurer of Mail Communications, Inc.; owner of the Rawding Distributing Company and a trustee of the Rawding, Romano, Stahlman Realty Trust. He is also a member of the Rotary club of Boston and the Winchester Boat Club.

He is a graduate of Arlington High School and received his B.A. degree from State University of New York, class of 1952.

He is married to the former Dolores Victoria Pfanz of New Hyde Park, Long Island, N.Y. The couple has two children, Linda Victoria and James Irving.

This question is one of the many now being received by the League of Women Voters' voter information phone. Individuals with any questions on government may call the VIP phone Monday through Friday between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.

"I would like to serve on a jury, but am never selected? What are the requirements and how are jurors chosen," asked a caller.

A league volunteer told him that laws vary among states. In Massachusetts each city or town selects a list of persons eligible for jury duty from among names drawn from census lists. All qualified to vote whether registered or not may be prospective jurors.

There are a number of statutory exemptions such as elected state officials, clerks of the court and judges. Formerly women with children under 16 were also exempted. As a result of a new law passed in 1973, however, persons with children under 15 may choose not to serve on juries.

In addition "undue hardship and employment that constitutes a public necessity" allows many to excuse themselves from jury duty. A juror gets an average of $17 a day depending upon the type of case and the kind of jury and the ordinary basic term of service in one month, although it can vary from one day to longer than the month.

"Do any of my taxes go for unemployment compensation?" asked one confused taxpayer calling the League of Women Voters.

"No," he was told. Unemployment benefits are financed solely by employers. An employer pays a "head" tax on each employee into the unemployment fund. The amount each employer pays varies according to the number of unemployed in the state and the employer's own personnel turnover.

Therefore, if there is a great deal of unemployment in the state draining the fund, each employer's tax is increased to meet the increased need. In addition, an employer who hires and fires a great deal will have his unemployment tax increased.

The program originally called for employer-employee contributions but since 1938 employers are the sole contributors. Benefits are currently allowed for a 39-week maximum if the applicant is eligible. Questions concerning eligibility can be answered by the local Massachusetts unemployment office.

"What are the grounds for divorce in Massachusetts?" asked a distraught caller.

A league volunteer told the caller that there are seven statutory grounds for divorce available to a woman and six to a man. These are adultery, impotency, desertion, gross and confirmed intoxication, cruel and abusive treatment, prison sentence of five years or more, non-support (available only to women).

The legislature is currently considering more than 30 bills relating to changes in the divorce laws. No-fault divorce is one option that is under discussion.

In this case, it is not necessary to prove blame and irrespective of blame, a divorce may be granted if both parties agree to it.

A disturbed parent called the League of Women Voters Information Phone to find out if he had any right to see his child's school records.

A league volunteer staffing the phone told him that he did have such a right. Chapter 785 of the Acts of 1973 states that "each school committee shall at the request of a parent or guardian of a pupil or at the request of a pupil eighteen years of age or older allow such parent, guardian or pupil to inspect academic, scholastic or any other records concerning such pupil which are kept or are required to be kept."

A report, by the state Board of Education detailing complete guidelines is due around May 1.

The voter information telephone number is 357-5880.

Sen. Bullock:

Harvard Subway Expansion Will Benefit Winchester

By Arthur MacDonnell

Sen. John W. Bullock (D-Arlington) who represents Winchester in the state Senate feels the community will benefit from the proposed expansion of the Harvard Square subway line through Arlington.

He said $2 million was authorized last year for planning and design work for the Harvard-Arlington subway line. The line, Bullock feels, will ultimately be approved.

The senator envisions its terminating point somewhere along Rte. 128. He feels it should end somewhere near the Burlington Mall, pointing out that location is at the apex of busy Rte. 3 and the heavy north-south traffic along Rte. 128.

A subway connecting with Boston would alleviate much of the traffic along Rte. 3, Sen. Bullock said during a recent interview with The Star. The key to a successful subway line in this area is parking, demonstrated in Quincy. That new subway line through Quincy is "very close to running in the black," Bullock said.

"Patronage on the Quincy line is 30 percent above the projections."

Bullock feels Winchester residents would drive to one of the two planned stations in Arlington — in the center or in Arlington Heights — or to a possible station on Johnson Road in Lexington, just as Arlington residents now drive to Winchester to use the B & M line.

"We have to understand that if we are serious about the environment that one of the major things is to get cars off the road. We have to make the alternative attractive—fast, comfortable."

Sen. Bullock realizes that commuter trains will never pay for themselves.

As for the Winchester B & M lines, Bullock feels the MBTA, the parent corporation, might consider another Boston terminal point. "It might be better to drop the commuters off somewhere else." As an alternative to the North Station terminal, he suggests somewhere along the Red Line might be worth thinking about.

Though Sen. Bullock feels Gov. Sargent's general reorganization plan for transportation will fail this year in the legislature, he thinks additional capital outlay money for railroads will be voted.

Last year, $35 million was voted. This year the Committee on Transportation, of which Bullock is a member, is recommending $40 million. More money is needed, Bullock said, to upgrade the railroad beds and equipment.

Some of the stations, he points out (one of them at Winchester's Cross street), are in bleak shape.

HANDICAPPED

Since Bullock is handicapped it is natural that the legislative leadership should choose him to serve on committees dealing with handicapped affairs.

A new state law requires that new public buildings or buildings undergoing extensive renovation to be receive state aid must be accessible to the handicapped.

Bullock is Senate chairman of the Special Commission on the Needs of the Handicapped which approves all public building plans to see that they comply with the state law and sets priorities on construction.

For example, approval was given plans for renovation of an Arlington junior high school which provided only partial accessibility. Reason for this, according to Bullock, was that to make the entire building accessible to the handicapped would have been too expensive.

The design of the renovation in Arlington provided accessibility for vital areas of the building — such as the library and cafeteria.

This is the common sense approach to handicapped affairs that Sen. Bullock has taken. He cites an example where an architect designing a dormitory of a state school earmarked $300,000 for an elevator and a bath for six paraplegic students.

"We need so much," Bullock. "If we waste money we would hurt the handicapped." The architectural commission went over the plans and came up with a design for a smaller elevator that resulted in a saving of about $250,000.

Bullock is attempting to get other state agencies involved in planning for the handicapped so that ramps and special toilet facilities may be built. "It's not reasonable or fair to expect them to put ramps on old buildings," he says.

BANKS

Sen. Bullock feels the legislature needs more information before making a decision

HALL RENTAL

this session on pending bills to change the distance between central and branch banks. The present law limiting banks' branches to locations within counties isn't logical, Bullock says, because the county lines are so illogically drawn.

But to allow banks to establish branches over county lines 15 or 25 miles from the central banks would mean the large Boston banks would eventually monopolize the banking industry in eastern Massachusetts, Bullock feels.

ENERGY BILL

A piece of legislation Bullock recently filed has provoked considerable comment. It would give the state ownership of all energy sources. The constitutional officers would be the board of directors overseeing these energy sources.

"It's unusual," says Bullock, "but I don't think anything prohibits it." His intention is to control the development of off-shore oil. Bullock is fairly open on where the state should go from there, once it owns the rights to off-shore oil. It could ask private enterprise to develop the resources. It might want to develop the oil itself. It might desire development on a royalty basis.

"My gut reaction is: Keep control of it." If there is a steady reasonable supply of off-shore oil controlled by the state, Bullock says, there would be many benefits to Massachusetts: jobs would be created, manufacturing in Massachusetts would become competitive with other states, there would be reasonable cost of electricity, gasoline and home heating oil and money could be set aside for research to develop other sources of power.

"If we control it we can protect the environment, which may or may not be done with private companies."

Allied To Clear Ponds Of Weeds

Allied Biological Control Corp. of Wellsley has been selected by the Massachusetts Department of Public Health to clear aquatic weeds and algae from 19 great ponds.

The program is carried out each year by the department. Mario Boschetti, environmental bio-engineer for Public Health, heads the project. The state pays 75 percent and local governments 25 percent.

Included in this year's program are Wedge and Winter Ponds in Winchester.

Students Should Apply Now For Science Projects

Francis X. Finigan, director of science of the Winchester public schools, reports the National Science Foundation has released funds for research and study programs in science and mathematics for high ability secondary school students during the summer of 1974.

He pointed out that more than 2,650 young people will participate in the student science training projects this summer.

The projects being conducted by various colleges throughout the country range from the geological research in arctic conditions to the study of wildlife biology. They include college-level instruction and investigative laboratory work. The foundation seeks to stimulate the students' scholarly development and encourage further development of similar programs.

Admission will be determined by the sponsoring institutions, by the National Science Foundation. Selection will be based upon scholastic ability, science motivation and the completion of specified high school courses in science and mathematics. Because of the limited number of appointment available, strong preference will be given to students in the 11th grade (junior year of high school).

Finigan suggests qualified Winchester students contact him at the science office in the high school for further information.

Winchester students who attended institutions last summer include Marjorie Stow, 8 North Gateway, who took part in the science program of the Thacher School at Ojai, Cal., and Janeen Roehr, 12 Thronberry rd., who took part in the chemistry program at California State University at San Diego.

With this Account, you don't have to come to the Bank to make a withdrawal -- to pay bills or do other things generally done with money-orders or checks. You simply write a draft (check) and it's done -- wherever you are; at home, in a store, or anywhere.

PLUS... your money earns 5 percent a year interest for you in this Account -- and we add this interest to your Account monthly.

We've wanted to have the great convenience of this service for the people of our communities for a long, long time -- and NOW you can have it! The things you've likely been accustomed to doing with some type of bill-paying account, you can now do with this Arlington Five N.O.W. account. Each draft (check) you write is 15¢, but not until you write it. There is no monthly service charge. On the contrary, we pay you 5 percent a year interest, compounded monthly, but with the added convenience of being able to write what we call drafts (like checks or money-orders whenever you want.)

To complete this convenience, we mail you every month a simple Statement showing all your deposits to this Account; all the interest they've earned for you; a listing of your paid drafts (checks); and return the paid drafts for your personal records.

As always, you continue to use your Regular Savings Account and any other Accounts you have, building them up as fast as you wish with deposits and our monthly compounding of interest. Any and all such Accounts are entirely separate from our handy N.O.W. Account.

Town Meeting Absences

The following article gives the number of sessions town meeting members missed from the just-concluded annual town meeting.

Fifteen is the maximum number of sessions a member could have missed. The figure in front of a member's name indicates the number of meetings he missed.

Since last published in The Star, there have been two additional sessions. May 6, 1974 were present and 31 absent. On May 9 there were 165 present and 62 absent. Absences for those two sessions are in the 15 figure.

"R" after a member's name indicates he resigned some time during the annual meeting. An "N" after a member's name indicates he was appointed a new member of the town meeting during the annual session.

Town To Receive $299,601 From Revenue Sharing

Winchester will receive $299,601 in general revenue sharing funds from the Department of Treasury.

The funds cover July 1, 1974 to June 30, 1975.

Announcement came from Cong. Torbert H. Macdonald, representing Winchester. Macdonald indicates the figure represents information on allocations supplied to him by Graham W. Watt, director of the Office of Revenue Sharing.

WEA Council Endorses School Athletic Budget

The Winchester Education Association Representative Council unanimously voted to transmit their feelings concerning the School Department athletic budget to the School Committee and superintendent.

This week the council endorsed the total proposed for the School Department athletic budget especially the addition of some girls' interscholastic sports at the junior high school level.

This was seen by the group as a step towards compliance with Chapter 622 which provides for equalization and prohibits discrimination in education.

'Oliver!' Stars

There were several names inadvertently dropped from last week's "Oliver!" review in The Star.

In the review by Rande Martin, the following sentence was left out: Donna Sennu did some fine acting as Nancy's friend, Bet. Joe Piantadosi played a somewhat distracted Brownlow, and Eric Mielke was a vicious, slightly wooden Bill Sykes.

Military Chaplain Speaks To Winchester Rotarians

Rev. Earl Haywood, a military chaplain, was guest speaker to the Winchester Rotary Club recently.

Rev. Haywood holds the rank of colonel in the U.S. Army Reserve and is a commanding officer who supervises various chaplains assigned to the New England District.

In his talk Haywood presented pictures putting in historical perspective the continuing role of the military chaplain.

He pointed out that the commitment to a chaplain's role is not an indication that the chaplain is part of the military industrial complex. Rather, he said, his commitment is a statement of his interest in the continuation of a tradition that should always be foremost in the minds and hearts of those in the ministry: "to be where the people are in order to serve their spiritual need."

Haywood suggested that young men and women in the military often need spiritual counseling more than their friends back home. As they face separation from home and family they are required to make important decisions that involve "their very lives."

Haywood is a member of the Natick Rotary Club and pastor of the Fisk Memorial United Methodist Church in Natick.

Max-Ed Program

Students Learn In Three Hospital Departments

One hundred students attending Winchester High School are involved in the Max Ed program this year.

Coordinated through the Winchester High School guidance department under the direction of Diane Boettcher, the program gives upper classmen an opportunity to become involved in a community job-related situation of their choice.

The choice aspect is important in that it increases a student's opportunity to develop alternative patterns for learning and to assume responsibility for unscheduled time.

Max Ed courses, taken for one semester and worth up to 2 1/2 credits, are taking students into Winchester Hospital, the Unitarian Cooperative Nursery School, the Fire and Police Departments, Stoneham Zoo and a travel agency.

The courses have students working in ecology programs, with the League of Women Voters, as elementary school aides, florist assistants, exploring the Winchester Public Library and working with the elderly.

According to the Max Ed policies and procedures a course is worth 2 1/2 credits only if it may be substituted for a regular school course. Only seniors may take a 2 1/2 credit Max Ed course instead of a regular course.

Sophomore and juniors may elect Max Ed courses for credit. The Max Ed course must be taken in addition to the regular program of five courses plus physical education.

When and if space is limited in a Max Ed course, seniors receive preference.

According to Ms. Boettcher students are required to fill out a monthly data sheet. These sheets, signed by the student and his supervisor, give a progress report leading up to the pass-fail grade. Failure will be based on violation of any of the rules of the program such as not attending course classes.

Mrs. Phyllis R. Hollinshead, director of volunteer services, coordinates the program for Winchester Hospital. She has Max-Ed volunteers placed in three hospital departments: laboratory, pharmacy and physical therapy at the continuing care unit.

A Max Ed student attends an orientation of Winchester Hospital before starting the regular assignment. A minimum of three hours a week, 60 hours a semester, is required.

In the laboratory last semester, Gloria Gatteneri and Julie Ulwick worked twice a week and learned routine tests. They gained experience in the lab and in lab procedures on nursing units. This semester's students are Donna Crisafi and Chip Vickroy.

The director of pharmacy at the hospital is explaining therapeutic effects of drugs and educational opportunities in a pharmacy to Anne Kemple and Jane Owens who are learning first hand workings of a hospital pharmacy.

Cindy Allard, who works twice a week from 9 to 11, is performing simple physical therapy tasks for patients. Participant in the physical therapy program last semester was Donna Nicholson.

Mrs. Winn Meets With Top Leaders To Aid Handicapped

Maureen Winn of 10 West Chardon rd., accompanied by Barbara Favout of 246 Ridge st., has returned from Washington, D. C., where she participated in four days of special meetings to advance opportunities for the nation's handicapped.

Mrs. Winn, member of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, met with Pete Chesney, director of the Federal Aviation Association, where she discussed new guidelines for transporting disabled persons in commercial airlines.

She met with Rep. Wilbur Mills who is legal counsel of the House Ways and Means Committee. They discussed HR 5151, an amendment on Social Security benefits to handicapped, which was drafted by Mrs. Winn and Cong. Torbert Macdonald. Basically the amendment provides benefits for handicapped who have not attained certain hours of credits.

Mills told Mrs. Winn that tax reform and health proposals are priority now, but he expects some positive action next year. Following their discussion, Mills told Mrs. Winn that the subject was "not such a ghost" after getting information from her.

Mrs. Winn also met with Cong. Macdonald and Jim Young, Mass. Transit Administration, a part of the Dept. of Transportation. Her talk with Young focused on demonstration grant money for the elderly and handicapped through the Dept. of Transportation.

During the visit the women saw actress Helen Hayes and heard Vice-President Gerald Ford who gave what Mrs. Winn describes as a "good assessment of what's being done for the handicapped and what might be done 'without promises'."

A highlight of the meeting was a gathering of handicapped group leaders from across the nation and their formation of a National Coalition for the Physically Disabled.

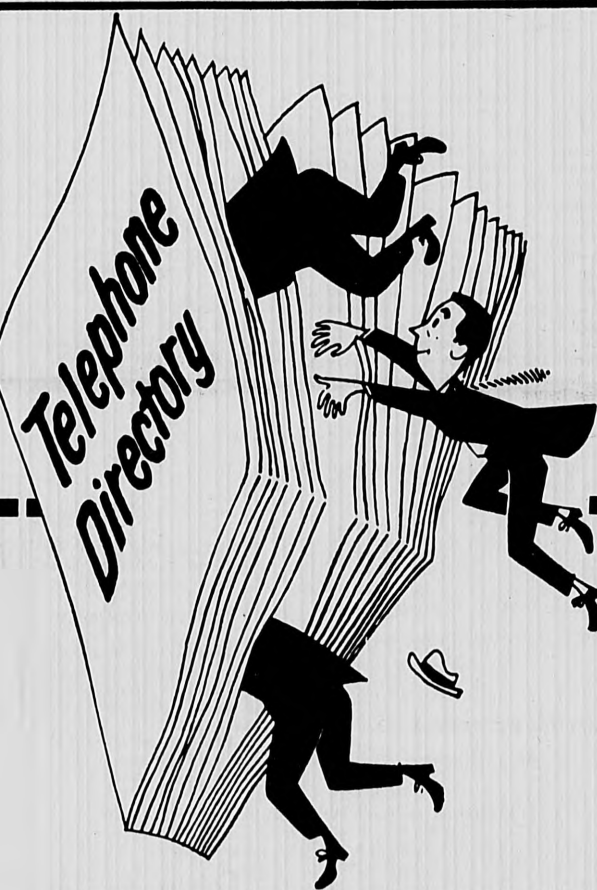

"We're getting audible and visible," said Mrs. Winn.

People Vs. Handguns Forms

The formation of People Vs. Handguns, a non-profit citizen's group dedicated to handgun control, was announced recently.

Founders of People Vs. Handguns, Middlesex County Sheriff John J. Buckley, Peter D. Nichols of Boston, Josiah Spaulding of Manchester and Mrs. Janet Wohlberg of Wayland, said the group is being established to coordinate the efforts of many citizens interested in curbing the senseless violence produced by the large number of handguns present in our society.

People Vs. Handguns, which will be located at 3 Joy street in Boston, will focus on public education regarding the issue of handgun control.

The group will function as a clearing house for information on handgun control and work for meaningful handgun control legislation. One such effort will be working to put the question of eliminating the private possession of handguns by all but military and law enforcement personnel on the state ballot via an initiative petition.

The group will also establish various public education programs such as a speakers bureau, a media campaign and seminars on the issue of handgun control.

People Vs. Handguns will initially embark on a membership and fund raising drive aimed at getting broad-based support from people throughout the state who are interested in halting the growing number of handgun deaths and accidents in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Wohlberg, the widow of Dr. Gerald Wohlberg, who was shot and killed by a patient with a handgun at the Boston State Hospital late last year, said, "Judging from the large number of sympathetic letters I have received, we will find many, many people willing to join and assist us."

Sheriff Buckley observed, "This is the first time in Massachusetts an effort has been made to organize citizens who favor handgun control. In the past the only voice heard has been that of the Sportsmen Clubs and the National Rifle Association."

People Vs. Handguns will coordinate the volunteer effort to collect the necessary 60,000 signatures on the handgun petition between September and December of this year to qualify the petition to appear on the state ballot in 1976.

"We already have over 700 people, who have contacted us and are willing to help," said Nichols. "We are interested in saving lives and urge others who feel the same way to join us."

Mrs. Keating Earns 500-Hour Award

Alice Keating of Lake Street will receive a 500 hour volunteer pin June 6 at the New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn.

During the past two years, she has worked on Monday and Thursday in the hospital gift shop and assisting in admitting patients.

"I love the work," she says, "I love people and working with people and my association with the volunteer group here at the hospital is more than gratifying."

Vice-president of the volunteer group, she stresses, "The volunteers are challenged to find out where they can be helpful and to enjoy what they are doing. All of our volunteers are dedicated people."

The former Alice Brine, she is a graduate of Winchester High School and received her R.N. degree from the Winchester Hospital School of Nursing. She worked 18 years for New England Telephone Company in Boston in the X-ray department.

After completing a course at Harvard Medical School, who was named Chief of the X-ray Department of the company, a post she held for many years.

A life-long resident of Winchester, she is a member of the Guild of the Infant Saviour, the Winchester Home and Garden Club and St. Mary's parish.

Her husband, Atty. Richard E. Keating passed away in 1964. Before his death, they maintained a home at Hillsborough, NH, where they raised Morgan horses, ponies and dogs. In N.H. she was president of "The Benevolent Society" which makes cancer dressings and the Bird and Garden Club.

Mrs. Keating's hobbies include needlecraft and the organ.

She has traveled in the U.S., Europe and the West Indies.

Emergency Study Of Gun Control LWV Proposal

Tuesday the Massachusetts League of Women Voters will hold state council at the Sheraton Yankee Drummer Inn, Auburn.

More than 250 delegates from 110 local leagues are expected, according to Winchester LWV member Mrs. Agnes Aiken.

Representing Winchester will be Mrs. Richard Thuma of 2 Allen rd. and Mrs. Raymond Simpson of 135 Forest st.

A proposal for the league to adopt an emergency study of gun control will be made. There will be a discussion of the results of the three-year study of the administration of justice and the one-year study of transportation in Massachusetts.

Delegates will also hear an up-to-date report on the progress and success of legislation of special significance to the league.

MacDonald Birth

Mr. and Mrs. James J. MacDonald Jr. of Billerica are parents of a son, James Jay, born in Nashua, N.H., on May 9. He has two sisters, Nancy and Dianne. Grandparents are Mrs. James J. MacDonald Sr. of Winchester and Mrs. Charles Demers of Nashua.

Auxiliary Social

The Aberjona Ladies' Auxiliary No. 3719, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold its monthly social at the post quarters on River street, May 20 at 8 p.m.

Chairman is Isabelle Stewart. Public may attend. Refreshments will be served.

Buckley Feels Public Favors Handgun Ban

"We now must put the issue of handgun control to the voters," reported Middlesex County Sheriff John J. Buckley in response to the recent gun control activity in the Massachusetts legislature.

The House and Senate by a large vote followed the adverse recommendations of the Committee on Public Safety and killed several bills, most notably the Packman and Harrington bills.

Sen. Jack Backman's (D-Brookline) bill, co-sponsored by Sheriff Buckley and Rep. Peter Harrington (D-Newton), would have outlawed all handguns except for the military, law enforcement officials, pistol clubs, and business men who showed the need for guns.

Harrington's bill would have made mandatory registration of all handguns.

Sheriff Buckley believes the public will overwhelmingly support a ban on the use of handguns. The sheriff bases his feelings in part by the strong support People vs. Handguns has received from over 1,000 citizens. People vs. Handguns, a citizens' organization based at 3 Joy st., Boston, continues to look for volunteers.

The organization focuses on public education related to the handgun issue and acts as a clearing house for handgun control information. It also will be working for handgun legislation and to put the question of eliminating the private possession of handguns by all but the military and law enforcement personnel on the 1976 state ballot via an initiative petition.

Buckley sees the involvement of the citizens as critical. "People are disgusted with the present domestic arms race," he said. This is the age of the little people. No one thought Ralph Nader could take on General Motors and bring victory for the consumers."

The sheriff cited the key role two Washington Post reporters, Woodward and Bernstein, played in uncovering the Watergate scandals.

Citizen participation, reflects Buckley is nothing new. "In ancient Greece," he said, "citizens took two oaths—one to obey the law and another to make one's community just a bit better during one's lifetime."

"In fact, the ancient Greeks used the word 'idiot' which referred to 'one who only took care of himself.' Today we need fewer 'idiots.'"

Buckley said that the recent decision by the National Rifle Association to declare itself a lobbyist group reflects a growing concern by the NRA over People vs. Handguns and similar handgun control organizations.

Reports Buckley, "For months I have contended the NRA should declare itself as a lobbyist group. The NRA has reaped the tax benefits for a 'non-lobbyist' group for years. Yet, we all know the NRA has made its presence strongly felt on Capitol Hill."

Buckley, one of the founders of People vs. Handguns, feels the NRA for the first time faces stiff citizen opposition at both the state and federal levels.

"People vs. Handguns in Massachusetts, Handgun Alert in Rhode Island and the Committee for Handgun Control in Illinois are gaining great momentum. They have struck a chord with the public."

TOT FINDER DECALS may be picked up at the Central and West Side fire stations. Their purpose is to help firefighters locate children in event of fire and reduce child fire casualties.

Elderly Getting Store Discounts

With the approval of the Winchester Business Association, six volunteers are approaching merchants to secure discounts for senior citizens.

Mrs. William Pearce, Mrs. William Kugler, Marjorie Blomquist, Mrs. R. J. Dickman, Mrs. Lawrence Capodilupo and Mrs. Arthur Sullivan are helping the town's older citizens realize a benefit from their seniority by requesting Winchester businessmen to give discounts for all senior citizens.

Senior citizens may pick up identification cards at the Council On Aging office in the New Lincoln School (Old McCall) from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Those unable to get to the office may submit a written request for an ID card (include a stamped, self-addressed envelope) to the council at 161 Mystic Valley pkwy.

A list of merchants offering discounts will be published in the next senior citizen newsletter and The Winchester Star.

Annual Marathon

The second annual Winchester marathon is May 25. Applications may be picked up at the Winchester Sport Shop or The Winchester Star. All joggers and runners may participate.

NOW OPEN PRACTICE TENNIS COURTS

WHO NEEDS TENNIS MACHINES?

Instructors Available

$10 Per Hour (including Court Time). Private or Group of up to 3 people. (With 3 people it costs only 3.35 per person.)

WHO NEEDS MACHINES?

We think just about everyone who takes tennis seriously! That's why we have a place to practice and develop your tennis game. Six non-regulation size tennis courts with a ball throwing machine on one side of the net and a tennis player on the other side.

*(Three more courts opening in July.) The machines have barrels that oscillate and there are settings for different speeds and frequency of release. A great place to practice the shot (backhand, forehand, etc.) that's letting you down on the court.

(COURTS MAY BE SHARED)

$5.00 per hour, $2.50 per 1-2 Hr. Located at 1165 Mass. Ave. in Arlington, (Behind the Citgo Gas Station) on the top three floors of the historical Schwamb Mill Building, 2nd door on right under the archway. Our entrance sign on the door. (If you're coming from Summer St., take Forest St. behind the MDC Ice Rink.)

Sports

Sachem Nine Splits Pair

Coach Bill Colella's Sachem nine basketball squad of Winchester High School had only two games over the past week due to inclement weather. They won quite handily over the Belmont Marauders at Manchester Field.

Monday afternoon they played at Reading. The Reading Rockets, tied for first place, were winners, 5-2.

A long home run by Hunt of Reading which carried over 400 feet drove in the three runs necessary to put the game out of reach.

Although the Winchester pitching allowed a total of only five hits the team could only break even. This brought the season's record to 7-5, ending any possible hopes of the league championship or qualifying for the state tourney.

Lack of depth in pitching has proved the main factor. With three games played each week, it is almost impossible to win consistently without a well rounded mound staff.

Elliott Miller started the Belmont game, doing well until the fourth inning when Rudy Fiore came in from left field to quell a Marauder rally. The home team nelled two unearned runs in that frame and Miller returned to finish unscathed over the rest of the route. Belmont had only one hit in the seven innings — in the first inning.

Rudy Fiore led the batting attack with two doubles and a single. Wayne Dennis chipped in with three safeties. The Sachems jumped off with two runs in the first inning. A big fourth inning which saw three more runs cross the plate gave Miller a good cushion to insure the victory.

The line score: R...H...E
Belmont 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 2 1 0

The Sachems once again jumped off to a two run lead in the game at Reading. The Rockets came back in their half of the first to knot the count.

Albie Cordice doubled and another Sachem reached on a Reading error. Then Gig Beard singled to score both of the Winchester runs. From that point on Ross of Reading was almost untouchable and the Sachems managed just one more hit.

Fiore matched him pitch for pitch in one of the best played games of the season. The roof fell in, however, during the sixth inning when Hunt delivered his long blast. An error put the first runner on base. Hollingsworth came through with a single and then the home run put three runs on the board for the Rockets.

The line score: R...H...E
Reading 2 0 0 0 3 X 5 4 2
Winchester 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 3 2

McDonald Is Top Javelin Heaver

Thane McDonald of Winchester was the top javelin heaver for Austin Prep in recent meets against Tewksbury High and Billerica.

Guarente Time Beaten Twice

During the spring track season of last year Tony Guarente set a new record for the 440 yard run at Winchester High School. He covered the gruelling distance in 51.3 seconds. The mark was expected to last for some time.

In the meet with Watertown last week sophomore Rick Mauger lowered the record to 51.1 seconds. But that was only the beginning.

John Friberg, who finished second in the long jump and first in both hurdles events, asked Coach Manny Marshall if he could run in the junior varsity 440 event. He was not scheduled to run the relay and was able to take part in the junior varsity event since it did not count in the scoring.

Tony Guarente's former record was surpassed and the minutes-odd mark of Rick went by the board. John's new record time was 50.3 seconds. It seems unlikely that even this figure will endure too long at the rate the Sachem speedsters are chopping away at it.

How can Mahoney's help solve your landscape problems?

Shopping for plants at Mahoney's is a fascinating experience. There's no place in New England with quite the blend of top quality and broad selection for indoor and outdoor planting.

Come over and walk through the nursery — you'll pick up lots of good landscape ideas. Many of the shrubs and trees are in full bloom. Flats of annuals and perennials are out by the thousands. To make things easier, we're listing all kinds of information about our plants — how tall they grow, how fast, when they bloom, how to plant them, how to take care of them.

Stroll through our greenhouses. They're bursting with hanging and flowering plants. Fuchsias, lilies, geraniums, hydrangeas, azaleas, etc. are spectacular. Definitely worth a trip to Mahoney's just to see the color at this time of year.

Why not come on over this week? You'll quickly discover why Mahoney's is New England's leading garden center.

Bays League

Coaches Pull Beacons Off Field

The Cougars played an away game against Wellesley this weekend in Winchester Youth Soccer action. If the Cougars had any fear for this opponent, which had earlier in the season scored an impressive victory over them, they managed to show little of it.

The team looked reborn with the formidable goalkeeping of Mike Worth. As a matter of fact with a bit of luck the Cougars could have taken the lead on several occasions as they outplayed the Wellesley team in the first 15 minutes. The team, notwithstanding a number of good shots, did not manage to score.

When the tide turned, the Cougar defense with Willy Muggia and Scot Fackert for a long time proved equal to the task. Finally, however, late in the first half Wellesley got the well deserved goal.

In the second half Wellesley had the advantage of the wind. Most of the action was on the Winchester half, resulting in two more Wellesley goals.

BEACONS QUIT

The Beacons-Wellesley game was stopped by Coaches Arpad Von Lazar and Wayne Paskerian during the middle of the second half.

Von Lazar said they pulled their team off the field to prevent possible trouble between the players of the two teams.

Soccer News

Von Lazar said the team was taken off the field after player Patrick Fortan was put out of the game by the referee, who said Fortan had fouled the opposition goalie intentionally.

The Winchester Beacons were losing at the time, 3-0.

PINTOS 4—MEDFIELD 11

The red-hot Winchester Pintos girls' soccer team rolled over Medfield II Saturday at Ambrose Field, 4 to 1.

Dawn Adams, the league's leading scorer, blasted three goals by Medfield's goalie. Kathleen Driscoll scored for Winchester.

Kelley Gately had a goal called back because of off-sides. Kelley is a strong dribbler.

Kristine Goodman, Elizabeth Bishop, Terry Bergin and Susan Yavner get sharper each week with their passing and overall play.

This Saturday the girls play at Medfield I.

CELTICS TIE

The Winchester Celtics drew 1 to 1 against Framingham last Saturday in a hard fought game. The Celtics opened with an offensive burst, scoring after five minutes on a left footed chip shot by Barry McQuillan.

Further thrust by the Celtics including three shoots by McQuillan yielded no additional goals. The Framingham boys began to pick up and slowly took the momentum away from Winchester.

Their pressure continued until they scored the equalizing goal in the last minutes of the match.

Surely a tie was a fitting conclusion for this well played game; the Celtics hope to do better Saturday against a strong Needham — 2 squad at McDonald Field at 2:15 p.m.

ASTROS LOSE FIRST GAME

After four wins and a tie, the Astros lost their first game on Sunday to Lexington, 2 to 1. The first half ended in a 1-1 tie. Tom Deshler scored the goal for Winchester.

It was another game without a dull moment. Both teams were playing their best. Although Winchester appears to lose some of the edge in advantage during the second half of their games, they seemed to sustain their momentum better in this game.

The Astros perhaps have been trying too hard to score. Many of their shots were near misses, which never get on the scoreboard. They are a hardworking team. Their effort may cause them to tire during the second half.

The Astros made 13 goals this season, 10 of which were scored during the first 40-minute half in each game. There have been nine goals scored against them. Six in the second half.

Lexington's coach was ejected by the referee during the first half after previously been cautioned for challenging his calls. The team fought off many attacks by Winchester. Their counter attacks netted them the winning goal during the second half.

Winchester's center fullback, Chris Morgan, has been an asset to the team this season, clearing the ball out of their area. Assisting Chris were Bill Schromm and Frank Gerardi with John Roche.

In midfield, Dennis Collins is the backbone of offense and defense. Working with Dennis were Kurt Illinger and Jay James.

Other hard working forwards along with Deshler, who is the team's high scorer with six of the 13 goals, were Peter Mitchell with several powerful shots from the right wing and well-placed corner kicks, Norman Alpert, who played his best game, Tom Morrow, who was aggressive from the left wing, Mark Nelson, who always gives great effort, and Tom Waite a left forward who played well at halfback.

Next Sunday the Astros will host Woburn on MacDonald Field at 1:30.

Hurlbert Datsun makes house calls

Starting today, we'll bring a new Datsun right to your home or office to make it easier for you to see any of the new 1974 Datsuns. Just give us a call and tell us which Datsun model you're interested in, and we'll be happy to drive to your home or place of business to show you the car and let you drive it. There's no charge for this service and you'll be under no obligation to buy anything. After all, we didn't become the No. 1

Datsun dealer in Massachusetts (for the past two years in a row) by waiting for the world to come to us. By the way, you really should see the all-new Datsun B-210. Motor Trend magazine, in its March issue, published the results of a mileage test of 50 leading economy cars and the Datsun B-210 came out on top. The B-210 got 35 miles per gallon in this test and beat out Volkswagen, Toyota, Honda, Pinto, Vega and all the others. Right now we have a giant selection of B-210's and all other 1974 Datsun models ready for immediate delivery. Take a test drive today. Datsun is the low-priced economy car that beats all the others in gas mileage.

Orioles, Red Sox Lead Cap Pack

By James R. Stewart Jr.

The Orioles of John Doherty continued its winning streak last weekend in the race for the Cap Baseball League's visor division championship.

The Saturday game wasn't a classic, but it was a stirring come-from-behind victory that saw opponents, the Giants, fall just short with the bases loaded and two out in the last inning.

The Red Sox of the crown division added a third win to the record by defeating the Rangers on Sunday by a convincing 14-7 score as Dick Williamson's crew showed great batting strength.

Saturday's games at Ginn Field, home of the visor division caused the most excitement on Field No. 1 with an old fashioned hitter's battle.

Final outcome was Hornets 12, Yankees 10.

On the other fields, the Blue Jays feasted on the Rangers, 22-8, while the Braves downed the White Sox 9-3.

At West Side Field, the crown division leading Orioles posted their third victory, 5-4, over the Giants.

The Eagles evened their won-lost record at 2 and 2 by whipping the Appollos 8-1 and the Dodgers remained undefeated with their second victory of the season with a 10-3 cake-walk over the Astros.

On Sunday, under gloowering skies, both divisions were able to complete their six-inning contests before the rain washed out Mothers' Day at about 3 o'clock.

Big margins were the order of the day at West Side Field's visor division play.

The Cardinals bounced back into the win column with a 13-6 victory over the Appollos.

The Giants won their second game by pummeling the Pirates 9-1. The Eagles soared over the Astros 10-3.

In the games at Ginn Field, the number 7 dominated. The Bobcats won over the White Sox 7-3. The Yankees won their first game with a 7-2 victory over the Braves. The winning 7 was a losing number in the third game as the Red Sox powered their way over the Rangers, 14-7.

Comments of the spectators seem to point to one main ingredient in the conduct of Cap Baseball League: the players show constant improvement each day they play, tribute to the attention of their managers and coaches and the earnest desire of the players to improve themselves.

Sachems Trounce Watertown 81-59

Coach Manny Marshall's Winchester High School track team scored its second victory of the season by downing the Raiders of Watertown 81-59 last week.

The Raiders scored near sweeps in both the shot put and discus, but the Sachems tallied similar performances in the high and low hurdles, the 440 yard dash and the triple jump to turn an otherwise even meet into a comparatively easy triumph.

They have a meet with Reading and a postponed one with Burlington carded before the annual Middlesex League individual meet to be held Saturday. Weather permitting, the Burlington team will come here this afternoon for the first meet ever at the playing fields.

Winchester scorers at Watertown and their performances were:

Long jump: Friborg (2) 18 ft. 7 1/2 in.; Lydotes (3) 17 ft. 4 in.
Discus: Porter (3) 109 ft.
Javelin: Nash (2) 156 ft. 1/2 in.
High jump: Samoloff (1) 5 ft. 8 in.; Trageser (2) 11:20.6.

Two-mile: Bosselaers (3) 11:54.2.
High hurdles: Friborg (1) 16 sec.; Meahl (2) 18 sec.
Shot put: Christensen (3) 40 ft. 11 in.
100-yard dash: Cronan (1) 10.5 sec.; Hamilton (3) 10.7 sec.
Low hurdles: Friborg (1) 13.6 sec.; Meahl (2) 14.6 sec.
220-yard dash: Cronan (1) 23.5 sec.; Goodman (3) 25.2 sec.
440-yard dash: Mauger (1) 51.1 sec.; McCarthy (2) 55.7 sec.
880-yard run: Burns (2) 2:09.6; Samoloff (3) 2:19.4.
Mile-run: DeMars (2) 5:01.4; Coakley (3) 5:01.9.
Pole vault: Joyce (1) 10 ft. 6 in.; Chipman (3) 9 ft.
Triple jump: Samoloff (1) 36 ft. 5 in.; Meahl (2) 35 ft. 11 in.
Relay won by Winchester (MacDonaald, Hamilton, Goodman, Meahl) 1:40.

Resident Is Suspect In Kidnapping

A Winchester resident was arrested at a Cambridge motel this week as a prime suspect in the kidnapping of a young Newton child and robbery of his father.

According to a report by Winchester police from Waltham police James Sousa of the Parkview Apartments allegedly met with the Newton victim in Waltham to sell him coins. While they talked two masked and armed men allegedly entered the house and robbed the victim while Sousa picked up the victim's four-year-old child.

Sometime later an informant is said to have contacted the Waltham police telling the whereabouts of the child and he was returned to his father unharmed.

Sousa was later arrested at a Cambridge motel.

Pets Have Own Solar Charts

By Patty Annino

"Animals have their own astrological charts derived from the dates of their births. The charts highlight each animal's individual personality, drives and needs."

This was a portion of a talk given by Louise Finland at a recent meeting of the Winchester auxiliary of the MSPCA. The talk was designed to expose the MSPCA members to the relationship between pets and astrology.

The meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Augustus Mantia of Sudbury, featured Ms. Finland, founder of the Astrological School of Initiation, and astrologer Marilyn Zabrick.

Ms. Finland acquainted the audience with animal astrology and explained that through astrology people can choose pets not only by the intended function of the pet but also by the temperament and personality the owner would be most comfortable with.

For example, Ms. Finland said most people looking for a poodle would not want a poodle born with the characteristics of the bull-like Taurus or of the constantly barking Gemini but rather they would desire a poodle born under one of the more docile signs such as Pisces.

Ms. Zabrick delved into the direct relationship between animals and astrology by relating an experiment in cosmo-biology carried out at Northwestern University. A professor placed oysters from Long Island Sound in a large, black, unchanging container.

While in the sound the oysters had been observed opening their shells only when the tide came in.

The professor transported the oysters back to the university where they still enclosed in the container, began to open their shells at the time the tides near the university came in.

This proves, according to Ms. Zabrick, that the moon holds definite ties over oysters and through several experiments that have been carried out with animals of higher intelligence the moon has a hold over higher life.

The solar chart of the Taurus kitten of Harriet Connors, a member of the Winchester MSPCA, was drawn up by Ms. Zabrick. The chart had been drawn up without Ms. Zabrick having met the kitten.

From the chart, the astrologer felt the kitten would have the characteristics of receptiveness to affection, as well as love the good food, home and a comfortable bed.

Ms. Zabrick also reported that the kitten is emotional and high strung but inwardly is calm. She thrives on affection, giving more than she receives. Ms. Zabrick added that the kitten appeared to hold psychic and sympathetic qualities.

Mrs. Connors corroborated the personality description of her kitten.

Beforehand Ms. Finland had drawn up the astrological chart of Cha Cha, a Gemini poodle belonging to Mrs. Winthrop Knox Jr., she depicted her traits as continually barking, high strung and nervous. According to Ms. Finland, Cha Cha loves eating, home, walking and a special possession or place.

In response to the above characteristics, Mrs. Knox stated that although Cha Cha barks very little, he does love home and finds his special niche under the piano.

In reading the chart, Ms. Finland asked Mrs. Knox if Cha Cha had heart trouble and bone trouble.

Cha Cha, according to Mrs. Knox, not only had a heart attack recently but is also suffering from arthritis.

Ms. Finland and Ms. Zabrick provided the MSPCA meeting with an interesting, different topic. Their program, interspersed with humor, provided a refreshing touch to the field of astrology.

YWCA Sponsors Camp Mariana

The Burlington area YWCA will be sponsoring Camp Mariana, a day camp open to girls entering grades 2-6 in the fall.

The hours from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. will be filled with activities such as swimming, dancing, drama, arts and nature crafts. Personal growth and minimal competition will be emphasized through group activities and individual attention.

The camp director, Mary Murphy, is an elementary educator and is now teaching children with special needs. Mrs. Murphy has also had leadership experience in recreation and camps.

Camp will be held for three two-week sessions: July 15-26, July 29-Aug. 9 and Aug. 12-23. Only 40 girls will be allowed in each session. Call the YWCA or come to 6 Spruce Hill rd., Burlington.

Reappointed

William S. Cummings, 2 Mayflower rd., has been reappointed as a notary public. His term will expire in seven years.

A Mercedes-Benz door lock proves a point about automotive safety with a daring television demonstration.

Strength. That's what you're seeing demonstrated on this page. A Mercedes-Benz door lock, weighing little more than two pounds, lifts more than two tons — and could safely lift another ton.

Why go to all this trouble to demonstrate the strength of a door lock? Because in an automobile, strength can be critical to your safety. The demonstration: the door lock from this Mercedes-Benz 450SE Sedan was used as the only link between the 4000-pound automobile and a lifting device. Latched and locked as it would be in the car's door, the patented safety cone door lock supports the car with ease. In all, over fifteen lifts were accomplished without incident.

The safety cone door lock is only a part of the Mercedes-Benz safety story. The rigid passenger cell, the double collapsible steering system and the gasoline tank location are some of the others.

Features like these are often overlooked because they are out of sight. But, because they are important to your safety, at Mercedes-Benz they are never out of mind.

Selectmen's Meeting

Cummings Named To Planning Board Vacancy

Filling vacancies on elected boards took up the major portion of Monday night's selectmen's meeting.

First order of business was transfer of chairman of the board from Arthur E. Dunbar to Vito A. Giarrizzo. The vote was unanimous by the other four selectmen.

CUMMINGS NAMED
Of the four competitors for the Planning Board seat vacated by William Holland, who recently died, William S. Cummings was elected by a 6-3 joint vote of the Planning Board and Board of Selectmen. John M. Ryan, James Hintlian and Paul M. Colella were the other contenders. Voting for Hintlian were Selectmen John J. Sullivan, Dunbar and Planning Board member Joseph Geary.

Interviews with six men desiring the vacancy left by Windsor A. Carpenter of the Board of Assessors took place. They were Werner A. Carlson, Howard E. Chase Jr., Kenneth F. D'Arcy, Charles S. Margosian, Ralph C. Powers and John R. Wiseman Jr. Carlson stated the Board of Assessors together with the Board of Selectmen can "play a vital role in the development of Winchester Center." He said he had "discovered inadequacies" regarding the present method of assessment in the town and declared he'd like to see businesses "recapture some of their invested property."

Neither were Powers and Margosian satisfied with the way Winchester property is being assessed. The latter noted the need for "being careful" not to reassess on the sale of property. Powers "would expose how the comparison of taxes is made." He said he didn't like assessors being appointed and then becoming incumbents: "It becomes a club."

Chase, Wiseman and D'Arcy find no fault with Winchester's manner of assessing. D'Arcy said he did not run for assessor in 1970 and 1973 to necessarily change things but because the town needs a contested office.

OTHER BUSINESS

The "no previous precedent" of the board in regard to requests for leave of absence still stands. Firefighter Robert McNamara's request for a six-month leave of absence was opposed by Fire Chief I. Francis Amico, who quoted civil service policy which grants leave no longer than three months.

McNamara then cut his request time in half. Amico said considerable overtime money would be required to fill the vacancy. Sullivan said leaves of absence place positions in a limbo-type of atmosphere.

They would be "holding a position open that can't be filled," Sullivan said. But he added that there is a disadvantage in "the risk of losing men carte blanche."

The board finally agreed to Selectmen Lawrence Smith's suggestion that a "definitive policy is wrong. The individual merits of each case should be considered." Chief Amico will be the final decision maker.

INCINERATOR

Brian Hogan of Resource Systems, Inc., met with the board in an attempt to complete a contract for construction of a new town incinerator.

91 Years Young

Sam Still Sells Dry Goods

By Kathy Young

Sixty-nine years ago a young man escaped from the Russian Army during the Russo-Japanese War and came to the United States. When he arrived he began selling dry goods in Boston's South End. His business consisted of a few handmade wooden tables set up outside a Harrison Avenue meat market.

Today, that same man, Samuel "Sam" Smorack of 20 Hutchinson Rd., operates a dry goods store on Massachusetts Ave., Arlington Heights.

Sam, at 91, still speaks with a heavy Russian accent. He says he first came to Arlington in 1910 but moved away in 1927 to open a wholesale goods business in New York.

But, he says, the Depression came and his money was lost. Returning to Arlington, he notes "I used to peddle. Then came the year of the war. They stopped giving gas for traveling because of the war. That's when I opened the store."

His first store was smaller and a block up the from the present Heights location. He continued to travel as a salesman for part of the time while one of his daughters minded the store. He says that over the years he's watched the various blocks around Park Avenue go up.

Sam says his customers consist of the young and the old "I've got people here that come from where I used to peddle. Now their Final approval is contingent on favorable rezoning, bonding and completion of leasing arrangements.

Chief Amico and the selectmen met in a closed session for 45 minutes. For the first 15 of those minutes behind closed doors even Firefighter McNamara was excluded.

At the conclusion of the executive session the board announced that Amico would make the decision whether McNamara would get a leave of absence. Amico didn't announce his decision.

Fireworks, Sleepy Husband Appear On Police Journal

Reports of fireworks exploding in various parts of Winchester were scattered throughout the police journal this week.

There were three minor accidents. On Sunday Kenneth Haggerty of 27 Eaton St. was taken to Winchester Hospital for minor injuries after being hit by a car at Bridge and Kendall streets.

On Friday there were minor accidents at the intersections of Washington St. and Mystic Valley Parkway, and at Cambridge Street near the Star Market.

On Thursday there was a call from St. Mary's Church to transport a Somerville resident to Winchester Hospital. The woman appeared to have suffered a stroke.

At 2:25 a.m. Thursday police received a call from a resident complaining that his wife, who was drinking, was disturbing his sleep. Police officers went to the scene and spoke to the woman, who promised to quiet down.

Also on Thursday there were reports of broken windows at the Noonan School and on the west side of Town Hall. On Sunday there was a report of four windows broken at Lynch Junior High School.

A Vine St. resident was arrested for driving under the influence, leaving the scene and operating a vehicle without a valid Massachusetts license.

A Cox road resident complained of damage to the front lawn by a motor vehicle during the night; and a Wildwood road resident reported someone drove across her front lawn causing damage.

A Bacon street resident told police her car was phoned of a full tank of gas while the vehicle was parked in front of the Unitarian Church.

And on Sunday a Sargent road resident complained that his car was struck by a large rock at the intersection of Lawson Rd. and Highland Ave.

★ Girls League

The biggest problem now, she said, is money to start. She figures it will cost $1,600 in equipment for the teams to get off the ground. That is one disadvantage of the large turnout.

The fact that so many kids did respond, however, makes Mrs. Sizemore think that perhaps the Recreation Department has been shortchanging them all along.

"Up until now the town had nothing for them," she commented. "They had to go out of town."

The first "clinic" game is scheduled for Sunday. The girls will be unable to have a real game until they get catcher's equipment.

The girls intend to play real baseball and not softball and thus require the protective equipment necessary in baseball.

Mrs. Sizemore is trying to figure out ways of funding the league — $10 registration fee, donations, merchant sponsorship and so forth are possibilities.

Without even making a public appeal, she has all of the coaches the teams will need, she said. They are high school junior and senior varsity softball players who heard the league was forming and volunteered. They are girls. The players will meet their coaches Sunday at Vinson-Owen School, time to be arranged.

Next year, Mrs. Sizemore warns, Little League "is going to have to move over on its fields." And she adds: "It's going to be funny to see the boys sitting on the bench watching their sisters for a change."

★ Town Meeting

Permanent Building Committee member Richard Gardner gave a brief report on activities of that committee. He said there are four main projects: Ambrose School, West Side Fire Station, McCall Junior High School and Winchester High School.

TMM Arthur Hewis criticized PBC for not submitting a report to the entire assembly rather than one report to the moderator. Hewis said he would like to see a financial report, "especially on the high school and the fire station because they aren't complete."

Hewis said, "At least the School Department gave us a written report." He criticized PBC for sending only one representative to the meeting and challenged town meeting members to "demand answers."

On a standing vote (77 for and 51 against) the town meeting members agreed with Hewis and asked that PBC issue a report on finances and activities.

The town meeting accepted a report from the Snow and Ice Removal Study Committee, appropriated $1,000 for the Architectural Review Committee and approved the following budgets:

Assessors $38,435.
Personnel Board $13,706.
Building $50,920.
Sanitation $253,063.
Veterans' Administration $9,036.

Artist Hopes To Inspire Elderly

By Esther Seferian

Winchester artist Emily Marks of 32 Foxcroft rd. will help the Winchester Seniors Association celebrate Massachusetts Senior Citizen month and their annual meeting with a talk and demonstration on mediums in painting and drawing.

On Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Marks will set up her easel on the stage of the new Lincoln School. She will demonstrate seven mediums in two dimensional art, showing how to use pencil, pen and ink, charcoal, cassein, watercolor, acrylics and oils in the creation of art. She will pass around examples of each technique.

Mrs. Marks is looking forward to talking to an audience, many of whom now have the time to take up painting, and hopes to inspire some of the seniors to try art as a hobby.

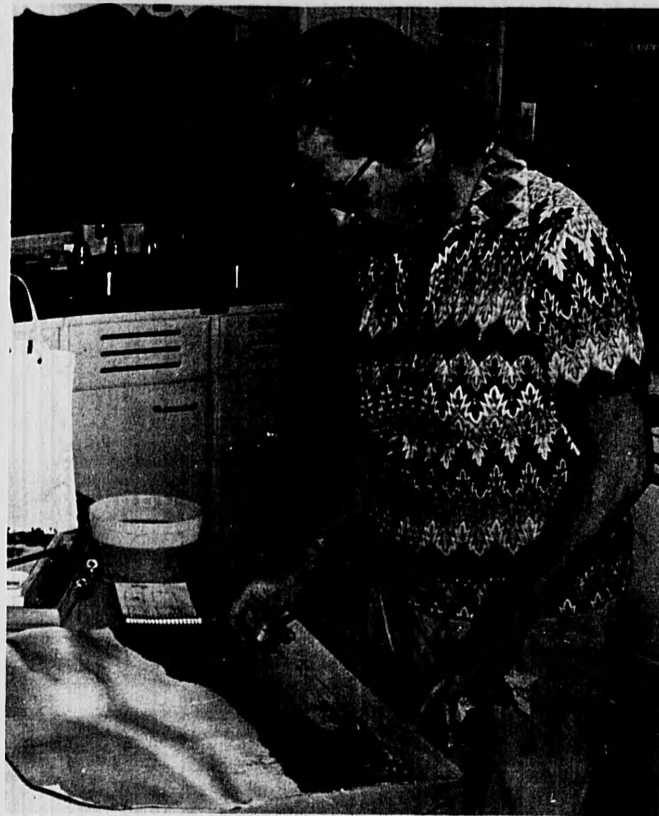

Her own inspiration was her first teacher, the late Winchester artist, Elizabeth Lobingier.

Mrs. Lobingier taught and encouraged her to a point which culminated last October in her first one-woman show at the Edna Stebbins Gallery in Cambridge. Of nearly 60 paintings shown, an unprecedented two-thirds were sold.

Group shows in which Mrs. Marks' work has appeared include the Currier Gallery, the Jordan Marsh Show, the Copley Society, Winchester Hospital and the De Cordova Museum.

Mrs. Marks, studying print making at De Cordova Museum, is a trustee of the Prison Art Project Board, a state appointed group which supervises art education for interested prisoners. At present 300 prisoners are taking advantage of the program.

She is a past chairman of the ladies committee of the Museum of Fine Arts, and she served two terms on the Massachusetts Council on Arts and Humanities when it was formed by Gov. John Volpe.

Rep. Macdonald Has Greatest Absences

WASHINGTON—Reps. Gerry Studds (D-12), James Burke (D-11) and Robert Drinan (D-4) shared honors for the highest voting-attendance mark among Massachusetts House members while Rep. Torbert Macdonald (D-7) had the delegation's most absences.

In a survey compiled by Roll Call Report for the Star, Studds, Burke, and Drinan were shown as present and voting on better than 99 percent of the 541 record votes held in the House in 1973. Studds came closest to a perfect record, missing only one vote all year. Macdonald had an 86 percent mark.

In the Senate, Sen. Edward Kennedy (D) voted "yea" or "nay" on 87 percent of the upper chamber's 594 roll call votes. Sen. Edward Brooke (R) had an 83 percent voting attendance record.

Here is the listing for the entire Massachusetts House delegation:

Reps. Studds, Burke and Drinan, 99 percent; John Moakley (D-9), 97 percent; Silvio Conte (R-1), 95 percent; Margaret Heckler (R-10), 94 percent; Edward Boland (D-2), and Harold Donohue (D-3), 93 percent; Paul Cronin (R-5), 90 percent; Thomas O'Neill (D-8), 89 percent and Macdonald, 86 percent.

The survey did not cover quorum calls, and counted a member as present and voting only if he or she cast a positive or negative vote on the call of the roll. Virtually all absences were the result of a member not being on the floor of the House or Senate.

According to the office of the Clerk of the House, the 541 record votes were the most the House has conducted in a single year. The Senate also had a substantially higher number of record votes last year. Its total of 594 was the highest one-year volume of the Twentieth Century.

★ Committee

It would cost $1,200 to move the baseball backstop so it is closer to homeplate. A canopy would be placed overhead to keep foul balls from landing on Skillings road.

MacDonald wondered if that plan would create problems on the lacrosse and soccer areas. He noted that the infield has sunk up to 10 inches.

A consultant has recommended spending $4,650 to level off the infield. An alternate plan would spend $1,500 for the same purpose.

"I don't know where to find the $1,500 let alone the $4,650," MacDonald said.

There will be more study before the committee decides what to do.

MacDonald asked the committee to agree to meet once a month from now and hold a non-voting discussion type meeting in between.

MacDonald retreated from his request after some opposition from the audience. He will meet with the two new board members to work out details on the plan.

NET RESULTS: A SMALL TENNIS SCHOOL

NET RESULTS is a new tennis school offering a comprehensive program of coordinated courses. We have designed courses to meet many tennis needs, from courses for the beginner who has never held a racket to clinics specializing in preparing tournament players for competitive tennis. We know from experience that the best way to learn tennis is through instruction, practice, and observation. Courses meet weekly for 1½ hours, and are designed for 4 to 12 students. We have found these size classes best because students learn through group interaction as well as from the instructor. Classes begin with an instruction period, then on court practice and observation-discussion, utilizing modern teaching methods—complete videotape facilities, ball machines, tennis films, and other teaching aids to bring you the best teaching program available.

NET RESULTS is located at Tennis 128, Burlington, on indoor courts with plexicushion surface, indirect lighting, and temperature control.

NET RESULTS is a tennis academy where your personal needs will determine whether you take individual tutorial lessons, classes, or practice with ball machines. Whether you are dreaming of being a tennis player, or dreaming of being a better tennis player, we have all you need to make those dreams reality.

Their celebration will take place on May 24 as rescheduled.

7 to 8 p.m. in the Church social hall, hymn sing-a-long. Light refreshments. All are welcome.

Mothers Of Twins To Meet Monday

The Founding Chapter of the Massachusetts Mothers of Twins Assn. Inc. will meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the Pleasant Street Congregational Church in Arlington.

On the agenda is the initiation of new members. The Founding Chapter, a member of the National Organization of Mothers of Twins Clubs, Inc., will send two delegates to the annual convention held in San Diego July 23 to 27.

NAMOTC is composed of clubs for mothers and legal guardians of multiple birth children and presently lists 218 clubs in 44 states representing 8182 women.

All mothers and grandmothers of twins and multiple births are invited. Further information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Michael Patti, 72 Oak st., Winchester area community chairman.

On Sale Committee

Mrs. James Curtis Jr., Mrs. Dudley D. B. Samoiloff and Mrs. Raymond Watts were busy committee workers for the recent annual rummage sale sponsored by the women of Brown University Club of Boston.

Proceeds from the sale will go to the scholarship fund for women from this area who will be freshmen at Brown University next fall.

St. Mary's Mothers Plan Year-End Meal

The St. Mary's Mothers' Club will hold an end of year dinner in the school hall following the 7:30 mass on May 22.

Dinner will be served family style by the eighth grade mothers under the direction of chairladies Mrs. Albert Kennedy and Mrs. Richard DeConto.

Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. John Rice or Mrs. Arthur Flynn. All parents and interested persons are invited.

The spring meeting to elect the first executive board of St. Mary's School Parents' Association for the 1974-75 school year will be held following dinner.

Epiphany Women Schedule Annual Meeting Tuesday

The annual meeting and luncheon of the Women of Epiphany will be held next Tuesday at 12:45 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Thomas H. Wright of Trinity Church, Melrose. Mrs. Wright recently participated in the World Peace Mission in the Far East. The mission was a gathering of women from around the world in Hiroshima, Japan on World Day of Prayer with a theme "Make Us Builders of Peace."

Forum Plans Car Wash On Saturday

On Saturday the Forum of First Congregational Church will hold a car wash in the Vine street parking lot of the church. The price includes vacuuming.

Hours are 10 a.m. - 3 p.m.

On Sunday there will be a Forum baccalaureate service at the 10 a.m. worship service, in honor of graduating seniors. Also, at 6:30 p.m., there will be a closing banquet open to Forum members and their parents.

Epiphany Women

The annual general meeting of Women of Epiphany will begin with luncheon in Hadley Hall, Church of the Epiphany at 12:45 Tuesday.

Speaker will be Mrs. Thomas Wright of Melrose. Mrs. Wright, member of the Episcopal churchwomen's executive board, was chosen as the Massachusetts participant in the world peace mission, sponsored by Church Women United.

The group sponsors Causeway 74, a program to bring together 48 American and Asian women to investigate peace-building programs.

Mrs. Wright will speak about her hopes and expectations for this mission.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Thomas Leonard, 28 Fletcher St.

Antique Show

The Melrose Unitarian Church, 70 West Emerson st., is holding an antique show this Saturday with rare documents, pre-Columbian artifacts and Melrose memorabilia.

Audubon Society To Conduct Walks

The Massachusetts Audubon Society will sponsor an Audubon walk in Winchester on Saturday.

These walks will be at the height of the spring migration. Birding and nature enthusiasts may get together, enjoy the promise of spring and find out more about natural history. The walks are informal and open to everyone.

The group will meet in front of the Town Hall at 8:30 a.m. to proceed to the Middlesex Fells.

Leaders will be Mrs. Thornton Stearns of 5 Fernway st. and Mrs. D. Reid Weedon of 4 Overlook way.

Antique Talk

On Wednesday at 8 p.m. the Y-Wives of the Burlington YWCA will present collector and lecturer, Mrs. Elsie Gregg of North Chelmsford. Her specialty is antiques.

Women of the area are invited. There will be a small donation. Refreshments will be served. For more information contact the Burlington Area YWCA at 6 Spruce Hill rd., Burlington.

Art Students Exhibit Work

Young art students will be exhibiting examples of their year's creative work for parents and interested friends Wednesday, from 7-8 p.m. at the studio of instructor Mrs. Kilty Davis, 154 Highland ave.

Ranging from 6-9 years of age, children represented are Melissa Barger, Karen Carter, Ann Cogavin, Tom Davis, Martha Davis, Meredith Easton, Melissa Eugley, Paul Fallon, Robby Fallon, Rene Galitis, Jonathan Grant, Katy Grant, Cameron Hopkins, David Kenney, Alex Laats, Randy Magliazza, Laura McNamee, Kathy Mortensen, Natalie Phaneuf, Jennifer Plowman, Kerry Price, Sarah Richardson, Hanna Riley, Nicholas Rossettos, Joan Scully, Linda Spiller, Libby Spiller, and Jennifer Tobiasson.

In addition to experimenting with different media and ideas—both indoors and outdoors—during the fall, winter and spring courses, the children are exposed to "artist-in-action" field trips.

Trips this year included a visit to the old Schwab Mill in Arlington and the studio of Eda and Archangelo Cascieri, Lexington artists.

After school classes for children, ages 6-8 and 9-11, resume in October.

Master Emergency Medical Plan Is Prepared By HPC

A master plan for improved emergency medical care at the scene and on the way to a hospital has been prepared by the Health Planning Council for Greater Boston.

The council is a coalition of consumers and health providers representing Boston and the 128 communities from Winchester to Weymouth.

The document, known as "The Greater Boston Plan," has its roots in national concern over delivery of emergency medical care.

In Massachusetts it is estimated that 20 percent of the heart attack deaths, at least 15 percent of the auto accident fatalities and approximately 10 percent of all other accidental deaths could have been prevented by the establishment of effective systems of emergency care.

Forum On Ch. 766 Scheduled May 23

The public is invited to attend a forum on Chapter 766 May 23 at the Arlington Town Hall at 8 o'clock. The purpose of the forum is to provide information about the various aspects of the new legislation which was designed to evaluate and improve educational programs for children with special needs.

Ch. 766 has been the center of much controversy among parents, teachers, school administrators and school committees. Of special concern has been the lack of funding, with a resultant fear of rising school costs and their impact on local taxes.

Speakers for the evening will be Larry Kolin, a lawyer with the State Board of Education; Dr. S. Jerry Trow, Director of Pupil Personnel Services for the Arlington School System; and Mrs. Barbara Cutler, an Arlington resident and member of the Association for Mentally Ill Children, who will act as parent-consumer. Mrs. Doris Crenens, of the Arlington School Committee, will serve as moderator. A question and answer period will follow.

Parents of children in public and private institutions are invited to attend in order to obtain information regarding their rights and the rights of their children.

The forum is being sponsored by the Special Education Advisory Committee, which is composed of administrators, teachers, and parent representatives from town organizations which are concerned with children with special needs. Among those represented are Arlington chapters of Mass Association for Retarded Citizens, the Association for Mentally Ill Children, and the Mass Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. The committee is designed to survey the various programs for children with handicaps, and to make recommendations to the School Committee.

Major recommendations of the plan:

Communities should begin immediately to plan for implementation of the emergency telephone number, 9-1-1.

Dispatching of emergency help should be centralized for greatest efficiency.

All ambulance personnel and first-responders (generally police and firemen) should be adequately trained in emergency care, such as cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

All ambulances should possess the capability to communicate directly by radio with each other, the dispatch center and the hospital emergency department physician.

Hospitals should acquire two-way radio capability to be able to communicate with other hospitals and ambulances.

"The Greater Boston Plan" was developed by health officials, hospital and medical personnel, police and fire departments and ambulance services, as well as private citizens.

The emergency medical services program of the council is supported by funds from the Tri-State Regional Medical Program.

Brooke Urges Legislative Action

Sen. Edward W. Brooke urged prompt and favorable action by the Massachusetts House and Senate on the campaign reform initiative petition of State Sen. John M. Quinlan of Norwood.

Brooke, who publicly signed the petition last October, said: "enactment of this proposal will make Massachusetts first in the field of corrective, pioneering campaign financing disclosure and accountability legislation. It is needed. It will close glaring existing loopholes in the General Laws."

Last fall, under Sen. Quinlan's direction, the Committee to Reform Election Laws gathered more than 75,000 signatures throughout Massachusetts. As a result each branch of the legislature must vote on the measure by roll call on or before May 1.

Brooke, who serves on the U.S. Senate's Select Committee on Standards and Conduct, praised Quinlan as "a resourceful leader for campaign reform."

"When this reform becomes law," Brooke said, "Massachusetts will have taken a giant step toward implementing the public's right to know. By limiting candidates to one political committee, by requiring major media firms to report candidates' expenditures, by making candidates' political bank accounts more open to review, the Quinlan petition will enable the public and the media to better understand how and by whom political campaigns are financed."

Timothy J. Donahue of 8 Allen rd., a student at Bowdoin College, is among finalists in an awards ceremony on campus sponsored by the Bowdoin College Student Film Society.

The program will include eight student films which were made in conjunction with a course entitled "History, Theory and Criticism of Film" taught by Dr. Barbara J. Kaster, associate professor of communication.

The films to be shown were nominated by students from among the 31 short films they produced during the course. The nominated films have been screened by a panel of three judges who have selected winners in four categories, best sound, best editing, best cinematography and best film.

Their decisions will be announced at the awards ceremony this week after the films are shown.

Producers of the winning film in each category will be awarded a trophy.

Kennedy Holds Solar Energy Hearings

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, chairman of the Senate Science Committee, recently held hearings on legislation to demonstrate the feasibility of the use of solar energy to heat and cool homes.

"The legislation," Senator Kennedy said, "is aimed at demonstrating that solar energy systems can be used in all areas of the country - an aspect of the program which is particularly important to those of us in New England - who are always first to feel the pinch when fuel supplies are scarce and prices are high."

The Senator noted that the first solar heated house in this country was built by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and operated successfully in Cambridge from 1930 to 1940.

Another solar heated home was built near Dover in the 1940's.

The world's first office building to be both heated and cooled by solar energy is being built for use by the Massachusetts Audubon Society in Lincoln, and the Grover Cleveland High School, in South Boston was fitted recently with solar collectors to augment the school's heating system.

The Berkshire Community College also has plans to build a fully solar heated building on its campus.

Senator Kennedy also commented: "The real need is for good, inexpensive systems which will work in houses that wage earners can afford, and which will meet with broad public acceptance. It is within the grasp of modern technology to effectively utilize solar energy systems. The $50 million investment called for by the legislation is modest when measured against the ultimate promise of enormous fuel savings - not to mention the clean air which would be its welcome by-product."

Savings Bank Holds Meeting

The annual meeting of the Winchester Savings Bank was held at the Winchester Country Club recently. The report of the treasurer, Arnold M. Gibson, disclosed a deposit gain for the year of over two million dollars bringing total resources of the bank in excess of $64,000,000.

James F. Dwinell Jr., president, reviewed the year and informed the meeting that the income for the bank increased 16 per cent over that of the previous year to reach an all time high. As a result, the bank was able to contribute to the local economy to the extent of $3,200,000 in the form of dividends to depositors.

A mortgage portfolio of approximately $40,000,000 provided financing for local businesses and homebuyers. Mr. Dwinell pointed out that $400,000 has been added to the banks surplus.

At the meeting F. Brooks Cowgill, vice president of New England Life was added to the board of trustees. Newly elected corporators are Thomas E. Dickinson, assistant treasurer of Winchester Savings Bank, Robert S. Frank Jr., of Choate, Hall & Stewart, Daniel P. LaGatta, of Good Technical Engineers Inc., John F. Reno, vice president of G. H. Walker & Co., Thomas L. Raleigh Jr., of Price Waterhouse, Hartley Rogers Jr., associate provost of Massachusetts Institute of Technology and William F. Rogers Jr., president of Tek Pak Incorporated.

Tansey Writes Physics Article

Richard J. Tansey, a graduate of Winchester High School presently teaching physics at the Acton-Boxborough Regional High School, has written an article in the March issue of "School Science and Mathematics" entitled "Control Teaching-A New Approach to PSSC Physics."

The material for the article resulted from a summer research and development project authorized by the School Committee and emphasizes a new approach to handling the physics course developed by the physical science study committee.

Tansey is the son of J. Joseph Tansey of St. Petersburg, Fla., and the late Ruth Poland Tansey. He resides in North Chelmsford.

Commissioners Appoint Selves Special Police

Three Park Commissioners appointed themselves special police officers on park lands at the commission's monthly meeting Tuesday night.

The commissioners' action follows refusal of the commissioners to accept special police officers on park land without the power of arrest.

Commissioner Albert MacDonnell, chairman, and Cmsrs. William Ryerson and Robert Joyce voted to give themselves those police powers, including the power of arrest, as provided in state law.

Cmsrs. Chandler Parkhurst and Stella Aitken voted against Ryerson's self-appointment motion. Parkhurst said he didn't want any police power and Aitken that she had already been sworn in as special officer.

The selectmen traditionally appoint Park Commissioners special police officers. This was the first time the board's appointments did not include the power of arrest. The commissioners' motion carried the statement that they will notify the town clerk of their appointment.

MILL POND

There was some discussion about the feasibility of continuing work along MDC land at Mill Pond. Cmsr. Joyce objected to the Park Department paying for work on MDC land.

Cmsrs. Parkhurst and Aitken defended the work. "If we don't fix it up no one will," Aitken said. "They'll do nothing," Parkhurst said of the MDC.

Chairman MacDonnell added that Winchester pays $300,000 yearly assessment to the MDC but "there's no money in the MDC for Winchester."

MacDonnell said the MDC commissioner "thinks we're the greatest town on the face of the earth because we do everything ourselves."

LITTLE LEAGUE

Little League President Frank Langone appeared before the commission to ask about honorary flagpoles and was questioned about the organization's exclusion of girls.

Langone said girls are not allowed to play with boys in Winchester Little League. If they do, he said, "we lose our charter and insurance."

Langone told the commission the women's auxiliary of Little League has recently begun a girls' league. "The newspapers are trying to install something in this that's not the case," Langone said. "The women's auxiliary and Little League should settle it and no one else."

(The founder of the girls' league says she has nothing to do with Little League. Story, page 1)

Rug Collectors Hold Meeting

The first meeting of the New England Antique Rug Collectors was at Koko Boodakian & Sons, Inc., 1028 Main st.

Among the 19 rugs displayed were Beluchians, Caucasians and Persian rugs. Also on exhibit were two Turkomen tent bands, foot wide strips used to decorate tents, and a Salor bagface, a type of saddle bag for camel riding.

Dan Walker, an associate with the Fogg Museum in Cambridge and a PHD candidate of Islamic art, spoke and showed slides on the classification and dating of classic Persian rugs.

There will be one meeting in the spring and one in the fall of each year to which members must bring at least one rug.

COMPARATIVE TAXATION

Your house is for sale. The location is great; the price is right; and the community is desirable. But prospects keep turning it down because they claim the tax rate is too high. How do you meet this objection?

It just may be that the taxes in your town are actually lower per dollar value than neighboring areas. Remember, taxes are not determined by tax rate alone. They're also determined by the valuation practices of the local assessors. In some areas, homes may be assessed at only 25 per cent of true value. In other areas, it may run 50 per cent or 70 per cent. So you must take both the tax rate and the local valuation practice into consideration. Don't be misled by an apparently low tax rate. This is one of the reasons why it pays to sell your house through a local Realtor. It's his business to be familiar with this vital information. He's an expert negotiator and has the facts to back up his claims. If you have any questions on this subject or on any other aspect of Real Estate, please feel free to call or drop in at JAMES T. To the Townspeople of Winchester and especially the Town Meeting Members:

Thank you.

We sincerely appreciate the approval of the Articles on the Warrant relating to the expansion of the Hospital lot through the relocation of Maple Road.

This was a very important action from the point of view of the Hospital's future and we are very grateful for your support.

Because of your approval, the Hospital can now increase the size of its lot by approximately 25 percent...adding approximately 52,000 square feet.

We expect this to solve our parking problem on a permanent basis, assuming all necessary approvals for the new parking garage will be obtained.

The affirmative action taken at Town Meeting brings nearer to fruition plans that we have been working on for the past four years to solve a nagging problem. Evidence of this is the following quote from the President's Report of 1970:

"One of our most critical needs is enlargement of the present parking facilities. This shortage of on-site parking spaces forces many of our visitors to park on neighboring streets, creating a traffic hazard and an annoyance to our neighbors."

Perhaps you can imagine our feelings of gratitude for your support... and the "vote of confidence" that we believe we have from the Townspeople.

You are to be commended for your far-sightedness. While the history of our country has been dotted with occasions when communities have taken a future-generations view of their needs, far too many others have been guilty of "Let future generations do it" in assessing their educational, civic affairs or health care needs.

Obviously, the Town of Winchester looks ahead.

Now we have a job to do.

To fulfill our obligation to the community we serve to provide up-to-date and efficient health care services.

No longer will we be in the predicament of trying to fit a size 12 foot into a size 6 shoe. And that will make our job that much easier because we'll be better able to accommodate you and members of your families who come to us for our services either as in-patients or out-patients. And our employees and visitors won't have to drive around the grounds trying to find parking spaces.

We wish we could wave a wand and have the solution available tomorrow, but, obviously, that is not possible. There is still a lot of work to be done. However, we are now in a position to go ahead with our plans, thanks to your support at Town Meeting.

In the meantime, we ask all of you to bear with us. There will still be inconvenience for some in the months ahead and we ask your patience and understanding.

This week is National Hospital Week and its theme is "Get to know us before you need us."

We think the Town of Winchester has been doing just that since we first opened in 1912.

Why Winchester Has Few Voke Students

The Northeast Regional Metropolitan Vocational School is holding a series of open houses this spring to inform residents in the 12 member towns of educational opportunities at the school.

According to Gerard P. Donahoe, Winchester's representative to the NRMV School Committee, newspaper editors and School Committee members of the member towns are invited to an open house tomorrow to view the first completed house constructed by students enrolled in the school's current building project program.

Those who attend will meet at the school at 1 p.m. and then be transported to Stoneham, the location of the completed house.

Other open houses will be held at subsequent times. Those who would like special invitations to attend one or more of the meetings may contact William Connerly, public relations officer of the school, or Donahoe.

Greater communication of programs at the NRMV school to the member communities is a matter of concern to Donahoe. He feels that if Winchester parents understood more about the school and its programs Winchester might be a more active participant in the school.

Winchester town meeting members this spring heard Donahoe report that Winchester is the only town of the 12 not filling its quota.

TMM Arthur Hewis charged this is due to the dereliction of Winchester educators in not promoting the programs at the school.

Donahoe doesn't feel this is the reason Winchester has sparse participation. He speaks well of the Winchester guidance department and says "I don't think it's fair" to say they don't try.

Supt. of Schools William C. MacDonald told The Star the guidance staff at both the McCall and Lynch junior high schools did all they could to help eighth graders who attended the NRMV presentations in Winchester in January and indicated interest in attending the school.

Of the 60-70 students at Lynch who heard John Rump, guidance director at NRMV, less than 10 made a decision to go to the school next fall, said principal Bob Fitzgerald.

Donahoe feels if more parents realized the school offers technical training to prepare students to go directly into job opportunities or to higher educational institutions and that the school is not one for underachievers or handicapped students, more would apply. "The parents need to be educated," he said.

Fitzgerald said he does not feel Winchester educators are at fault. He considers parents "simply do not see" the vocational school "as an alternative" for their children.

Speculating, Fitzgerald noted, many Winchester parents have higher education backgrounds themselves. "Quite possibly they want their children to prepare for college whether they attend or not," he said.

Donahoe claims Winchester parents complain their children do not get first or second choices in the 10th grade.

He explains that 9th grade students are exposed to many courses of study on a kind of exploratory basis. Entering the 10th grade, however, students focus on one major field of study which is determined by first, second and third choice and academic standing.

Donahoe said because Winchester students usually score lower than students in other towns frequently they don't get their first or second choice.

As an example he said a top student from Revere might score 90 on entering the school while a top student from Winchester will score a 76.

The student who might score 90 in Winchester is not one who would apply to the school. This happens probably because the NRMV school is viewed by one community as a technical school while in the other it is looked upon as a place to learn a vocation.

Post Graduate

Mrs. Charlotte Scott, director of health occupations and community services at NRMV school, went to Winchester High School to discuss health occupation programs for high school graduates recently and only one male graduate was made available to the school from her department who went to the school to provide information. Mrs. Scott has suggested setting up a Northeast Career Day to inform students.

She feels some persons attach a negative connotation to the term "vocational school." She said at a recent sub-committee meeting in Stoneham that she was aware of a case where a father paid a high sum to send his child to a technical school in Boston because he did not want his daughter to attend a vocational school.

The health occupation program includes practical nursing, medical assistant, operating room, dental assistant and dental laboratory.

She noted her department feels an obligation to the taxpayers of the local communities to accept only those students who they feel can successfully complete the course. Physical exams and tests are given for admission. A student must have a high school diploma or the equivalency certificate for admission and score 50 or more on the aptitude test given. Personal interviews are also held with the applicants.

Mrs. Scott said she is bound by the quota system to fill the program with a representative number from each city and town.

According to Donahoe when a member town does not provide its quota, the openings are divided up among the remaining towns on a quota basis.

While Winchester has trouble reaching its quota, the other 11 towns are able to accept only one-third of its applicants.

Donahoe feels if Winchester parents become educated as to what "is vocational" this situation can change.

Town Treasurer Quits

Town treasurer and collector Marguerite H. Troop is resigning effective May 31.

In a letter this week to Town Clerk Elsie M. Nelson, Troop cited "personal reasons and health problems" as the major factor in her resignation, a decision she says "has been under consideration for quite some time."

Miss Troop, who has been town treasurer and collector since 1963 when she first ran for elected office, plans to work in a travel agency. She has been affiliated with it since 1963.

She will sell tickets, provide travel information and will continue to escort tours, a role she has played during summer vacations.

Miss Troop says she has high blood pressure. This, in addition to a handicap resulting from an accident last winter, she expects will improve in a new environment where she will have less tension.

When she leaves Town Hall at the end of the month, Troop says she will be leaving an office that up-to-date with the exception of one area. This is "following up overdue tax bills."

Miss Troop says this backlog has been known by the town for the past several years. She and her staff have not had time to carry out such work, she said.

They have "requested help from the Finance Committee," which has denied requests for extra personnel "until it can be documented" that such help is really needed, Troop says.

Troop says that a study was conducted and completed last December involving offices of the treasurer, comptroller and Methods and Procedures committee to determine ways that some of the work currently conducted in the treasurer's office might be put on computer.

Up to now, Troop says, Methods and Procedures has not made a recommendation

Audit 'Routine'

"Routine" is how the audit now being conducted by the state at the town treasurer's office was described for The Star.

Gordon McGill, director of the local financing division of the Accounts Bureau of the Department of Corporation and Taxation, was asked if his agency's audit has anything to do with Treasurer Marguerite H. Troop's resignation.

"I wouldn't say so," he replied. He said he had only been informed Monday of her impending resignation and his auditors have been checking her books since April 2.

McGill couldn't estimate how much longer the audit will take. "There's a lot of work out there in Winchester. We haven't been there for some time, I can't say when we will finish. I don't know what we'll run into."

and the work has been functioning in much the way as always.

Miss Troop says auditors are currently going over the books and "our cash is all tied up." She explains this means that what is in the bank agrees with comptroller's records.

Town Comptroller James Costello confirms there is an audit going on but notes Miss Troop's decision to resign at the time of an audit is coincidental.

When Miss Troop's resignation takes effect on May 31, Carol Thomas, who is assistant treasurer appointed by the treasurer, will no longer hold this position.

Under law, according to Costello and Edward Donnelly, executive secretary to the selectmen, the Board of Selectmen is required to appoint a temporary treasurer.

Donnelly says the appointment can be for the period June 1 through March 1975 when a new election will take place, or it can be for an interim period for as short as two weeks.

Donnelly says the selectmen expect to appoint a successor to Miss Troop before May 31.

Troop's term expires in March 1975.

A Winchester High School graduate, Miss Troop worked for the former Sellers Market from 1942 to 1952. She began in the treasurer's office as a junior clerk and first ran for elected office as treasurer in 1963 and has been in this post since that time.

Her term of office would expire in March 1975. More than a year ago, Miss Troop says she decided she would not run again. Since then she has been weighing her future feeling "everybody should do something different."

The decision to resign, which she says is hers alone, comes now because of her health and a need to leave her work behind when she goes home at the end of a day, she said.

"Come the morning of June 2 it will be very strange not to be a part of the Town Hall family, but life goes on," she concludes.

Charter Commission

WEEKLY AGENDA
Tuesday, May 28

The Charter Commission this week will consult with the town comptroller, town treasurer and Finance Committee as it continues its study of the administrative branch of town government.

Time: 7:30 p.m.
Place: First floor, Town Hall.
Public may attend.

Donahoe Says Legal Fees High

The legal firm of Sherin and Lodgen, Boston, which represents the 12 communities in the Northeast Regional Metropolitan Vocational School, recently submitted a bill for $24,700 covering negotiations for the past six months.

This, according to Gerard P. Donahoe, Winchester's representative on the Vocational School Committee, brings the total cost of legal fees for the past 14 months to $45,000. Donahoe considers this excessive.

He reminds The Star that the budget request for the 12 towns for legal fees was originally requested at $35,000, but due to his loud voice against this high amount, the total was reduced to $12,000. This is more in line with what legal fees should be, said Donahoe.

He said he sent copies of the bills and accompanying correspondence to town counsel Douglas Randall. He said he spoke to executive secretary to the selectmen, Edward Donnelly, and is looking for Winchester selectmen and, hopefully, officials in other towns to object to the exorbitant costs of the legal fees by Sherin and Lodgen.

"All I can do is my homework" and bring information to the town, "but I need clout" from the selectmen and Finance Committee to muster up enough support from others to make changes, Donahoe said.

Coach Kelley Hearing Closed, Jammed

Backers of fired hockey coach Edward (Ted) Kelley jammed Barnsbury House Monday night to wait their turn to speak in his behalf.

The School Committee conducted a closed hearing at the request of Kelley. The hearing was closed Excluded was the general public to those not invited by Kelley to attend, and the press.

Kelley's backers appeared to be mostly divided into three groups: parents of present and former hockey players, fellow teachers and present and former hockey players. Of the 50 persons or so who appeared before the committee to show solidarity on Kelley's behalf there were a number of friends of Kelley and other residents of the town.

None of the fired coach's critics were in attendance at the 2½-hour hearing.

Kelley's backers entered the hearing room in small groups, said what was on their mind, then left to make way for other groups. All freely talked with The Star about what they said.

"He was fired for 'integrity,'" said WHS teacher Constance M. Trickett. "If he had been fired for his win-loss record I could understand. But to fire him for 'integrity'! That's the thing he's strongest on."

"He's not presenting Winchester's image?"

Holiday Deadline

The office of The Winchester Star will be closed Monday, Memorial Day.

Early news copy is requested by 5 p.m. Friday when possible. Advertising deadlines remain the same: Tuesday, 4 p.m. for classifieds; Tuesday, 5 p.m. for display.

Most stores and businesses in Winchester will be closed all day on the holiday.

I can't understand that. He's a person of deep integrity." Added another teacher: "Which makes him a positive exception among teachers."

Neither Kelley, his lawyer, nor the president of the Winchester Education Association would comment on the hearing. The public was excluded from the hearing on the advice of Kelley's lawyer.

School Committee Chairman Stephen R. Parkhurst spoke with The Star afterwards. "The committee has heard the 46 individuals Mr. Kelley asked here on his behalf. The hearing was conducted very well. The School Committee will take the matter under advisement."

Parkhurst said he doesn't expect the members to be discussing the issue at any meeting previous to next Tuesday's scheduled meeting, when he thinks the board will decide whether to reconsider hiring Kelley.

Committeeman Parkhurst answered the question why only proponents of Kelley were heard from this way: "We chose not to do so." He explained that it was Coach Kelley who had requested the hearing, not the committee. "This was our opportunity to provide Mr. Kelley with a chance to be heard."

Asked what sort of opposition to Kelley's contract renewal the committee has received, Parkhurst said many letters have been received (though there have been more in support than opposition), "oral comments by parents and others and there has been some criticism in the School Department."

Chairman Parkhurst said the committee Tuesday will decide Kelley's coaching contract in closed session. The earlier vote not to rehire him was unanimous. Unrenewal of the contract does not affect Kelley's status as a teacher at Winchester High School.

The following are a few excerpted comments hearing participants gave The Star as they left the hearing room. Committeemen asked few questions of the speakers. The only single question appearing over and over was to explain any possible misconduct call made against Kelley by a referee.

Richard Kimball, a Ginn rd., former selectman: "I've been around Winchester hockey 20 years. I've attended most games... Is winning more important than losing? Is that a new policy for Winchester? How well the kids play is important. The coach can't score the goals.... I never saw anything on the bench that was not normal to my team."

Jim Malloy, Everett hockey coach: "They said he was under observation for this season. The observation consisted of Parkhurst watching one period all season."

John Grady, former player, hockey official: "Of the kids he coached at Belmont Hill, 15 to 20 went on to play college hockey. They asked me about misconducts. I said as far as I know there have been none against Ted.... There is as good coaching from Ted as from Jack Kelly of the Whalers."

Tony Guarente, former player: "I said I really know Mr. Kelley as a true friend. I used to do a lot of things with him — jogging and going shopping."

Attending the closed hearing were High School Principal Vincent Larocco, Athletic Director Henry Knowlton, former committee member Mary Mears, Supt. of Schools William C. D. MacDonald and the WEA president, as well as committee members and lawyers for both sides.

It has been determined that Kelley's coaching has been on probation from the School Department for the last year. The School Committee in a letter to Kelley spelled out the terms of the probation. The School Committee feels it is up to Kelley to release to the public those terms if he wishes.

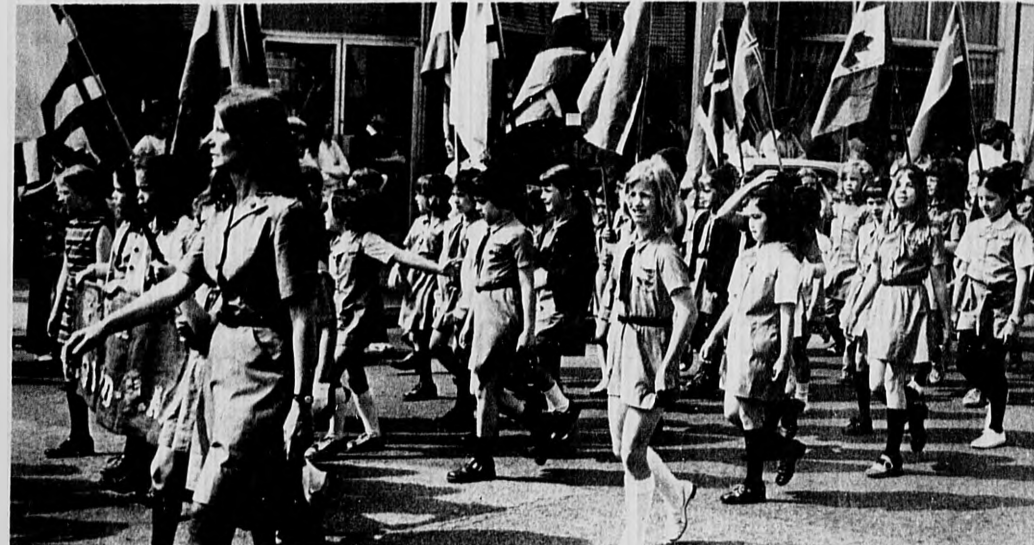

The Star has been unable to reach Kelley, his attorney or the WEA president for comment.

Obituaries

Mrs. Boardley Dies Unexpectedly In Cambridge Home

Edith J. (Hooper) Boardley of Cambridge, formerly of Winchester, died unexpectedly at her home Sunday.

Funeral service was held yesterday at the Lane Funeral Home where Christian Science reader Johannes Spanjaard of the First Church of Christ-Scientist officiated. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Boardley was born in Boston 76 years ago. She was the daughter of Thomas H. and Rossetta (Burrell) Hooper.

She attended Winchester schools and was a member of the 1913 Winchester High School graduating class.

For 18 years she was employed by the Christian Science Publishing House, Boston. A Winchester resident for more than 55 years, she lived in Cambridge for the past 12 years.

Besides being active in the activities of the Christian Science Church, she was for many years a member of the West Medford Garden and Hobby Club.

Widow of the late Harold M. Boardley, she leaves two children, Harold M. Boardley Jr. of Cambridge and Mrs. Winona R. O'Neill of West Medford. She also leaves two grandchildren, Christine L. and Stephen H. Boardley; a sister, Mrs. Gladys E. Franklin of Boston; and aunt, Mrs. Mabel Adams of Cambridge.

Thornton F. Harvey

In 71st Year

Thornton Foster Harvey of Epsom, N. H., who lived in Winchester for more than 40 years, died May 15 at the Manchester Veterans Administration Hospital after a long illness.

Funeral service was held Monday at the Robert J. Costello Funeral Home where Rev. Newton Clay, chaplain of the Mystic Valley Lodge of Masons, officiated. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. Harvey was born 71 years ago in Wilton, Me. He was the son of Earle and Grace (Foster) Harvey.

He served in the Army during World Wars I and II. Called Harry by those who knew him well, he owned and operated a barber shop on Converse pl. until his retirement seven years ago.

He was a member of the Mystic Valley Lodge of Masons and the American Legion Post 97.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Irene (Coty) Harvey of Epsom, N. H.

Donations in his name may be forwarded to the American Cancer Society, 138 Newbury st., Boston.

Mood, Biting Win Art Awards

Two Winchester High School students won national awards in the 1974 scholastic awards competition.

Steve Mood won a gold medal from his wood cut based upon athletic competition.

Nate Biting won honorable mention for his wood cut with water color washed personifying an animal form.

Alexandra Myron State Employee

Alexandra (Pokrant) Myron, 66, of 3 Ox pasture, died unexpectedly on Sunday at Winchester Hospital.

A Winchester resident for 19 years, she was employed by the Board of Probation at the State House for 35 years.

Mrs. Myron was born in Salem on Feb. 24, 1908, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Myron. She was a graduate of Salem High School.

A member of St. Mary's Church, she leaves her husband, Paul J. Myron of Winchester, and two sons, James P. Myron of Winchester and Paul J. Myron Jr. of Concoct, N.H.; also a sister, Mrs. Lucy Kiley of Newton and two grandchildren.

Funeral mass was celebrated at St. Mary's Church yesterday with Father Roger Cormier officiating. Burial was in Wildwood Cemetery. Lane Funeral Home handled arrangements.

Alice Jenkins

Alice M. Shiverick Jenkins, 91, of Parkview Apartments, 200 Swanton st., died in Winchester on May 11 after a long illness.

A native of Brockton, Mrs. Jenkins was a 51-year resident of Winchester. She was a member of the First Congregational Church, Boston Tea Party Chapter, DAR and past regent of the Winchester Fortnightly Club.

Widow of the late Charles M. Jenkins, she leaves a sister, Eunice S. Emerson of 200 Swanton st., and several nieces and nephews. Private funeral services were at the Norris Funeral Home, 1 Elmwood ave. Burial was in Oak Grove.

Donations in her name may be sent to the Memorial fund of the First Congregational Church.

Principals Award WHS Student With Annual Scholarship

Timothy J. Parker, a senior at Winchester High School, has been honored by the Massachusetts Secondary School Principals' Association as a winner of one of MSSPA's annual scholarships.

The announcement was made by Vincent E. Larocco, principal, after word of the award was received from the Boston office of Bertram H. Holland, executive secretary-treasurer of MSSPA. Timothy is the brother of Michael Parker of Winchester.

Since 1962, the statewide association of principals annually has distributed $10,000 in scholarships to a varied number of students with amounts ranging from $100 to $500 for each.

MSSPA awards a $500 scholarship each year to a student participating in the state science fair conducted by the Massachusetts Department of Education.

MSSPA has distributed $125,000 in its first 11 years of providing financial aid scholarships to deserving high school seniors. Winners are selected from all areas of the state in proportion to the total student enrollment in each school district. Margaret Carroll, Principal of Girls Latin School in Boston, serves as chairman of the MSSPA's scholarship committee.

William E. Priest, Banker, Former Town Auditor, Dies

William E. Priest of Dennisport, formerly of Winchester, died in his 92nd year May 18 at Barnstable County Hospital, Pocasset.

He was a former treasurer of the Winchester Savings Bank and Winchester town auditor.

Son of the late Charles and Martha Priest, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Ruth E. (Squires) Priest, and a son, Emerson C. Priest of South Dennis, also a former Winchester resident.

Mr. Priest came to Winchester Savings Bank in November of 1917 when he was elected treasurer. Previously he was with the North End Savings Bank. In 1922 he was elected corporator and trustee of the Winchester Savings Bank. He retired as treasurer and trustee in 1956 but continued as corporator until 1974 after being associated with the bank for 57 years.

According to Joseph Krajewski of the Savings Bank, when Mr. Priest became bank treasurer the assets were $1,924,000. Under his guidance total resources had grown to $16,115,000 by the time he retired as treasurer in 1956.

Mr. Priest was elected town auditor in March 1922 and served in that capacity for two years at which time a change in the statute provided for the appointment of a town accountant. Mr. Priest was appointed to this post in April 1924 and served until 1951. During most of the years between 1939-1951 Mr. Priest was an ex-officio member of the Winchester Retirement Board. In 1953 he was elected commissioner of Winchester Trust Funds and held that office until 1956.

Private graveside services were held at Wildwood Cemetery.

Grange 343 Annual Breakfast June 2

Members of Winchester Grange No. 343 will hold their annual breakfast on June 2 at the Mullen home, 8 Park rd.

Breakfast will be served continuously from 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. It will include juice, cereal, scrambled eggs, bacon, homemade muffins and coffee.

All Granges throughout the state, under the auspices of their home and community committees, are raising money and donating it to local hospitals. Thus all donations and profits from this breakfast will be given to Winchester Hospital.

It is the hope of Winchester Grange No. 343 to be able to donate clocks for the 10 rooms in the Intensive Care Unit.

To quote Reese James, administrator of Winchester Hospital, "These clocks will serve two purposes (1) to help the patient keep oriented to the day - a most important need and (2) to help in timing certain procedures by physicians and nurses."

Donations may be sent to Mrs. Clair Mullen, 8 Park rd. For more information contact Mrs. Donald Wilkins, 8 Clematis st.

Pet Promenade Planned June 10

The fourth annual poolside pet promenade is slated for June 10 at the home of Mrs. Winthrop Knox, 1 Westgate rd.

Sponsored by the Winchester Auxiliary of MSFCA to benefit their animal welfare work, the event will feature a promenade of pets around the Knox pool, a fashion show, a musical quartet and a boutique. Champagne, hors d'oeuvres and snacks will be served.

Mrs. Ralph Smith Jr., Mrs. William Rhodes, Mrs. Winthrop Knox, Mrs. Anthony Alba and Mrs. Paul Riccardi head the committee.

Big Parade Planned Monday

The Memorial Day committee is inviting all Winchester veterans to participate in the observance of Memorial Day Monday.

Marching in the parade's music department will be the Saugus D.A.V. Band, Fireman's Band, Inc., Winchester High School Band and the Elementary School Band. Also appearing will be St. Patrick's Drill Team of Stoneham, eastern Massachusetts champions.

Members of the Winchester Police and Fire Departments, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts from the Winchester Minute Man Council, Boy Scouts of America, will also march. Military units participating will be from 101st Eng. Bn., National Guard Armory of

French Students Receive Honors

Two Winchester High students received prizes at a recent meeting at Belmont High School of the eastern Massachusetts chapter of the American Association of Teaching French.

Placing third in the contest for French IV students was Stephen Thomson Moore. Serena Urry received a third prize in the French II examination.

A record number of students participated this year in the contest held at Belmont High School March 30.

Eight Winchester High students gained recognition for placing among the first 10 students in their categories in the New England regional contest.

They were French II: Serena Urry, Jeanne Marcous, Lisa Contompassis and James Votaw.

French III: Stephanie Littell, French IV: Stephen Thomson Moore, David Curtis and George Zettler.

Also receiving certificates for ranking high in the eastern Massachusetts contest were:

French II: Christina Fopiano, Denise Marini, Alice Schell, Marianne Kenney, Kathleen Regan, Dorothyanne Brown, Paula Deleo, Amy Puffer, Virginia Taylor, Colleen Fitzpatrick, Ellen Guthrie, Theano Geraniotis and Anne Levinson.

Certificates were awarded to the following Winchester teachers, where students placed high in the regional contest: Alfred Duhamel, Nancy Gelowsky, Barbara Holden and Agnes Walsh.

German Consul Visits Foreign Language Dept.

The foreign language department of Winchester High School was honored Monday by the visit of the German consul for information and press affairs, Hermann Kroeger.

He addressed the students of all four German classes and awarded book prizes for excellence in German to the following students:

German IV: Keith Bonn, Cynthia Mills and Richard Test.

German III: Peter Cresse, Guy Joslin and Richard Terzian.

German I: Stephanie Littell and William Schromm.

On the same day Mlle. Veronique Lohiniene of the French Library of Boston spoke to the French IV students. She was accompanied by Mrs. Antonio Mezzacappa of 66 Yale st., an active member of the French Library.

Daisy Days Fair A 'Huge Success'

The sun shone, the crowds came and EnKa's Daisy Days street fair last Friday and Saturday at the Town Hall parking lot was considered a huge success.

The parade on Saturday morning was large and colorful. Prizes for floats depicting the fair theme were won by Winchester Estates Garden Club and Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

The winners for floats depicting the theme of the particular organization went to Little League and Friends of the Winchester Hospital.

The winner of the trip to Bermuda was Mrs. Harold Meyer.

Crowds of young, middle-aged and older people worked, played and enjoyed themselves. Of particular interest was the artisans and craftsmen displaying their talents.

Pop Warner Elects President

At the last director's meeting, Art Giannelli was elected to serve a two-year term as president of Winchester Pop Warner. Giannelli has been active in the program for the past five years, serving on the board of directors and coaching at the "Pee Wee" level, as well as last year's head coach of the "C" team.

The directors have set the registration dates for June 1 and June 8 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. Due to the increased equipment cost and insurance cost, registration fee for the "A", "B" and "C" teams has been increased with the "Pee Wee" fee remaining. Families with more than two boys are only required to pay for the first two, the third etc. does not require the payment of a fee.

Pop Warner requests individuals to coach at the "Pee Wee" level and to assist in the officiating of "Pee Wee" games. Any person interested may contact either Art Giannelli, 28 Spruce st. or Chuck Addelsberger, 34 Tufts rd. Addelsberger, who will act as director of the Pee Wees will make the final selection of coaches by August 1. The directors have selected Carl Jacobson as head coach of the "C" team for the upcoming season.

Officers Finish

Several Winchester police officers recently completed a refresher course in first aid sponsored by the American Red Cross.

Those granted certificates are Sgt. John Frongillo, and Officers Frank Vozzella, William Nash, Anthony Pronski, Richard Beaton and Daniel Pearson.

Safety Officer John W. McKinley was the instructor.

During the week of May 13 all officers of the department participated in firearms practice at the Metropolitan Police range in Stoneham.

Members of the auxiliary police also participated.

Range officer Sgt. Mario Buzzotta stated that he was greatly pleased with the enthusiasm shown by the officers and by the improvement made over previous years.

The Cost Of Athletics

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

As of Monday, May 20, 1974, I have submitted to the Board of Selectmen through its executive secretary a petition with over 200 signatures calling for a special town meeting seeking financial aid so that existing athletic programs at the high school and junior high schools may be maintained and proposed new programs may be implemented.

In seeking advice from town officials as to the mechanics of this petition, I was advised not to go this route. Their reasoning was that after 17 grueling sessions of town meetings, nerves on edge, the town meeting members would be further aggravated by the cost incurred for this special meeting concerning athletics since it had been defeated twice before. They said they could almost guarantee defeat on this question if I did go the route of a special town meeting. They suggested an alternative—that I might attach this article to the warrant of the next special town meeting which would be the subject of the waste disposal problem. But in turn no one could advise me exactly when this meeting would come about—only possibly in July or August.

After careful consideration I decided to take the route I have embarked on. I felt that if I had an illness in the family I wouldn't wait for the whole family to get sick before I called the doctor in order to save expenses. Time is of the essence. The whole athletic program for the 1974-75 season is at a standstill because of the consequences of this petition.

If this question of additional financial aid to the athletic budget is defeated because of the reasoning elicited from the town officials, "God help Winchester," "God save the children."

On the other hand, if the town meeting members would reflect on the article for reconsideration of the athletic budget, they might note that their constituents voted 94 for reconsideration, 51 against. Because of the mechanics of town meeting, we lost by two votes the necessary two-thirds majority.

What brought about the drastic change from non-support to support of athletic programs? Insignificant? Communication between town meeting members and voters in support of the athletic programs? Was the vote truly representative of the town's feeling?

If the town meeting members weigh the pros and cons of athletics, the only objection to athletics would be their cost. Then I would ask them, "Would our taxes go down if we eliminated athletics?"

Let's look on the plus side of the board for the welfare of our community.

With the institution of the new athletic programs well over 1,000 students would be able to participate in athletics with equal opportunity for choice of sports as well as equal opportunity for girls and boys.

If we have saved a few of these kids from turning to drugs or stem their delinquencies by offering them a release from their inhibitions and frustrations through athletics, have the monies been well spent?

If five percent of these students are afforded the opportunities of an athletic scholarship to help further their educations, have the monies been well spent?

If some of these students aspire to be another Bobby Orr, a Billy Jean King, a Carl Yastrzemski, a John Havlicek or a Mark Spitz by denying them these sports, aren't we defeating the goal of our educational system to prepare them for their individual aspirations?

Professional athletics is one of the fastest growing industries in these United States. Athletics has been boiled down to a science where it is no longer the sport where a student who cannot achieve academically has found his or her outlet. Now in order to compete he or she has to achieve academically.

I can go on and on expounding the pros of athletics as it has been done for us through the media, through the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

May I now write a few lines about the cons of athletics—its "cost"? We cannot blame the students for the cost of hockey or any sport and then deny them the opportunity to participate in them, no more than we can blame them for the cost of living increase and then tell them to stop living.

To maintain our existing athletic programs and implement the new programs we are talking 20 cents per thousand valuation—an average of $6 per property owner.

I as a taxpayer and parent am deeply concerned about our rising tax rate and the cost of athletics.

In conjunction with the Supt. of Schools, Bill MacDonald, and the new director of athletics, Bill Colella, we have sought ways to cut the so-called fat off our athletic budget. And let me tell you there is little to trim. We are negotiating for cheaper ice time, cheaper pool time. We have discussed the possible cut in bussing for any program with less than 20 students. We are looking at our cash receipts to see if we can't merchandise our athletics more effectively. This can be achieved by a more concerted effort on the part of all the parents of athletes.

If we do not maintain and implement new athletic programs we will find ourselves discriminating, not only between boys and girls, but also among the individual sports.

Let's all pool our resources. For the sake of a better community, we sometimes have to pay the price.

Vincent J. Palumbo
6 Thornberry rd.

Letters to the editor may be sent to 3 Church St. Writers are asked to submit their letters no later than 5 p.m. on Monday.

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I was most distressed by the cut in the school budget for athletics. Instead of cutting it, town meeting should have raised it! It's no source of "pride in our fine schools" to have our boys go to Arlington for swim team practice and all over for hockey practice.

I wish there were some more money to allow more intramural sports so that boys and girls who aren't good enough for the top school teams can have the fun and discipline of playing on a team in their own league, especially in the junior high level. Maybe it would save some broken windows.

Girls' Baseball

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would like to explain what we should have for our children if there were enough money.

I'm sure the Recreation Department run by Don Spinney would and could handle girls' baseball and a lot more. It's kind of hard to spread out such a small amount of money to all our children.

I'm just glad I could help our children. And I would like to thank Mr. Spinney for the help he has given me in Winchester baseball for girls.

Irresponsible, Misleading

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

This is in reply to your comments in last week's Star concerning our son Patrick and the Beacon's soccer coach Arpy Von Lazar.

We found your article to be irresponsible, inaccurate and misleading.

You implied that Patrick had purposely fouled an opposition player, which was totally incorrect. Furthermore, character assassination of the coach on the basis of a quote by a nameless person has no place in our town paper.

The Winchester youth soccer program is one of the truly fine things we have in this town. Many dedicated men have made this possible, and Arpy is one of them. We hope that in the future the editor of The Star will be more responsible than to attack anyone on the basis of incorrect facts and nameless people.

Beth and Dick Fortin
54 Oxford st.

Reconsider Resignation

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I would like to respond to the unidentified parent who said, "I'd like people to know that the rest of the people involved in youth soccer are not the same (as Arpy Von Lazar)."

Dr. Von Lazar was especially hurt by the implied criticism of young Patrick Fortin, who happens to be one of the finest young athletes and gentlemen in our town.

Well, Arpy Von Lazar has resigned and Winchester Youth Soccer is the loser. I have been involved in a small way in Winchester Youth Soccer for seven years. I am compelled to agree with the unidentified parent that people in youth soccer are among the finest I know. However, Arpy Von Lazar is one of the best and the kids love him. I hope he reconsiders.

In Memoriam: Rocky Raccoon

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Rocky Raccoon, born during April, 1973. Died May 12, 1974.

Rocky, who was abandoned by his mother, was given to Cheryl Oravetz of 98 Pond St. Cheryl bottle fed and cared for Rocky during her infancy and throughout the next year of her life. Rocky became a household pet and gave us many happy hours.

On Mothers Day, May 12, 1974, Cheryl had to suffer through the fact that Rocky was destroyed by the gun of a Winchester police officer.

Rocky's crime was to have strayed onto the property of another Winchester resident who insisted that Rocky be destroyed.

Also there was a resident who came running with a rifle with no regard for the fact that he could have caused a tragedy of great proportions.

Though nature gave you a mask to wear, Rocky, your only crime was to have been born amongst the worst animal of all (Man).

In your memory, I would like to buy for the Winchester police a tranquilizing gun in hopes that some other child may be spared this type of traumatic experience.

William Oravetz

A Public Tribute

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

My purpose in writing this letter is to pay public tribute to the conscientious professionalism exhibited by the Winchester Police Department.

Their prompt and efficient response on three separate occasions speaks volumes for these people dedicated to public service.

Marigold Campaign Not Over Yet

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I was interested in PK's article on dandelions in the May 9 Star. The statement that Sen. Everett Dirksen had pushed his "marigold campaign through Congress to a successful conclusion" is not correct. The bill was defeated through the efforts of Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, who favored the rose.

We still do not have a national floral emblem although there are bills now pending before Congress proposing the marigold, rose and shasta daisy, with others expected before hearings begin.

Sen. Howard Baker, son-in-law of Sen. Dirksen, and Sen. Mike Mansfield are co-sponsoring the marigold bill. Mrs. Dirksen, the senator's widow, is actively working for it along with promoting her book, "The Hon. Mr. Marigold," which gives a pretty thorough account of his efforts.

The idea was not even original with the senator, who agreed to front for it only after it was turned down by Sen. Hugh Scott, David Burpee, of Burpee Seed Co. was, and still is, the guiding hand behind the effort.

Mrs. Dirksen wrote me recently that she is very optimistic the marigold will become our national flower because it is "the only flower in nomination that is native to this country, is found in every state and is not now the official flower of any state."

You may be interested to know that unofficial polls are being taken throughout the country and the rose, marigold and corn tassel are way out leaders followed by the violet. Other favorites are sunflowers, chrysanthemum, dahlia, zinnia, petunia, azalea, pansy, phlox, hollyhock, geranium, mountain laurel and dandelion.

Even marijuana has received a substantial number of votes! In Massachusetts a group of 500 children preferred the marigold, with the corn tassel second choice.

Our senators have not expressed a personal preference, although Sen. Brooke, who serves on the judiciary committee which will consider the bills, told me he would welcome the opinions of Massachusetts residents. If any of your readers would care to do so they may send me their choice on a postcard and I will forward the results to the senator.

So if PK is really interested, she (he?) may start petitioning for the dandelion. With more weighty matters before Congress, the issue is not likely to come up for some time, although it is hoped this will be in time for the bicentennial celebration.

MSPCA Member Is Gratified

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Through your readers' column, may I thank the wonderful members of the Winchester Auxiliary, MSPCA for a real show of friendly concern, and affection when "the chips were down"?

Monday, May 13, coming home from our annual meeting which was held at a member's home in Sudbury, I had an accident. A station wagon without brakes rammed into the left side of my VW, and threw it aside, onto a wooded hill, and I finally got it off the slant where it might have toppled over.

I had three members with me. The damage to the car is still not established—the thoughtful Sudbury police took two of us to Marlboro Hospital, and we were cared for, then released around 7 p.m.

The main thing was the wonderful feeling and concern of these members, my friends. It was like a great wave pouring over me, and I knew then, I would be okay. And I am. And I wish I could let each one know how much it meant to feel such personal affection, to look back on Rte. 20 and see all the Winchester members lined up, wanting to help! To these ladies, thank you.

Wanted: Umpires, Gloves

It looks like the girls have finally arrived as far as baseball is concerned. With little public notice, Pat Sizemore has begun a girls league for 140 girls.

Mrs. Sizemore is now busy lining up playing fields. The league has 16 teams and about 140 girls in all. In the afternoons the teams will be playing at school playgrounds and on weekends at some of the park playgrounds.

The girls have contributed $1,000 so far toward purchase of equipment for their teams. Mrs. Sizemore still needs baseball gloves and umpires—girls or boys. She has some junior high school senior league boys helping her umpire at present, she says, but still needs more.

James McInerney, who works at O'Neill's Pharmacy on Washington st., made a hole in one Sunday at Green Meadows Country Club in Hudson, N.H. Luckily McInerney had three witnesses with him: John Castro of Washington st., Don Morgan of Woburn and Mike Bavuso of Winchester Hardware.

McInerney made the hole in one on a 165-yard par 3 hole (the 13th) using a five iron.

The Park Department has nearly drained Leonard's Pool in its cleaning out work and reports they have exterminated eels and half a dozen turtles. The snapping turtles have heads the size of fists, Bill Ryerson tells me.

"The crane crushed oodles of them," Ryerson added. "The police shot two." When I asked him why they couldn't move the turtles somewhere instead of killing them Ryerson said, "What can you do? No one wants them. If you put them in the river they come back."

Catherine Skinner wrote to the Park Commission last week requesting permission to be married at the duck pond. The commissioners became in quite an argument whether they can grant such permission. Chairman Alby MacDonnell read from their rules: "No person shall preach or pray aloud..." on park land "...except in places designated by the board."

Cmsr. Bill Ryerson said, "Well we're designating it." Park Supt. Babe Mullen suggested the couple could throw cracked corn instead of rice.

End result: Permission granted for "ceremonial purposes only." Date of the wedding is June 3, 1975. Cmsr. Chandler Parkhurst stipulated that no collation could take place.

The commission has authorized a huge re-landscaping of Mill Pond along the wall. There used to be a heavy growth of trees and brush along the wall.

Now the area is being neatly laid out with a walk and carefully planted trees. No doubt it will look scenic. But I wonder if the natural trees and shrubs wouldn't have looked better. The other commissioners jokingly called the project Parkhurst Lane because of the interest Chandler has had.

Arthur Spector, who is running as an Independent for state senate, has supplied me with the following yearly per capita costs for prisoner upkeep at two of the Massachusetts correctional institutions (you can't say prisons anymore):

Fiscal year 1974, at Walpole, $8,345.

Fiscal year 1973, at Framingham, $16,662.

Seventy percent of those costs, Spector said, go for salaries. Spector until recently was in charge of the commonwealth's capital budgeting.

Hear Ye!

The following is a list of meetings of town boards and committees taken from the Town Hall bulletin board. All meetings are usually open to the public. Unless otherwise noted here, they take place at Town Hall, 71 Mount Vernon st.

Board of Appeals will not meet during May.

Finance Committee meetings are cancelled until further notice.

Thursday, May 23
Winchester Republican Town Committee, health clinic office, 7:45 p.m.

Planning Board public hearing, East Room, 8:15 p.m. zoning at Swanton and Washington streets; at 8:30 p.m. Carriage Hill subdivision.

Tuesday, May 28
Winchester Council on Aging, council office, new Lincoln School, 1 p.m.

Board of Selectmen, selectmen's meeting room, 7:30 p.m.

Board of Assessors, assessor's office, 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday, May 29
Winchester Charter Commission, first floor conference room, 7:30 p.m.

School Committee, Sanborn House, High street, 7:30 p.m.

Winchester Center Task Force, selectmen's office, tentatively 7:30 p.m.

Monday, June 3
Planning Board public hearing, proposed sub-division, East room, 8:30 p.m.

Thursday, June 6
Public Works Council, selectmen's meeting room, 7:30 p.m.

Meetings posted after 8:30 a.m. Wednesday morning are not included.

I asked Spector, by the way, why if he is really a Republican as he professes he is not running in the Republican primary in September but chooses to bypass that and wait for the general election in November.

It seems that all the furor over Watergate makes Spector feel that a Republican primary will become mired in non issues and he prefers to stand on his own. He's an independent first and foremost, he said, and a Republican second.

One of those warm nights recently I was sitting quietly in my living room with the windows open listening to Copland and reading. Along comes a motorcycle that was so loud I felt my head was going to burst open.

That motorcycle was so noisy it set off the burglar alarm on a store across the street. Isn't that disturbing the peace? I mean, we arrest people for disrupting the public peace for much lesser offenses. Isn't there something that can be done about things like this? I wish I knew.

The warm weather Friday night really brought out the crowds at the EnKa Fair. There was some pushing and shoving, but that's to be expected. "In some instances people fell to the ground," said Richard Hilliger who was working at the ferris wheel. "But it was calm. Nothing out of the ordinary."

The Saturday crowd was much lighter. Why doesn't the fair continue through Sunday?

Recreation Director Donald Spinney seems to be running into difficulties again with the Recreation Committee, which appoints him. At their last meeting the committee voted 4-2 to "post" the job of recreation director as of Sept. 15 if Spinney isn't performing 100 percent.

The two opposed, Noreen Connell and Howard Goodrow, voted against the motion because they wanted to "post" Spinney's job as of July 1. In Town Hall parlance, to post a job means to open the position to applications.

APOLOGIES

Last week The Star reported that Selectmen John J. Sullivan and Arthur E. Dunbar voted for James Hinton as a replacement for deceased Planning Board member William Holland.

That was in error. The selectmen favoring Hinton were Sullivan and Vito Giarrizzo. Not to exonerate The Star for this error, but to make our reporter who covered the meeting feel better, this note from another reporter covering that session:

"Dunbar and Jerry (Giarrizzo) swapped seats but not name plates at the beginning of the meeting. In fact, the entire meeting was conducted with Dunbar's name in front of Jerry, including interviews with six assessors candidates, Resource Systems president and attorney, etc. There were a lot of visitors that evening also."

William S. Cummings won the vacant Planning Board seat on a 6-3 vote. Joseph Geary of the Planning Board was the third vote for Hinton. Each member of the Planning Board and Board of Selectmen had one vote.

Many of last week's pictures came out very dark, much darker than normal. That was no fault of the photographers but rather a problem with production.

One picture I feel obliged to run over because I heard several persons comment that they thought the two persons pictured were men. In fact, it was a picture of a young man and a young woman.

Girl and boy take break from classes.

Somehow our lead baseball story last week identified the sport as basketball in the lead paragraph of the story headlined "Sachem Nine Splits Pair." The sport, of course, is baseball.

"Dear Denton" was a column we began last week, a kind of advice column oriented toward the male. I thought it was somewhat of a fun thing, as did five or six other people who spoke to me about it. But an equal number objected to the use of such space for non-Winchester oriented material and specifically suggested that if we have such extra space to devote it to church news. The publisher agreed and so "Dear Denton" belongs to the ages.

Special Town Meeting Coming Up On Budgets

The Board of Selectmen Monday voted June 27 as the date of a special town meeting to deal with a citizen petition for school athletic appropriations.

The warrant for the special meeting will close Tuesday. There are several other articles expected to be acted on by the town meeting members.

The primary business of the special meeting, the reason the meeting is being called, is a petition circulated by high school swim coach Vincent Palumbo.

Containing 300 names, the petition asks: "Would the town meeting consider appropriating a sum of money sufficient to supplement the school athletic budget so that it may maintain existing athletic programs and implement the following new programs for the 1974-1975 school season:

"High school: girls swim team and boys swim team.

"Junior High schools: girls field hockey, girls basketball, girls softball and boys soccer."

The annual town meeting which concluded last month cut $40,000 from the School Department's $150,000 athletic budget. The meeting refused to restore the $40,000 after a motion to reconsider lost. A 94 to 51 vote was two votes shy of the necessary two thirds.

Palumbo said his intent is to get the $40,000 restored. But, he added, he and Supt. of Schools William C. MacDonald and Athletic Director William Colella have been meeting to seek ways to trim the budget.

"We are negotiating for cheaper ice time, cheaper pool time. We have discussed the possible cut in bussing for any program with less than 20 students," Palumbo said in a letter to The Star this week (page 4).

"We are looking at our cash receipts," the letter continued, "to see if we can't merchandise our athletics more effectively. This can be achieved by a more concerted effort on the part of all the parents of athletes."

Palumbo and half a dozen friends gathered the 300 signatures over the weekend at the suggestion of the School Committee. The Board of Selectmen is required to convene a special town meeting within 45 days if 200 citizens so request.

The School Committee has indicated it will also seek appropriations at the special meeting. They want town meeting members to appropriate $21,000 to fund school secretaries salaries, which were increased by recently concluded negotiations.

Because the meeting at its annual session refused to appropriate $21,000 for that purpose, the committee last week voted to cut three clerk aides and a paraprofessional at the high school beginning in September.

It's possible the committee may seek to restore all or part of $100,000 the annual meeting cut from the total school budget of $7 million. The meeting originally cut $200,000 and then restored $100,000 at the committee's request.

According to selectmen secretary Edward F. Donnelly, there are other articles for the warrant so far.

They are installation of nine school zones, state reimbursing cost of up to $71,000, rezoning from residential to business a parcel of land between Washington and Swanton sts.; appropriation to library in relation to the new federal minimum wage law; naming of athletic field on Skillings road.

LWV To Support Town Manager Form

The program for the coming year was adopted at the Winchester League of Women Voters' convention held recently at the home of Mrs. John Mahoney, 8 Everett ave.

Members voted for an evaluation of the recreation programs in Winchester and the allocation of public money to such programs. Members also voted to encourage cooperative planning by town boards and committees, to work for the preservation of open space and to support measures to establish the town manager form of government. Efforts to revitalize Winchester center will be supported by the League.

In the field of education the members voted to continue their interest in open education, pupil services in the elementary schools and the Metropolitan campus.

In addition they decided to study Chapter 766, its effects and progress in the school system.

Mrs. Raymond Simpson, delegate to the recent national league convention, reported that in a period of about six weeks league members from all over the country gathered more than half a million signatures for the citizens' petition for reform in campaign financing.

"On the national level," she said, "the league will expand its study of representative government to include an evaluation of the role of the executive branch."

The Winchester bylaws were amended to conform with the decision made at the national convention that voting membership be open to men and women.

Mrs. Richard Thuma will continue as president and Mrs. David Turnquist as secretary.

Other officers elected at the local convention are Mrs. Raymond Simpson, first vice-president; Mrs. Theodore Wood, second vice-president and Mrs. Robert Bigelow, treasurer.

Elected as directors are Mrs. Charles DuToit, Mrs. Lawrence Keats, Mrs. Stephen Moore, Mrs. John Twomey and Mrs. William Wells.

Continuing as directors for one year are Mrs. Roger Baumann, Mrs. Abraham Goldin, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Mrs. David Mortenson and Mrs. Eugene Racek.

Tot Finder Decals

Tot Finder decals may be picked up at the central or west side fire stations by Winchester residents. A decal could save a Winchester child's life.

Zoomobile Visit Is June 8

The Boston Zoological Society's zoomobile will visit Winchester Saturday, June 8, the weekend of Town Day.

The zoomobile will be at the rear of the public library at Mill Pond from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The visit is being sponsored by the Winchester Business Association in order to promote good will.

Some of the animals on view will be Nelson, a boa constrictor; Arlene, a parrot; Sampson, the iguana; Humphrey, the monkey; Belle, a possum; and Alfred, a four-foot long alligator.

Members of the Zoological Society will explain about the animals and answer questions.

Gray Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Gray (Suzanne Mary Murphy) of West Roxbury are parents of a daughter, Kathleen Erin, born May 4 at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Richard Murphy of Melrose and Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Gray of 31 Albamont rd. The baby has a three-year-old brother, Nicholas.

Club To Glimpse China Via Slides

The Winchester College Club last Thursday held a luncheon followed by a glimpse of China via slides and a talk by Alice Stone Ilchman, dean of students at Wellesley College.

Ms. Ilchman, a 1957 graduate of Mt. Holyoke College, visited China this past March with a group of 14 including the translator for the American ping pong team.

In the two weeks spent inside China the group visited Peking, Canton, Shanghai and a small commune. Ms. Ilchman's talk, with slides and anecdotes, covered visits to the commune, a jeep factory, child care clinics, a university, hospitals, street side clinics and different street scenes from the three cities.

Museums Show

Living In Bridgewater

Linda Ciarcia Is Bride Of Mr. McKinley

Linda M. Ciarcia became the bride of Robert A. McKinley recently at St. Mary's Church. Rev. Bernard Hoy officiated. A reception following the ceremony was held at the Holiday Inn, Burlington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Ciarcia of 181 Mystic Valley pkwy. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David McKinley of Bridgewater.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an A-line styled gown, designed by her grandmother Mrs. Florence Ciarcia, featuring an empire waist of all lace with organza sleeves and a high lace collar. Her headdress was covered with lace and held a floor-length veil. She carried white roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Her sister, Nancy Ciarcia, was maid of honor. She wore a purple and white lace gown over purple taffeta and a white picture hat. She carried spider mums with matching purple ribbon streamers.

Anita and Paula DiRocco, both of 4

Hillside ave., were flower girls. They wore pink and white lace dresses over pink taffeta with matching headbands. They carried wicker baskets with spider mums and other flowers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Ladue of Bridgewater, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. George Lindquist of Brockton. They wore aqua and white lace over aqua taffeta with white picture hats. They carried spider mums with matching aqua streamers.

David Maguire of Brockton was best man. Ushers were Robert Ladue of Bridgewater, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and the bride's brothers Joseph Ciarcia of Winchester and Michael Ciarcia of Fairview Park, Ohio. After a Bermuda wedding trip, the couple is at home in Bridgewater.

A 1969 graduate of Winchester High School, the bride was graduated from Bridgewater State College in 1973.

Mr. McKinley, a 1968 graduate of Bridgewater-Raynham Regional High School, spent two years with the U. S. Naval Seabees. He is now employed at Brockton Hospital.

Aleta Cogliano

Aleta Cogliano Is Bride-Elect Of Mr. Russell

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Cogliano of Medford, formerly of Winchester, announce the engagement of their daughter, Aleta, to David Warren Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Russell of Stoneham.

A 1973 graduate of Winchester High School, Miss Cogliano is a student at Northeastern University. Mr. Russell is a 1971 graduate of Stoneham High School. He is attending Coyne Electrical School, Boston. A Sept. 6 wedding is planned.

'Double Solitaire' Is Competitor

For the second year in a row Winchester will be represented at the New England Theater Conference Drama Festival by the Associated Theater Groups of Winchester. The festival is held annually at the Spingold Theater, Brandeis University.

The festival, which runs from May 29 through June 2, features one-acts and shortened dramas produced by Massachusetts community theater groups. A judge from the Canadian Guild of Drama Adjudicators will choose the best production, which will then compete in a New England Regional Festival. Winchester's entrant this year is "Double Solitaire," a one-act play about marriage and alternative life styles.

Written by Robert Anderson, who is best known for "Tea and Sympathy" and "I Never Sang for My Father," this drama was produced and directed by Karen Detore for the Evening of One-Acts earlier this year.

It features a married couple, Andy and Felicia Hall, in the leading roles of Charley and Barbara Potter. Also appearing will be Anne Guilderson, Don Chipman, Connie Dingwell, Al Leach and Jay Hosmer. Stage manager for the production is Allan Eyden. "Double Solitaire" will be performed, along with three other dramas, on May 31. There is an admission fee. The public is welcome. For more information, contact Karen Detore, 25 Central st.

Mrs. Cardin Is Re-elected To Lead MSPCA

Mrs. Fred Cardin of 8 Copley st. was reelected president of the Winchester Auxiliary, MSPCA, for 1974-75, with Mrs. Gordon Sidebotham, 57 Westland ave., as vice-president. The elections were held at the annual meeting of the auxiliary at the Sudbury home of Mrs. Augustus Mantia.

Mrs. Byron Jackson was reelected treasurer. Mrs. Walter Bowen, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Adolph Alla, recording secretary and Mrs. Gordon Tobey, corresponding secretary.

Committee chairmen include: Mrs. R.M. Shanklin of Melrose, program, ways and means; Mrs. Anthony Alba, Mrs. Winthrop S. Knox, Mrs. Wallace Knudsen, Mrs. Paul Ricciardi, Mrs. William Rhodes, Mrs. Ralph Smith Jr., tea committee; Mrs. Henry Delaney, who will be allocating two members at each meeting to arrange all tea essentials; publicity, Mrs. Robert Buckley, Mrs. George E. Connor, Mrs. Augustus Mantia; hospitality, Mrs. Walter Dignam; transportation, Mrs. Frank Burns, Mrs. William Rhodes, mystery gift, Mrs. LeRoy Lindgren. ## House Of Pizza Wrong Kind Of Pie For Center

Two young men desiring to rent the premises of 7 Thompson St. (formerly McLaughlin's Discount Shoe Store) to open the Winchester House of Pizza left the selectmen's office Monday night without the common victualler license they sought.

Accompanied by legal counsel Jerome Flanagan of Winchester, who said he also represented the owner of the building, Steven Tsouloufas and Nikolaos Stathopoulos were told by Arthur Dunbar that he opposed granting such a license "because of the nature of the business."

Selectman Lawrence Smith, who is liaison person between the selectmen and the Winchester Business Association, said he too would oppose granting the license at this time inasmuch as WBA envisions the solution to Winchester center revitalization "as being retail rather than service" type enterprises.

Smith said he felt it would be "premature to grant a license at this time" since the center task force is still in the preliminary stages of establishing goals which should be near completion for presentation to the town in June.

The selectmen asked the men about their backgrounds. They learned that one is currently working for a pizza establishment in a neighboring town while the other formerly worked for a pizza place.

Tsouloufas and Stathopoulos said they would install new ovens and set up a few booths for premises eating, yet they expected the bulk of their business would be "take out." They anticipated getting a truck at a later date to make home deliveries, and said they would park the truck on the street.

Selectman chairman Vito Giarrizzo suggested the men withdraw their request for a license in view of the negative feelings offered by Smith and Dunbar. This way, Giarrizzo explained, they could resubmit a request within six months should they so desire. If a vote was taken they would have to wait.

In an effort to persuade the selectmen to look favorably on granting the license, Flanagan noted it was unfortunate the men were not attempting to put in a Flene's or a Jimmy's Harborside Restaurant but that they had all intentions and expectations for success if they would not want to invest their money in equipment.

Noting he didn't want the landlady to feel the selectmen were trying to keep her from renting her empty building or to discourage the license petitioners, Dunbar said "A pizza parlor is just not consistent with the program the Winchester Business Association is trying to develop."

Before leaving with Tsouloufas and Stathopoulos, Flanagan asked that he be given an opportunity to appear before the WBA at a near future meeting. Smith took his phone number and said he would contact Flanagan for the meeting after next week's. A vote was not taken nor was a license granted.

Hill St. Wrangle
Paul E. Gangi of 22 Glenwood Ave. and James A. Seybold Jr. of Burlington appeared before selectmen to apply for a second-hand vehicle license, Class II, for their business known as Parkview Motors at 2 Hill St.

Following discussion among Gangi, Seybold, the selectmen and abutters, Mr. and Mrs. William Sullivan on zoning, use of the buildings and land, noise, hours the business would be open, and traffic, Selectman Smith said, "There are too many unknowns to vote" for or against the license.

Finally, after about an hour of talk, it was decided that Arthur Dunbar will meet with the applicants and abutters and come up with a recommendation to selectmen by June 17. If the license is issued, according to the new zoning by-law, Gangi and Seybold will then have to appear before the Board of Appeals for final approval. The Board of Appeals would then hold an open hearing.

OTHER BUSINESS
On the recommendation of Supt. of Streets Robert G. O'Brien, dead and/or dying maple trees, which are considered to be dangerous to public safety, will be removed from the following locations:

19 Prince Ave., 20 Prince Ave., top of Hill Prince Ave., 10 Prospect St., 18 Loring Ave. and 203 Highland Ave.

In a memo to selectmen on the move of Maple and Valley roads in connection with expansion and renovation at Winchester Hospital, town engineer John Ciarcia said he has been working closely with the firm of Richard J. Donovan Inc. to insure that plans are being prepared in compliance with Winchester rules and regulations.

"The plans are about 99 percent complete," said Ciarcia who notes he will be meeting shortly with the engineers to finalize all corrections and omissions.

The only disagreement at the present time, it appears, is whether or not a sidewalk should be installed on the easterly side of Maple road. This area will eventually be at the entrance of the proposed underground parking structure.

According to Ciarcia, the Planning Board has indicated they wish to have a sidewalk installed while the hospital feels they want to discourage people from walking on that side of Maple road.

Selectmen said if a sidewalk is required the hospital should be responsible.

Smith raised the question of the hospital's promise to return acquired area homes not needed for the current expansion plans back into the market. Executive Secretary Edward Donnelly was asked to address a letter to the hospital asking them to "reassure abutters" they are returning the houses into the economy.

The Winchester Town Day Committee was granted permission to erect a temporary sign at the center rotary announcing Town Day activities. At the request of selectmen, a representative of the Town Day program will be asked to appear before the selectmen next week to give a progress report.

Dog officer Domenic Molea was the subject of a letter of commendation to selectmen from Mrs. Fred Cardin, president of the Winchester Auxiliary MSPCA.

Mrs. Cardin described Molea as "most conscientious" and a person who is "hard-working" and one who "handles with politeness and tact the many difficult calls he receives."

She concludes, "We feel Winchester is very fortunate to have a dog officer like Domenic Molea."

Director Bob Storer gives notes to Winchester members of the cast of "Thieves' Carnival" to be presented by the Arlington Friends of the Drama, 22 Academy St., Arlington, May 30-June 2.

Planning Board Hearings Tonight

The Planning Board will hold a public hearing tonight beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Town Hall on a number of petitions.

Among them is a request from Daniel Gattineri for a change in zone from residence to business to allow for rolling of a parking lot at Swanton and Washington sts.

Gattineri told The Star he would like to pave the green area behind the block of stores on Washington St. at Swanton St. and behind the gasoline station in order to provide about 40 parking spaces.

The area, now being used for the parking of cars, would be legalized under the proposal.

The board will also hear plans for approval of a sub-division of Sarah Moss on West Side Hill.

Tot Finder decals may be picked up at the central or west side fire stations by Winchester residents. A decal could save a Winchester child's life.

Wyman 2d Graders Give Elderly Plants

In conjunction with Environmental Week of April, the second graders at Wyman School took cuttings from many different house plants, rooted and potted them.

Each child looked after his own plant for several weeks in the classroom and on May 16 all of the children walked over to the new elderly housing complex and presented the plants to the residents, a happy occasion enjoyed by the children and appreciated by the senior citizens.

The following children participated: Drew Bainsfather, Scott Burnett, Stuart Carlson, Thomas Hunter, Geoffrey McIntosh, Alexander Mills, Sean O'Riordan, James McKnight, Ralph D'Agostino, Ian Flockhart, Thomas Gittleman.

Also, Josh Keller, Alexander Laats, Peter Mahoney, Sean McGovern, George Saulnier, Yann Zombeck, Joan Fiore, Laura Guild, Lauren Hartnett and Wendy Herzog.

Also, Susanna Higgins, Erin McDonough, Jane Nadeau, Joanna Parlett, Leslie Paskerian, Pilar Pittas, Colleen Reynolds and Laurie Schwerin.

Also, Sydney Sorenson, Sarah Turrentine, Signe Ulwick, Judith Boone, Amy Cagnina, Deborah Cahill, Susan Cullivan and Christine DiGiovanni.

Also, Andrea Hodge, Esther Landau, Kristen McNamara, Lisa Pomeroy, Greta Rosenberger, Martha Schromm, Nancy Semonian and Laura Weylman.

Hancock Honors Two At WHS

Sidewalk Art Show June 9

The annual artists' sidewalk show sponsored by the Winchester Art Association will take place on June 9. Rain date is June 15. Amateur and professional artists from Winchester and neighboring communities may display works along the fence at Manchester Field on the Mystic Valley parkway from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

There will be a registration fee but no limit on the number of paintings each artist may submit in any medium. The association receives a 15 percent commission for each work sold; the proceeds go into a fund to further art interest and education.

Paintings, crafts and photographs may be registered at 10:30 a.m. on June 9 (and 9 a.m. on June 15 if rain date is necessary).

Hostesses will be available to help arrange and sell work. Paintings may be any size and in any medium but should be equipped for hanging with loops, hooks and wire.

A slip with artists' name, title of work and price (if for sale) should be attached to each painting.

Paintings should be as secure to as possible against wind damage, and artists should be prepared to remove their work in case of sudden rain. Hostesses will do all they can to assist.

All exhibitors using tables must provide them. Artists and craftsmen are invited to demonstrate work in progress. For details, contact Mrs. Betty Wilder 17 Mason st.

Mrs. Lola Pontone, recording secretary of the association is chairwoman of the show. She will be assisted by treasurer Joseph Puffer; corresponding secretary Mrs. Susan Vrotsos who is hostess chairwomen, and Mrs. Betty Wilder, membership chairwoman. Robert Cummings is in charge of properties and Gloria Giello is publicity chairwoman.

Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Pontone or Mrs. Wilder.

Parkhurst Student Teacher Goes To Wyman, Grade 5

Harriet M. Sachs has been named a grade 5 teacher at Wyman School for the 1974-75 school year.

Miss Sachs, who has been student teaching at Winchester's Parkhurst School, holds a bachelor of arts degree from Princeton University and a master in education degree from Boston University.

The School Committee also has appointed three teachers for assignment in the summer school program. They are Corinne Barrett, music specialist; Bettyann Wolsky, art specialist; and Eugene R. Bouley, earth science enrichment course.

Three teachers have been rehired for the coming year. They are as follows: Sybil Drummond, Muraco School, grade 3-4, half-time; and Thomas F. Walsh and Katherine A. Johnson, both at the senior high school in the social studies department.

The School Committee has accepted resignations from three teachers as follows: Eileen Swartz, Vinson-Owen School, primary grades; Charlotte A. Ackerman, Lincoln School, grade 1; and Barbara B. Allen, Wyman School, grade 4.

Selectmen's Meeting

Wiseman To Fill Assessor Vacancy

John R. Wiseman Jr. will fill the vacancy on the Board of Assessors formerly held by Windsor Carpenter who resigned after 10 years of public service.

Wiseman's unanimous appointment came Monday evening at a joint session among assessors George Andersen and S. Maxwell Beal and the Board of Selectmen.

Speaking for assessors, Andersen recommended that Wiseman who has extensive background in real estate as an appraiser and broker be nominated. Other candidates included: Werner A. Carlson, Howard E. Chase Jr., Kenneth F. Darcy, Charles S. Margosian and Ralph C. Powers.

Selectmen Vito Giarrizzo and William Chapman cast their votes for Wiseman while Arthur Dunbar voted for Darcy. Lawrence Smith said he had entered the meeting ready to vote for Carlson but that he would go with the majority and support Wiseman. With that Dunbar changed his vote and made the Wiseman appointment unanimous. Selectman John Sullivan was absent.

Anderson, Giarrizzo, Smith and Dunbar all commented on the high calibre of the candidates and hoped the losers would continue their interest in offering service to the town.

SCHOOL BOARD VACANCY

Next Tuesday selectmen and the School Committee will meet to select a person to fill a vacancy on the School Committee created by the recent resignation of Richard B. Lawrence. Selectman chairman Giarrizzo noted that residents who are interested in serving on this board should indicate such interest to the School Committee right away.

RECREATION COMMITTEE

Mrs. Noreen Connell was reappointed to membership on the Recreation Committee by selectmen Monday night. Her appointment for another three-year term came on the recommendation of the other members of the Recreation Committee.

According to selectmen, Mrs. Connell did not intend to remain on the committee after her term expired but at the request of the Recreation Committee she agreed to continue to complete some unfinished work.

Selectmen briefly interviewed four candidates for a second opening on the Recreation Committee. The candidates were Mrs. Doris DiZio, Edmund J. Doherty, Mrs. Joan Surabian and Mrs. Karen Wharton.

Selectmen asked each why he or she wanted to serve on the committee.

Mrs. DiZio, who said her only qualification was that she is raising seven children, commended the present recreation programs but said she feels some things "can be done better without costing more."

Doherty, who has been active in youth hockey and soccer for nine years, feels he can bring managerial and budget experience to the committee. He said the Recreation Committee should try to "offer something for all kids." He said he'd like to see a girls' Little League merge with the boys.

Mrs. Surabian considers recreation should meet "both ends of the line — children and the elderly." And Mrs. Wharton says a chief concern for the Recreation Committee is to try to reach a "large age bracket of youths being ignored" explaining this age to be youths who might frequent a drop-in center.

Selectmen asked all but Doherty their opinion on uniting the Park Department and the Recreation Committee. Mrs. DiZio said she would like to see park and recreation unite as one body and spoke of this being the case in Waltham where there is one director over both departments. Mrs. Surabian and Mrs. Wharton said the Park Board and the Recreation Committee should remain separate bodies.

Next week selectmen will interview two more candidates for the Recreation Committee vacancy: John A. Nunziato and Dominic P. Orgettaas.

Selectmen will meet with the Charter Commission on June 4 at the latter group's regular weekly meeting.

Stain over Old Paint?

Of course Olympic doesn't make a stain for horses. But we do make one that can be used to cover old paint on rough wood. We call it Olympic Solid Color Stain. And it works beautifully. It goes on over old paint easily, without streaking. Olympic covers like paint, yet won't crack, peel or blister. And you get a complete range of colors, too. Try it. We think you'll agree it's a horse of a different color.

Astros Win Fifth Game

The Astros team of 15 and 16 year olds won their fifth game Sunday beating Woburn 6 to 1 in Winchester Youth Soccer play.

They are still in first place, one point ahead of Newton, which will play here on Sunday, June 2, the last home game for the Astros. Winchester's record is 5-1-1.

The scoring began early in the game when Tom Merrow at left wing scored at the two minute mark. At 17 minutes Marty Lusk scored. With five minutes remaining in the first half Norman Alpert scored the third goal for Winchester.

In the second half, 28 minutes elapsed with hard fought action by both teams before Woburn scored their only goal.

Three minutes later, Winchester's Lusk scored.

In another four minutes Tom Deshler had scored. With only two minutes left in the game Winchester was awarded a penalty kick and Tom Deshler scored with a hard shot over the head of the goalkeeper.

Winchester's other forwards Peter Mitchell and Mark Nelson, although not scoring directly, assisted with fine technique at right wing position.

Winchester showed great ball control and passing skill. Fullback Chris Morgan, who has given the team excellent defensive play all season, suffered an ankle sprain and will be out of action the next few games.

Tom Waite, usually at left wing, played a strong game at left halfback, feeding the forward line with good passes Captain Dennis Collins at center halfback continues as a great asset to the team.

Sal Mistretta was back at midfield after a four-week injury, just in time to cover for Paul Austin injured in a motorcycle accident. The fullbacks played well, clearing the ball from their zone.

On Sunday the Astros travel to Topsfield, but without four key players. Mitchell and Lusk, on a vacation, and Morgan and Austin, on the injured list.

COUGARS WIN

The Cougars played a home game against Newton, but due to a scheduling error of the visitors, the game was played on the High Street field rather than on McDonald's.

Thanks to the flexibility of the referee and a number of parents who volunteered to transport the players across town, the game was played.

Although a number of Cougars apparently preferred the excitement of the EnKa Fair over the soccer game, those that did show up, produced a solid game which led to a 6-2 victory.

The goals scored against the Cougars were both the direct result of careless defensive work.

Darryle Parker had a productive day with three goals while the other goals were scored by Mark Nadeau, Brad Shea and Jim Herberich, who scored on a penalty kick. This report would not be complete without mentioning the goaltending of Mike Worth, who did not have much to do but continues to show great talent.

Soccer News

The next Cougar game is on May 25 at Wayland and the team will assemble at 1 at Manchester field.

CELTS LOSE

The Celts faced a formidable task last Saturday as they met the Needham II team again, which earlier in the season handed the Winchester boys the worst defeat in their five-year Bays League history.

The rematch proved to be a different story as the Celts outplayed the Needham II in every phase of the game and were unlucky not to walk off the field as winners. It was Needham which beat the Celts 3 to 1 on two penalty goals and a short tap in.

There were no individual stars for the Celts in this match as the boys performed as a well-drilled and determined team. The Needham coach commented, "I don't believe this is the same team we played last month!"

A turnaround in form as seen this past Saturday bodes trouble for Wellesley and Needham I, the contenders for the title of Bays champion.

PINTOS — 4, MEDFIELD 1 — 2

Susan Yavner, who has improved each week, led the Winchester girls to their sixth victory against one loss over Medfield 1, 4 to 2.

Susan scored two goals while Dawn Adams and Kristine Goodman chipped in one each in a surprisingly close game. Also shining for Winchester were Kathleen Welch, Ann Williamson, Diana Donahoe, Terry Bergin and Caroline Ellis.

The girls have just two more games to complete their highly successful first season.

BEACONS LOSE

The Winchester Beacons lost a close 2-1 decision to Needham II last Saturday at McDonald Field.

The Beacons dominated the first half and led 1-0 on a goal by outstanding right wing David McLaughlin.

Two missed penalty shots hurt the Beacons' cause in the first half. They struggled to maintain the lead against the wind in the second half.

Needham tied the game with a goal midway through the second half and won it with a goal on a penalty shot a short time later. The game was close and the outcome in doubt until the final whistle.

Outstanding for the Beacons were goalie Paul Casey, fullbacks Tom Shirley and Mark Mulvaney, halfbacks George Casey and Richard Champoux, and forwards Frank Lusk and Tommy Mitchell.

Jackie Driscoll, Robert Horn, John Waite, Pete Franchi, Peter Ruggles, Charlie Mahoney and Andy Mahoney contributed to the strong Winchester effort.

Sachems Fight

By John F. Parrell

Apparently eliminated from qualifying for the state tourney by losing to Reading last Monday, Coach Bill Colella's WHS baseball team has been clinging to a slender chance.

That defeat made the record read 8-5. With five games left it was a must that they win every game to edge into a qualifying spot.

They have been victorious in three straight games, mowing down Wakefield, Lexington and Melrose. The visit of second place Stoneham to Manchester Field yesterday afternoon was a key game. Again it was a must victory for the Sachems.

Should they win that one then they must post a win over the Woburn Tanners tomorrow afternoon. Whatever the result, the Winchester team has made a gallant try and barring a complete collapse in the final two games they figure to finish no worse than third in the Middlesex League.

Elliott Miller was on the mound against the Wakefield Warriors as he hooked up in a pitching duel with DeMarco of the visitors. The Sachems picked up a pair of runs in the third inning and another two in the fifth. The Warriors netted two in their half of the sixth.

Winchester took a two-run lead in the third frame on four singles by Albie Cordice, Wayne Dennis, Gig Beard and Mike Heffernan. There was no further scoring until the second two run outburst in the fifth.

Albie Cordice opened with a single. A well placed sacrifice bunt by Wayne Dennis sent him to second. Gig Beard walked. The runs came home on a single by Mike Heffernan, who reached third on an error by the third baseman.

The Warriors retaliated with two in their next turn at bat, with three singles, a walk and a hit batsman combining to put two runs on the board.

The line score:

Wakefield	0	0	0	0	2

VS. LEXINGTON

At Lexington both teams notched first inning runs. But the Sachems kept on scoring until they had nine runs across the plate after four innings of play. The Minutemen never threatened again as Winchester went on to an easy victory by 9-1.

Mike Meehan, who has not seen too much varsity action, poled a long drive over the right field fence in the second inning with the bases clear. It was the third inning, however, that saw the Sachems put it far out of reach of the home forces.

Six big runs clattered across as a result of a single by Wayne Dennis, a sacrifice bunt by Gig Beard, double by Mike Heffernan and consecutive singles by Rudy Fiore, Tom Brennan and Elliott Miller.

An error unraveled the Lexington pitcher. He walked the next three batters. When the inning ended the Sachems had added six more runs and the game was decided beyond a doubt.

The only run for Lexington came on a single, a sacrifice bunt and a double.

The summary:

Lexington	1	0	0	0	0

The final week of the season opened Monday afternoon with the Red Raiders of Melrose coming to play at Manchester Field. Rudy Fiore started but he was followed by Elliott Miller and Jon Lindberg in a wild affair that found the visiting Raiders leaving 13 runners stranded on the sacks.

Winchester's first run came in the first inning on a walk to Wayne Dennis followed by a single by Gig Beard and a fielder's choice, which scored the run.

There was no further action until the fourth inning in which the Sachems picked up three more for a 4-0 lead.

Melrose picked up a pair to cut the edge to 4-2. But the Sachems had four more in their half of the fifth to ice the verdict by 8-2.

The line score:

Track Men Score Victories

Coach Manny Marshall's WHS track team enjoyed a big week, trouncing arch rival Woburn and the Red Devils of Burlington and faring well in the Middlesex League meet held at Stoneham.

The track at the new playing field area was used for the dual meets, the first time in many moons that Winchester had the benefit of running on its home track.

It proved to be quite satisfactory, but there are still some things to be corrected and completed. The trip across the undulating surface to the track, and various bare spots and debris working through the surface were tangible instances of the overall unsatisfactory condition of the area.

Burlington produced an improved group of tracksters, making the meet closer than anticipated. The relay win and a sweep of the pole vault, however, gave the Sachems a 79-61 triumph.

The Woburn Tanners came here confidently expecting to take the Sachems by a comfortable margin but wound up on the short end of a 72-68 tally.

An 8-1 edge in the shot put forged by Jeff Christiansen and Tim Porter and a surprise second in the hurdles by Rich Minutoli were enough to overcome the strong Orange and Black group.

John Friberg captured his specialty — the 180-yard hurdles in the league meet with the excellent time of 20.1 seconds, winning quite handily. The relay group of Dana Cronan, Rick Mauger, Steve Meahl and John Friberg bested the speedy Woburn team to take the relay championship at 1:32.9.

Other Winchester medal winners were Dana Cronan, who had the best time in the 22-yard dash trial heats, and Blair Joyce, who cleared 11 feet to take third honors in the pole vault.

And Out

En route to victory in low hurdles in Middlesex meet at Stoneham Saturday is Winchester High School trackster John Friberg, who easily won 180-yard League event. Friberg, above, following the race. (Photos by Donald Young)

Cap League Games— Little Of Everything

Last weekend game results in the Cap League competition showed a little of everything.

Close games, walk-aways, pitchers battles and slugfests marked the third weekend of baseball under cloudless skies and the delight of many spectators. Everybody seems to have fun playing or watching the Cap League contests.

The Red Sox in the Crown division notched two victories, Saturday and Sunday, to boost themselves to the only undefeated record in the league.

On Saturday, at Ginn Field, they cut the wings off the Blue Jays by a lopsided score of 15-1 but, on Sunday, they had a titanic struggle with the previously once-beaten Braves before eking out a 3-2 victory.

In perhaps the best played game of the season, thus far, the score was tied 0-0 at the end of four innings, at 1-1 after five innings. The Braves pushed over one run in their half of the sixth to go ahead, but the never say die Red Sox tied the game in their half and with two out plated the winning run on a solid base hit.

In other games at Ginn Field, in the Crown Division, the Yankees bested the White Sox 6-3 and the Rangers outscored the Bobcats 10-8 to record their first win.

Over at West Side Field, on Saturday the Giants spotted the Cardinals 5 runs and then came back to finally win the game 8-6. The Pirates coasted over the Dodgers 14-5 and the Astros won their first game over the winless Apollos 8-6.

Other than the thriller between the Red Sox and the Braves on Sunday at Ginn Field, the Bobcats bested the Hornets 7-2, while the Yankees outlasted the Blue Jays 9-6. In the Visor division Sunday the Eagles soared over the Pirates 15-3, the Cardinals winged the Dodgers 11-5 and the Astros handed the Orioles their first defeat by a convincing 10-6 decision.

63 WHS Girls Honored For Athletic Role

Last Wednesday night, was a milestone for girls' athletics at WHS when 63 girls attended the first annual awards banquet at the Holiday Inn in Burlington.

The Girls Intramural Council hosted the dinner to honor girls who have participated in sports in high school.

The GIC is a high school organization whose main purpose is to give support and recognition to all female athletes and athletic activities.

This year the members of GIC sold school shirts to raise money for the banquet and to buy awards.

This year's council consisted of Ellen DeSanctis, president; Mem Chipman, vice-president; Lydia DeSanctis, secretary-treasurer; Phyllis Guarnaccia, Mary Donovan, Laurel Samoiloff, Sus Fitzgerald, Amy Puffer and Nancy McHugh, class representatives.

Following punch and a chicken dinner, awards were presented to girls who have met point requirements.

Points, as determined in the student handbook, are awarded to girls participating in all aspects of athletics including cheerleading, tumbling, varsity and j.v. athletics, intramurals and managerial work.

The points are cumulative from year to year. This year the council presented awards to 63 girls as follows:

First awards (based on 45 points) were "W" charms presented by Pamela Canney to Amy Puffer, Peggy Flanagan, Jackie Lowe, Bobbie Eames, Colleen Fitzpatrick, Ann Levinson, Ann Dizio, Anne Hritzey, Kathy Noble, Iona Buros and Sally Burrows.

Also, Yvonne Cabour, Marnie Conway, Lee Costello, Judy Dayton, Lydia DeSanctis, Corrine D'Onofrio, Sarah Fitzgerald, Kate Griffin, Sarah Higgins, Susan Higgins, Mary Hill, Kristen Johansen, Mary Langley, Phyllis Lee and Diane Leonard.

Also, Kathy Melnis, Dee McKenna, Mary O'Connor, Fran Patti, Jen Potts, Nancy Raleigh, Laurel Samoiloff, Sharon Seigfriedt, Susan Vitka, Wendy von Rosenvinge, Debbie Belinowitz, Jeanne Belden, Louanne Benshinol and Heidi Blanche.

Also, Betsy Bonnell, Mem

Chipman, Jeanne Cincolta, Ellen DeSanctis, Mary Donovan, Susan Gebhard, Phyllis Guarnaccia, Becca Higgins and Jenny Horsely.

Also, Michelle Jeanette, Kathy Karp, Sandy Leonard, Sara McGovern, Nancy McDavitt, Mary Milley, Alice Mobbs, Lori Nunziato, Lynne Robinson, Ann Scanlon, Maria Swanson and Karen Trabucco.

Also, Julie Ulwick and Debbie Walters.

Second awards (105 points) were silver keys presented by Joan Rosazza to Nancy Raleigh, Susan Fitzgerald, Lydia DeSanctis, Mary Donovan, Phyllis Guarnaccia, Mem Chipman, Becca Higgins, Kathy Karp, Nancy McDavitt, Ellen DeSanctis, Sara McGovern and Lori Nunziato.

Honor awards for 185 points were presented to Mary Donovan and Ellen DeSanctis by Mrs. Janice Dolan.

In addition to the girls, several coaches of girls teams and Supp. of Schools William McDonald attended as guests of the GIC. McDonald was guest speaker.

V-Day '74 Is May 23

V-Day '74, a volunteer job fair to focus on volunteer citizen participation at all levels of government, is scheduled for today at Boston's Hyannis Auditorium.

Sponsored by the Governor's Commission on Citizen Participation, the goal is to generate a larger volunteer commitment in the Commonwealth and to expose people to new and exciting volunteer programs. V-Day '74 will include panel discussions, workshops and booths representing many volunteer and citizen action programs throughout Massachusetts.

Volunteering-What's in it for you? Women's Liberation and Volunteerism. Can Volunteers Change Anything? and Corporate Responsibility, are some of the topics to be taken up in panel discussions. There will be workshops as well.

Fishing Derby - Rain Or Shine

The Winchester Kiwanis Club will conduct its 19th annual Fish Derby for the elementary school children of Winchester on June 8 - rain or shine. Over 500 children are expected to compete for prizes this year, says John B. Mercurio, Jr., chairman of the event.

Participants are to meet in the town hall parking lot at 9 a.m. At 9:30 a.m., a parade will move through Winchester Center, down Main street to Elliott Park and Wedge Pond. Paraders will be escorted by the Winchester Police and Auxiliary Fire Departments.

In order to participate, each child must register for the derby. Registration applications are available to the elementary schools, and the Winchester Sports Shop on Main street. Applications are to be completed, signed by a parent, and returned to the Sports Shop, at which time, a numbered tag will be given to the contestant. This tag must be worn during the derby.

Winners will be notified by phone. For further information, contact Mercurio.

Lacrosse Team Beats Beverly

The stickmen of WHS Coach Gene Bouley, who have been having rather rocky going over the past three weeks, finally put everything together as they routed Beverly 10-2. The North Shore team was coming off a fine effort against Brookline, a team which had previously handed the Sachems a 5-2 defeat.

Besides the improved play of the Winchester offense the Beverly team incurred a great many penalties which helped to build the score. This enabled Winchester to hang up six goals on power plays as Beverly was short handed.

Four goals by Rich Lougee led the Sachem offensive thrust. He also chipped in with an assist. Peter Sandford drove four shots past the Beverly net minder. The other Winchester goals were netted by the Palumbo brothers, Roy and Vin.

Chip Roche, Bill Dexter, Kevin Pierce and Kit Bonn played well in the Sachem defensive zone, doing good work in clearing to the attack group. Steve Murphy had another good day in the goal, turning aside 25 shots by the Beverly team.

Sachem Golfers Drop Two Games

Fresh from two victories, the Sachem golf team had hopes of pulling an upset as they teed off against the Reading Rockets at Meadowbrook last week.

Reading, one of the top favorites to vie for the state links championship, showed why as they buried Winchester in a 9-0 blitz.

With most of the players either caddies or junior members, the Rockets play three or four days a week and usually line up in more than a dozen matches every season.

Consequently they have a deep roster of capable players. They showed it last week by whipping Melrose 8-1. The Mount Hood group is perennially among the top powers in schoolboy golf. Reading had no difficulty beating them.

Winchester succumbed, 9-0. It is best to omit the details. The Sachems gave their best, but there was just too much Reading strength. Jake Casey was Winchester's best performer as he was edged by House of Reading, one up. Brown of the Rockets also had trouble, but he disposed of Bob McElhinney, two up.

More surprising was the match with Wakefield. The visiting Warriors had been having a wretched season before coming to play at the Winchester Country Club.

They had taken only 1½ points in five previous matches. A combination of improved play on their part and some mediocre play by the Sachems gained them a 7-2 victory.

Only Jake Casey was able to take his match. He did so handily, besting DeLouis of Wakefield 6-5. In the process he took the best ball. But from that point on every point went to the Warriors who chalked up their first victory of the year.

Annual Marathon

The second annual Winchester marathon is May 25. Applications may be picked up at the Winchester Sport Shop or The Winchester Star.

Tennis Team Wallops

Coach George Hillier's WHS Sachem tennis team continued to wallopp all opposition in the Middlesex League, sweeping to 5-0 triumphs over Lexington and Stoneham last week.

The only league member to score on them was Belmont. The Marauders did that in the first league match of the year.

The victory over Lexington was particularly sweet since the Minutemen trounced Winchester last year, 5-0. But this time turnabout was fair play. Although every match was bitterly fought all three Sachem singles players and the doubles teams came out on top.

The Winchester team is made up largely of juniors with only sophomore Steve Champoux and senior doubles player Drennan Lowell not members of the 1975 class.

The group has shown great team spirit. Aside from their six straight league victories, they have been edged by the best schoolboy teams - Newton North (2-3) and Weston (1-4). In both losses they extended their rivals into third set situations before losing.

The summaries of recent matches:
Winchester 5, Lexington 0.
Jimmy Wynn (W) defeated Steve Smith (L) 6-1, 5-7, 6-2.
Marcus Julian (W) defeated Neil Baron (L) 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.
Ray Champoux (W) defeated Steve Heyl (L) 7-5, 7-5.
Drennan Lowell and Bill Shean (W) defeated Lee Howard and Ted Seaman (L) 6-3, 6-4.
Jay Houlihan and Jeff Forget (W) defeated Bill Sampson and Eric Johanssen (L) 6-3, 7-5.
Weston 4, Winchester 1.
Jimmy Wynn (W) defeated Ken Swain (WE).
Clayton Rogers (WE) defeated Marcus Julian (W) 6-2, 6-1.
Scott Stetner (WE) defeated Ray Champoux (W) 6-2, 6-1.
Peter Savitt and Doug Reny (WE) defeated Drennan Lowell and Bill Shean (W) 6-4, 6-0.
Chuck Keller and Steve Colt (WE) defeated Jay Houlihan and Jeff Forget (W) 6-3, 6-3.

Travel Along with

Mavis McGrath

The Balkan peninsula, scene of many vanished splendors, is a fine place to visit. From the Roman and Greek Empires down to the smaller hopes and dreams of today, the land has remained largely unchanged. Wild waterfalls, steep mountains, fertile fields, unyielding landscapes, are all part of the charm of the Balkans. Add to this a friendly and courageous people, and you will have a land worth visiting your next vacation.

Bookworms are not just a manner of speaking, referring to those who like to read. There are actually bookworms which are insects. The creatures feed on the paper or binding of books. A bookworm may also like such extraordinary foods as squill, belladonna, and red pepper. As unbelievable as it may sound, the larva of one species has been known to bore a straight hole through twenty-seven thick quarto volumes. No human bookworm could be so destructive or so persistent!

Little League

Yankees Complete First Half Undeclared

The Yankees and the Royals of Winchester Little League played an exciting two-game series at West Side Field with the Yanks coming out on top in both games, improving their league leading record to 10-0. The Royals are now 3-6.

In the first game the Yanks got a strong pitching performance from Eddie Pratt, who gave up six hits and was tough with men on base as the Yankees won, 4-2.

David Errico and Gregg Cumming split the pitching chores for the Royals, allowing only three hits. Aggressive base running and a timely hit by Stephen Greco won the game for the Yanks.

In game two Al Powles and Bill Rogers combined for a two-hit shutout and Eddie Pratt walloped two doubles and drove in three runs as the Yankees breezed to their 10th straight win, 7-0, over the Royals.

The game was highlighted by sparkling defensive plays by the Yankees. First baseman Cris Porter and shortstop Eddie Pratt were particularly impressive in the field.

Ace Royal catcher Jack Collins required five stitches in his hand after being hit by a pitch in the first inning.

Royals coach Paul Guarente felt that his team played well against the high flying Yankees and expects a strong second half showing from his club.

In the National Minor League the Tigers upset the division leading Bobcats 6-4 on May 15 at McDonald Field.

Little Charlie Bemis pitched brilliantly, allowing just three hits in a complete game effort. Tommy Fitzgerald hit what proved to be a game winning two run homer in the fifth inning to lead the fighting Tigers to their second victory in seven games the Bobcats are now 6-2.

Tennis Tournaments

Good Weekend For Winchester

It was a good weekend for Winchester tennis players as Joan Stevens combined with Mrs. Richard McGlinchey of Westford to win a women's mixed-up doubles, by teams, tournament at the Charles River Indoor Tennis and Health Club in Newton.

Jack Noble and Bud Johnson of Winchester earned runner up and second highest scoring honors in a similar tournament for men held at the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center.

The winning Stevens-McGlinchey team demonstrated a fine game of controlled tennis. They had their opponents playing their game, on their terms and consequently giving up errors in response to the different game they were forced to play.

Mrs. Stevens combined a series of excellent cross-court forehand strokes that piled up points and disposed of one of the teams that could contend them for winner's honors.

Joan's serve was effective, resulting in many forced errors in the return of her service and setting up net shots for her partner through weakly hit service returns.

The men's team of Noble and Johnson are emerging as a well coordinated unit. Last Saturday evening, according to tournament director Joe Roark, they displayed a doubles game characterized with good team play, fine court coverage and a minimum of errors.

Only the outstanding play of the winners, Bob Lieb and Fred Wiseman of Lexington, prevented the Noble-Johnson team from earning more laurels for Winchester tennis players.

John Koslowski, president of the Winchester Indoor Lawn Tennis Center, announced that mixed-up doubles tournaments will be offered once a month during the summer with the first summer Saturday night event taking place in June.

Winchester Youths Will Read From Bible Over Radio

Six Winchester young persons will be heard next week, Monday through Saturday, June 1, on Boston radio stations. They will be reading in the series of "Interfaith Bible Readings."

The Winchester group are all pupils in the Sunday School of First Church of Christ Scientist, 114 Church st.

"Bible Readings for School and Home," an independent interfaith group, started for the purpose of suggesting appropriate selections for Bible readings in schools. Copies of their suggested readings were widely distributed and used in the public schools of Massachusetts.

Following a supreme court decision hearing barring religious observances in the schools, the interfaith group decided to undertake a radio program. WCRB was looking for a bible reading program. The current series came into being and has been broadcast continually since December 1963.

The program will be broadcast over radio stations WCRB, 1330 kc 6:30 a.m.; WCOP, 1150 kc 6:00 a.m.; WHDH, 850 kc 5:55 a.m. and on WCOP, 1150 kc 9:10 a.m. Sunday only for a resume of weekly readings.

The radio stations contribute air time in the public interest.

Winchester Young people have the following readings:

Richard Duffy, May 27, Mark 1: 38-45;

Linda Christy, May 28, Mark 5: 25-34;

Carol Friborg, Mark 7: 31-37, Mark 8: 11-12;

Linda Feldmann, May 30, Luke 8: 41-42, 49-55;

Cyndy Broadbent, May 31, Luke 5: 18-25;

Glynis Gordon, June 1, Luke 7: 2-7, 9-10.

Mrs. Verity Feldmann, clerk of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Winchester, and Mrs. Jessie Favre, Sunday school superintendent, assisted in the preparation.

O'Brien To Head Benefits For Consulting Business

Robert F. O'Brien of Winchester, executive vice-president and director of Marsh and McLennan, Inc., has been named to head the company's benefits consulting business.

O'Brien will coordinate delivery of the company's benefits consulting capabilities to 57 of Marsh and McLennan's offices in the United States.

A graduate of Dartmouth College and advanced management program at the Graduate School of Business Administration at Harvard University, O'Brien joined Marsh and McLennan in 1946. From 1941-1946 he served with the U.S. Marine Corps in the Pacific theater and attained the rank of lieutenant colonel before retiring.

In 1955 he was elected a vice-president of Marsh and McLennan and was named manager of the Boston office in 1958. In 1969 he was elected a senior vice-president and director.

He is a vice-president and director of the Greater Boston YMCA, president of the Arlington Savings Bank and a member of the Algonquin Club, Winchester Country Club, Harvard Business School Association, Catholic Alumni Association, National Association of Insurance Brokers and Insurance Brokers of Massachusetts.

He is past president of the Dartmouth Alumni Association of Greater Boston and past president of the Massachusetts Safety Council.

Groups Festival Features

Les Troubadours and Los Companeros were two of the groups featured last Sunday at the Winchester Spring Music Festival at the Winchester High School. The concert was sponsored by the Community School Association, with proceeds going to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

The director of both groups is Eleanor A. Thistlewaite.

Selections of Les Troubadours included two numbers which left the almost capacity audience tapping its feet: Jambalaya and Mademoiselle de Paris.

Members of Les Troubadours who performed during the concert were Jay Addison, Jill Barnard, Luanne Benshimol, Susan Boodakian, Michael David Camaratta, Rebecca Downes, Jay Enstadt, Anne Fairbanks, Jeanne Gaika, Carol Greene, John Holland, Marianne Kenney, Lisa Jeffery, Tom Jones, Nancy Lombardo, Joan Mahoney, Tom Moore, Lori Nunziato, Anne Pelletier, Phil Stoeke, Joan Thomas, Ann Walters, and Jeanne Weiss.

Los Companeros, a musical group which concentrates on playing Spanish and Mexican type popular music, included in its selections La Cu Cu Ra Cha and Tijuana Taxi.

Last Gardening Talk Is Tuesday

"Annals and Perennials" is the last in a series of free spring lectures on gardening at Mahoney's Rocky Lodge Farm, 242 Cambridge st. Given by Dan Purcell, the talk, illustrated with color slides, will depict the wide array of flowering plants that can bloom. The talk is Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Purcell is a representative of the Vaughan Seed Co. and also is assessor for Arlington.

Events Lining Up For 1st Town Day

June 9 is Winchester's first annual Town Day celebration. More than 20 events, each organized by a town club or organization, will take place throughout the day.

Beginning with a community meal the day will progress with such activities as Cub Scout olympics, Police Department exhibits, a three and four wheel vehicle parade, an historical tour and a flag demonstration. Refreshment and first aid services will be available.

A complete listing of times and locations of events will appear June 6.

Concern To Talk About Its Money

There will be a meeting of Concern today at 195 Cambridge st., beginning at 7:45 p.m. The chief topic for discussion will be "positive use of money remaining in the Concern account."

Teachers Carolyn Tiffany and Paul Forgetta, coordinating Concern this past season, will put forth proposals. Ideas and votes from those in the community are requested by the coordinators.

Mrs. Hedman Is Guild President

Mrs. S. N. F. Hedman was elected president of the Winchester Studio Guild for the coming year.

Other officers elected at the annual meeting of the guild are:

Mrs. John Lynch, secretary; Mrs. Robert Eddy, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Deskin, assistant treasurer; Mrs. Theodore Lesperance, studio keeper; Mrs. David Baker, housekeeper; Mrs. Stanley Cairncross and Mrs. Alvin Kimball, program chairmen; and Mrs. David Votaw, publicity.

Guild plans for the biennial exhibit to be held June 7-9, as part of Town Day in Winchester, are now underway.

GENERAL WARRANTY DEED

What is the best kind of deed you can get to a property? The general warranty deed is known as a deed with full covenants. With this deed, the seller transfers legal title and legal possession of the property to the buyer and makes the following guarantees:

That he is the lawful owner of the property. That he has the lawful right to sell the property. That there are no liens or other encumbrances against the property except for those mentioned in the deed. That there are no lawful claims against the property. That the buyer will have peaceful possession of the property.

That no person shall make demands upon the buyer in an effort to force him to vacate the property.

The mere changing of a word or two can change this type of deed into a special warranty deed with lesser guarantees, therefore, it is really important that your attorney be of assistance in this area.

If you have any questions on this subject or on any other aspect of Real Estate, please feel free to call or drop in at JAMES T. TREFREY, INC., REALTORS, 27 Waterfield Road, Winchester - Tel. 729-6100.

Enstad To Appear With Male Chorus

Luther Enstad of 9 Arthur st. will appear as conductor of a male chorus during "Scandinavian Night at the Pops" at Symphony Hall, Monday 8:30 p.m.

The 35 members of the chorus are selected singers from the Norwegian Glee Club of Boston, the Verdandi Male Chorus of Warwick, R.I., and the Thule Male Chorus of Worcester.

In keeping with their music tradition and cultural heritage of 40 years, the men will sing songs representative of Scandinavian countries.

Luther Enstad has given many concerts and is known for his solo roles in opera and oratorio.

Enstad has done extensive research in the field of Scandinavian music and specializes in its performance. In addition to his conducting duties, he teaches voice in the music department at Tuft's University.

Solidarity

Sunday June 2

Communities throughout the United States will express their concern and solidarity with Soviet Jews on June 2, which has been proclaimed nationally as "Solidarity Sunday."

In the Greater Boston area Solidarity Sunday will be marked by communitywide conference and workshops beginning at 1 p.m. at Brandeis University's Schwartz auditorium.

An opening presentation on the status of Soviet Jewry will be followed by workshops in areas of concern such as political action, grassroots organization and special interest group mobilization. The workshops will be followed by a film and adoption of a declaration of human rights for Soviet Jews.

The conference is open to the public. Those interested should call the Jewish Community Council for further details and to place reservations.

Named To Board

Mary La Marche of 48 Charles rd. has been named to the Lesley College Alumni Association board of directors for 1974-1975.

Mrs. LaMarche, a member of the class of 1968, has previously served as a member of the alumni board and as regional chairwoman of the building program for Lesley College's new urban academic campus.

Seniors Trip To Sturbridge

By Esther Seferian
Through the generosity of the Winchester Rotary Club,

152 of the town's senior citizens spent a day at Old Sturbridge Village last Wednesday. Three buses of seniors left 20th century Winchester and were transported back in time for a day to the rural New England village of the 18th and 19th century.

A bright summer sun and strong breezes accompanied the town elders as they retraced the daily rounds of farmers and village artisans over dusty paths and covered bridges, past ponds and fields.

Stopping from time to time to chat, and rest on rustic benches, the seniors experienced all the sights, sounds and smells of an earlier time. They watched a blacksmith hammering molten metal and saw a potter, tinsmith and pewterer shape his wares.

They were guests in the home of simple farmers, and visited the more palatial house of the village's leading citizen.

Most were tempted by the smell of hoarhound drops and licorice in the general store, and felt a little nostalgic over the bolts of bright calico and gingham in the drygoods section.

Even an ample lunch in the modern-day village tavern cafeteria was not enough to keep the seniors from the bake shop when they came within sniffing distance of the hot old-fashioned oatmeal cookies fresh from the oven.

Climax of the day was the old gift shop where all the excellent hand-made village wares were displayed and sold. A tired but happy group came back to Winchester in the late afternoon, and thanks to the kindness of Albert Tartarian and all his rotarians, had a wonderful day.

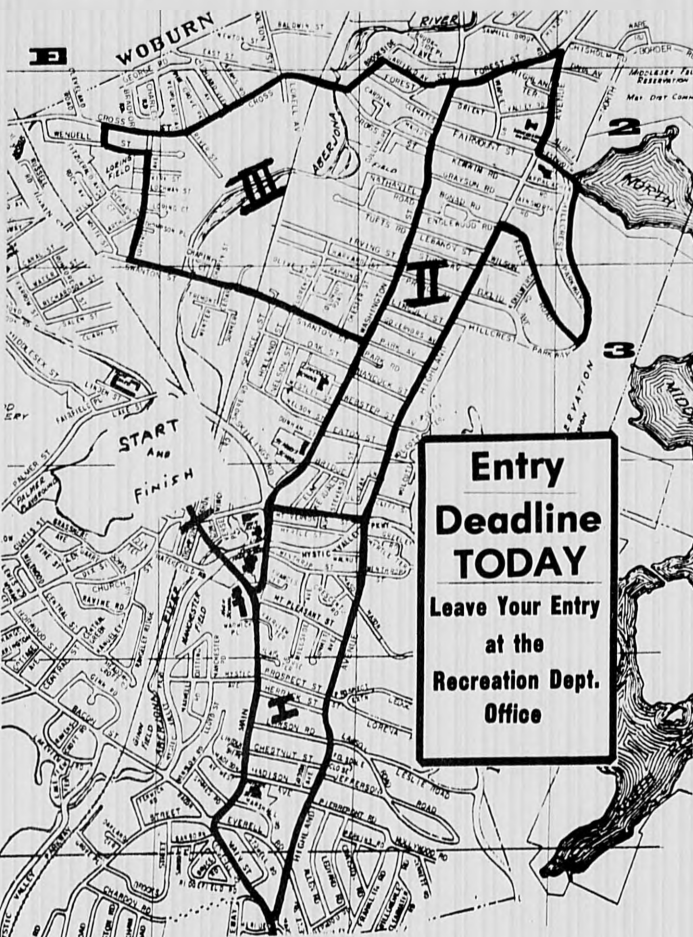

Mal Masters and Dick Norberg of the Council on Aging, assisted by Mary Cameron, Charles Yorke and Bob Wynn of the Winchester Seniors Association, were responsible for the smooth running technical details of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koch, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hatch, and Jim Chisholm were rotary representatives on the trip.

Class Of 1969 Holds Reunion

The Winchester High School class of 1969 will hold its fifth year reunion June 15 at the Magnolia Manor, Magnolia, from 3 p.m. to 1 a.m. Buffet dinner will be served. For directions or more information contact Lisa Spang, Patty Westwater or Peter Knight.

Mini-Marathon Race Routes

Map of Saturday's town marathon shows the three routes runners will cover. Course "I" is for 9 to 12 year olds. Course "II" is for 13 to 17 year olds.

Course "III" is for those 18 years of age and older. Races begin at 11 a.m. at the police box in the center.

Mal Masters, Dick Norberg, and Charles Koch

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Koch, Mrs. Rhoda Murray, Mrs. Eva Cross and (front) Mrs. Betty Perry visit Old Sturbridge Village.

Air Force Has 77,882 Openings

MSgt Charlie Smith at One City Hall Mall, Medford, area recruiter, reports the Air Force has openings for 77,882 men and women.

Most openings are for young men with no previous military experience. There are approximately 190 different job skills available.

There is an increase this year in jobs for enlisted women. Half of the new enlistees will be recruited for technical jobs such as jet engine mechanics, electricians, missile mechanics, and heating system specialists. Air Force recruiters will be looking for 1,328 officer candidates with college degrees.

Initial indications are the Air Force will admit 1500 personnel with prior military service if they meet the requirements of age and possess a skill that is in demand.

Details on job openings and requirements to qualify are available by calling MSgt Charlie Smith.

Ever Try to Talk to a Machine. .

Many large banks want you to talk to a machine these days, where you push buttons, and after a bit of a rumble, something mechanical happens. No greeting, no thank you . . . just buttons, flashing lights, and sliding drawers. Completely impersonal.

We don't think that's banking. Here you talk to people because people give you the added dimension of caring about you. You can't tell a machine about your special needs, can't pass the time of day with a machine, can't get a cheery thank you.

To the independent community bank, people count, not machines. Especially people from our own community, people like you. Just as we have people in the bank who know you, and know your community . . . because they are a part of it. Come on in and talk to us . . . savor the old-fashioned personal dimension of banking which cares about you.

Donohue Wins The Marathon

Richard H. Donohue, 23, of 28 Lloyd St. won the second annual town marathon Saturday, finishing the seven-mile course in 41 minutes, 50 seconds.

Last year's winner, Charles Tatarian, finished in 37 minutes, 58 seconds over the same course.

Donohue, married and a student at Northeastern University, participated in track when he was a student at Winchester High School. He has been inactive on the track since, except for this year's town marathon.

When he is not attending classes at Northeastern, Donohue is sorting packages at United Parcel Co. He and his wife, Consuelo O'Connell Donohue, have no children.

Runners began the marathon at the police box in Winchester Square and ran quickly to Symmes Corner, then to Highland Avenue and down to Mt. Vernon St., where they split into two groups.

Those boys and girls 9-12 years of age went down Mt. Vernon street and back to the police box, a distance of two miles. Winner in that event was Andy Wilsack of 37 Englewood second, Stephen Govustes of 51 Clark St.; third, Edward F. O'Connell Jr. of Oneida Rd.

The other runners, meanwhile, continued down Highland Avenue, dodging motor vehicles and bicycles as they wound their way over to Forest St., where they again split.

Runners 13 to 17 years of age returned to the center over Washington St. Coming in first in that event was Andrew deMars of 100 Wildwood St., finishing the five-mile course in 34 minutes and 46 seconds. Second was Paul Basseleers of 41 Lincoln St.; third, Richard DeConto of 7 Stevens St.

The remaining runners, men and women 18 years and up, ran up Cross Street and then down Swanton Street, finishing the last leg of the seven-mile course by coming down Washington Street to Mt. Vernon Street.

Behind Donohue in that course were Dr. Rudolph Oehm of 51 Fells Rd. at 41 minutes, 54 seconds, and William Day of 261 Cross St. at 42 minutes, 40 seconds.

Though the Recreation Department had intended awarding trophies to the three first place female finishers in each age category, only in the 9-12 race were three entered. The first place female winner in the 13 to 17 years category was Janice Oehm at 38 minutes, 39 seconds. She is the daughter of Dr. Oehm, who finished second in the men's 18 and over. Richard Donohue, first place winner in the 18 and over, is the son-in-law of Edward F. O'Connell Sr. of Oneida Rd., who finished fifth in that course at 45 minutes, 14 seconds. O'Connell's son, Edward Jr., finished third in the boys 9-12 years. His time was 14 minutes, 40 seconds.

In all, 53 entered the race. All crossed the finish line. Last year 124 persons started out but only 75 crossed the finish line. Females ran in the same races as the men but were awarded prizes separately.

Several hundred persons watched this second Winchester marathon, most of them gathered around the police box in the square. Director Donald L. Spinney organized and directed the affair.

Charter Commission

WEEKLY AGENDA

Tuesday, June 4

The Charter Commissioners Tuesday will interview members of the Board of Selectmen and the board's executive secretary, along with the board's lawyer (town counsel) for ideas on possible changes in the executive branch of town government.

The public may attend.

Place: First floor, Town Hall.

Time: 7:30 p.m.

Start of men's 18 years and older race in annual town marathon Saturday morning had the largest group of entrants. Dr. Rudolph Oehm is at second right and Thomas Kiley at second left.

WHS Students Protest Firing Of Herr Meyer

A petition is being circulated this week to protest what is believed to be the School Committee's intention not to rehire high school German teacher Franz Meyer.

Signed by 59 of his students and 14 parents, the petition submitted to the School Committee endorses Meyer's "methods of instruction and attitudes towards both students and teaching."

Some of those who spoke to The Star in protest over the failure of the committee to rehire Meyer for next year said the German teacher has the respect and admiration of his students. The students say Meyer has raised the level of instruction at the school, far greater than it ever was, and point to the recent comment by the German consul stationed in Boston that his appearance before Winchester High School's third and fourth year German students was the first time ever he spoke only in German to American students.

School Committee chairman Stephen Parkhurst said Meyer "did not demonstrate the level of performance we expected of a teacher with five years' experience."

The students believe Herr Meyer's unorthodox teaching methods — for instance, bringing in a German accordion player last week — are partially responsible for their teacher's dismissal.

"I feel my approach to teaching is not appreciated," commented Meyer to The Star. Student Abby Thomas commented: "Herr Meyer brought German culture into the classroom, not just grammar." Another student, Dennis Lamar, said Meyer stimulated interest in the language by teaching the students about such things as the German Third Reich. "He brought the language department into the 20th Century."

The School Department points to delays in Meyer's exams and what it calls disorganization in his classrooms. Also a teacher of French, a spokesman said Meyer is not as strong in that language as they would like.

In addition, the department feels Meyer's approach appeals to the stronger language student and leaves the student weaker in language behind. They say personalities has nothing to do with the decision not to rehire Meyer, who is completing his first year teaching in Winchester.

Students and parents think Meyer was not rehired because of a conflict with the head of the language department. They say all of the German students are threatening to drop German next year unless Meyer's contract is renewed.

The recent visit of accordion player

"Earnst" (professional name) was appreciated by the students, according to Dennis Lamar. "All his (German and French) students chipped in for the visit and all had a very wonderful and educational experience," he said.

"This is only one of the things that Herr Meyer does for his students to broaden the cultural awareness of the language the student is taking."

"Herr Meyer also has his own European background to give us a feel of the people. He also uses other materials not included in the French and German courses."

The recent appearance of German Consul Hermann Kroeger was the result of a request of Meyer.

The student petition states in part: "Herr Meyer is a consistently interesting and informative instructor and has done a great deal for his students' growth in the knowledge of the various languages he teaches."

"Responsive and receptive to his students, Herr Meyer has effectively created a classroom atmosphere of advantageous learning, rough his conduct both in and out of the classroom."

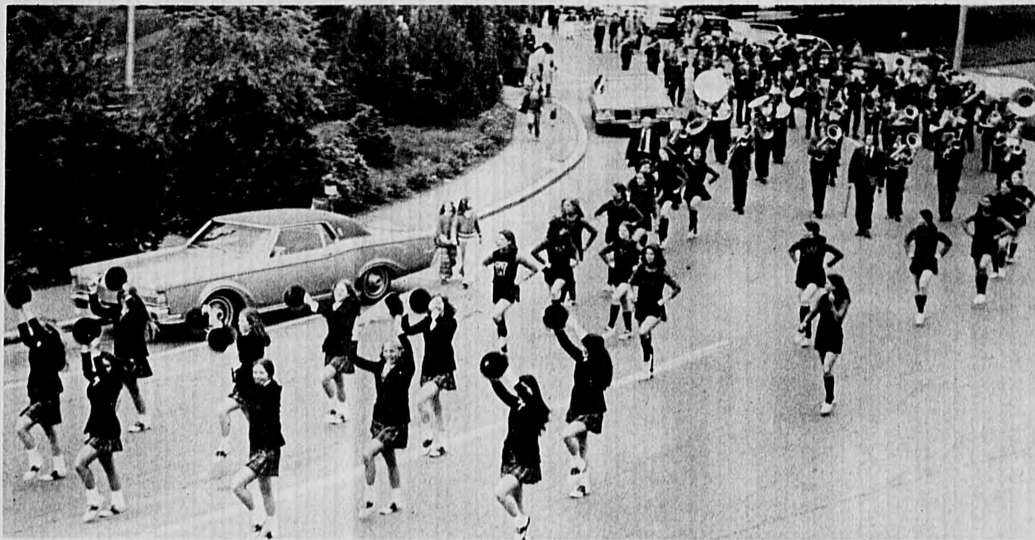

Franz Meyer has gained our respect and fondness as a teacher and human being, and compares favorably with any German teacher we have come in contact with before. "We sincerely and earnestly recommend that he be kept on as an instructor at Winchester High so that future students benefit from him as we have."

School Committee, Teachers Reach A 2-Year Agreement

Negotiators for the School Committee and the Winchester Education Association reached agreement on a two-year agreement covering wages, hours and working conditions at a meeting ending at 2 a.m. Tuesday.

According to Henry Perry, assistant superintendent for personnel for Winchester Schools, the settlement has not yet been ratified by the parties. Details will be released after ratification.

Boards Interview Seven For Committee Vacancy; Troop Successor Named

The School Committee and Board of Selectmen met Tuesday night in joint session to consider filling a vacancy on the committee, interviewing seven of eight candidates for the position.

This was the first such joint meeting between the two boards in recent years. Also discussed was greater communication between town boards and between the School Committee and the public.

The boards agreed to meet next Monday night at 8:30 p.m. to name a successor to retired committeeman Richard Lawrence, who resigned because of health. His term would have expired in 1975.

School Committee chairman Stephen Parkhurst informed the selectmen that a settlement has been reached in contract negotiations with the teachers, which will be one of three committee articles included in the warrant for the special town meeting beginning June 27.

Parkhurst wouldn't release details of the settlement. "What we propose won't affect the tax rate," he said.

Other committee articles will be on rescinding some or all of the money cut from the athletic budget and funding school secretaries' salaries. The annual meeting refused to fund these salaries as requested by the committee because, primarily, a settlement was reached with the secretaries without town meeting approval.

This subject came under discussion by the two boards Tuesday. Selectman Lawrence T. Smith suggested the committee affirm a policy for the future that negotiations be reached prior to start of town meeting.

School chairman Parkhurst agreed somewhat that the late settlement was part of the town meeting's refusal to provide the extra funding but said the meeting also wanted a basic reduction in the total school secretary budget.

Smith said the basic committee policy should be to conclude bargaining 60 days prior to town meeting, as the Board of Selectmen does with bargaining units under its jurisdiction.

Committeeman Richard Pharo said such a policy should be townwide. Chairman Parkhurst commented: "We'll affirm it."

TROOP SUCCESSOR

Following the departure of the School Committee, the Board of Selectmen appointed a successor to resigned treasurer-collector Marguerite Troop.

Troop's assistant, Carol Thomas, was named to fill the position temporarily. The board will appoint a permanent successor in September.

The position is up for election in March of next year.

Troop, maintaining she is leaving office for health reasons, resigned last week effective end of May.

The selectmen will meet at 8 p.m. Monday with Karl J. Hirshman, a member of the Finance Committee, who has asked to be considered for the vacancy on the School Committee. Following Hirshman's interview, the boards will appoint a successor to fill the vacancy.

The following are brief excerpts from the comments the seven other candidates for the post made during the more than two hours of interviews before both boards.

CHARLES GLASSBRENNER

He commented that Winchester's schools have declined and he wants to see them improve. He mentioned the poor showing of Winchester in national tests. A candidate for the committee in the last election, Glassbrenner said discipline is a problem in the schools and the committee would do well to spell out rules of discipline.

MARK LOMARDI

He cited his many memberships on town boards. He asked why 50 high school seniors aren't graduating this year and said the committee has failed in presenting its case to town meeting and the public. In the face of declining school population, he said classrooms rather than school buildings should be closed. The Winchester school system is not all it should be, he said. The new athletic director could change things so he lives within the reduced athletic budget, Lombardi said.

RICHARD MURPHY

Winchester's educational system is the single most valuable thing in the community, he said. Because of the nature of his business (real estate) he is unable to serve on other town boards. He is able to serve on the School Committee. He said it's important to keep the high quality of Winchester education because the system attracts certain people to the town. The town meeting sees a huge budget before it, he commented, and the only thing it is able to do is throw a dart (cut the budget).

JOHN NOBLE

Academically Winchester does well, he commented. Athletically, the system is on the bottom half of the Middlesex League in terms of what it gives the children, which makes the kids take some initiative. He would concentrate efforts on physical education and athletics. The town should develop a cooperative education program outside Winchester. "Boston is only 10 minutes away by train."

JOHN ZARKER

A teacher at Tufts, Mr. Zarker is interested in quality education within budgetary reason. He suggests ninth graders attend the high school and prefers maintaining the neighborhood concept of schools. He would group good students with good students and bad with bad to keep excellence. He says the system already has this grouping in athletics. Grouping children by subject balances them off.

ALLAN ROGERS

A lawyer, he says his wife is a teacher and he has children in the Winchester system. His primary interest would be in collective bargaining. He likes the idea of hiring more open, happier principals who have the flexibility of involving parents in programs. He suggests some regional cooperation for curriculum development but would maintain the integrity of the Winchester system.

JOHN A TWOMEY

He supports the policies of the present School Committee as far as he knows them. He suggests schools share books more and prefers to see other cost cutting programs. He would like to see parents more involved in school business in order to improve communication and discount rumors. He believes in strong business management but feels generally the people in town are satisfied with the money now being spent on schools.

'Winchester Sends Us Its Problems,' Says Voke Director Kenerson

By Pauline Dishmon

"If I were a taxpayer in Winchester in the blue collar class, I'd be upset."

This statement was made by Carl E. Kenerson, deputy director of the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School, while discussing the fact that Winchester is the only one of 11 communities in the district which does not have a waiting list of students applying to the school.

The occasion was after a tour of a dwelling in Stoneham which was constructed by NMRVS students.

Kenerson acknowledged that Winchester is the only one of the 12 participating towns which has never had a waiting list, and which, until this year, did not meet its quota.

He agreed with Gerard P. Donahoe, Winchester's representative to the District School Committee, who told The Star last week that "greater communication" of programs at the school is needed.

While Donahoe appeared to place the blame on parents, Kenerson agrees with TMM Arthur Hewis, that the Winchester School Department is also at fault.

Kenerson said Winchester educators show less interest in the regional school and its programs and seem to want to "send us its problems."

Noting that Winchester is spending its share of money for the school, he said, "If I were a Winchester taxpayer in the blue collar class, I'd be upset."

Kenerson agrees with some Winchester educators who speak of Winchester as a town that is college-oriented insofar as student preparation is concerned. But students at Northeast go on to higher education, said Kenerson who points out that last year their "top grad was accepted at MIT."

Though most of the students who graduate from Northeast are placed on a job, many do go on to college, Kenerson said.

In the graphic communications department, L. Generazzo, department head, told The Star his classes are shy students who excel in English. This type of student often does not come to NMRVS. These students could prepare for professions which are commonly not known or sought by an English-oriented student.

He cited an instance where a four-year journalism graduate was hired for a proofreading job in the area. In talking with the proofreader's supervisor, Generazzo was told the fellow was not worth his money. Generazzo attributed this to his lack of knowledge in the production area. At Northeast this student could have prepared in both ways, he said.

In the graphic communications department, The Star found that students learn every aspect of the printing and visual arts field. Among the many skills learned students design logos and product containers for industry, they print programs and club rosters for such organizations as the Winchester Boat

★ Editorial On Winchester Hostility To Vocational Education - Page 4.

★ Voke Students Build Ranch House - Page 16

Club, and they prepare all brochures which relate to the school itself.

Food Services

In the food services department, headed by Walter Papalegis, The Star discovered that 82 students are involved in learning about preparing and serving food.

Students do all of the cooking served in the school cafeteria. Students share in acting as maitre d' and cashier. They take turns at various stations within the kitchen such as salads, vegetables, behind the range, or as butcher.

Papalegis says the course has four instructors. Fifty percent of the students' work is academic while 50 percent is in the field.

Of this year's graduates, Papalegis said one is going to work at the Ritz Carleton Hotel and three are going to community colleges. Robert Gerard and Robert Stephenson of Winchester are enrolled in the food services program at Northeast.

While at the school, members of The Star staff were treated to a variety of baked goods prepared by students.

Papalegis said bakery products may be ordered by area residents to be prepared by students by calling him to make arrangements for such orders so they can be worked into the food services schedule. Purchasers must pay for ordered food but the cost is almost cut in half, Papalegis said.

Catherine Burke will receive a 1500 hour pin, Rita Maggioni will receive a 1000 hour pin and Alice Keating will receive a 500 hour pin.

Three Winchester volunteers who have completed more than 100 hours are Marion McGovern, Loretta Stillman and Catherine Welch.

Officers of the association who are Winchester residents are Mrs. Walter Maroney, president, Mrs. Richard Keating, vice-president, Mrs. Paul Keleher, treasurer, and Mrs. Archibald Dresser, secretary.

Alateens, a group for teenagers who are children of alcoholics or who have other family members or friends with a drinking problem, meet Monday nights at 7:30 in the Forum Room of the First Congregational Church.

V-O Mini-Courses Offer Students Time To Explore

Parents and friends of Vinson-Owen School, with the cooperation of Clare Corcoran, principal, have put together a program of mini-courses.

On three Friday afternoons in May, fourth, fifth and sixth graders have been exploring interests with the guidance of 18 volunteer instructors.

Joseph Dixon, John Dulchinos and Brooke Green are leading a group through the intricacies of rocket building. At the end of the course each student will have his own model rocket ready for the launch pad.

Plans for an addition to the Vinson-Owen School are being designed by another student group under the direction of Robert McGillicuddy.

Two music courses have been offered. An improvisational music workshop will be led by R. Gilbert and beginning recorder by Carole Davidson.

A course in basic sign language, given by Leora Cummings, has attracted a large number of students.

Judy Wien and Pam Center are conducting a workshop in puppet making.

Caroline Sherry's "gourmet chef" is an offering which features consumption of the day's lesson.

Two parent-artists have lent their talents to the program. Lily Yamamoto is teaching a course in Origami, while Charles Lynch will conduct a drawing and painting class.

Ecologically-minded students have chosen Lucille Grassi's "green thumb," while physical fitness devotees have a choice of "Keeping Yourself Fit" by Paul Guarante. Also there is one of two tennis courses taught by Verity Feldman and Jane Norberg.

After three sessions with Graham Hunt and Peter Dybwad, students can describe what happens inside the camera when that shutter clicks, as well as produce photographs.

The enrichment committee of the Parents' Association at Vinson-Owen, under the co-chairmanship of Carole Davidson and Jeannette Hunt, has been responsible for organizing the mini-course program.

Top Home Ec Student Named

Ellen Mooney, daughter of Mrs. Lottie Mooney of 7 Myrtle St., has been named top-ranking home economics student at Winchester High School by the principal, Vincent Larocco.

As the outstanding home economics senior, Miss Mooney received the sterling silver homemaker award for 1974.

The award, a place setting of sterling flatware, was presented to Miss Mooney on May 16 by Larocco at the awards program.

The pattern for the award sterling was selected by the home economics students as part of a special project in consumer education.

Mrs. Howard Frazier, chairman of the Winchester Environmental Protection Association, receives award from Mrs. Cyrus Brewer of the Massachusetts

Roadside Council. Some Lexington school children watch the recent presentation.

WEPA Receives Special Citation

The Winchester Environmental Protection Association received the special citation for citizen endeavor of the Massachusetts Roadside Council at the Museum of Science on April 27.

Betsy Pickup of WEPA was cited for her efforts for Arbor Day in Winchester. Last year WEPA was cited for achievement.

Present to receive the award for WEPA were Lenore Frazier, chairman, and members Beverly Jones and Ursula McMorro. They were guests at a luncheon at the museum and stayed to hear a panel discussion on visual pollution.

John McGlennon, regional director of the United States Environmental Protection Agency, was featured speaker. Excerpts of McGlennon's speech follow:

"In the relentless pursuit of individual desire, we have ruined many of nature's treasures. We have overdeveloped our coasts and lake fronts. We have destroyed most of our wildlife habitat. We have scarred our wilderness areas. We have overloaded our water and our air with the noxious burden of our wastes."

"In our metropolitan areas we have squeezed out nearly every touch of natural grace with an overpowering and dehumanizing mass of concrete, glass, roadways, signs and noise."

"Growing up amidst our inner city decay or our ill planned sprawling suburbs today's typical youngster has lost all chance to walk in the woods or run through a meadow."

"What are some of the hard facts about the way we are using (or abusing) our land? Consider this sampling: each year over 730,000 acres of agricultural land are consumed by urban sprawl and 4 billion tons of valuable sediment are washed into streams as a result of land misuse."

"Over 17 million acres of wetlands have been lost including 45 percent of the wetlands of seven states. Four billion tons of raw materials are consumed annually in the United States, most of which are eventually disposed of on the land as waste. One hundred and thirty thousand acres of land are paved over every year. That seems like quite enough for one country to bear."

"This country cannot continue indefinitely on its current patterns of uncontrolled economic development, unrestrained exploitation of natural resources and undirected patterns of growth."

"We are heading on a course that undermines the quality of life for the vast majority of human beings who will live in this country for decades ahead."

The WEPA welcomes new members.

Complete Applications For Summer School Courses Now

Registration for the 1974 Winchester Summer School programs has begun and will continue for the next several weeks.

Brochures outlining this year's offerings have been distributed in the school system. These brochures contain all necessary registration information, including application forms. Extra copies are available at the town public schools.

Included in this year's elementary program is the laboratory school run in conjunction with the faculty and graduate students of Lesley College.

This program, which has in the past received statewide notice and acclaim, is an individualized enrichment course for youngsters presently completing grades K-5.

Additional Lesley-Winchester courses include a prekindergarten readiness program and an individualized remedial reading course designed specifically for pupils who test below grade level in reading.

Other elementary offerings are courses in basic and intermediate studies, learning disabilities as well as remedial and developmental reading.

On the secondary level, the School Department for the first time is offering a program designed for junior high youngsters who wish to brush up on or supplement their regular school work.

Emphasis in this area will be in mathematics and english, but may also be expanded to include other subjects if enrollment figures warrant.

High school level courses will include four offerings in english, each of which will satisfy requirements for all three grade level regular english courses.

Mathematics courses will be algebra 2, trigonometry, plane geometry and algebra 1B, aimed at students who took half-year algebra 1 courses in ninth grade or for others who may have had trouble in a standard algebra 1 course.

Personal typing and driver training, will be given this summer.

Parents or students interested in any of these courses should pick up a brochure and register as soon as possible.

Many of the offerings have limited attendance and enrollment will be on a first-come, first served basis.

Reappointed

Paul C. Black, 56 Woodside rd., has been reappointed as a notary public. His term will expire in seven years.

Oechinto Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Oechinto Jr. of Saugus are the parents of their first son born at Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Oechinto of 8 Alden lane and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Murphy of Stoneham.

Anti Vocational Attitude

Everyone turns his head when it comes to pinpointing the blame for Winchester's seeming lack of interest in the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School. Perhaps we all share the blame for fostering an anti-vocational attitude.

The School Department, The Winchester Star, the School Committee, the vocational school representative, the junior high school guidance departments and the parents of junior high school students should look carefully at themselves to see if they have contributed toward this attitude.

Of the 12 communities in the school district, only Winchester falls to fill its student population quota at the school. The other communities all have lists of students waiting to get into the school. Saugus has 100 on the list, Chelsea 151. Winchester alone doesn't send the number allowable. And of those Winchester does send, a high percentage leaves before graduation. It seems that the students who go to the vocational school from Winchester are poorly motivated. "Winchester sends us its problems," comments a school administrator, in striking contrast to the well motivated students from the other participating communities.

The reason Winchester sends the vocational school its problems is because the problem students are either the ones the guidance departments push into seeking enrollment there or because Winchester's problem students are anxious to join another school system.

Why Winchester has fewer students desiring to enter the vocational school is only partly answered by the smaller population of Winchester. More important is the feeling among residents that a vocational education is inferior to a regular high school education.

This attitude persists despite the increasing numbers of vocational school graduates who go on to get well paying jobs in contrast to regular high school students who go on to college and join the unemployment rolls. Winchester isn't much different from any other community in this area. It just thinks it is. And because it thinks this way, many students are being deprived of the kind of education suitable to their interests and abilities.

The parents of many junior high school students are depriving their children of a vocational education because such an education doesn't fit in with the parent's idea of their position in life. It's too bad that children have become pawns in parents' status play.

Another reason many refuse to allow their children to attend the regional vocational school is a belief the education received at vocational schools is not equal to the education received at regular high schools. As if to counter this argument, the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School (NMRVS) earlier this year sponsored a series of open houses to permit the residents of the communities the school serves to view first hand how the school runs.

The philosophy of NMRVS is stated aptly by the school's superintendent director, John Connolly: "The modern vocational school must couple the development of viable job skills with the cultivation of intellectual and emotional tools necessary to cope with the challenge of an ever increasing changing technologically oriented society."

Whether the school has met the goals of that high sounding philosophy is up to the parents to determine after finding out about the school. The guidance departments in Winchester junior high schools have information on NMRVS available for the asking. Material can also be obtained from NMRVS directly.

Today more than ever there is a great need in society for well-trained skilled workers. Other communities are taking advantage of the opportunity given them by membership in the vocational school district. Winchester is also a member in such a district. Yet its residents don't care to pay more than passing attention to this educational service the taxpayers of all 12 communities are providing.

As a result of court litigation last year, Winchester is now paying assessments to the vocational district on the basis of the number of Winchester students in attendance and not on the basis of a quota assigned to the community. But the important factor here is that we are permitted more students than we are sending.

A late afternoon program at NMRVS in which students receive their academic training in their own town and vocational training at NMRVS is grossly under represented. And unlike the regular day program, Winchester pays for the afternoon program on the basis of quota and not per student enrolled.

As of February of this year, Winchester had no students enrolled in the late afternoon program though the town has a quota of 19. The town is hit doubly hard by this unfortunate circumstance in that our quota of 19 is filled by students from towns that have realized the importance of a vocational training.

Students at NMRVS receive high quality professional training in academic and vocational areas. The range of choices available for the students is tremendous. In addition there are guidance and placement services available, as well as sports and special needs.

A freshman exploratory program permits students entering the ninth grade to be involved in a year-long investigation of four different possible career choices.

To round out the student's program of studies in the ninth grade, reading, math and selected academic subjects are given. Winchester students interested in attending NMRVS should contact their junior high school.

This newspaper, meanwhile, pledges it will do all within its power to bring to the attention of its readers the advantages of a vocational education. Parents, teachers and guidance counselors, meanwhile, should pledge to do all they can to direct those students in Winchester who would benefit from a vocational education to the regional vocational school in Wakefield.

Enjoyable Bus Trip

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On behalf of the 150 members of the Winchester Seniors Association who were given a most enjoyable expense-paid bus trip and visit to Sturbridge Village on May 15th, and as president of this group of over 2,700 older Winchester residents, may I express through your columns our very sincere appreciation to president Al Tatarian of the Winchester Rotary through whose kindness this trip was provided.

Each and every one of us who was the guest of Winchester Rotary will certainly remember the generosity and fine community spirit which prompted this thoughtful and enjoyable excursion.

Charles E. Yorke, president
Winchester Seniors Association.

Enka Parade

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

The Winchester Estates Garden Club would like to thank Enka at this time for the prize money awarded its entry of a bouquet of daisies as the most original theme in this year's parade.

The Enka parade is an annual time of anticipation and club participation including the members' children. It helps to foster community spirit and involvement to which the Enka is dedicated.

We enjoyed being a part of this project and are grateful that the efforts of so many were so nicely rewarded.

Sue Powers for Members of the Winchester

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

Winchester Little League would like to acknowledge its appreciation in receiving recognition from Enka in its annual parade.

The baseball players and parents had fun cutting out all the bats and balls used for decorating the float.

An extra special thank you to all the lovely Enka people for giving so much time and energy to a great organization that has helped make Winchester in many ways a better community in which to live.

Palmer St. Elderly

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

We at Palmer street elderly housing wish to thank the Winchester Housing Authority for all their hard work. Miss Clara Lewis and Mrs. Mary Murphy sure are doing their best to get some life into all our nice people at Palmer street. We have a wonderful family of elders.

We had a nice gettogether on May 16 and a nice party with all the second graders of Wynnan School presenting all of us with plants. Nice thought and we thank the children.

We are also going to have some inexpensive trips to Rockport, Hampton Beach and lots of others.

Hope all will stand behind us here at elderly housing. We really have a nice house here. Come in and visit us, Winchester folks. Louise Chase Palmer street

Success Story

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

I thought you might be interested in a little success story of a Winchester boy, Edward Kerrigan, son of the late Charles Kerrigan.

After five years of training and preparation he has opened a pensione restaurant, "Four Winds," country club in one of the most beautiful but ignored parts of Italy 45 minutes from Venice in the foothills.

The scenery, points of interest, 12th Century basilica at Follina, and the palladian villa manor make it well worth a visit.

Marathon: 'Smasher Of Generation Gap'

The second annual Town Marathon went off Saturday. It was great to see many older persons running. So many activities in Winchester are geared for younger people that there aren't many events young and old can participate in together.

It's too bad more people didn't choose to run. Many of the faces we see jogging in the early morning or evening around town were absent from the race Saturday.

Maybe the fear of not being able to finish, or of coming in last, or of sweating in front of other people deterred many of Winchester's closet joggers from making it. Too bad. As Recreation Director Donald Spinney was heard to console one man bringing up the rear: "You deserve a wreath just for finishing."

Maybe next year we'll get a better showing for this worthwhile event. Like veteran marathoner Ed O'Connell observed: "We wiped out the generation gap." O'Connell's son-in-law, Richard H. Donohue, won the adult race. And his grandson, Edward F. O'Connell Jr., placed third in the boys 9-12 race.

There weren't as many runners this year as last, a fact which can't be blamed on lack of publicity. Maybe last year there were more runners because it was novel — the first year.

In any case, if there is to be a third year next year there must be better protection for the runners. I saw some marathon participants on Highland avenue weaving in and out of cars, being nearly struck by bicycles at some points.

The marathon route should be shut off to automobiles and other traffic while the race is in progress. And the routes must be clearly marked, a distinct hardship to runners, who complained of getting lost.

The finish line should be placed further down Main street so runners don't overrun the finish line and get nearly struck by cars coming down Mt. Vernon street.

These runners are putting a lot of effort into the race. The town can put a little effort into making things easier for them.

Pat Harrington, who placed second in the girls 13-17 race in the annual town marathon, weaves her way through traffic on Highland ave.

Nazi Killings And US Abortion

EDITOR OF THE STAR:

On Wednesday, May 22, my husband and I attended a pro life meeting at the VFW on River street. Announcements stressing the importance of this meeting were made in the churches of Winchester.

The number of people that showed up was disheartening and demonstrated the apathy surrounding the issue of abortion. It is no wonder the pro abortionists have gained so much ground in the past few years. Their brainwashes are taking effect.

Have we all been blinded by this abortion culture? Can we not see the barbarism in this "what is useful is good" mentality? Surely, if you search deep enough you will see the madness that is about us.

We were appalled at the "utilitarianism" that sent 275,000 "unworthy" Germans to death in Nazi Germany. Yet, in 1972 alone 600,000 American babies were killed by abortion techniques; that is, by pulling the "living" baby apart, cutting him in pieces, or pickling him "alive" in a salt solution; 600,000 babies in one year! Don't speak to me of Nazi barbarism.

Life is becoming too cheap in these United States of America. What is happening to "God's almost promised land"? Will we also soon be dooming all undesirables from epileptics to bed-wetters? Have we no other answer save this utilitarian ethic?

If you care at all for the value and dignity of life, get out there and fight. Find some unrelenting solutions to the problems that beset our world today. We can do it if we hold on to the traditional ethic that all life has value.

Anne Copus
28 Charles rd.

Recreation Director Spinney should take congratulations for the marathon. He did most of the work himself, with precious little help from any of the members of the Recreation Committee. We only saw one committee member on hand Saturday lending assistance. The other members weren't even interested enough to be down in the square to look things over.

Yet they don't hesitate to criticize Spinney whenever the mood hits them and to periodically threaten to post Spinney's job.

The problem here, I believe, is the committee doesn't know enough about what's going on in the Recreation Department and thus is unable to give Spinney direction, a situation the members resent. They tell Spinney, You run the Recreation Department; you handle all the details. But when things don't go the way they like they criticize Spinney.

Beginning Sunday, the public will have the opportunity to view the Spear's beautiful iris garden at their home, 394 Main st.

Flower lovers will be able to view thousands of blooms, some of them the creation of I.H. Spear through pollination.

I commented last week that it is unfortunate the Park Department has to destroy the snapping turtles it has uncovered at drained Leonard Pool. Some have been purposely killed, others accidentally.

Park Cmsr. Bill Ryerson sent the following clipping from MDC Reporter, the newsletter of the Metropolitan District Commission: "Ever wonder which is the most dangerous animal in Massachusetts? It's the snapping turtle, because of his bite and aggressiveness..."

Commented Ryerson: "Enough said!"

A letter on this page last week criticized the Winchester Police Department for shooting to death a trapped pet raccoon. Kay Cardin of the SPCA tells me the police should have requested a humane trap from the organization rather than shooting it.

Boston Edison customers in this area (know anyone who isn't?) shouldn't have been surprised recently to receive a notice with their latest bill. "Interim Rate Adjustment Notice." It was called, as if to prepare us for another rate increase later on.

I say we shouldn't have been surprised because we have come to expect regular rate increases from Boston Edison. The increases are permitted by the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities.

I think the time has come when we must seriously consider public control of power. It's just too critical a commodity to be left in the hands of investors, who seek only to increase their profits at the expense of the public and with the apparent blessing of the DPU.

Frank Purdue, the chicken man, was out at the Burlington Mall recently. I didn't see him but friends tell me he looks an awful lot like a chicken himself. I suppose the poor man has only heard that comment one zillion times since he took to the air waves to praise his chicken.

CORRECTION

No one brought it to my attention, but in reading the story I wrote last week about the hearing conducted on behalf of Coach Ted Kelley, I nearly jumped out of the chair when I saw the following quote from a teacher describing Kelley's integrity as being very deep: "Which makes him a positive exception among teachers."

That quote should have read: "Which makes him a positive exception among coaches." I'm sorry, all you non-coaching teachers.

That was not an error in last week's Star reporting the Art Association sidewalk show will be June 9, a Sunday. Though the association's show has traditionally been on a Saturday, the group this year wants to hold its sale in conjunction with Town Day.

Plans for Town Day, incidentally, appear to be nearing completion. There are at least 26 different activities planned for the day-long event, culminating in the sending aloft of a hot air balloon. The day should be a lot of fun for everyone. All Winchester people are invited.

The celebration is sponsored by the Jaycees, who undertook most of the organizing. The great amount of organizing that went into Town Day is incredible. It began last fall and is not over yet as more groups ask to join the festivities.

The Jaycees felt Town Day was something Winchester had a great need for — a single event or celebration that would unite the disparate population of the town and give everyone an opportunity to meet their neighbors, some for the first time, unfortunately.

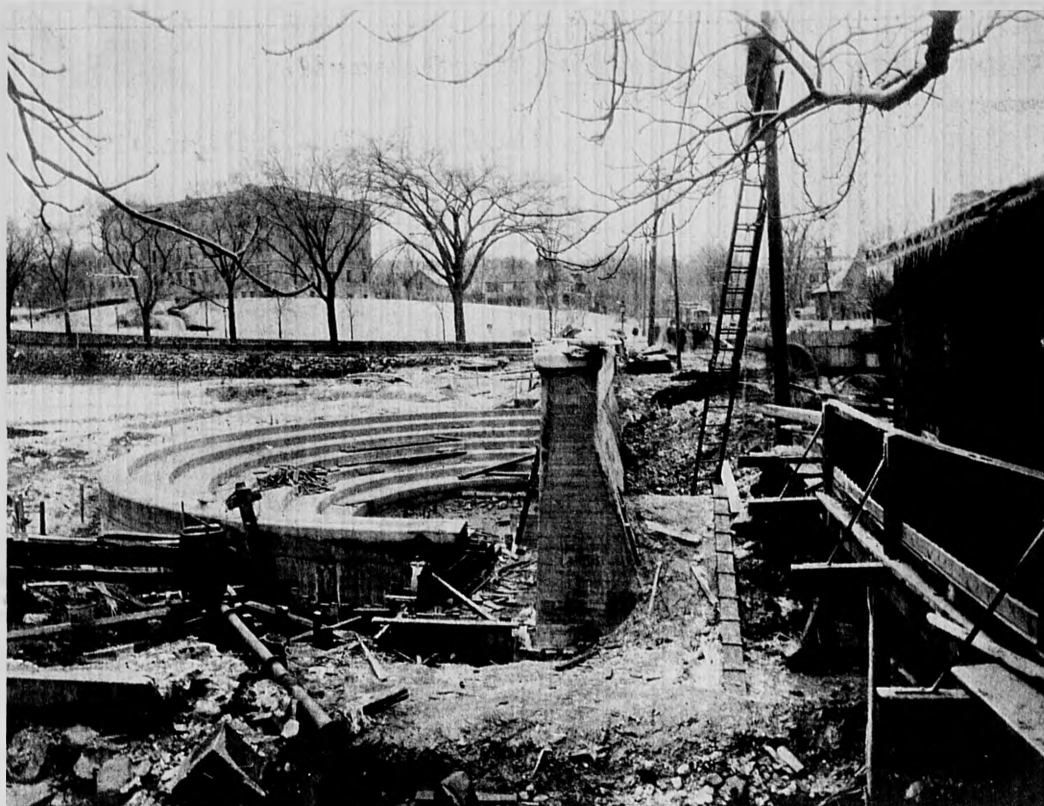

Another idea behind Town Day was to bring out into the open some of the qualities that make living in Winchester a great thing. The Jaycees have been ardent in avoiding anything commercial from creeping into the celebration. They have refused permission for groups to sell tickets, chances or wares. All of that has been kept to the slightest minimum.

They want mothers and fathers, as well as children, to have a good time. A sure way to spoil it for the parents would be to hit them at every corner with something else to buy for the kiddies.

The Jaycees tried to arrange it so the kids could get free balloons. But the cost of helium is so expensive they will charge for balloons — at cost.

Events during Town Day have been planned so people will interact with one another. Winchester is a town where people stop off on their way to someplace else. The Jaycees hope to change that a bit by introducing neighbor to neighbor.

Construction of Mill Pond dam in December, 1914, is remembered by many long-time residents since start this week of a reconstruction project on the dam to resurface the "steps." Before dam was built, waters of Aberjona River ran closer to Converse Place, at the bottom of this picture. (Photo courtesy of Mrs. Arnold Holbrook of 173 Pond St.)

Letters To The Editor LWV Information

School Committee Needs To Hear All Of Town

EDITOR OF THE STAR:
The Winchester School Committee now needs to hear the voice of the entire town. It is the duty of the School Committee under state law "to establish the educational policy of the schools" — to employ or dismiss teachers in the manner provided by statute or ordinance.

The committee under law must without forfeiting complete credibility take the action required that will maintain their right as our representatives to set the educational policy of the town.

Recent events at and since town meeting may be causing this School Committee to respond to representations of vocal minorities.

Disregard by teachers and/or administrators of specific policy decisions of the School Committee can lead only to chaos and no education for our children.

I urge every parent and citizen to contact a member of the School Committee immediately and demonstrate support for these elected representatives and the need for them to carry out their constitutional duties.

Ragweed In A Rose Garden

EDITOR OF THE STAR:
I am dismayed by The Star's decision to carry the column "Dear Denton." This tasteless type of titillation is as out of place in a small town newspaper as ragweed in a rose garden.

Surely The Star can find better material with which to fill its columns, such as church news which seems to be printed only on a "space available" basis lately.

Vote Is Certified $12,261 By Hew

Congressman Torbert H. Macdonald of this district repeats that the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School Committee has been certified the sum of $12,261 by the office of education of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare for assistance under Title I of P.L. 874. The funds are part of the entitlement under the Impacted Area program.

This program is intended to assist in meeting educational commitments to the families of government employees and armed forces personnel whose children are enrolled in the school. The payment supplies Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School with needed revenue and is utilized to defray educational costs only.

Charles Prescott Receives Award

Charles Prescott of Winchester was one of the 105 volunteers and candy strippers who received awards at the annual volunteer recognition program recently held at New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham.

League Studies Gun Control

The League of Women Voters of Massachusetts recently met in Auburn to adopt an emergency study on the control of handguns in Massachusetts.

Purpose of the study is to reach a statewide league position on control of the sale and use of guns within the state. A petition drive will gather signatures from September through December to put the issue before the 1975 legislature and, if necessary, on the ballot.

Should such a position be reached, members expect to work in coalition with other groups already studying gun control. Winchester delegates attending the state LWV meeting were Mrs. Richard Thuma and Mrs. E. Raymond Simpson.

In addition to the gun control issue, delegates discussed statewide studies underway on the administration of justice and the mass transportation systems in Massachusetts.

Mrs. Charles Park

Jill Jefferson Weds Charles Park

Jill Jefferson and Charles Francis Park were married May 11 at 4 p.m. in the First Congregational Church in Winchester.

The candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. Walter B. Davis. A reception followed at the Winchester Country Club.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Francis Jefferson of 35 Cabot st. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Beecher Park of Bluffton, S. C., formerly of Englewood, N. J.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ivory peau-de-soie gown trimmed with lace appliques and seed pearls. She carried white roses.

Carol Cranberg of Alexandria, Va., was maid of honor. Mrs. Jane Merriam Hildt of Arlington, Va., was matron of honor. Mrs. John Sindo of Gulf Breeze, Fla., was bridesmaid.

William Park Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers included Robert Somers and Walter J. Holden, both of Alexandria, Va., A. Benedict Griffin of New York, N. Y., William M. Kidder of Englewood, N. J., and Thomas J. Nolan III of Needham.

The couple took a wedding trip to Alexandria, Va.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School and Marietta College, Marietta, Ohio. The bridegroom is a graduate of Hoosac School, Hoosick, N. Y., and Muskingum College, New Concord, Ohio.

Mary Hodges Bacon Is Bride Of Mr. Whorton In Nashville

Mary Hodges Bacon became the bride of Augustus Richard Whorton of Nashville, Tenn. at a double ring ceremony on May 11 at St. Augustine's Episcopal Chapel, Vanderbilt University, Nashville. Rev. John Hatcher officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josiah E. Bacon of Florida, formerly of Winchester. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Whorton Jr. of Montgomery, Ala.

The bride was given by her father. She wore a long powder blue dress with short puffed sleeves and carried a nosegay of white rosebuds and blue and white carnations.

Her sister, Mrs. Joseph Fussell of Pine Bluff, Ark., was matron of honor. She wore a long, sleeveless, print organza dress and carried a nosegay of assorted colored miniature flowers.

Best man was the bridegroom's brother, William W. Whorton III of Montgomery, Ala. After a reception at the chapel reception hall the couple left for a wedding trip to Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Whorton was educated at Winchester public schools and Miss Hall's School, Pittsfield. She is a graduate of Vanderbilt University, Nashville.

Her husband attended Auburn University and is studying for a doctorate in biochemistry at Vanderbilt University where he plans to teach.

The couple will live in Nashville.

Sunday afternoon 18 of the cast of "Wizard of Oz" (with four additional youngsters wearing Munchkins costumes came to dress at the Samoloff studio, climbed into seven cars with their props and picnic lunches and trekked to the Radcliffe College green, where they assembled to perform their "Oz."

The participating fathers who drove, helped dress their little ones and carried hampers of props and scenic cubes for elevation, were John W. Jordan, James Potter, Robert Shupe, Daniel Hanlon and David Turnquist. Also driving and helping were Eleanor Barbuto, Joan Flore, Barbara Potter and Meri Jordan.

Mrs. Robison Is Estates President

Mrs. Mary Jean Robison was elected president of the Winchester Estates Garden Club for the 1974-75 year.

Other officers who were elected and installed at the annual potluck supper and business meeting recently are:

Mrs. Myra Fournier, vice president; Mrs. Nancy Richmond, treasurer; Mrs. Alice Warren, recording secretary; Mrs. Joan Miller, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Irene Cannava, ways and means; Mrs. Katrine Cooper, program; Mrs. Marge Conway, membership and hospitality; Mrs. Jane Dowling, maintenance; Mrs. Carla Lele, horticulture; Mrs. Sue Powers, publicity; and Mrs. Lily Yamamoto, workshops chairman.

After the installation ceremonies, outgoing president Patricia Hewitt was presented a planter in appreciation for her leadership during the past year.

Mrs. Anne Harris was hostess for the supper meeting. She was assisted by Mrs. Mary Jean Robison.

The large gathering of members toasted "a successful year with sherry" and celebrated the club's 10th anniversary with a large decorated cake.

During the business session the EnKa parade and Children's Day in June were discussed, along with suggestions for fundraising programs for next year. Members began signing up to be hostesses and co-hostesses for next year's monthly meetings.

Ambrose Teacher Named Outstanding

Phyllis Roberts, intermediate teacher at Ambrose Elementary School, has been chosen one of the outstanding elementary teachers of America for 1974.

Nominated by her principal earlier this year, she was selected on the basis of professional and civic achievements.

Outstanding elementary teachers of America is an annual awards program honoring men and women for their services, achievements and leadership in the field of elementary education. Their biographies are featured in the awards volume, Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America.

She is now eligible to receive the Outstanding elementary teacher of the year award trophy. Five $500 unrestricted grants will be awarded to the schools represented by America's five outstanding elementary teachers.

Judges, along with the board of advisors, will select the five individual elementary teachers to be honored.

Osborne Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Steven B. Osborne (Donna Peterson) of 161 Cross st. are the parents of their third child, second son, John Paul, born May 13 at Winchester Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John D. Peterson of Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Osborne of Burlington.

Mrs. Stephen C. Lang

Janet Maggiore, Mr. Lang Pledge Vows In Candlelight

Janet Louise Maggiore became the bride of Stephen Charles Lang on May 25. The 3:30 p.m. candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. Bernard Hoy at the St. Mary's Church. A reception followed at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benedict Maggiore of 11 North Gateway and Hallandale, Fla. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Delone Lang of Woburn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown by Priscilla featuring ivory English net and Alencon lace, a circlet neckline, shirred pouf sleeves, empire waist and A-line flowing skirt forming a chapel length train with a rolled satin beaded band at the hemline and train. Seeded pearls accented the entire gown and train. Her matching sculptured headpiece held a long silk illusion veil.

Arlene Maggiore of Winchester, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Lois and Elaine Cipolla, both of Arlington; Roberta Silvestri of 45 Bacon st., Nancy Robinson of Naugatuck, Conn., and Kathleen Sullivan of Brockton.

All attendants wore chiffon gowns featuring portrait necklines, empire waists, and slimline skirts with detachable capes flowing into long tapered panels. Shocking pink moire sashes accented the waists.

The bride carried a prayer book arranged with stephanotis, gardenias and ivy with accents of creme and raspberry Minuet roses.

The honor attendant carried a single long-stemmed Dior rose. Bridesmaids carried trailing bouquets of ivy rubrum lilies.

Robert Lang of Woburn was best man for his brother. Ushers included another brother, Paul Lang of Woburn, Michael Fitzmaurice of Cambridge, Paul Maggiore of 11 North Gateway, William Shaughnessy and Robert Morton, both of Woburn.

After a wedding trip to Paradise Island, Nassau, they will live in Arlington.

The bride attended Marycliff Academy and holds a bachelor of science degree from Boston College School of Nursing. She is a registered nurse at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital, Medford.

Her husband, a graduate of Woburn High School and Boston College School of Management with a BS degree, is a production control administrator at Honeywell Incorporated, Brighton.

Bradford Birth

Mr. and Mrs. F. Kent Bradford Jr. (Daphne Flickenger) of Marblehead are the parents of their first child, Spencer Davis Bradford, born in Salem on March 21.

Grandparents are Mrs. Teller Flickenger of Winchester, Brig. Gen. Don Flickenger of Washington, D.C., and Mrs. F. Kent Bradford of Virginia.

Outdoors On Cape Cod

Students Respond To Each Others' Needs, The Environment

By Marie Berry

Sixty-seven fifth and sixth grade Ambrose students are on a five day field study trip at the Cape Cod Outdoor Education Center at Yarmouth this week.

There they are having an opportunity for in-depth observations of woodlands, various salt and fresh water systems and changes in land use with the passage of time.

By working with their faculty and parents' association in planning and carrying out fund raising projects during the school year, the students have had a stake in making the voluntary program possible.

A group of 45 fifth grade students from Parkhurst had a similar rewarding educational experience for four days from April 30 to May 3. Teachers and parent chaperones who accompanied the students in a supervisory capacity will never forget the excitement of hearing students cheer as herring reached the end of their run; on seeing the grins when a participant was stuck in the mud on a salt marsh exploration, or seeing intent faces peering at the compass orientation in the forest.

The program was included in the curriculum of both schools for the first time this year. Early in the school year, David Silverman, director of the center and a science specialist for many years in the Parkhurst and Ambrose schools, worked separately with the school wanted to pursue and what advance preparation would make the experience most productive. Silverman also made presentations to the students and their parents at meetings held at Parkhurst and Ambrose in the fall.

The Outdoor Education Center has its own teaching staff. Each teacher works with no more than eight to 10 students. Emphasis is on learning greater respect for the environment, utilizing the wealth of environmental and historical activities and creative opportunities available at or near the Center.

All students had a full-day field trip to the Cape Cod National Seashore Park and an exploration of a salt-marsh and a cedar swamp.

They had a deep listening experience on a night walk that called upon all of the senses instead of sight alone.

Students could then choose from among optional activities, including a herring run, forest, ground or ocean observation and comparisons, an Indian walk, an historical tour of Old Yarmouth, a survival experience, and woodworking.

Teachers and parent chaperones, accustomed to seeing competition as well as cooperation among students, became aware of students working to help each other, responding to an experience designed to make them more aware of the environment and more responsive to the needs of others.

ANGEL BAND — Parkhurst pupils in the school's father-daughter night. the first and second grades perform at (Photo by David Rogers)

Parkhurst Father-Daughter Night Puts Stars In Eyes

Music, gymnastics, exhibits and, according to Mrs. Geoffrey Wyler, "starry-eyed daughters" were attractions for fathers during the recent Father-Daughter Night at the Parkhurst School.

Held in the school auditorium, art decorations for the program were done by all daughters. Several demonstrations were exhibited showing skills, projects and activities of the year.

The art corner showed 12 girls from the first to sixth grades demonstrating crayon resist, tempera, clay, construction of marionettes and weaving on a handmade loom.

The ecology corner was active with first and second grade girls making collage, paper masks and litter baskets from recyclable materials.

Third and fourth graders displayed origami results of a mini-course in Japanese culture.

Fifth graders showed pictures from a recent science adventure on Cape Cod.

Sixth graders exhibited projects from a recent science fair.

The Angel Band, made up of first graders, headed the list of musical pupils. The kindergarten pupils sang "Hello Daddies" to the theme of "Hello Dolly" and composed a "Daddies" poem to the lilt of "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star."

Third and fourth graders presented an orchestra song, and fifth and sixth graders sang "Poor and Carefree Strangers."

Mrs. Wyler points to the gymnastics programs as a "finely timed demonstration of body skills including walkovers, backbends and cartwheels."

Mrs. Philip Nasson arranged and organized the event. Mrs. Gerlinde Boyack directed the gym program.

Mary Pierce was in charge of music and Marguerite Maserian led the art demonstrations.

Tot Finder decals may be picked up at the central or west side fire stations by Winchester residents. A decal could save a Winchester child's life.

McPartlin Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Edward McPartlin of Reading, are the parents of a daughter, Judith born at the New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham on May 16.

Grandmothers are Anne R. Enright of 4 Pine St. and Kathryn McPartlin of 126 Church St.

Sanborn Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Sanborn of Milford, N.H., are the parents of a son, Peter Stephen, born May 2. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Sanborn of Winchester and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Amadio of N.H.

Mrs. Murphy Is Director

The Burlington area YWCA has selected Mrs. Robert Murphy of Newton centre as director of its summer day camp, Camp Mariana. "We were fortunate to have a selection from a field of many well qualified applicants," stated Ann Heagy, YWCA director. "The combination of Mrs. Murphy's experience, education and dynamic personality will help make this year's camp experience the best ever."

Murphy, mother of four children, received her bachelor's degree in education from Boston State College and her master's degree in education from Bridgewater State College. She has Massachusetts certification to teach children with learning disabilities.

Her previous experience includes aquatic leader, examiner in "Learn to Swim" campaign at the Newton Y.M.C.A., she was elementary classroom teacher for 12 years in Boston, Framingham and Natick public schools, recreation leader for 4 years in Boston, and three years in Newton. Murphy is currently in her fifth year of teaching children with learning disabilities in the Natick schools.

WHS Teacher Cited For Service

On the 25 anniversary of the Massachusetts science fair, Helen W. Crawley, chemistry instructor at Winchester High School, was among those honored for many years service to the science fair committee.

William J. Hecht, chairman of the fair committee and MIT admissions associate, presented Miss Crawley with a citation and engraved silver letter opener in recognition of her contributions as former chairwoman of the committee and judging sub-committee.

The annual Massachusetts science fair is co-sponsored by MIT and the Boston Globe and conducted by the Massachusetts State Science Fair Committee.

Rudd's Collection Of Road Maps, Travel Memorabilia On Display At Public Library

FROM THE LIBRARY

The era of the automobile is not yet over, nor is that of the gasoline station and its service, but the time may be a coming.

Lest we should forget those dashing young men who polished their windshields to perfection, filled our tanks with a smile, and directed us on our way through the backroads of America, Eric Rudd of 29 Nelson st. has been collecting commercial road maps displaying them at the Winchester Public Library.

Beginning in the 1920's, tire and fuel companies adopted road maps as the best public relations and advertising they could produce. Unfortunately, although well designed and attractive, they became so common they were either thrown away as they became out of date, or were literally worn out with use.

As a result older road maps in good condition are difficult to find today.

And even those that still exist suffer the effects of poor quality paper — they are brittle and yellow with age.

Maps were originally printed in limited editions because of the constant changes and the sheer cost.

Today giant oil companies are cutting down on their road map production in an effort to economize.

The advertising community has been editorializing against the policy, since many artists and cartographers will be thrown out of work.

Collector Rudd can trace the "old" roads and discover how his parents and grandparents traveled from town to town. The superhighways of their day are now backroads bordered by towering trees, defunct garages, small restaurants, vegetable stands, and the life we miss on the turnpike.

By placing an old map side-by-side with a modern one, a student can see immediately how roads have exploded into existence over a short span of years.

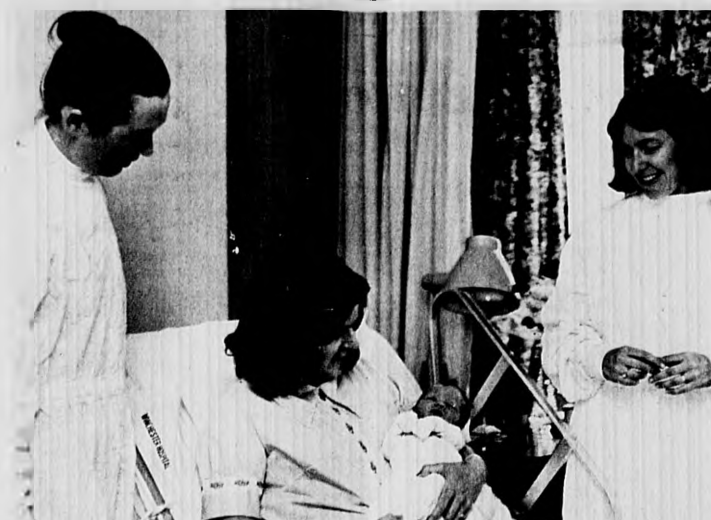

Road map art is a fascinating study as well. From pleasant, well thought-out designs to the high camp of the 40's and 50's, from simple titles to the most sophisticated photography, the public taste is well reflected here. Styles of dress, architecture, and even gas pump design may all be studied via this fascinating collection.

Rudd, a writer and researcher, has been collecting road maps at flea markets and second hand bookstores. He deplores the recent rise in prices but says that the persistent searcher will still find them at reasonable prices in New England.

The display which will continue until June 20, also contains an old Parker Brothers game called "Touring" where the maximum speed in the country is 30 miles per hour. There is also a tour book that employs symbols to get the driver through the maze of streets between Boston and Lowell.

There is a book printed in 1906 that lists all 11,952 cars registered in Massachusetts with the owner's name, address and the car's horse power and make.

So, even if you can't fill'er up today, come in to the public library and see how things were yesterday.

MRS. STEVEN B. OSBORNE shows John Paul to Mrs. Gilmartin, right, project chairman for Healthy Baby Week, and Mrs. Tobiason, president of Winchester Jaycee-ettes.

John Osborne First Baby In Health Week

John Paul Osborne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven B. Osborne of 161 Cross st., was the first Winchester baby born during Healthy Baby Week.

His appearance at 11:21 p.m. on May 13 won him a case of formula given by Winchester Hospital in cooperation with the Jaycee-ettes' sponsorship of the March of Dimes' Healthy Baby Week.

Muraco Girls Crochet Afghan

Muraco fifth and sixth grade girls have been attending a crochet class taught by Betty Quinn once a week after school.

During the year the girls made afghans, scarves, pot holders, smocks and hats.

As a group project the girls made an afghan for their former teacher, Peggy Brown, who is expecting a baby in June. The girls who helped to put the afghan together are Marie Adelsberger, Miki Akiyama, Rosemary Alford, Beth Brickley, Pam Prickley, Eric Buckley, Paula Ciampa, Cheryl Cloni, Tracy D'Arcy, Liz Doherty, Eileen Donovan, Brenda Duran, Leanne Dougherty, Debbie Fava, Marybeth Fennell, Diane Figlioli, Cathy Flynn, Linda Gursi, Eileen Hollahan, Maureen Hollahan, Linda Laing, Nancy Lane, Linda Marotta, Beth O'Neil, Gail Oram, Judy Perritano, Kim Petone, Elaine Pigott, Okimi Smith, Karen Stow and Rhonda Toppi.

LMH Volunteers Receive Awards

Conrad W. Grad of 303 Washington st. was among award recipients at a recently held volunteer recognition tea at the Lawrence Memorial Hospital of Medford. Grad was cited for his voluntary service to LMH over the past six years.

This award presentation and social occasion paid tribute to the 160 men and women who comprise the LMH Senior Volunteer Corps.

Other volunteers from Winchester commended for their service to the LMH include Mrs. Edward T. Banks, 21 Cardinal st., Mrs. Michael T. Capobianco, 33 Hollywood rd., Mrs. Mario D. Cirilli, 18 Fernway, Mrs. Vincent DeAngelis, 17 Bigelow ave., Mrs. Frank S. Evans Jr., 10 Woodside rd., Susan Fichera, 115 Main st., Mrs. Russell D. Holt, 29 Leslie rd., Mrs. Albert F. ## Students Earn Certificates After Baby Sitting Course

Eighth grade home economics classes at McCall Junior High School were given a baby sitting course recently.

Forty-four students completed the course and will receive certificates stating such participation.

Sponsored by the Winchester Jaycee-ettes, the course covered six sessions and a test on material presented by guest speakers and in manuals provided.

Speakers were Capt. Peter Galuffo of the Winchester Fire Department; Dr. Donald Annino, pediatrician; Officer Robert Baird of the Winchester Police Department; Mrs. Brian Meyer, nursery school teacher; and Mrs. Brent Outwater, registered nurse and mother.

The baby sitting course is an annual presentation by Jaycee-ettes. In an attempt to reach more potential sitters, the group gave the course in conjunction with students this year.

Students Hold Science Fair

Students of the Lincoln School presented a science and social studies fair recently with each grade devoting one classroom to science and another to social studies.

Some class teachers encouraged individual projects: a model oil well, a dental exhibit, including a tooth rotting in a glass of cola, a rock tumbling display and a geographical and political study of Colombia.

Others worked within a theme: a survey of frontier days with an Indian village and costumes and an old-fashioned country store, and a study of weather cycles with charts, demonstrations of precipitation and measuring instruments.

The fair was preceded by a meeting of the Lincoln School Parents' Association. President Mrs. Regis Pelloux reviewed the year's enrichment and fund-raising activities.

The slate of officers for the coming year was presented and elected. Mrs. James Cusato, new president, introduced the following members of the board for 1974-75:

Mrs. Serafino Perra, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Spiller, second vice-president; Mrs. Lawrence Keats, recording secretary; Mrs.

William McCarter, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Martin Griffith, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Costello, ways and means; Mrs. William O'Leary, program; Mrs. Louis Bruno, publicity; Mrs. Dominic DiVincenzo, room mothers; Mrs. Louis Cappello, hospitality; Mrs. James Naylor, enrichment; Mrs. Eric Rudd and Mrs. Ronald Bradshaw, library; Mrs. Karl Sorger, sixth grade dancing; Mrs. Richard Osgood, newsletter; Mrs. Thomas Mawn, nominating; Mrs. Stephen Anderson, environment; and Mrs. Regis Pelloux, adviser.

The Hearthstone

Best In The World--Sundae Sauces

By PK
Star Correspondent

Ice cream lovers, this is written just for you. We present the two best sundae sauces, bar none, that we have ever tasted.

Innumerable small boys will vouch for our hot fudge sauce, and Schrafft will vouch for the butterscotch sauce since it is theirs.

First, buy a half-gallon of vanilla ice cream. If there are more than two in your family, you will use all of this in a day or two under these yummy sauces. They are wickedly rich and fattening.

Hot Fudge Sauce 1

Heat in saucepan 1 1/2 cups evaporated milk, 2 cups sugar.

Heat just to boiling, stir and cook one minute (simmer).

Grate and add 1 oz. (squares) chocolate. Add and heat until melted, without boiling. This will still look speckled temporarily, but it is all right.

Add 1/4 cup butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 teaspoon salt.

Beat all together with rotary beater until smooth. Makes 3 cups.

Can be reheated in double boiler.

Schrafft's Butterscotch Sauce

Boil together in saucepan, until heavy syrup consistency: 2-3 cup white corn syrup, 1 1/2 cup medium brown sugar, 1-3 cup water, 1 Tablespoons butter, pinch salt.

Cool and add: 1/4 teaspoon vanilla, 6 Tablespoons heavy cream or evaporated milk.

If too heavy, add a little more cream. Serve hot or cold.

Other good toppings for vanilla ice cream are, of course, fruits — fresh, sweetened strawberries or peaches. Have you tried creme de menthe on ice cream? Delicious. But, for all-time winners, we'll take the two above.

Obbard Birth

Wellesley Officers Report Successful Season; Elect Mrs. Pezaris As President

The Winchester Wellesley Club's annual meeting was held recently at the home of Mrs. Robert M. Stone, who traditionally hosts the spring picnic.

Retiring Club officers reported a successful Boots 'n' Blades season. Wellesley Club members voted to distribute profits between the Winchester Scholarship Foundation, the Wellesley College Development Foundation, the Wellesley Boston urban internship program and a gift to the Wellesley Students' Aid Society in memory of Molly Hodge, member of the club for many years.

The Wellesley book award, annually presented to a graduating Winchester High School girl for excellence in the humanities, has been given to Nancy Lombardo.

Following presentation of thank you gifts to Mrs. John Hamilton, retiring president, and Mrs. Lane McGovern ways and means chairman, the following officers were elected for two year terms:

President, Mrs. Stylianos Pezaris; vice-president, Mrs. Robert Grasty; secretary, Mrs. A. L. Warren; treasurer, Mrs. K. Paul Chase; acquaintanceship, Mrs. Alan Leland; publicity, Mrs. George Vrotsos; development fund, Mrs. Ronald Stillman; social, Mrs. John McClennan; nominating, Mrs. Robert Mirak; ways and means, Mrs. Robert Grasty; and calendars, Mrs. F. Milne Blanchard.

Guests were Mrs. William Casey, mother of Wellesley sophomore, Maria, and Mrs. James R. Foster and Mrs. Frank P. Wilcox of Framingham. Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Wilcox are members of the Blue Chips Skating Club Committee, an 11-year-old figure skating program sponsored by the Middlesex Wellesley Club. They brought ideas for giving community children a sense of fun and accomplishment, and the exchanged experiences with the Boots 'n' Blades committee. Members voiced enthusiasm about the success of both club projects and the benefits they expect to bring to the community and the scholarship funds.

Club members were reminded that nine students from other parts of the country will be living in East Boston this summer while they participate in the Boston Urban Internship program and would appreciate contact with interested alumnae. Mrs. John Hamilton has more details.

The meeting concluded with refreshments, prepared by Mrs. Richard Swanson, and discussion.

Maureen Winn Receives An Award For Legislative Work

Maureen Winn, 10 West Chardon rd., was presented an award for outstanding service for her work on legislative commissions at state and federal levels regarding treatment of multiple sclerosis, a cripple of young adults.

Although confined to a wheelchair, Mrs. Winn recently returned from Washington, D.C., where she discussed new methods for transporting handicapped persons in airlines, reviewed an amendment to Social Security benefits and discussed grant money for the elderly and handicapped through the Department of Transportation.

More help to those afflicted with multiple sclerosis will come through the National Advisory Commission on Multiple Sclerosis which has recommended an additional $18 million a year for the next three years to aid in the progress for the cure, cause and treatment of MS

The commission, five scientists and four laymen, in its February report said the major portion of the additional money would be used for biomedical research in the neurological sciences, which may yield information regarding all neurological dysfunctions including multiple sclerosis.

Also contained in the report was the recommendation of a multiple sclerosis treatment center to study and develop treatments for MS, an increase in research support by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, three new MS clinical research centers and studies and clinical trials to develop and test therapy methods.

Kiwanis Expects 500 Fishermen

The Kiwanis Club of Winchester expects 500 elementary age school children to assemble Saturday, June 8, at Town Hall and parade to Wedge Pond for the start of the annual fishing derby.

This is the Kiwanis' 19th annual derby. Assembling time at Town Hall is 9 a.m. The parade to Wedge Pond on Main street, across from the First National Store, is at 9:30 a.m.

Fishing continues until 1 p.m. Kiwanis hopes this year to be able to announce the names of the winners at Town Day on Sunday, June 9.

Prizes are awarded in 20 different categories. Eligible to participate are children enrolled in Winchester grades one through six.

Registration applications are available at the Sports Shop on Main street. Applications will also be available on the morning of the derby at the pond.

Fortnightly Gives Hospital Bath Equipment

The Fortnightly recently presented a check to the Winchester Hospital for portable whirlpool bath equipment for the continuing care unit.

The presentation, in memory of Mary F. Cass and Mary S. Livingstone, is part of the community projects of the General Federation of Women's Club Community Improvement Programs sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Co., to which The Fortnightly frequently responds.

Firecrackers Damage Mail

Three Winchester juveniles are scheduled to appear in court for allegedly placing lighted firecrackers in a Ritey road mailbox resulting in damage to mail, a federal offense. Other reports this week of firecracker use focused in the area of MacDonald Field.

The police journal notes there was a "rumble" among youths from Winchester and Arlington on Church street Sunday. Several citations were issued for motor vehicle violations to youths from both towns.

When questioned why the rumble took place, the lieutenant with whom The Star spoke said: "I don't know." Six officers were called to the scene.

The same day a security guard at Mahoney's Rocky Ledge Farm reported the loss of a walkie-talkie.

Last Wednesday, John Mulcare of the Rangley area was hit by a car on Washington street near Cumberland Farms

David Hillman Is Valedictorian

Valedictorian of this year's class at University of Maine at Orono, is David C. Hillman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hillman of 8 Everett rd. He has posted a 4.0 grade point average in his four years at UMO where he is majoring in political science.

Attaining a perfect 4.0 average is listed by UMO officials as extremely rare. According to the registrar's office it occurs about once every 11 years.

Hillman is currently hobbling around campus on crutches because of torn ligaments in his ankle suffered originally while playing basketball and reinjured recently while running. As a sophomore he was a member of the UMO karate team and assisted for two years in the instructing of the art.

Hillman plans eventually to go to law school. He is accepted at the University of Pennsylvania and placed on the waiting list at Yale.

He plans to take a year off and obtain a job, to raise enough money to help him through law school along with scholarships that may be available.

"I would also like to go to Europe for a short time before I start my law studies. I've only been outside of New England once and I would like to see a little of the rest of the world," says Hillman.

Hillman, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the Arts and Sciences scholastic honor society, has an older brother who will graduate from Northeastern this year and two sisters.

Town Day Tempo On Upbeat

What started as a modest suggestion on how to get people together has grown into a mammoth undertaking which will culminate Sunday, June 9, as Winchester's first Town Day.

Enthusiasm for the project has dominated to the point where 22 clubs and organizations are slated to set up activities.

The "something for everyone" and "set out and meet your neighbor" phrases which accompanied the planning of activities have shaped the atmosphere of Town Day. The list of events includes such diverse activities as a Girl Scout investiture, eye screening and blood pressure readings by the Visiting Nurse Association, a sidewalk art show, historical walking tours and square dancing.

Marking the start and finish of activities are two crowd-attracting events. Beginning at 11 a.m., the Winchester Rotary will serve a community brunch in McCall Junior High School. Tickets are on sale in stores in the Center and will also be available at the door.

The ending of activities will be signaled by the rise of a large hot air balloon several stories high from Manchester. The balloonist will lecture about his feat prior to taking off.

Throughout the day entertainment will be provided by several musical groups, including the high school band, jazz band and the Troubadours. Roving groups of musicians will also perform.

Pancake Brunch Starts Day Off

Tickets are on sale for the community meal which will begin Winchester's first Town Day celebration on Sunday, June 9.

In addition, plans are underway to open 10 historical Winchester houses for public tours and to have a biennial art exhibit and open house by the Studio Guild.

COMMUNITY MEAL

Tickets for the community meal signaling the start of the town's first annual Town Day are on sale at stores in Winchester Center.

The meal, a pancake brunch, will be served by members of the Winchester Rotary Club in the cafeteria of McCall Junior High School beginning at 11 a.m. and continuing until 2 p.m. There will be live musical entertainment.

"The essence of neighborliness is exemplified by the breaking of bread together," says Colleen Hertel, a member of the Town Day Committee.

"Since fostering neighborliness and recreating a sense of community are the objectives of Town Day, what better way to begin the day's activities than with a community meal?"

Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

HOUSE TOURS

The Winchester Historical Society and the Historical Commission are working together to add a new dimension to Town Day activities.

According to Frances VerPlanck, "several of the more interesting houses in the town will be open to visitors as part of Town Day."

Some, such as the Octagon House on Highland avenue, are fascinating architecturally, says Mrs. VerPlanck.

Others, like the Skillings house in the Rangley area and the Vinson (Monkiewicz) house on High street are of particular interest because of their association with families who have lived in them, says Mrs. VerPlanck, president of the Historical Society.

She points to the house at 195 Cambridge street, now owned by the Ewing family, which belonged to Hezekiah Wyman in 1776. He was the dreaded "Death on a Pale Horse" who harassed retreating British troops after the Battle of Concord, Mrs. VerPlanck notes.

There are 10 houses on the tour. They may be visited in any order.

A buffet will be available at the Monkiewicz home at 195 High street. Visitors may relax with refreshments as they admire skating costumes and mementoes of the Vinson-Owen family, who formerly lived in the house.

The house tour includes the following addresses: 195 Cambridge st., 4 Wildwood st., 43 Wildwood st., 25 Wildwood st., 290 Highland

ART EXHIBIT

The Winchester Studio Guild, now in its 36th year, will hold its biennial art exhibit and open house on June 7, 2-9 p.m., June 8, 11 a.m.-3 p.m.; and as a participant of Town Day on June 9, 11 a.m.-3 p.m. Mrs. Alvion Kimball is chairman of the exhibit which will feature paintings in several media, collages and crafts work.

A number of paintings and collages will be for sale.

Refreshments will be served. The public is invited.

Mrs. Jacobs Will Sketch At Show

Mary Waters Jacobs of 11 Wolcott rd. will be one of several artists demonstrating various skills at the annual sidewalk show June 9.

Mrs. Jacobs, a painter, will be sketching portraits in charcoal along the fence at Manchester Field when the Winchester Art Association holds its show there on Town Day.

A graduate of the Scott Carbee and Vesper George Schools of Art, Mrs. Jacobs has won awards and prizes for her work. Her portraits hang in public buildings and private collections. She is a member of the Copley Society and the Winchester Art Association.

Each year browsers view the display, variety and atmosphere of the outdoor exhibit. Artists from Winchester and surrounding towns will be exhibiting works for sale in all media.

For further information call Betty Wilder or Lola Pontone.

Laboratory School Jointly Staffed

This summer Winchester's elementary school youngsters will have the opportunity to participate in Laboratory School, funded and staffed jointly by the Winchester School Department and Lesley College Graduate School.

The program, which was attended last year by almost 300 students, offers six weeks of instruction in the various disciplines taught at the elementary level.

These include math, reading, science, social studies, art, music and writing skills. Individual attention is given to the needs and interests of each child who attends.

Outdoor activities are also planned, including field trips and sports participation. Emphasis is on enrichment activities rather than strictly remedial instruction. The school is geared for students of all ability levels.

Winchester teachers, and members of the faculty and graduate student body of Lesley

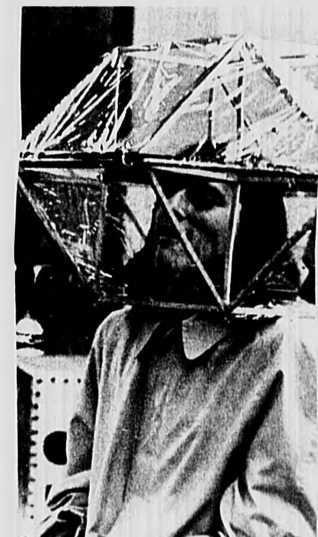

College will staff the program. All intern teachers hold at least a bachelor's degree.

The program will be held at Muraco and Parkhurst schools, giving students a choice of location on either side of town. Full registration procedure can be found in the elementary summer school brochure available at any of the town's elementary schools.

There is a tuition fee which has a family discount plan in effect when more than one child attends.

It is suggested by the coordinators that parents register their children as soon as possible to guarantee acceptance into the program.

To place a classified advertisement in The Star, telephone 729-8100 before 4 p.m. on Tuesday.

Mrs. Randall, Honor Grad, Awaits Phi Beta Kappa Key

"Here's one of those oddballs," they probably said when they saw me coming." This was Louise Randall's interpretation of other Boston University students' feelings toward her.

Though she admitted she felt awkward at first, Mrs. Douglas Randall, 7 Swan rd., apparently overcame the feeling. She graduated summa cum laude Sunday with a bachelor of arts degree in anthropology. Her Phi Beta Kappa key should arrive soon.

The young-looking mother of six and grandmother of one attended Woodward School for Girls in Quincy. She became a registered nurse, married and had a family.

Four years ago, with her family grown and lots of free time, she realized the "usual choices" for keeping busy would not satisfy her. She had always done volunteer work, and a job would prevent her from being home when her youngest son, Barry, returned from school.

She decided in favor of night classes in speech therapy at Boston University, but after one anthropology course she "couldn't get enough courses nor read enough books on the subject," and enrolled full time.

"Douglas encouraged it, and the rest of the family was very supportive. They were patient with late meals," Mrs. Randall explained.

She took two semesters off when things began to pile up around the house. The children came first throughout her college years, although Mrs. Randall "always overrode the studying and never overrode the housework." Her children would urge her to take it easy and "just pass in what you've got." But the art of faking it was unknown to their mother who "worked hard and joyfully on her schoolwork."

She found her classmates "wonderful kids with minds wide open." There was no problem with communication, although Mrs. Randall was amused at the young students' talk of leaving the "cloistered environment." "They spoke of the time when they would be out in the real world. I thought I was already in the real world!"

The latter part of her college years were devoted to a thesis studying plant foods used by prehistoric Indians living on the Boston Harbor Islands. Mrs. Randall did some archaeological digging and perused historical and missionary accounts of Indian life.

Due to her college experience, Mrs. Randall has "a marvelous confirmation of the very important place of a woman." Since anthropology is the "study of how culture is passed on to the next generation," according to her, the role of mothers as teachers of "a whole flock of citizens" became clear. "The woman who raises a family is at the center of the educational institution," she continued. "It is an excellent thing for a mother to have a liberal education."

Through her studies, Mrs. Randall discovered "the man-woman problem is being confused by those who say men and women are the same. They are not. They have different strengths and attributes. A woman makes a mistake to try to deny all the duties, responsibilities, joys and benefits of womanhood."

Mrs. Randall has had an opportunity to examine the methods and premises of education. "If today's education is falling down," she said, "the cause is confusion about its purpose."

"If you start with the premise that the history and purpose of education has been to educate people to rule themselves, every discipline will fall under that umbrella."

Mrs. Randall rejects the idea that being a mother ties one down. She believes, instead, that it is a time of "marvelous flexibility." She realizes the period of infancy may be trying and demanding, but later "a woman has only herself to blame if she feels she's stultifying. If she can't arrange her affairs so she can put together time to pursue something of her own devising, it is her own fault."

In the future, Mrs. Randall would like to do some anthropological research. As an accredited secondary education teacher, she is also thinking of substituting.

Louise Randall and her husband, Douglas, town counsel, have lived in Winchester since Jan. 1. Their six children are: George, 26, of England; Teddy, 24, student at Eastern Nazarene College in Quincy; Alexander, 20, currently traveling; Roger, 18, senior at North Quincy High School; Barry, 13, student at Lynch Junior High School, and Mrs. Kristie Relfenberg of Texas, mother of Erica, Mrs. Randall's "cultural heir."

Zoomobile Visit Is June 8

The Boston Zoological Society's zoomobile will visit Winchester Saturday, June 8, the weekend of Town Day.

The zoomobile will be at the rear of the public library at Mill Pond from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The visit is being sponsored by the Winchester Business Association.

Some of the animals on view will be Nelson, a boa constrictor; Arlene, a parrot; Sampson, the iguana; Humphrey, the monkey; Belle, a possum; and Alfred, a four-foot long alligator.

ABC Seeks Host Families

Five new students will be arriving at the ABC (A Better Chance) House on Dix street to attend Winchester High School. They will replace present graduating seniors.

Each year the ABC board seeks new families who are interested in hosting the boys during their leisure time.

The host family program provides an extra "home" for the ABC student while he lives in Winchester. The boys visit regularly with the families and participate in a variety of family activities. They depend on the families for local transportation.

Air Force Has 77,882 Openings

MSgt Charlie Smith at One City Hall Mall, Medford, area recruiter, reports the Air Force has openings for 77,882 men and women.

Most openings are for young men with no previous military experience. There are approximately 193 different job skills available.

There is an increase this year in jobs for enlisted women. Half of the new enlistees will be recruited for technical jobs such as jet engine mechanics, electricians, missile mechanics, and heating system specialists.

Air Force recruiters will be looking for 1,328 officer candidates with college degrees.

Initial indications are the Air Force will admit 1500 personnel with prior military service if they meet the requirements of age and possess a skill that is in demand.

Details on job openings and requirements to qualify are available by calling MSgt Charlie Smith.

Sachems Stun Tanners, 72-28

Coach Manny Marshall's Winchester track team edged a strong Woburn Tanners in the final meet of the outdoor season by a margin of 72-28.

The strong visiting team came here confident of victory but went home empty handed thanks to good performances by the regular Sachem point winners and a couple of surprises.

The Tanners brought a delegation of rooters which included football coach Pete Sullivan, anxious to appraise the speed of his performers and the benefits of their intensive weight lifting program.

The Winchester team, however, which has been very weak in the outdoor weights events due to the loss of indoor weight men Chip Roche and Bill Dexter to lacrosse, shocked the Woburnites with an 8-1 win in the shot put.

Jeff Christensen came through with a toss of 45 ft. 1 in. and Tim Porter took second with 43 ft. 11 in., two full feet better than the best Woburn effort.

The coup de grace came in the high hurdles event when Rich Minutoli produced his best varsity effort, taking second place behind John Friberg. Had he finished in third the meet would have ended in a 70-70 deadlock.

It was a happy way to end the Middlesex League season for the undermanned Sachems, since any win over the Tanners is always doubly sweet.

The summary:
Long jump: Kirk (WO), Friberg (WI), Dmth (WO). Distance: 20 ft. 10 1/2 in.
Discus: Kincaide (WO), Maiocco (WO), Porter (WI). Distance: 123 ft. 1 in.
Javelin: Nash (WI), Christensen (WI), Calareso (WI). Distance: 160 ft. 11 1/2 in.
High jump: Peary (WO) and Chipman

(WI) tied for first, Krause (WO). Height: 5 ft. 6 in.

Two-mile run: Busten (WO), DeMars (WI), Trageser (WI). Time: 10:54.7

High Hurdles: Friberg (WI), Minutoli (WI), Peary (WO). Time: 16.1 sec.

Shot put: Christensen (WI), Porter (WI), Borgason (WO). Distance: 45 ft. 1 in.

100 yard dash: Kirk (WO), Cronan (WI), Goodman (WI). Time: 10.1 sec.

Low hurdles: Friberg (WI), Corsetti (WO), Meahl (WI). Time: 20 sec.

220-yard dash: Croft (WO), Cronan (WI), Pascalli (WO). Time: 22.7 sec.44

440-yard dash: Mauger (WI), Smith (WO), Cronin (WO). Time: 2:02.6

1 mile run: Cantillon (WO), McCue (WO), Coakley (WI). Time: 4:54

Polke Vault: Joyce (WI), Ladd (WI), Chipman (WI). Height: 10 ft. 6 in.

Triple Jump: Smith (WO), Meahl (WI), Samoiloff (WI). Distance: 39 ft. 10 in.

Woburn took the relay event, but since the meet was beyond being lost the Sachem team did not include the usual cast, and the disappointed Tanners went home on the short end by 72-28.

Dance Is June 7

The annual Little League dance will be June 7 at the Winchester Elks Club.

Junior High Track Meet Attracts 100 Participants

An informal meet for boys and girls who are students at Lynch and McCall Junior High Schools attracted about 100 participants recently and produced fine competitive efforts.

The program was held on the new track at the playing fields area on Skillings Bypass. Joint sponsors of the affair were coaches Tom Kline of the indoor track team and Manny Marshall, who handles the outdoor tracksters. Officials who assisted included: Coaches Bob Albright, Mike Houghton, Steve Hood and former Sachem track men Tony Guarente and Peter Hallisey.

Ribbons will be presented to the place winners at assembly programs in the schools. This marks the first time that both boys and girls have participated in the pre-high school meet.

Place winners included:

THE VIRTUES OF BEING SMALL

Size is a relative thing . . . but as banks go, we're pretty small. To your advantage.

David was pretty small too . . . but when he fought on his home grounds he was unbeatable. We think we are, too. Being small, we can concentrate on serving our own community and its people. Being small, we have time for the personal touch. Being small, we don't get bogged down in bureaucracy—and you can get a decision from us easily.

We think our size is an asset; it keeps us close to our customers, and to our community—and it guarantees to you that we care about you and give you the best service possible. Remember, you're an important part of us.

Your Awareness Will Make The Difference!

Edward J. Duffy Jr.
Chairman of the Board
Suburban National Bank

The Administration recently unveiled its long-awaited legislative plans to revamp the nation's financial system. The Treasury Department has outlined major elements of the plans and has sent the package to Congress.

This does not mean that there will be any immediate change in the system. Far from it. Congress can be expected to hold off on any action until next year, at which time there will be extensive hearings. If I had to guess, I would expect that the earliest time when a bill might come to a vote would be next year.

But it does mean that plans have started to move...and the time is coming for you who read this column to consider this legislation and what it can mean to you, weigh it carefully, and let your Congressman know how you feel about it.

Because it is so important to all of us, I plan from time to time in this column to bring you up to date on this legislation and what, in my view, it means to you as a businessman or as a consumer.

In brief terms, the Administration proposes:

1. To eliminate interest rate ceilings on time and savings deposits over a 5 1/2 year period.
At first blush this looks good. But it must be remembered that a bank has to earn the money it pays to savers...and those earnings come from loan interest rates, fees for services, and the like. If we are allowed to pay you more for savings, we have to charge you more for service.
2. To give federally chartered savings and loan associations and savings banks expanded deposit services, i.e., checking accounts, etc.
3. To allow these same groups investment and lending alternatives, i.e., power to make consumer installment loans, etc.
- Both of these provisions are designed to allow savings banks and savings and loans to act more like commercial banks. However, these two institutions today are mainstays of the housing field, and have been given certain tax advantages to support housing. What will the effect be on the housing market if they are able to enter other fields?
4. Allow stock savings and loans and mutual savings banks federal charters.
- The basic problem here is that this will supersede state laws, where states have, as a matter of policy, decided they do not want these types of operations in their states.
5. Give credit unions greater access to funds.
The credit union movement started as a method whereby people with a common bond could band together to assist one another. That concept is being eroded; this would largely end it.
6. Remove interest rate ceilings on FHA and VA loans.
7. Modify the tax structure of savings banks and savings and loans.

In my view, if these institutions are to have bank-like powers, they must pay bank-similar taxes.

There are some far-reaching proposals in this package. They will mean a lot to all of us, one way or another, and I will try to keep you informed as the package moves through Congress.

St. Mary's Field Day Results

The sun shone on St. Mary's School Field Day again this year when a fun-filled day was held at Leonard's Field recently.

Each class participated in all events simultaneously in different portions of the field. There was soccer, softball, tennis, volleyball, tug-of-war, treasure hunt, arts and crafts and soft ball throw.

The races consisted of wheelbarrow, sack, three-legged, 50-yard dash and relay. The winners of these were:

Duplicate Bridge

By Bridgette

On June 5, members will be competing for the Knox Challenge Bowl in the individual championship. This event presents a different partner for each hand.

With attendance whittled down somewhat by many end-of-season activities, there were, nevertheless, two sections in play on the 22nd.

Kay McConnell and Gay Schreiber were the North-South winners in Section A; East-West Chris and Paul Cowles came in first in a close race.

North-South

Kay McConnell and Gay Schreiber, 74½.

Lee Salani and Waveney Smith, 70.

Joseph Salani and Richard Sullivan, 66½.

Adeline Duryea and Ida Finlay, 66.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Blackler, 64.

East-West

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cowles, 69½.

Ruby White and Stephen Haseltine, 69.

Guy Mingoelli and Thomas Walsh, 64½.

Peggy and Barbara Cade, 63.

In Section B the father-son partnership of the Carl Galante won North-South; East-West Peggy and Paul Sanderson led the field.

North-South

Carl Galante and Carl Galante Jr., 70½.

Nancy Atkinson and Donna Redpath, 64.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Enge, 55.

East-West

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sanderson, 78.

Norman Houbling and Leo Gonsalves, 71.

Max Goodman and Edwin Beckman, 68.

Eileen Berman and Lillian Sheridan, 64.

Record Is Set

Five In Town Family Take Top Speed Skating Honors

A national record was set at a speed skating meet held recently at the MDC Cronin Memorial Rink with four members of a Winchester family taking first place honors.

Among first place winners were Alyssa, Jennifer, Ricky and Chris Parker of 73 Forest st. Their brother, Daryl was a third place winner.

All first, second and third place winners from Winchester are given as follows:

First place, Alyssa Parker, 4, and Robbie Glynn of 20 Churchill rd., 5, toddler girls and boys champions; Jennifer Parker and Ricky Parker, both 7, pee wee girls and boys champions; Nancy Monteith of 22 Clematis st., 9, and Chris Parker, 9, pony girls and boys champions; and John Boyle of 28 Garfield ave., 10, midget boys champion.

Second place, Laurie Glynn of 20 Churchill rd., 8, pee wee girls; Tommy Sullivan of 12 Wincrest dr., 9, pony boys.

Third place, Katie Monteith of 22 Clematis st., 7, pee wee girls; Danny Sullivan of 12 Wincrest dr., 8, tied, pony boys; Daryl Parker, 11, tied, midget boys; and Pat Feeney of 39 Nelson st., 16, junior girls.

Swim Club Opens June 8

The weekend of June 8-9 will signal the start of the 1974 activities at the Winchester Swim Club.

The pool facilities will be available on the first two weekends of June prior to full operation on June 23. Opening ceremonies are planned for the tennis courts on June 8.

The swim club staff for the year has been appointed under the direction of William Irving. In recognition of the expanded scope of the swim club activities to include tennis, Irving and the board of directors' have appointed Richard Lennon, as club director.

Lennon is supervisor of swimming for the community schools program of Medford as well as the swimming program at Medford High School. Prior to his activities in Medford, he was involved in swim and tennis club operations on the north shore for eight years.

Cougars Yield To Wayland

The Cougars, hampered by absenteeism due to the Memorial Day Weekend, traveled to Wayland in weekend youth soccer action, losing 2-1.

The defensive realignment necessary to fill the open spots worked relatively well but could not prevent the Wayland team taking a 2-0 lead in the first half.

The Cougars in the first half had a few opportunities to score, but in general were out-hustled by the opponents.

The second half was more even. The Cougars presented themselves with some excellent scoring opportunities.

On one, Darryle Parker scored a well-deserved goal. It turned out to be impossible to tie the game.

Soccer News

This frustrated even the local weather authorities who expressed dissatisfaction in the outcome of the game through heavy thunder, lightning and hail, which sent everyone rushing for cover.

All in all it was a close game which could have gone either way. Saturday the team will play its last home game of the season against Weston at 1 p.m. at MacDonald Field.

CELTICS WIN

The Celtics won over Franklin 7-1 Saturday in a tune-up for season-ending games with the powerful Wellesley and Needham teams.

Lack of goal scoring, a problem for the Celtics this season, was not in evidence against Franklin. Olivier notched three, followed by two from Stuart McCord, and singletons from Barry McQuillan and Billy Budd.

The defense was anchored by Jim Kohn and Mark Cincotta, who kept the Franklin forwards at bay throughout the match.

The Celts face Wellesley Saturday at McDonald Field and Needham on the following Saturday at Needham. It appears that either Wellesley, with one loss, or Needham, with only a tie game against them, will win the league championship.

The Winchester boys although out of the running, look forward to pinning a loss on each opponent.

Beacons Skid To Victory

The Winchester Beacons skidded, skidded and slipped their way to a 3-1 victory at Wayland last Saturday afternoon. A heavy hail and rain storm just before game time left the field under an inch of water.

Inside left Pat Fortin started the scoring for Winchester midway through the first half. Wayland tied it before halftime when a clearing pass by a fullback to goalie Paul Casey bounced away and was kicked home by a Wayland player. The Beacons dominated play.

Strong shots by Jackie Driscoll, John Barcus, Willie Strazzullo, David McLaughlin and Charlie Mahoney either missed the net or were saved by the Wayland goalie.

The eventual winner was scored by outside left John Waite at the 23-minute mark of the second half. Pat Fortin finished the scoring with his second goal just before the final whistle.

Although not scoring, Robert Horn played an aggressive game, showing good ball control and real hustle. John Barcus played nearly the whole 60 minutes with strong offensive and defensive play from his center half position and briefly in goal. Ray Kenney at halfback contributed to the team effort.

Tot Finder Decals

Tot Finder decals may be picked up at the central or west side fire stations by Winchester residents. A decal could save a Winchester child's life.

'Coach' Dinner Friday Night

The dinner dance honoring the retirement of WHS Athletic Director Henry T. Knowlton will be tomorrow evening at Chateau de Ville in Saugus.

Upwards of 500 persons are expected to attend. Including Wendell Mansfield, now in his 80's, who coached "Hennie" during his school days.

Joe Bellino, who starred for "Coach" in his high school days and later went on to become the Heisman trophy winner at the Naval Academy, will be toastmaster.

A group of prominent people in the world of athletics will be on hand headed by Harry Arlanson, recently honored as retiring athletic director at Tufts.

Officials of the various coaches, athletic directors and similar organizations in which Coach has long been active and Neil Holland of the Massachusetts Secondary School Principals' Association are planning to attend.

Head table guests will make short remarks in order for the group in general to enjoy the dancing.

A special head table guest will be Knowlton's only daughter, Mrs. Martha (Marcie) Allison, who lives in New Jersey.

His three grandchildren, Glen, Sharon and Scott, will be present. Friends and players from Plymouth have chartered a special bus to attend.

The committee in charge is headed by Tom Keating as chairman. Other active members include Joe Bellino, Sam Rotundi, Gaspare Gluffo, Michael Gilbert, Roland Twombly, Sherman Saltmarsh, Robert Gilbert, Dominic Orgetas, Milti Mawn, James Olivier, Frank Provizano, Coach Manny Marshall and Athletic Director-elect Bill Colella.

Although reservations have closed there will be a limited number of places available at the Chateau de Ville. It is located on the old Newburyport Turnpike (now Rte. 99) across from Smyly Buick.

Track Men Win Five Gold Medals

By John F. Parrell

Running in Class B of the annual state track meet, Winchester coached by Manny Marshall surprised everyone by coming up with 14 points. Leading the way was John Friborg, who won the 180-yard low hurdles and anchored the winning relay team.

The victories were a fitting reward to a team which with only 25 active runners managed to compile a 4-5 record in the strong Middlesex League and was only two points shy of a winning slate at 5-4.

Before leaving for the meet we told the boys to bring home at least five gold medals. They did that and a little bit more. Dana Cronan finished fifth in the 220-yard dash. Sophomore Rick Mauger garnered the same spot in the 440-yard dash. The team ended up in a tie for eighth place with Wachusett Regional and Wakefield.

Friborg, performing in his hurdle specialty, won handily in 20.6 seconds. His closest opponent, Fearnside of Reading, was well to the rear so John was clocked in much slower time than he might have made. He will have a chance to show his real speed in the statewide meet Saturday at Amherst.

Dana raced through his 220 in 23.5 seconds, although he was tired from his earlier effort in the relay event. Rick had a rather unfortunate break in the 440.

Six boys were to qualify and there was a dead heat for sixth place, necessitating a split final heat.

Rick ran well, defeating Scales of Boston English, a very capable runner in 51.6 seconds only to be edged out by one-tenth of a second by two runners in the split heat.

The relay quartet of Dana Cronan, Rick Mauger, Steve Meahl and John Friborg ran off with their event in 1:33.8, slower than their best mark of 1:31.7, but good enough to whip Silver Lake and Reading who tied for second, Wachusett and Lincoln-Sudbury.

The Middlesex League dominated Class B with Reading the winner with 27½. Stoneham was seventh with 14½. Winchester and Wakefield were in an eighth place tie with 14. Melrose was twelfth with 11. Watertown had 4, and newcomer Burlington picked up 3.

Lexington was competing in Class A and picked up six. Belmont had two in Class C. Nine of the 10 league teams scored, and guess who failed to register even ½ point. The Woburn Tanners, a very capable group with a strong relay team, was only Middlesex member to lay a goose egg.

It was a great ending for the Sachems. It may be some years before as many as five gold medals find their way again to the banks of the Aberjona.

Voke Students Build House

Fourteen Winchester boys who are receiving vocational trade education at the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School are participating in the construction of a seven-room house with a basement apartment on Lawndale road, Stoneham.

The students are among nearly 200 from the 12 towns participating in the school district.

Nearing completion on the school's building project, an open house was held Friday at the site where The Star saw project director James Smith and some of the students putting finishing touches on the interior and exterior of the house.

According to Smith the project, which was approved by the District School Committee last year, "is a dream come true."

The Stoneham house, the first building project involving NMRVS students, will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Cole of Chelsea and their daughter.

Smith points to carpentry framing including floors, walls, windows, doors, ceilings and roof as areas of work by the students. They are also doing all of the interior and exterior finishing.

Kitchen cabinets, made of birch and stained a "warm brown," according to Smith, were all made at the school and brought to the house for installation.

Though there are only boys from the school at the construction site, Smith is hopeful that the future will have girls there.

"I am as guilty as the next when it comes to selling women short," he says, noting that female students in the carpentry and cabinetmaking department "get right with it" and are skillful in operating saws, lathes and other tools. Girls are not included on the construction site because of "difficult and heavy lifting," but Smith wants to have girls more involved in the house project at the site in ways they can effectively work.

Another of Smith's goals is to have more than one house project going during a year. This way, he explains, students will have more opportunity to witness and work with the various architectural types of dwellings.

The Stoneham project is unique in that the owner is handicapped and using a wheelchair for mobility. Therefore, the house is constructed with ramps.

The house has three bedrooms, a living room, kitchen, dining room, family room, foyer, two baths and a two-car garage.

In the basement there will be a small apartment where Mrs. Cole's parents will live.

For the open house the home contained furniture from area merchants. In one room were quality crafted bookcases made by ninth grade cabinetmaking students. In another room there was a display of wrought iron and other metal products made by the metal trades students.

Winchester students participating in the program include: Kevin Misuraca, electricity; Greg DiGiovanni, Steve Fiore, Robert Russo, Mark Sullivan, Donald Johnson and Gary Doucette, plumbing.

Also, William Swymer, Bobby Breen, James Page, Terrance Sylvester, Ralph Nay, Alan Mouradian and James Amico, carpentry and cabinetmaking.

There are plans for another house project next year. Work on the foundation will begin in August with a project completion date of May, 1975. This house will be built for Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence O'Connor of Saugus.

Besides Smith, who is head of the carpentry and cabinetmaking department, other staff members for the project are Nicholas Abbruzzese, drafting and design department head; Manuel Bogis, metal trades department head; and Manuel Rainha, plumbing and pipefitting department head.

Commercial subcontractors in the trowel trades include Frank J. Luciano Co., Wakefield, masonry; Karv Karmin Door Co., Marblehead, overhead doors; Imperial Millwork Co., West Bridgewater, interior finish; P & J Construction Co., Wakefield, excavating; and Peter Davidson Co., Wakefield, concrete. Trowel trades are not available at the school.

★ Voke

Donohoe reports there will be a series of tours to help improve communications for area students, parents and educators. By attending such tours, he notes, persons can readily see that the school is not a place for problem students. It is a school where students may explore, discover and prepare for vocations in technical areas, he said.

On the bus returning from Stoneham to Wakefield following the house tour, four members, including the District School Committee, talked about enrollments. Catherine Fallon, Winchester School Committee member, who was also present, said later, "It was interesting to hear the district school committee members from other towns vying for Winchester's seats."

On Saturday

Special Needs Daylong Conference Scheduled

About 250 professional educators specializing in special needs will gather at an all-day conference hosted by the Northeast Metropolitan Regional Vocational School.

Fifteen related workshops focusing on various aspects of learning disabilities related to physical handicaps are planned. The workshops are expected to give participants an opportunity to exchange ideas and listen to featured speakers throughout the day.

Louis R. Sardella, supervisor of special education at Northeast, is arranging the program through the cooperation of MRVS superintendent director John Connolly and the District School Committee.

Charles O'Donnell, director of pupil personnel services of Hanover public schools, will speak on "Programming Success for Special Needs Pupils."

The first workshop will be led by Dr. Albert Trieschman of the Walker Home and School in Needham. His topic will be "Emotional Competence in the Classroom — the Teacher's Role in Behavior Management."

Other workshops will include "Mainstreaming the Physically Handicapped" by Lorraine Atkins, director of education at the Massachusetts Hospital School, Canton.

League Of Women Voters Accepts Men Now

By Ruth Ellen Flax

The League of Women Voters, until now open only to women, recently voted full voting membership to men at its national convention.

That means Robert Oppenheimer of 67 Thornberry rd. and Phillip Blumberg of 35 Foxcroft rd. are now full-fledged members of the Winchester chapter.

Blumberg says it is "amusing to him that men can be admitted to something previously reserved to women." According to both men, changing society warrants the end of discrimination against both men and women.

"Differences of sex, race or religion are ridiculous. We need to learn as quickly as possible to live with each other as equals and take the attributes we have and use them meaningfully on a cooperative basis," stated Oppenheimer.

Oppenheimer and Blumberg had been associate members of the league, which granted them all privileges except the right to vote.

"A reverse chauvinism, a second class membership," Oppenheimer called it. Blumberg said he "looked upon himself as a full member." At last year's LWV convention "mere men" were denied full membership, Blumberg said wryly, but neither became discouraged with the organization they have been devoted to since youth.

Both men's mothers had been active in the league, as their wives are now. After witnessing the league's successful fight against the corrupt Pendergast machine in his home town of Kansas City, Mo., Oppenheimer looks upon the organization as one of the "important, independent forces in the country, both in local and state politics, that was available for fighting corruption and changing the government without vested interests as focal points."

Blumberg sees the league as one of the most "remarkable organizations in American society."

Oppenheimer and Blumberg contributed financially to the league which, in Oppenheimer's words, was the "maximum evidence of support" which he could give under the league's bylaws.

They attended meetings infrequently,

Difference In Concept Of Church Enters Benedict's Decision To Go To Hudson

Rev. Dean E. Benedict, who has been pastor of the Crawford Memorial United Methodist Church for the past four years, has accepted a pastorate at the First United Methodist Church in Hudson. He will begin his new position in Hudson on June 30. In accepting the new appointment, Benedict points out, "Hudson is a growing community which has more than doubled in population in the past 10 years. The church has likewise grown," he says. Benedict indicates several factors involved in his decision to move to Hudson. First, he points out, "It is a step up with a real challenge." The Hudson church is the largest Protestant church in the town. Second, Benedict says, "As a family man I must also think of security for my family." The new church offers a significant increase in financial support, he notes. Finally, according to Benedict, the Hudson church people agree with his concept of a church.

Benedict says he "disagrees with a concept held by some of the members of the leadership at Crawford Memorial who say the church is the people's." He says he "believes the church is God's, not the people's or the pastor's. It is when all recognize this fact that a church really grows." Benedict states, adding that because he was "unable to accept the view of some local leaders and aware of what the difference could do to the church," he was "further motivated to accept the new calling."

The Benedict Family came to Winchester from Quincy, where Benedict was a pastor. In Winchester the family has been active in community life. Rev. Benedict has just completed a year as president of the Winchester Ecumenical Association. He is a Rotarian and a member of its board of directors. In Winchester he served as chaplain of the Fire Department and worked with the religious programs of the New England Rehabilitation Hospital, Woburn. He has been active in Masonic circles and other church organizations. And for the past two years he has been a member of the Wyman School Parents' Association. The Benedict's two children are Rebecca and David.

Sister Sean, Flying Nun

'Flying Nun' Will Attend MMM Lawn Party Saturday

Sr. Sean, the "Flying Nun" of MMM rub elbows with starvation, malnutrition, blindness, disease and thirst. She will attend the Medical Missionaries of Mary Lawn Party on Saturday.

Granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Underwood, her aunt presently lives in Winchester. Sister Sean entered the Medical Missionaries of Mary in 1960. She offered her vows in 1963 and went to Ireland where she was trained as a pilot by an Aer Lingus flight captain.

In 1968 Sister Sean took up her duties as flight pilot in Turkana Desert of Kenya. Turkana, a barren area the size of Maine, is the home of about 175,000 Turkana nomads who, according to Sr. Veronica service dispensaries, public health education and preventive medicine programs.

The work is voluntary and supported by efforts of the sisters in Winchester who find funds to supply food, transport and medical supplies for the Turkana based mission.

Sr. Sean flies to each station, bringing the very ill, the victims of accidents (crocodiles, spear throwing, etc and surgical emergencies out of the desert to Kenyan hospitals with proper facilities, brings supplies to 24 or more small clinics and treatment centers and according to Sr. Veronica, is the life line for all who live in the isolated area.

After the lawn party Sr. Sean flies to Ireland on the first part of her return to Turkana for another three year period of flying.

Creation, Evolution Seminar Topics

A seminar on creation and evolution is being presented by the Century 21 Institute for Better Living on Saturday in the auditorium on the grounds of the New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham, from 1-6 p.m.

This seminar is being presented especially for science teachers who have adequate amounts of material available on evolution, but desire scientific information on the creation theory of origins in order to offer a balanced presentation in the classroom. The seminar is open to the public.

The action of the California State Board of Education in 1969 requiring that creation, as well as evolution, be taught in the public schools created much controversy in the educational world.

The featured speakers will be Fred Hauke, Ph.D., chairman of the department of biology of Atlantic Union College, Robert Brown Ph.D., chairman of the Geoscience Research Institute, Andrews University, Mich., Harold Coffin, Ph.D., past chairman of the Geoscience Research Institute, currently professor of paleontology at Andrews University; and Asa Thoresen, Ph.D., chairman of the department of biology at Andrews University.

Doctor-Minister Team To Lecture For Good Health

The Century 21 Institute for Better Living is presenting a seminar and lecture series from June 10 - 15 at the Stoneham Junior High School auditorium at 7:30 p.m., and continuing, June 16-27 in the G.B.A. auditorium on the grounds of the New England Memorial Hospital, Stoneham.

The introduction of new "Meatless... Nutritious... Enjoyable..." 164-page cookbook prepared especially for this program - and, which will be used in a national program in 1975.

This program, combining features of a doctor-minister team, is designed to add years to life.

Guest lecturers will be J. Wayne McFarland, MD, currently on the faculty of Thomas Jefferson University School of Medicine, Philadelphia, and a specialist in physical medicine and rehabilitation; and J. R. Spangler, minister, who is associated with three national television and radio programs, and who has travelled and lectured, internationally.

Subjects to be discussed are: strategy for stress control, how to prevent heart attacks, cutting the food budget without cutting quality, what to do about backaches, how to have a well-developed character, and other topics dealing with the steps to total health, which combine the physical, mental, social and spiritual dimensions of life.

Special features will be meatless cooking school, and

On June 13 the Red Cross bloodmobile will be at St. Mary's Hall from 2-7:30 p.m. Any person from 18-65 years old (17 with parental permission), in good health and weighing 110 pounds or over may donate blood.

St. Mary's parish is making an effort to continue its blood program which covers the blood needs of all parishioners and their immediate families.

To maintain coverage, 25 percent of parish families must donate one pint of blood a year. The parish blood bank collected 300 pints of blood during 1972-73 and is seeking to match this amount for 1973-74.

One need not be a parishioner to donate on the June 13. All residents are welcome. Donors will insure coverage for themselves and their immediate families.

Appointments may be made at parish masses on June 8 and 9 or by calling the Winchester Red Cross. Walk-ins are welcome. Baby sitters will be available from 1:45 to 5 p.m.

St. Mary's Elects Board

Epiphany Parish Celebrates Pentecost

On Sunday, members of the Epiphany will celebrate the festival of the Pentecost. There will be two celebrations of the Eucharist, at 8 and 10 a.m.

Parishioners are expected to wear their brightest reds and oranges as they celebrate this Christian feast, commemorating the descent of the Holy Spirit on the disciples of Jesus.

The Epiphany celebration will include balloons, a folk mass ensemble from St. Eulalia's Parish to lead the singing, and the sacrament of baptism.

Following the Sunday service, the YPF of the church will meet for brunch at the home of the Graves family at 6 Kenilworth rd. All ninth graders are welcome.

The Tandem Club of the parish will hold its annual lobster dinner on June 7 at 8 p.m. The prayer group of the church will continue to meet throughout the summer. The group is presently studying the Book of Proverbs.

Summer Courses At Schwamb Mill

The summer term of classes at the Old Schwamb Mill, Arlington Heights, will begin the week of June 24.

For the convenience of families planning their vacations, complete courses will be given in both July and August. These include many adult courses and all the young people's courses. Other courses for adults will run through the full 10-week summer term.

Craft courses for adults and young adults include silver jewelry, stained glass, woodwork with hand tools, pottery classes and workshops, spinning and dyeing, making puppets, masks and toys. Courses in fine arts include oil painting, painting with watercolor, portraiture, drawing, life drawing, viols and violins.

For young people, classes include pottery, patchwork quiltmaking, off-loom weaving, textile design, puppetry, stained glass, drawing.

A number of new courses have been introduced to the Old Schwamb Mill schedule for the summer term. A daytime course in painting with watercolor will be given by Joseph Connolly who teaches an evening portraiture course at the Mill.

Connolly, courtroom illustrator for WNA-TV, was graduated from the Massachusetts College of Art and has taught at the Art Students League, New York.

The watercolor class, for students ages 14 to adult, will be offered on Monday and Wednesday afternoons, twice weekly, in July. Most classes will be held outdoors as the weather permits.

Another new course for adults and young adults, on the techniques and aesthetics of making puppets and marionettes, masks and toys, will be given by Barry Feller in a 10 week class on Saturday mornings beginning June 29.

Mr. Feller, a working sculptor and graduate of Rhode Island School of Design (M. Ed. Goddard College), will also offer a drawing course on Monday evenings during the summer term.

New classes for young people include patchwork quiltmaking, off-loom weaving, textile design, stained glass and puppetry, in addition to the popular pottery and drawing classes held throughout the year.

Real Estate Today

By Realtor A.R. DeVelis

BUYERS ARE NOT NAIVE

Your home represents an important financial asset. When the time comes to sell, put yourself in the buyer's shoes. He's in the same financial boat and will want the most house he can get for the money. Frankly, the stakes are too high to play the do-it-yourself game in this monetary arena. The best advice is — let an expert sell it.

"But why a Realtor, when I can sell it myself and save the commission?" you may ask. "Right?" ..... WRONG!

The average buyer is far from naive. Before you even start serious negotiations, he'll expect you to deduct the Broker's commission for him.

benefit. Then you're on your own in the critical areas of financing, mortgages, contracts and deeds, etc. Your home will be exposed to any and all unaccompanied strangers who knock.

A Realtor will save you these headaches and dangers. He'll protect your interest and sell your house at the best price. Statistics have proven this time and again.

If you have any questions on this subject or on any other aspect of Real Estate, please feel free to call or drop in at JAMES T. TREFREY, INC., REALTORS, 27 Waterfield Road, Winchester. Tel. 729-6100.

Benefits Are Extended

Under legislation recently signed by President Nixon, the maximum period of unemployment benefits will remain at 39 weeks, according to Richard C. Gilliland, director of the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security. The bill continues the extended unemployment benefits program for three more months through July 6, 1974.

Director Gilliland emphasized that the maximum number of weeks for which any benefits can be paid has not gone up to 52 weeks.

According to Gilliland, persons whose original claims have been exhausted and who have not received all extended benefits due.

Winchester

This Royal Barry Wills custom-built gem is located in one of our prettiest and most popular country settings close to the center of town. This handsome colonial, built in 1833, features a lovely beamed ceiling living room with fireplace, an unusual rustic brick study with sliding glass doors to patio, modern kitchen, pretty dining room, four nice bedrooms on second floor, one and one-half baths, paneled playroom with fireplace in basement, and a garage plus additional driveway parking space. Lovely grounds with mature plantings complete this unusual offering in the lower 60's.

At Educational Conference

Grassroots Reform Of School Financing Urged

By Cathy Fallon

Winchester is not alone in its concern for finding better and more equitable means of supporting public education. The mandate given the School Committee at a recent budget hearing to gather grassroots support for tax reform and to storm Beacon Hill was echoed by Joseph M. Cronin, Secretary of educational affairs, and Gregory R. Anrig, commissioner of education at the Massachusetts Educational Conference Board meeting.

Anrig invited friends of education all over the state to form a political coalition with realtors, senior citizens, League of Women Voters, and mayors to force tax reform into the 1974 gubernatorial campaign. "If it's not discussed in 1974, it's unlikely to happen in 1975," Anrig noted.

Gov. R. Dwight said existing tax structures and obligations stand in the way of immediate relief for school systems. He pointed out that in Massachusetts the social service burden is half of the state budget.

Massachusetts now spends 30 cents of every tax dollar on education. Two thirds of a billion dollars goes to cities and towns, while another billion is spent by the cities and towns on education from local property taxes.

Dwight had six suggestions to school committees to achieve tax reform:

Form strategic alliances with other organizations devoted to tax reform. "Local aid formulas won't change without this kind of collaboration," he said.

Continue to have concern for the plight of cities.

Agree to the need for major changes in organizations which must modernize and consolidate.

Prepare to abandon and sacrifice less defensible incentive formulas, such as building construction, to close loopholes in aid to education.

Show a little humility and recognize that as enrollments drop 20-30 percent in lower grades, school committees must take advantage of opportunities for savings. Perhaps civic groups can make good use of unneeded space, he noted.

One conclusion is inescapable: financial reform is imperative and the Sargent administration is committed to that end.

Rep. Michael Daly, chairman of the House Committee on Education, spoke to the group on the needs of education.

Citing school finance and unequal opportunities as the central problems of education, Daly said that Chapter 766 has crystallized problems of the under-funded Chapter 70. The legislature has proposed a bill increasing money by the amount required for Ch. 766 to avoid 766 becoming scapegoat. "766 has dramatized the weaknesses of the state aid formula," he said.

Daly referred to the "annual battle to do away with fiscal autonomy." He noted that this was primarily a symbolic battle because of contractual agreements which lock school committees into their budgets and which threaten all education.

Addressing himself to the dual problems of equal educational opportunity and school finance, Daly mentioned state support of 100 percent for bilingual programs, 110 percent for special education and 50 percent for vocational education.

All these figures are based on an assumed ability or willingness of towns to start up these programs for later reimbursement. The need is to find a new formula, taking into account both the ability of towns to pay and the needs of the youngsters within those towns.

"The vehicle for change may well be the existence of unequal educational opportunity," Members of a newly formed special education commission are trying to pull together all reform groups. "We must start to create the political climate where the reform of school finance becomes a major issue in the 1974 gubernatorial campaign and a subject for a major reform act on the books in 1975."

Sen. Frederic W. Schlosstein Jr., chairman of the joint committee on taxation spoke on revenue resources and the possibilities for change.

Schlosstein referred to the states' 2.7 billion budget as "precariously in balance." It may, in fact, be as much as 5 million in the red, he said.

Cuts will be required, and demands will come from other unanticipated needs. There must be a major tax program in 1975, he said. The revenue needs for state purposes alone are $200 million. Any new aid for cities and towns would require closer to $300 to $400 million in taxes.

"Where can we start to raise this amount of two to four million?" he asked. To raise this amount will require significant increases in both sales and income tax, he said.

Corporation taxes are a poor source, since job incentives must be maintained. The cigarette tax is applied to debt service in the and a 9 percent tax on capital gains hit hardest on lowest wage earners. Persons earning a 9 percent tax on capital gains hit hardest on lowest wage earners. Persons earning below $5,000 are not taxed. If the rate on earned income were raised to 6 percent, $190 million could be raised, he said.

Broadening the base of the sales tax to include food and clothing would spell political trouble, but could raise an additional $300 million, he said. Taxing services such as haircuts would also raise a public outcry.

The Master Tax Commission is reviewing all reform proposals to establish a model revenue structure with mechanics for keeping it in line and reducing the over-dependence on the property tax.

Schlosstein is concerned that such increases might be diverted for various programs. He's bothered by "circuit breaker" supporters who wish reform to give relief to the poor and elderly at a cost of $250 million a year. This was overturned in the House of Representatives.

"If we intend to lower the property tax by giving more state aid, we can't at the same time relieve all other burdens," he said.

Sect. Joseph M. Cronin discussed executive policy and financing of public schools. The Sargent administration is strongly supportive of bilingual and special education programs to ensure equal educational opportunities, he said.

The administration wants to tie funds for these programs to the basic Ch. 70 equalized formula. "The administration wants to assure proper assessment and collection of taxes along with means to compute taxes equitably."

Cronin referred to a school business management task force that would be created by legislation to achieve savings and ensure every dollar is productive. The task force will examine regional aid and transportation on a cost sharing basis.

Regarding future policies, Anrig is considering assigning weights for students in special and vocational aid. The state government is well aware of the municipal overburden and wishes to be responsive to urban needs, he said. A system should be able to spend more than the state average, but acceptable limits of tolerance must be worked out so as not to appear discriminatory. "The object is not to spend the same amount but to achieve equality of educational opportunity."

The graduated income tax will be a ballot question again in two years. It is not a cure-all, but will unlock doors and achieve a more equitable tax structure, he said. He predicted the GIT is a "few years away."

Saying that "Massachusetts is an economically illiterate state," Cronin said "it's unbelievable that a liberal state turns down a liberal taxation." Unfortunately, he said "people don't trust the legislature which raises taxes to meet the social demands of its people."

The thrust of the population bulge is at the high school where more dollars are spent per student, making it hard to cut budgets, Cronin said.

This article is taken from a report on the Massachusetts Conference Board meeting May 9 on financing public schools in Massachusetts. The summary of the meeting was written by School Committeeperson Catherine R. Fallon and submitted to the Winchester committee last week.

Cronin cited a 5 percent decrease in the number of high school graduates going on to college. State scholarships must increase from the present 10 million to 35 million, he said. There will be a question on the ballot in November allowing the state to make direct grants in aid if it passes.

Schlosstein, in response to a question seeking a preview of the kinds of corrections which will be made to tax inequalities, said that such taxes as the machinery tax, established in 1955, will be abolished.

Ch. 660 will be updated using a 75 percent weighted average and bringing the mixture of equalized valuations up to date. He said the state is considering raising the average of aid under the present New England School Development Council formula.

Schlosstein mentioned that fiscal autonomy carried in the Senate this year by two votes. Proponents of autonomy were urged to contact their representatives.

Mrs. Charlotte Ryan, president of the Mass. Parent Teacher Student Association, highlighted some issues in the financing of schools. What is the legal state responsibility and what should remain in local control?

She noted leadership in executive and legislative branches of Massachusetts government and said we must support new taxes to pay for new programs. One question is how close to the student can decisions be made.

Noting that the state is making most decisions now, she questioned if negotiations with teachers could be accomplished regionally. She decried the distance between the students and the decision-makers, but finds promise in partnership between local and state levels.

Cmsr. of Education Anrig discussed state aid to education.

Inviting citizens input to legislators, Anrig said it's "very important that friends of education (Daly, Schlosstein, Di Carlo) hear from educators and school committee people on how to improve school financing."

Anrig regarded the conference as the beginning of a grassroots political process. Discussing the substance of the problems is not enough; there is a need to demonstrate good political strategy by the creation of an organized political coalition.

"Any discussion of reform is insignificant compared to finding new funds and revenues and reforming the property tax to achieve relief of municipal overburden."

"Concern of the educational community is not enough; we must collaborate with others who seek tax relief. The educational community must force tax reform and revenue raising as an issue into the 1974 gubernatorial campaign.

"We must mend fences and be flexible in our approaches to regional and vocational education. The predictable divisions between teachers and school committees must not divide them on issues of mutual concern."

"Special education people must be part of the coalition, along with realtors, LWV groups, mayors and senior citizens in shaping final proposals for tax reform. Any coalition will require compromise in proposals."

Noting that Nov. 1974, is the deadline for legislative proposals, Anrig noted several criteria for reform: the state share of education must decrease reliance on the property tax; the goal is to eliminate the disparity between rich and poor; reforms are negotiable among special interest groups; there must be concerted attention to local control, with some provision allowed to remain for locally raised funds; there must be a mix of tax source bases and improvements in tax administration.

A Review

'Greenwitch' Is Mystical Novel By Susan Cooper

By Patty Annino

Greenwitch, a giant human facsimile formed of branches, leaves and stones by women of an English town to ward off ill will and bring good blessings, is catapulted from the height of a stony cliff to the ocean's depths as part of an old English tradition in Susan Cooper's novel "Greenwitch."

Ms. Cooper, a Winchester resident, is currently writing a five novel series entitled "The Dark is Rising." Published by Atheneum Publishers of New York, "Greenwitch" is the third novel in the series.

The novel follows heightened conflicts between the forces of Light and Dark, two supernatural powers struggling for control in the English county of Trewissick.

Ms. Cooper's key character, Merriman Lyon, equipped with two nephews, a niece and several companions, all followers of the the Light, ward off approaching danger brought upon by the evils of Dark.

The adventures and obstacles they encounter are mystical and enthralling. Ms. Cooper snares the reader in a web of excitement fulfilling English legendary superstitions with the personification of Greenwitch and the sea.

The author not only characterizes foreboding Dark followers in an effective sense but she also mystically describes their powers through special effects such as an alleged Dark messenger painting illuminated spells on canvas outdoors by night.

The novel climaxes in a suspenseful, attention mustering drama which jeopardizes the lives of several characters and ends for the time being the struggle between the Light and the Dark.

Library Is CSA Meeting Theme

The recent annual meeting of the Community School Association (CSA) had John Rudolph, director of library services in Winchester, as guest speaker.

Rudolph said his responsibilities lie in libraries and audio-visual materials for kindergarten through grade 12. His department orders, processes, catalogues, distributes and maintains print material for elementary school libraries, audio-visual equipment and materials for the high school television studio.

Rudolph said he will concentrate mainly on libraries next year. He would like to see the elementary libraries more complete. Rudolph also plans to set up a program with the public library to prepare volunteers for working in the elementary school libraries.

The following officers for 1974-75 were elected: president, Mrs. James Grassi; vice-president, Mrs. Allan Rodgers; secretary, Mrs. Paul Kelly; treasurer, Mrs. Stuart Carlson; enrichment, Mrs. Ira Parry; nominating, Mrs. John Andrick; publicity, Mrs. William Sweeney and social, Mrs. Harry Hertunian.

Luxurious brand new 8 story elevator building conveniently located in Arlington featuring 3 different two bedroom - two bath model apartment homes.

Heated Garage - Pool      From 45,900 To 51,600      Private Balcony

a beautiful eight-story building offering a choice among sixty-four apartment residences for the discriminating. Its contemporary architectural design blends comfortably into the quiet yet active Arlington residential area. North and west on Massachusetts Avenue is historic Lexington, south and east are Cambridge and Boston. For those who choose the convenience of bus travel, regularly scheduled runs pass directly in front of Kentwood.

Specialty shops, large shopping malls, food supermarkets, and department stores offer convenient service within moments or, at most, minutes of travel. Arlington is within easy reach of unsurpassed recreational opportunities for the lake, beach, or ski slope enthusiast. It offers a fine school system, and an alert and democratic town meeting government.

Simply, a fine place to live ... Kentwood.
